POSTPONEMENT OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY GIFT CONCERT.—It will be seen by the announcement in our advertising columns that the third gift concert of the Public Library of Kentucky, which, was to have taken place to-day, has been postponed until July 8. This postponement has not been occasioned, as we are advised by Gov. Bramlette, by the small sales of tickets; on the contrary the sales have been unusually large—much larger than at either of the preceding concerts—so large, indeed, that the time given by this ninety-day postponement will enable Gov. Bramlette to dispose of every ticket and insure a full drawing without any reduction or scaling of toe gifts, as has heretofore been the case. Gov. B. sees his way so clearly that he announces in the most positive and unequivocal language that the drawing will take place July 8, and that it will be a long one. The owner of the ticket drawing the capital gift will get $100,000 in greenbacks without any discount, and so of all the other gifts. The money sufficient to pay all the gifts—$500,000 in greenbacks—is already on deposit in the Farmers' and Drovers' Bank, set apart for the payment of the gifts and can be used for no other purpose, as will be seen by the cashier's certificate. With a knowledge of these facts—and we do not hesitate to guarantee their scrupulous fulfillment—there will be such a demand for the tickets now on hand that in all probability not a single one will be left for sale weeks before the time of drawing. There never was a fairer or more honorably-conducted enterprise before the public, and it has, as it deserves, the entire confidence of our people. It is one of those schemes in which the purchasers of tickets feel the most positive assurance that the drawing will be fair, for it will be controlled by the most distinguished citizens of the city and State, and those who draw gifts will be certain to get the money the moment their tickets are presented.

THE WILL OF NAPOLEON.—The following is the true will of the late Emperor Napoleon, under which letters of administration are now applied for. The estate is sworn to under £120,000 sterling, and this sum is subject to claims which will reduce it one-half:—

This is my will. I recommend my son and my wife to the high authorities of the State, to the people and to the army. The Empress Eugenie possesses all the qualities requisite for capably conducting the regency, and my son displays a disposition and judgment which will render him worthy of his high destinies. Let him never forget the motto of the head of our family, "Everything for the French people." Let him fix on his mind the writings of the prisoner at St. Helena; let him study the Emperor's deeds and correspondence, and finally let him remember that the cause of the people is the cause of France. Power is a heavy burden, because one cannot always do all the good one could wish, and because contemporaries seldom render justice, so that in order to fulfil one's mission one must have faith in and conscientiously appreciate his duty. It is necessary to consider that from Heaven above those whom you have loved, regard and protect you. It is the soul of my illustrious uncle that has always inspired and sustained me. The like will apply to my son, for he will always be worthy of his name. I leave to the Empress all my private property. I wish that at the majority of my son, she shall live at the Elysee and Biarritz. I trust that my memory will be dear to her, and that after my death she will forget whatever unhappiness I may have caused her. With regard to my son, let him keep as a talisman the seal I wore attached to my watch, and which comes from my mother. Let him carefully preserve everything that came from the Emperor, my uncle, and let him be convinced that my heart and my soul remain with him. I make no mention of my faithful servants. I am convinced that the Empress and my son will never abandon them. I shall die in the Catholic apostolic and Roman religion, which my son will always honor by his piety.

Done and signed with my hand, at the palace of the Tuileries, the twenty-fourth of April, eighteen hundred and sixty-five. (Signed) NAPOLEON.

A Car Famine

An indication of the enormous growth of railroad traffic in the West is found in the fact that at present there is actually a "car famine," the leading roads finding it impossible to get their orders for freight cars filled at the overcrowded factories. The Lake Shore and Michigan Southern have given orders for three thousand additional cars, while the New York Central is awaiting a reinforcement of fifteen hundred.

—A Central Pacific freight car is fitting up at San Francisco as a salt water aquarium, with a view to importing from the New Hampshire coast a load of live fish to stock the Pacific Ocean withal.

The "Peace Policy."

Some of our contemporaries, more particularly the democratic ones, are boiling over with wrath at "Grant's peace policy," to which they charge the murder of Gen. Canby and his companions, and the subsequent massacres of our troops. There would be more show of reason in denouncing the just-at-present-obnoxious "peace policy" as being the cause of the present Indian troubles, if raids and murders by the red men had been unknown previous to the adoption of that policy; but unless history is very much at fault, the powder-and-lead policy which has been observed in dealing with the Indians ever since the country was first settled by white men has brought about scores of massacres, far more horrible than the one which closed the last interview between Gen. Canby and the Modocs,—more horrible because women and children were included among the victims of the butchery,—and led to Indian wars as disastrous and bloody as the one which now threatens the Pacific coast. The Seminole and Black Hawk wars, and the massacres of Schenectady and Cherry Valley, all took place long before it was proposed to try just dealing with the savages, instead of wrong-doing backed up by brute force; and if the "peace policy" is a failure, its advocates can at least plead that it was not advanced until the blood-and-murder policy had demonstrated itself a failure over and over again.

It has been asserted, and so far as we know not denied, that within a few years a large party of this same Modoc tribe, comprising men, women and children, were massacred in cold blood by United States troops under one Capt. Wright, while engaged in discussing a treaty—an exact parallel to the murder of Gen. Canby and his companions, except that the Modocs killed only men. This, it true, does not lessen the treachery of the Modocs towards Canby's party, nor the necessity for the entire extinction of Capt. Jack and his band as a warning to other savages; but it does show that the "peace policy" is not to be blamed for all the blood shed in this miserable struggle with a handful of desperate men concealed in an almost impregnable stronghold.

With the slaughter of our troops since the first massacre, the "peace policy" can have nothing to do; nor can the redskins justly be charged with "treachery" in any of the occurrences since Canby's murder. The Modocs know well that they are fighting for their lives, and it is puerile to talk of their action in taking every possible advantage of their position, as being "treacherous," when the white men would gladly do the same thing if they could. Nor is it just to demand the extermination of the Indian race as a punishment for a treacherous murder committed by a few, any more than it is to charge the outrages consequent on centuries of wrong to a brief attempt to do right. The Modocs have earned death, and we only hope they may get it without more loss of life on our side; but we do not believe "Grant's peace policy" is justly chargable with the murder of three or four white men by the Indians, any more than it is for the inhuman massacre of a hundred negroes by white men in Louisiana. And should the present troubles develop into a general Indian war, it will be owing to the same causes which have made so many Indian wars in the past, and not to any recently broached idea or "policy."

G. A. Hayden and Thomas Hubbard were murdered at a lumber camp near Mapleton, Me., Wednesday night, by James Cullen, who was at once hunted down and hanged.

The rumor of a massacre of American traders by Blackfeet Indians in Manitoba proves to be false.

The hull of the steamship Atlantic is now blown almost to pieces, and large quantities of the cargo and many more bodies have been recovered.

A despatch from Des Moines, Iowa, says a member of a roving tribe of Indians in that State having murdered one of his fellows was starved to death in accordance with the sentence of a sort of court of the tribe. The culprit was bound to a log, and several Indians were detailed to carry out the sentence, which took eight days.

The Vienna Exposition was opened formally Thursday by the Emperor of Austria, attended by numerous imperial dignitaries. Speeches were made by the Emperor, Archduke Charles, Prince von Auersberg and others. An immense crowd was present. It is stated that the American department is in dire confusion.

James Dougherty murdered his father-in-law, Howell Smith, in Marshall county, Ky., a few days ago, and was hunted down by a party of citizens and killed by a son of Smith.

Commodore William Smith, who commanded the frigate Congress when she was sunk by the Merrimac, died at St. Louis, Wednesday.

Boston has had the sagacity to send its very best notion to the Vienna Exposition. The size and importance of this particular notion may be guessed from the circumstance that it took over two thousand feet of lumber to box it up. It is a representation—large as life—of the Boston school-system. Its aim is to present, first, the school architecture of the city, fittings, furniture, apparatus, books, maps, chests, globes, and all other appliances found in the best-equipped schools of all grades; next, specimens of the work of the pupils with pen and pencil upon paper; and third, reports and documents relating to the history, organization, administration, methods of teaching, and the present condition of the city schools. Moreover, to make the exhibition complete, it has sent Mr. Philbrick along, too; though he was not boxed up with the other things, we believe.

A widow at Lynn, Mass., mortgaged her house and lot, invested $400 in a lottery and didn't draw a cent. She is now making linen coats at forty cents each.

Mr. Gungle, a butcher of Princeton, Wis., hung his rifle from the ceiling, muzzle downward, extended himself on the bed beneath and in range of the weapon, and then worried the thing off with a stick. The bullet went through him beautifully.

Printing paper has recently been made in Maine of spruce wood. It is not near as dark in color as some paper made of straw or poplar pulp, but is quite rotten.

The strike of the Crispins in New York was entirely successful; a committee of that body waiting on the employers and giving reasons for their action, and the employers putting the men at work at the new rate.

The following, from the Boston Commercial Bulletin, is equally applicable else where:—"Signs of Spring are multiplying in the city. Old winter apples polished up with old handkerchiefs and cast off underclothes, are appearing at the fruit stands; bananas ready to be cut from the stem by the tobacco stained jack knife of the vendor, swing in the breeze; and golden oranges are brought up to full color by lively friction between the owner's hand and the legs of his pantaloons. Soon we shall have the stirring green apples; and then old ladies on the curb, who have shivered on pleasant winter days the past season over their roast chestnut stands, are already looking up their second hand hair brushes for the peach season. In fact, preparations for every taste are being made."

Of the dance given by the friends of Nixon, the condemned murderer, for his benefit, the Danbury News says: "There is but one more sad office for the mourning friends to perform—raffle off the body."

Reports from the lava beds, dated April 29, give the loss on our side in the late fight at 21 killed, 8 wounded and 6 missing.

A daughter of Mr. Edward E. Littlefield of Dover met with a severe accident a few days since by falling upon a sharp sned pencil which she had in a pocket.

Augustus Thorndike, a notorious horse-thief, who was recently arrested at Stoddard, is about sixty years old, and his third term in the State Prison expired only a year ago. He has spent nearly half his life in prison.

One of our prominent citizens fell asleep on the train up the other evening. Coming to the depot did not awake him, and so the employes turned out the lights and locked the doors, and left him to sleep the sleep of the innocent, while they hid behind the seats. And there he lay and snored in refreshing slumber until he suddenly awakened. Then he got up and looked around; rubbed his eyes and felt of the car. Pretty soon it dawned upon him where he was. He had seen Hamlet played when a boy. So he pranced up and down the aisle, and butted against the door, and shouted, and sobbed, and swore, until the audience couldn't contain themselves any more, and then they let him out, and subsequently enjoyed a good oyster supper at his expense. He also furnished the wine.—Danbury News.

Barnum's Modocs—Incrementation—May Day—The New Liquor Law.

BOSTON, May 1.

P. T. Barnum says: "I had arranged, as I thought, definitely for a delegation of Modoc Indians before the late war broke out. Mr. Hayes, my agent in San Francisco, now writes me that it 'will be impossible to dispatch them to my show till after the Modoc war is over.'"

Many people, and especially those who have lived on the frontier, will be glad of this, believing that, in view of recent developments it would be better to have them "dispatched" in the lava beds in preference to any show in the country.

I notice that "the question of incrementation" is touched upon in your paper, by extracts from the English Medical press. No one pretends to question the superior healthfulness of this manner of disposing of human remains. The slow and repulsive method of decomposition as now in vogue, not only tends to disseminate malaria among the living, but would disgust the dead could they be conscious of the ravages that time and damp and creeping, crawling life shall surely make with the mortal frame when the vital spark shall have fled. Twenty years since two Sons of Portsmouth, brothers, engaged to incrementate the body of the one dying first, always supposing that this sensible course be permitted; for it has been refused by court of law in no more law-abiding country than Missouri.

The first of May was a "fraud" upon Boston. The poor school-children have heretofore paraded in rainstorms, snowstorms, damp and cold, with paper roses and muslin dresses, until the day seemed a mockery and the recognition was left for June day. Now that this is settled, May day comes in bright and fair, clear and warm, and there is no observance so far as I can see unless it be some of the cars of the New Highland Railway that pass our streets with six fine horses on each; both horses and cars being bright with gay-colored flags, flowers, &c.

The new liquor law, to go into effect to-day, has not yet made its mark. Ale and beer are dispensed with old-time liberality, and the seeker after even stronger beverages does not go far astray.

The Common is green and bright. For fifty cents you can buy a tiny box of strawberries. Asparagus, new Bermuda potatoes, nice radishes, greens of every description, forced cucumbers and grapes—in fact, everything that tends to show that summer is coming, gives to our market a tempting appearance. M.

AN INTERESTING WORK.—We have just received from the National Publishing Co. of Philadelphia, a copy of Prof. O. S. Fowler's work, on Manhood, Womanhood, and their Mutual Interrelations; Love, Its Laws, Power, etc. Forty years experience as a teacher and lecturer on science, and a long life devoted to consultations and advice in connection with subjects concerning which men and women hesitate to confide—even in their physicians—have enabled Professor Fowler to give to the world the most remarkable and useful volume of the day, and one which should find its way into the hands of every man and woman.

As its title indicates it is devoted to an explanation of the laws which govern the sexes in their relations to each other, the ignorance of which causes so much sorrow and suffering in the world.

There would be fewer firesides made desolate by the loss of a loved wife; fewer reddened unhappy by a prematurely old, broken and enfeebled wife, if the laws of "Sexual Science," which are laid down and explained in this book were better understood and more generally acted upon. It will show how mothers can avoid much of their sugering, and how they can raise daughters fit to be wives and mothers. It will show men how to develop their manly vigor, and women how to promote the growth of those charms which render them so attractive. The book appeals to every class, and to people of all ages, tastes, and habits. The author addresses himself with especial force to those contemplating marriage, and we most cordially commend his book to all such. It is pure and elevated in tone, and abounds in the most useful information concerning the sexes. Its low price brings it within the reach of all, and the information it contains is beyond value. Its circulation will be a benefit to society.

The book is sold by subscription only, and the publishers want agents in every county.

—Being just one steamer ahead of her papa, a pretty little New Orleans girl managed to get married in spite of his protests. He came up to her just in time to give her his blessing, though his phraseology was exceptionable.

—A Louisville member of the Kentucky legislature, who occupied his leisure in running a faro bank, was so liberally patronized by his fellow-members that he will spend the summer in Europe.

WELLS' GRAND DISTRIBUTION.—The committee, after drawing nearly one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, have decided to postpone the drawing until July 1st, 1873. This will positively be the last postponement. W. B. Lowd, Agent.

POISONED TO DEATH.—A healthy liver secretes each day about two and a half pounds of bile, which contains a great amount of waste material taken from the blood. When the liver becomes torpid or congested, it fails to eliminate this vast amount of noxious substance, which, therefore, remains to poison the blood and be conveyed to every part of the system. Hence the symptoms of bile poisoning, which are dullness, headache, incapacity to keep the mind on any subject, impairment of memory, dizzy, sleepy, or nervous feelings, gloomy forebodings and irritability of temper. The blood itself being diseased, as it forms the sweet upon the bile, is so irritating and poisonous that it produces discolored brown spots, pimples, blotches and other eruptions, sores, boils, carbuncles and scrofulous tumors. The stomach, bowels, and other organs become affected, sooner or later, and costiveness, piles, dropsy, dyspepsia, diarrhœa, female weakness, and many other forms of chronic disease are among the necessary results. As a remedy for all these manifestations of disease, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is positively unequalled. By it the liver and stomach are changed to an active and healthy state, the appetite regulated and restored, the blood and secretions thoroughly purified and enriched, and the whole system renovated and built up anew. City Councils.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, the committee on claims reported in favor of paying Dr. Whittier's bill, (allowing $5 per visit to small pox patients,) reduced from $1349.50 to $864.50. They also recommended that a hospital be secured for small pox patients in some sparsely settled part of the city, and that then all bills of physicians where the patients are not removed to the hospital should not be assumed by the city.

Alderman Davis expressed his convictions that the Board of Health had been very attentive to duty. Several cases had come to the city and in no case had it spread. The City Physician's bill should be paid without grumbling. The city had been saved great expense by the action of the Board of Health. The recommendation of the committee was adopted. On motion of Alderman Garrett, it was voted that a claim be made against the estate of the late Origen S. Caswell for expenses incurred by the city.

Mayor Marvin stated that the claim of the city in bond on the Lightford house in case it was needed for a hospital had been surrendered.

An application for an appropriation of $500 for sprinkling streets, &c., from Mr. E. H. Balch, was received. A motion to appropriate $300 was defeated by a tie vote. Alderman Wilson's motion to appropriate $150 was defeated, and Alderman Davis' motion to appropriate $250 was carried—yeas 6, nays 2.

The request of the citizens' committee for use of Court House and State Street ward room on the 3d and 4th of July was granted.

The following petition was presented:—

To the Board of Mayor and Aldermen of the City of Portsmouth:

It being the universal desire that the 250th anniversary of the settlement of Portsmouth and the 20th anniversary of the Reception of the Sons should be properly observed, and inasmuch as thousands of absent Sons and Daughters of Portsmouth have signified their desire and intention of returning here on the coming Fourth of July, we respectfully petition that a sum not exceeding Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000) be appropriated to defray the expenses of a reception and celebration of the event, worthy the reputation of the City and indicative of the hearty greeting our citizens wish to extend to those who remember the place of their former residence with so much pleasure and pride. Such a celebration is worthy the City's best efforts and being decided on is worth doing well.

On motion of Alderman Wilson the joint resolution appropriating $7500 for the celebration of the Fourth of July was taken from the table. He presented a communication from Major Edwin A. Tilton tendering the services of the Independent Military Battalion to the City of Portsmouth for one year; and on Alderman Wilson's motion the sum of $500 was deducted from the proposed appropriation of $1650 for incidentals and industrial procession and appropriated for the purchase of uniforms, &c., for the battalion. Alderman Wilson then moved that the joint resolution pass.

Alderman Sise moved an amendment increasing the appropriation to $10,000. Alderman Wilson said that was more than the citizens' committee had estimated. Alderman Sise replied that the committee's estimate was not a full one. Some $2000 or $3000 more was needed and the committee had voted to raise it by subscription, but the general sentiment of citizens was averse to such a measure. Therefore, the petition from Hon. Ichabod Goodwin and others had been prepared.

Alderman Davis said he hardly thought it necessary to appropriate so much. He would willingly vote for the original amount, $7500.

Alderman Sise spoke urgently, referring to the signers of the petition as being among the heaviest tax-payers in the city, who desired to express their convictions that the city should assume the whole expense of the Sons. No more money would be spent than was needed and the expenses would be kept as low as possible.

The gentlemen who signed the petition were among our most honored and respected citizens. They did not place their names on that petition without due consideration and they certainly meant business when they did so.

The yeas and nays being ordered, Alderman Sise's amendment was carried —yeas, Ald. Garrett, Sise, Spinney, Hayes and Lefavour, 5; nays, Ald. Wilson, Davis and Trefethen, 3. The resolution as amended was then passed. It reads as follows:—

Resolved by the City Councils, That the sum of nine thousand five hundred dollars be placed to the credit of the Joint Committee on Accounts, to be used for defraying the expenses of the Citizens' General Committee in receiving the "Sons of Portsmouth" and celebrating the Fourth of July; and that the further sum of five hundred dollars be paid to the "Independent Battalion," for the purpose of procuring uniforms.

In Common Council, no quorum.

Laconics.

The "number of persons so-year-old, living within such a distance of some place," is almost as fruitful a source of newspaper paragraphs as the weather. A friend now informs us that there are eight persons living within a half mile of Foss' Beach, at Rye, each of whom is over eighty years of age. Considering the sparseness of the population in that locality, our informant thinks this a good proof that the climate of Rye is favorable to longevity.

Mrs. N. J. Willis of Cambridgeport, Mass., will lecture on spiritualism tomorrow afternoon and evening at Mendum's Hall, Congress street. The public are cordially invited.

The workmen on the Portsmouth and Dover railroad, at Dover, are demanding two dollars per day. The contractors are paying them off and discharging them and their agents have gone to Boston and Portland in search of workmen to take their places.

The spectacular entertainment at the Temple, Thursday evening, in aid of the Young People's Union, was largely attended and no doubt netted a good sum for that excellent institution. The ladies and gentlemen who took part in the performance were so disposed by Mr. Bartlett, the manager, as to present most beautiful pictures,—but that is no wonder, for a lady is more beautiful than a painted picture any day or evening, to any correct taste. The audience expected a fine entertainment, and their expectations were more than realized.

Ladies who feel inclined to try one or more of Dr. Strong's invaluable sulphur baths, will find special arrangements made for their accommodation at the doctors rooms, (corner of State and Pleasant streets, over Mr. Oxford's store,) in the shape of a lady attendant, Mrs. Strong, who is entirely competent to administer the baths and will take pleasure in doing so. We advise any one who feels unwell or dull, and all those who don't, to try a sulphur bath.

A CANINE ROBINSON CRUSOE.—Just below the suspension bridge (says a Canada paper) there is a mass of bare rock. Some years ago a man named Taylor fell into the river at the foot of Winter's staircase, and was carried by the fierce current to this rock, where he was stranded. Ropes were let down to him, and thus he was saved. Since that time the pile has been known as "Taylor's Rock." A week or two ago, some of our citizens noticed that the rock was inhabited by a large sized dog. The canine gentleman is king of that domain, if not monarch of all he surveys. At first several persons attempted to shoot him, but either he bears a charmed life or they were not good marksmen. Now food is thrown to him, and he rather enjoys the situation. The rocks frown above him, but blest with a clear dog conscience, a good appetite and plenty of provisions he bids fair to weather the vernal high water, and, when the floods fall, get back to the upper earth.

It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills" simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, scrubbing out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhea, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

MY PARISH,

BY CELIA BURLEIGH.

My parish is apparently small, in reality it is large. Its center is the small congregation that I address on Sunday, its circumference includes all who are sufficiently in sympathy with me to read what I write.

Monday is the day for making parish calls. This is a stormy Monday, too stormy for leaving my study, and the fancy seizes me to spend a little time conversing with my distant parishioners. How I pity the ancients, who knew nothing of the luxury of writing for the newspapers, and never tasted the delights of the daily mail. Speaking of mails reminds me that I have had on answer to my "Letter to a Young Girl," which I ought perhaps to share with the readers of the Union. Grace, you will remember, is one of my distant parishioners, and this is what she says:

"Since your letter I have been pondering what I really did mean by that expression, 'only a girl.' I despair of telling you, not because of any vagueness in the feeling that lies back of the expression, but because of its very intensity and comprehensiveness.

Did you read that notice in the papers of the young girl who committed suicide because she was tired of an aimless, useless life? I know just how she felt, and were not the love of life very strong in us there would be hundreds of just such suicides. I feel the truth of all you say of the possibilities of a girl's life, but how are we to realize those possibilities? It is very well to talk vaguely of woman's power and influence, but I cannot see it meets any present need. The poet sings beautifully of 'waving grain-fields' and 'golden harvests,' but to one perishing of hunger a tenpenny loaf would be of more value than volumes of song. The poet also bids us to 'be up and doing, with a heart for any fate,' but what can we to do? Here am I, as you say, young, in good health, well educated, with every reasonable wish gratified—save one, but ah! that one craving is so strong that it overbears all—the want of a definite object in life, a work that would absorb me, seem worthy of me. 'Go on with your studies,' do you say, German, French, music, the legitimate young-lady accomplishments? But to what end? My brother studies German and French, and enjoys it, but it is with the purpose of becoming the foreign correspondent of a large commercial firm. He has an object in view, and that makes all the difference. I cannot think of study as an end; it seems to me it should always be means to an end, and when there is nothing to look forward to, no definite use to be made of what is acquired, it loses its interest.

When uncle Ben hears me talk in this way, he says, 'hang the books; girls were never meant to be scholars. Busy yourself about the house, to be domestic is the thing for women.' I see but one way in which I can be domestic, and that is by putting my soul into worsted work. When I leave school there will be nothing else for me to do. Mother is a model house-keeper, but I see no way to learn to be like her. If I try to relieve her of any of her duties she laughs at me, and says: 'What do you know about it, child?' The cook would leave in less than a week if I were to invade her department; the second girl keeps the rooms in perfect order; Aunt Madge would be miserable if deprived of the plain sewing and mending, and Madame Blank does all the millinery and dress-making. There really is nothing before me but to be useless and discontented, till somebody comes to marry me, and what then? I shall be about as fit for the duties of life as brother Jo would be for that post of foreign correspondent if he had never studied any language but his mother tongue. Heighoo! 'It's a' a muddle,' who would be a girl?

'I envy your leisure for reading' said Rev. Mr. B., at whose study I called yesterday. He reads to enrich his mind for future sermons. Would his reading have the same interest if it were merely pastime, a study of style, a precaution against appearing ignorant of books talked about? Intellectual wealth seems to me much like any other, valuable in proportion to your ability to use it.

Speaking of reading, how must it seem to have written a book as much read and talked about as "Middlemarch?" It seems odd though that none of the reviewers, not even J. W. C., who sees so many things that most people overlook, has noticed one feature of the work that impressed me most of all; namely, the influence, resistless as fate, which woman in the intimate relations of life exerts upon man. What would Vincy have been without Mary Garth? What might not Dr. Lydgate have been but for the paralizing influence of the soulless syren whom he made his wife? There is something terrible in this influence which women cannot help exerting. It seems a sort of doom that they must be 'best angel or worse devil' to those with whom they come in contact, and since woman has such power I marvel that every means is not brought to bear to make it a power or good, that men do not see the importance of making her fully responsible for the use she makes of it."

So do I, Grace, but there is a greater marvel than this. It is that men spending their whole lives with women know so little about them. They know that suppressed energy, unemployed faculties in young men are dangerous; every father makes it his business to see that his son has a fitting career; how is it that they never learn that the daughter has a like need, that it is her right also to use her powers, to know the keen delight of being one of the world's workers, of making for herself a position, and winning an honorable independence?

Men are always shocked to hear a woman say, "I wish I was a man." But hundreds of the best girls in the country are saying it, not because they want the man's nature but his opportunities. That no man ever wishes to be a woman shows that he is well aware of his superior position. To every young woman I say, it is your right to have a career, to be independent; and to every father I say, as you love your daughter and desire her happiness, see to it that you give her a career, that you provide a field for the legitimate use of her powers, that you enable her to become self-supporting, and so the sovereign of herself.—Christian Union.

The Daily Chronicle,

Portsmouth, N. H.

MONDAY, MAY 5, 1873.

Readables.

On Friday morning, as the Portland express on the Grand Trunk Railroad was near Montreal, the last three cars, a Pullman and two others, left the track from the spreading of the rails, broke the coupling and rolled down an embankment over thirty feet high. Thirty-two persons more or less injured were carried to Montreal by the forward part of the train. The others were left at St. Hyacinthe and Belœrel. Several are frightfully hurt. Most of the passengers were Americans. The following are the names of a few of the injured: George Thurber of Uptom, Quebec, was seriously injured internally and badly cut about the head, and had to be left at St. Hilaire; the Very Reverend Dean Slack of Bedford, Quebec, face bruised and cut and several ribs broken; A. F. Parker of Worcester, Mass., and William Taylor are now at the Ottawa Hotel slightly bruised; Mrs. Brooks and George Brooks of Sherbrooke, slightly injured; G. H. Greely of Boston, badly cut about the legs—had a narrow escape from burning to death, the stove having fallen upon him, setting fire to his clothes.

It is understood that Secretary Richardson desires to modify the civil service rules respecting appointments in his department, so that each State shall be represented and candidates nominated by their congressmen, who shall be responsible for the appointments.

The trouble between the Latin and Greek monks at Bethlehem has partially subsided and order is restored. The Pope leaves the guilty unpunished, but Russia demands their punishment. Hopes are expressed that the great powers will now settle the dispute about the custody of the holy places, out of which this scandal arose, but they hesitate to approach a question of so delicate a character.

The New York Mail says in regard to woman suffrage "We are rather anxious to see the thing tried by one of the sober old States in which we do not expect ever to live."

The indications now are that the strike of the mill operatives in Rhode Island will be of short duration and that the strikers will gain nothing but a few days of idleness. Some of the mills have shut out the operatives and others are running as usual. The "outs" are making demonstrations, but no violence is anticipated.

Many persons, besides schoolboys and college students, use the phrase "He is a brick," without the least idea that it is supposed to be of classic origin. It is said that King Agesilaus, being asked by an ambassador from Epirus why he had no walls for Sparta, replied, "we have." Pointing to his marshalled army, he said, "There are the walls of Sparta; every man you see is a brick."

While the Boston post office clerks were assorting the Southern mail, which arrived Wednesday evening, a paper box, addressed to Moses S. Page, Salem street, and which was duly prepaid at sample rates of postage, broke open and out rushed two alligators, each about one foot in length. The little reptilian specimens were frisky, and appeared as if their long ride had not hurt them a bit.

A dispatch from New York says it has been ascertained that the Atlantic Bank cashier's story is untrue. The defalcation did not extend over five years, or even five days. On Friday morning the president asked Taintor to help him examine the bank's collaterals. He answered, "All right, but I'm busy now," and putting on his coat went out. He had then used $25,000 of the bank's funds. Proceeding to a friend's office he told exactly how things stood. The friend advised him to seize all the collaterals he could find and hold them for a compromise, which should secure him immunity from prosecution. Taintor acted upon this advice, and the next day boldly informed the Clearing House Committee of the defalcation for the purpose of forcing the bank officers to make terms with him. It is said that negotiations to that end are now in progress, and bets are freely offered that Taintor will not go to State prison.

Steamship Francis Wright, from New York for Wilmington, sank at sea May 1st. Crew saved.

Mr. D. P. Nichols, of Hyde Park, Mass., was kicked and trampled to death by a horse, Friday night.

Mrs. Stevens, of Kennebunkport, Me., went to Biddeford to attend the funeral of her child, and while there was struck by a train of cars and so badly hurt that one of her feet had to be amputated.

Keating's steam planing mill, on Portland street, Boston, was burned early Saturday morning. Loss about $65,000. There was insurance on building and contents to the amount of $30,000 or more.

Miss Susan Eberhart was hung in Georgia, Friday, for aiding in the murder of her paramour's wife. To be hung for murder is not one of the civil rights of which women are deprived in this country.

Buffalo Bill and Texas Jack have became disgusted with the way in which the Modoc campaign is conducted, and offer their services to clean out the redskins.

STATE SUPERVISION OF OUR COMMON SCHOOLS.—Few subjects demand attention by the incoming Legislature of this State so imperiously as this. So far as we know we are behind the other New England States in this matter and very far indeed behind many States in the far West. Let a few facts be stated.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction does but little more than hold a Teacher's Institute for a week once a year in each of the ten counties. These Institutes may be well conducted. There is evidence that they are. But in at least half of the counties the attendance of teachers is small. Fifty, seventy-five or in some cases one hundred in the section where they are held attend, while the larger part do not. The School Registers in very many towns show that out of ten, fifteen or more teachers, not one has ever attended an Institute. In others but a small fractional part.

The Normal School is a blessing. It perhaps supersedes the necessity of attending Institutes by those who have enjoyed its advantages. But mark! Only a small portion of those who teach in the State, have ever been members of it.

Then what about the report of the Superintendent of Public Instruction? The friends of education need this to know if education is advancing. They need its suggestions to quicken them. But they do not have it, only a few of them at least. It was made to the Legislature last Summer and each member gets a copy. The law provides that a copy be sent to each Town Clerk in the State. Some Town Clerks did not receive it. We have seen no notice of it in any newspaper. Several editors, and regular correspondents have tried hard to get it, but did not. The masses are in almost total ignorance of what little is done by the State Superintendence.

These statements give a little clue to our deficiencies in this important matter. More can be given, if necessary, to an awakening on the part of Legislators, in fact of the community at large. J. P.

REMARKABLE ENGINEERING FEAT.—A remarkable engineering feat is now being accomplished in the crossing of the Andes by the Senia Oroya Railroad. The mountain chain will be crossed at an altitude of 15,000 feet by a tunnel 3000 feet in length. The grades are the steepest known on any ordinary railway. The workmen employed are Cholos Indians, the only operatives who can endure for a prolonged period the rarified atmosphere at this great elevation.

—The West is a great country. A Minnesota farmer lost a gimlet three years ago. The other day he cut down a tree near his barn, and found in it a three-quarter-inch auger.

State News.

Alonzo M. Foss has been appointed postmaster at Strafford, vice Edward Walker, resigned.

A barn belonging to Pattee & Perley, with six tons of hay, a horse and cow, were burned in West Canaan, Friday afternoon, caused by playing with matches. Loss $800; no insurance.

It is expected that the laying of the rails the entire distance of the Nashua and Acton railroad will be completed this week, a distance of fifteen miles. The road has been constructed in a very thorough manner, and the rolling stock is in readiness to be put on.

The new dwelling house of Job C. Allard, in Exeter, was burned Thursday afternoon, with most of its contents. Cause, defective chimney. Loss on house $4000; insured $2500; and $500 insurance on furniture and clothing.

The friends of Dr. Charles P. Wood of Manchester, who is now serving out a sentence in the State Prison, have started a petition to the Governor and Council for his pardon. Dr. Wood was tried and convicted about two years ago on an indictment charging him with having caused the death of Elvira Woodward by procuring an abortion. The ground of the application for pardon is that the evidence was not sufficient, and that the proceedings of the jury were irregular.

The Monitor relates this: A person well advanced in life had been suffering many years from a kidney complaint. As it appeared to be approaching a crisis, the urine was chemically examined, and from a pint and a half, over three ounces of good maple sugar was procured. An interesting case, for medical and economic reasons.

The County Vote.

For County Treasurer — scattering 256; Wm. W. Wilder, 4672; Winthrop N. Dow, (republican,) 5606: Dow's plurality, 934.

For County Commissioner—scattering 256; Robert Rowe, 4650; Woodbury M. Durgin, (republican,) 5,470; Durgin's plurality, 820.

The vote of Greenland was rejected on account of informalities in the Town Clerk's return, which, however, did not affect the result, save to give the republicans a slightly increased plurality.

THE ILLINOIS MODE.—General Lippincott, Auditor of the State of Illinois, has issued a circular to the county and town assessors, containing directions for guidance in their official duties in the valuation of real and personal property for purposes of State revenue.

Look at the following:

1. All personal property, except as herein otherwise directed, shall be valued at its fair cash value.

2. Every credit, for a sum certain, payable either in money or labor, shall be valued at a fair cash value of the sum so payable; if for any article of property, or for labor, or for services of any kind, it shall be valued at the current price of such property, labor, or service.

3. Annuities and royalties shall be valued at their then present total value.

SECTION 4. Real property shall be valued as follows:

1. Each tract or lot of real property shall be valued at its fair cash value, estimated at the price it would bring at a fair, voluntary sale.

2. Taxable leasehold estates shall be valued at such a price as they would bring, at a fair voluntary sale for cash.

3. When a building or structure is located on the right of way of any canal, railway, or other company leased or granted for a term of years to another, the same shall be valued at such a price as such building or structure and lease or grant would sell at a fair voluntary sale for cash.

4. In valuing any real property on which there is a coal or other mine, or stone or other quarry, the same shall be valued at such a price as such property, including the mine or quarry, would sell at a fair voluntary sale for cash.

Section 24 says: "It shall be the duty of the assessor to determine and fix the fair cash value of all items of personal property."

—A well-dressed but wild-eyed gentleman called at the office of the mayor of Indianapolis, recently, and said that he wanted something done with his wife. "What's the matter!" inquired his Honor. "She keeps giving me pills," was the reply. "I wouldn't take 'em." "I can't help it," said the injured husband; "she gives 'em to me when I'm asleep." "I'd wear a muzzle," said his Honor. The injured husband started; he hadn't thought of that.

—A naked Chinaman, crazy with small-pox, rushed out of a San Francisco pest house, recently, and boarded a crowded street car. It so happened that the passengers all had business just then and dismounted, but so did the Chinaman, and he raced around the streets till some one captured him with a lasso and led him back to the pest house.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Good, if True.

It is reported that the proprietors of the South burial ground intend building a house near by, to be used as a dwelling by a keeper in charge of the cemetery. We hope the report is well founded, and that the cemetery owners will put up the house as quickly as is practicable, and then install in it some trusty man, who, as a special policeman, will put a stop to certain disgraceful practices which have been too long prevalent in that place.

Two or three years ago, the wall of the cemetery, on the side next South road, was a notorious roosting place for crowds of young roughs and of hobbledehoy boys who admired the roughs and would fain have followed in their glorious footsteps, and the unprotected woman who dared pass that way on a Sunday afternoon or a pleasant week-day evening, was assailed with a running fire of filth and ribaldry from the whole length of the line. This disgusting nuisance at last became intolerable, and a number of respectable people, the ladies of whose families had been insulted, petitioned the city government to station a police officer at the cemetery every evening and on Sunday afternoons. In response, a policeman whose reputation stood high for willingness to use his club when necessary, was detailed to walk the beat at the times specified, and the nuisance was at once abated,—for the stone-wall loafers were as skillful in picking out persons whom it was not safe to insult as they were in overwhelming with obscenity those whom they dared.

We heard no complaints of the loafer nuisance last year, and it is hardly warm enough for it to develop yet this season; but the cemetery seems to be a favorite sporting ground for youthful gun owners who go there to shoot sparrows and occasionally send a charge of shot against some particularly white or nicely-sculptured grave stone, and we have seen several handsome memorial stones badly disfigured by being "leaded" in that way. These performances are undoubtedly the work only of thoughtless or mischievous boys, but they are none the less outrageous and irritating to those who have friends buried there, for that reason.

Quite as bad (meaner, if there is any difference) as the defacing of grave stones by shot or obscene pencillings, is the practice of robbing the graves of the flowers placed on them by surviving friends. Bouquets and wreaths thus bestowed disappear in a miraculously short space of time, after being deposited, and flowering plants set out to grow are promptly stolen. We know of people who proposed to make the graves of their dead friends beautiful with flowers, and who repeatedly set out choice and costly plants and shrubs upon them, but who gave up the attempt in despair on finding their tokens of affection stolen right straight along. The papers in this city (without exception, we believe,) have repeatedly and earnestly denounced the contemptible, heartless meanness which would rob or desecrate a grave; but the soul of the man or woman who could be guilty of such an act is far too small to be hit by a newspaper volley, though a word from Judge Page would doubtless have great influence. We hope the proprietors of the cemetery will do something towards checking the vandalism we have spoken of, and they can do it in no way more effectually than by having a keeper, armed with proper authority, (we have not the slightest objections to his being also armed with a revolver and a double-barrelled gun,) residing somewhere in the immediate vicinity.

Won't take a Hint.

Parents whose hopeful sons get ground up in consequence of their tumbling under car-wheels when attempting to get upon trains in motion, are sometimes disposed to find fault with the railroad employes for not keeping boys clear of the tracks and cars. But that is much easier said than done, and where there is such an excellent chance for the boys to steal rides as there is at the Eastern depot in this city, the only sure way for parents to insure the safety of their heirs is to keep them away from the depots altogether. As an instance of the difficulty of giving a boy such a warning as will make him give up the practice of stealing rides on the cars when he has once contracted the habit of so doing, we may mention the case of a lad who lost a leg at that game about a year ago, yet who now never lets slip an opportunity to try it over again. In spite of the vigilance of the railroad men he often manages to clatter along and climb up on a starting train, and after it is in rapid motion he jumps off and clatters back again, in high glee over his exploit. One would think such a hint as he got would be enough to make him fight shy of the railroads, but it isn't.

Laconics.

A friend of ours boasts the possession of the meanest jack-knife that ever was made. He gave $2.25 for it, as a New Year's present for himself, and having in vain tried to make it sharp enough to peel an apple he recently handed it to a friend who works in a large shop, requesting that it might be ground, and adding, "If you or anybody else will steal that knife, I'll give you a quarter of a dollar." The friend returned the knife next day, with the information that although there were a good many poor men in the shop, to whom a quarter of a dollar was quite an object, there was no one so hard up as to be willing to steal such a knife as that for any such reward as the one offered.

The first day of May was a genuine Spring day, and men unbuttoned and threw open their overcoats and spoke approvingly of the street sprinkler; but Friday brought an easterly wind and low temperature which caused the overcoats to be buttoned up again, and Saturday would have been counted as "seasonable weather" had it come during the last week in March. The author of the song "O! charming May!" would have apostrophized some other month had he been on our streets on Saturday evening in the snow storm.

Mlle. Marietta Ravel, the famous pantomime actress, appears this evening on the Temple stage as the "French Spy," supported by a large company of assistants, drawn from the New York theatres. For further particulars see small bills and the advertisement in another column.

Healy & Cohan's Hibernians and a large Irish Comedy Company are advertised to give an entertainment at the Temple on Thursday evening next, in aid of St. Mary's church. This combination has never visited this city, but we are assured that the entertainment it affords is such as to merit and receive extensive patronage wherever it has exhibited.

The lofty unfinished spire of the Roman Catholic church, and the staging surrounding it, were swayed from their perpendicular by the gale of Friday night, and will probably have to be taken down.

At a special meeting of the Common Council, Friday evening, the vote of the Board of Aldermen appropriating $10,000 for the Fourth of July reception was concurred in.

York bridge is to be thoroughly repaired, and work on it is to be commenced this morning. During the progress of the work all travel will have to go by the old road, which turns off to the right hand just this side of the bridge.

The remains of the Christenson sisters will be removed from the receiving tomb and interred in Harmony Grove cemetery, at 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon next, with appropriate service by Rev. Dr. Bingham.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE.—We learn that the Travellers Accident and Life Insurance Company, through their agents in this city, Messrs. Morse & Ilsley, last week paid Mr. Thomas Richardson, for nine weeks' disability, the sum of four hundred and fifty dollars, and to Mr. William B. Blake the sum of seventy-five dollars for three weeks' disability. For immediate benefits this is the very best kind of insurance, and no company is more prompt in settling claims than the Travellers. We are requested to publish the following item from a well-known journal:

Getting it Down to a Fine Point.—The Travellers Insurance Company has paie over two million dollars in benefits to its policy-holders, in its nine years of active business. That is $750 a day for every working day; or, allowing ten hours a day, it is $75 an hour, for every working hour, $1.25 for every working minute, since the company commenced business.—Every Saturday.

Morning Chronicle.

PROPER CONSTRUCTION OF CHIMNEYS. Professor Meidinger earnestly advocates separate chimney flues for each story of a house, although they may not be as cheap nor as easily built as those which are common to several floors. In the latter case, according to his experience, it frequently happens, that when fire is started on a lower story, smoke is thrown into an unheated room above, and may endanger life. In two instances he has himself been awakened by smoke entering the room in that way. More rarely smoke may be thrown into a lower room, when fire is built on an upper story. There is frequently, also, a persistent lack of draft for the upper story, which cannot be referred to want of altitude in the chimney, since with a separate chimney, or even a tube ten feet long, the draft on the same floor is all that could be desired. Narrowing the tops of the chimneys by setting smaller pipes on them does not remedy, but rather increases the above defects. He illustrates and explains the above statements by a very simple apparatus, consisting essentially of a vertical tube, closed at the bottom and open at the top, made in two sections sliding on to each other, each surrounded by a jacket to contain water, with three small horizontal tubes penetrating the jacket to the interior tube at such distances from each other as to represent the openings into a chimney common to the different stories. It is used by introducing hot water into the jackets, and placing lighted candles before the small tubes (which can be opened and closed at will by slides) to indicate the direction and intensity of the draft, etc. A smaller tube inserted in the top will show the effect of contraction of the top of a chimney.

—Mr. Drummond of Norwich has a very romantic boy. The other day he went to a market, purchased a sirloin steak, which he had charged to the "old man," went into the woods with some other companions, a la scout. Returning at night he was taken by paterfamilias and marched to the market, whence he slipped away and hid on a coal barge. Pursued by the irate parent he leaped overboard, but was rescued by a boat, and when landed on the wharf took to his legs again, and had not been discovered at last accounts.

IRON in the BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY, HUMORS

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes the Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an ailment, so easily digested, and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, from in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills" simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up as from Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering cripples to strong, healthy, and happy men and women: and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

The Chronicle.

SHOCKING EVENT.—We noticed a few days ago, that a fire had broke out in Campbell county, Virginia, and carried devastation over a large tract of country. It broke out in a house inhabited by a negro man, and a strong southwest wind blew the flames for many miles, and tobacco, barns, fences, dwelling houses, &c., rapidly yielded to the ungovernable element. But the most painful circumstance connected with this affair is the loss of human life. The wife and four children of Mr. J. M. Hurt, of Bedford, perished in the flames. It is supposed that when their dwelling caught fire Mrs. Hurt took the children and attempted to flee to her father's, distant about one mile. They crossed a branch near the burning house and ascended a considerable hill to the distance of a fourth a mile, where, it is supposed, they were met and surrounded by the fire, except a space to their left; but, exhausted by effort and suffocating from the dense volumes of smoke, escape was impossible. Mrs. Hurt was found not far from the path, hugging her infant (but ten days old) to her bosom, and the three older children near by, all burned to death and sadly disfigured. Mr. Hurt, the husband, and father of the infant (the mother had been twice married), was absent, and at work on the railroad, when this tragical scene occurred, and it was witnessed alone by the Disposer of human events. There is no one left to tell the sad tale just as it occurred.

AN INDIRECT REMEDY.—Dr. W. tells the following story of himself, which is certainly very amusing, and characteristic of the skilled practitioner:

"One evening I received a call from a seedy-looking individual, who, with a snarl, informed me that he had a 'cussed sore throat,' which he 'thought ought to be tended to at once.'

I examined his throat, and found it to be very much inflamed, gave him the necessary medicine, and advised him to go home and stay there until his throat got well.

About two months afterward, the same party slouched into my office and asked for some more of that 'air medicine,' remarking that he wanted it for a friend, and not for himself. Having put up the medicine, I handed it to him, and inquired if his throat was quite well, when the fellow coolly replied:

'Yes; but that medicine you guv me didn't do it a bit of good. It cured an ulcer on my leg, though, and that's what I want this other for. Good-day.'"

—A white pigeon flew into a No. 3 ventilator of a sleeping car at Lockport, N. Y., one night, while the train was in rapid motion. The occupants of the berth into which he so suddenly introduced himself were somewhat astonished that an ignorant pigeon should possess such a knowledge of gunnery as to hit a six-inch ventilator in the dark and moving thirty miles an hour.

—A youth of nineteen lately fled from Dodson, Ohio, to escape the clutches of an enamored girl of twenty-two. At Rockfield, Ind., he received this telegram from a friend, "Get up and dust. Sal's on your track close." He "dusted" his best forthwith, but she came up with him in an obscure Illinois town and led him back home and to the alter.

—During the exhibition of a menagerie in Poughkeepsie, recently, a monkey seized hold of the curl of one of the lady spectators and dragged her entire chignon and bonnet into the cage, greatly to the amusement of the lookers-on.

A New Horror.

While the rite of baptism was being administered to a number of recent converts by a Baptist clergyman at Dixon, Illinois, on Sunday afternoon, an iron bridge, crowded by about 300 people, gave way and precipitated its living freight into the stream below. The scene which ensued was indescribably terrible as the struggling victims vainly endeavored to free themselves from the ruins of the bridge and from each other. Large crowds of people on the banks rushed wildly to and fro, many of them so distracted with terror as to be unable to render any assistance. Others were self-possessed and speedily brought ropes, planks and boats, and went nobly to work to rescue the living and recover the dead. Some of those who were on the bridge when it fell were so near the edge that they were able to reach land without assistance, while others were fortunately in reach of those on shore. About forty bodies have been recovered. Twenty-four persons were badly injured. It is estimated that 100 lives were lost.

Readables.

Landslides at Piscobanda, Peru, recently destroyed forty-four houses, and thirty-six persons were killed.

Some thirty or forty politicians recently got together in a hell in Hanover street, Boston, and formed a club, the object of which, according to one of the speakers, is to procure more liberal legislation, especially in the direction of the liquor interest. He put forward Gen. Butler as the man under whose lead this object was to be secured, and a club, to be called "The B. F. Butler Club of Ward Two, No. 1," was formed. Patrick C. Ryan is President of the Club.

A terrible snow-storm occurred in Cloud county, Kansas, recently, and two families were frozen to death.

Seventeen more bodies were recovered from the wreck of the Atlantic, Saturday.

Advices from Princeton, Ind., state that an excursion train left that place on Saturday night on the Louisville, New Albany and Chicago Railroad, for Mount Carmel, Illinois, carrying about seventy-five persons. In backing the train from Mount Carmel to Princeton, a number of cows suddenly ran on the track, when the cars ran over the cows and plunged down an embankment eight feet high, turning the cars bottom upward. The passengers were immediately in a terrible confusion and a number were seriously injured, some probably fatally. The conductor leaped into a ditch and escaped injury. He afterward broke the glass in the doors and rescued the passengers. Some thirty others were more or less injured.

The power of the President to employ Indians in the military forces is limited to one thousand by the act of July 28, 1866. This law authorize him to employ that number to act as scouts, and fixes their pay the same as cavalry soldiers.

State News.

Charles Langley of Alton, aged about forty years, died suddenly of heart disease Saturday afternoon while having his hair cut in Brown's barber shop in Dover. He threw up his hands, exclaiming "I'm dying," and instantly expired.

S. L. Bowers' dwelling house, at Newport, occupied by Dana Moody, was burned at 9 o'clock Sunday night. Charles E. Richards and George E. Williams were killed by the falling of a chimney. Loss $2000 on house; insured for $1500. The furniture of D. Moody was insured for $600. Only partial loss on furniture. Cause of fire not known.

A revolving signal light has been invented, to be attached to the rear of trains, by which engineers behind can tell by the speed of their rotations, as shown by the succession of different colored lights, at what rate of speed the trains are moving, and when they are at rest.

Newburyport will have a street railway in operation in thirty days.

The dwelling-house and barn of Stephen P. Kirk in Alexandria, about two miles from Bristol, were burned on Friday. The fire took on the roof of the house by sparks from the chimney. The household goods were mostly saved. Insured for $1600 in the Home Company of New York.

Always shut your bedroom door before retiring. You may have to get up in the night, and closing a door with your nose is one of the lost arts.

JOSH BILLINGS' PAPERS.—Most people are like an egg, too phull ov themselfs to hold eney thing else.

"Misery luvs kompany," but kan't bear kompetishun; there aint no body but what thinks thare bile iz the serest bile in market.

To be a big man among big men, iz what proves a man's karakter—to be a bull frog among tadpoles, don't amount to mutch.

There iz lots ov pholes in this world who can keep mine out ov ten ov the commandments, without eeny trubble at all, but the one that is left they kan't keep the small end ov.

Expektashun iz the child ov Hope, and like its parents iz an arrogant brat.

Excentrichys are most alwus artyfishall, and the best that can be sed ov them iz, they are quite az often the result ov diffidence as ov vanity.

If I want tew git at the trew karakter ov a man, I studdy his vices more than I do his vertews.

Those who expekt tew keep themselves pure in this life must keep their soals bileing all the time, like a pot, and keep all the time skimming the surface.

It don't do tew trust a man too much who is alwus in a hurry; he iz like a pissuire, whose heart and bones lays in his heels.

There iz nothing so dillshus tew the soul ov man as an ockasional moment ov sadness.

Jelous people alwus luv themselfs more than they do those whom they are jelous ov.

Curiosity iz the germ of all enterprises—men dig for woodcocks more for curiosity than they do for woodchucks.

The purest and best specimens ov human natur that the world has ever seen, or ever will see, hav been the virtewous heathen.

Thare iz only two men in this world who never make enny blunders, and they are yu and me, mi friend.

Yung man, yu kant learn ennything by hearing yourself talk, but yu may possibly by hearing others.

Thare iz lots ov folks in this world whom yu kan blo up like a bladder, and then kik them as you pleze.

I sumtimes distinguish between tallent and genius in this way: A man of tallent kan make a whissell out ov a pig's tale, but it takes a man ov genius to make the tale.

I kant tell now whether a goose stands on one leg so mutch to rest the leg az to rest the goose. I wish some scientific man would tell me all about this.

Thare iz a mighty site of difference whether Mr. John Smith will appear at Booth's Theatre az Mr. John Smith.

I had rather be a child again than to be the autokrat ov the world.

Thare iz newmerous individuals in the land who look upon what they hain't got az the only things worth having.

There iz those who kant laff with impunity; if they ain't stiff and solium they ain't nothing.

One man ov genius to 97 thousand four hundred and 42 men ov tallent iz just about the rite perproshun for aktual bizziness.

Ventilashun iz a good thing, but when a man kant lay down and sleep in a 10 aker lot without taking down leaghs ov fence to let the wind in he iz altogether too airish.

I think that a hen who undertakes tew lay 2 eggs a day must necessarily neglekt sum other branch of bizziness.

The two most important words in eny language are the shortest—"Yes" and "No."

I don't never hav enny trubble in regulating mi own kondukt, but tew keep other pholks straight iz what bothers me.—N. Y. Weekly.

—The British Government expedition for investigating the bed of the ocean reports new and curious discoveries. Creatures composed almost wholly of eyes have been dredged up; and crustaceans have been found in which the eyes are wholly wanting, the blind body being supplied with wonderfully delicate claws, with which it feels its way about. These facts confirm the acute observation, made some time since by an eminent biologist, that deep-sea dredgings would probably bring creatures with abnormally-developed vision or perhaps those in which vision was wholly replaced by feeling.

—A clerical gentleman, in examining a Sunday school, asked the class before him if any of them could tell him anything about the Apostle Peter. A little girl raised her hand, much to the gratification of the examiner. "Come up here, my good little girl," said he; "I am glad you remember your Bible lesson so well. Now, tell the other boys and girls what you know about St. Peter." The little girl was quite willing, and commenced: "Peter, Peter, punkin-eater, had a wife and couldn't keep her; he put her in a——" but before she could get to "punkin-shell," the school was in a roar.

DANBURY WITTICISMS. — Everybody must have taken down the family Bible, Sunday. The dust was intolerable.

There is no base-ball club in Danbury, and so a fine-street gentleman was obliged to fall from a stoop to break his thumb.

The Modoc Campaign.

A Herald lava-bed special says that nothing will be done at present. They are waiting the fourth infantry, 500 strong, from Little Rock, who are expected to arrive on the 17th instant. The correspondent attributes the great loss of life in the fight of the 26th of April to the desertion of company E, 12th infantry, and some few of the artillery, who, when ordered by Captain Thomas to fall back and hold a bluff in the rear of the troops, to cover the retreat, continued to fall back until they reached camp. The Modocs in the meantime secured the position they were expected to hold. It is said that only 23 Modocs were engaged, and that only two were killed and two badly wounded.

—A Californian thus demonstrates by figures that mining is not a paying business. He takes for his starting-point the assumption that 50,000 people are engaged in gold-mining there, and that their wages average $2.50 a day. Giving them three hundred working days in a year, this would make the cost of labor for the year $37,500,000. The gold product for the year 1872, however, was only $20,000,000, so that each dollar actually cost $1.87 1-2.

—O, the snore, the beautiful snore, filling her chamber from ceiling to floor! Over the coverlet, under the sheet, from her dimpled chin to her pretty feet! Now rising aloft like a bee in June; now sunk to the wail of a cracked bassoon! Now, flute-like subsiding, then rising again, is the beautiful snore of Elizabeth Jane.

WELLS' GRAND DISTRIBUTION. — The committee, after drawing nearly one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, have decided to postpone the drawing until July 1st, 1873. This will positively be the last postponement at W. B. Lowd, Agent.

THE ATMOSPHERE OF LOVE is a pure, sweet breath. This desideratum is one of the results of using Sozodont, which not only invigorates and preserves the teeth, but renders the mouth as fragrant as a rose.

WHAT IS VITALITY?—Science has not yet answered this conundrum. The principle of life, in spite of the researches of chemists, doctors and metaphysicians, remains unknown. We know, however, that when the blood is impure, the stomach inert, the bowels irregular, the liver disordered, or the nerves relaxed, this life sustaining principle, whatever it may be, is shorn of its active power and that the body it animates languishes. We know, too, such of us as are capable of deriving knowledge from authenticated facts, that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters correct impurities of the blood, invigorate the stomach, regulate the bowels, tone the liver and brace the nerves, thereby combatting and subduing the leading morbid conditions which tend to shorten life. The average time of human existence might unquestionably be greatly lengthened by judicious stimulation, especially in the decline of life, and this famous preparation is undoubtedly the most wholesome stimulant at present known.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

A Good Plan.

We find the following among the items of "current news" in our exchanges:

Buffalo Bill and Texas Jack have became disgusted with the way in which the Modoc campaign is conducted, and offer their services to clean out the redskins.

A man who went to see the "Scouts of the Prairie" at the Temple, when that thrilling drama was performed there a few weeks ago, thinks the national government will be very remiss if it does not send Ned Buntline, Buffalo Bill, Texas Jack and their party out to fight the Modocs, instead of employing more regular troops. He thinks they would stand a better chance at Indian fighting than the regulars seem to, and that should they unfortunately get killed by savages the public sorrow would be considerably assuaged by the thought that such a mishap would prevent their playing the "Scouts of the Prairie" any more.

"Among the Isles of Shoals"

Is the title of the pleasant little book of narrative given to the world by Mrs. Celia Thaxter, well known in literary circles by her descriptive poems and prose contributions. The work is published by James R. Osgood & Co.; Boston, and consists of 180 pages, with illustrations of the principal points of interest at the Shoals. Mrs. Thaxter, as is well known, is the only sister of Messrs. Oscar and Cedric Laighton, of the far famed Appledore House. Her many years' residence at Appledore has endeared the islands in her memory to such an extent that they seem the enchanted land for pilgrim wanderers. The gifted authoress glowingly pictures the beauties of the islands, describes with vivid imagery the voices of the waves and winds, in storm and sunshine, and carries with her the mind of the reader in showing her regard for the beauties of nature and a passionate fondness for the floral productions which adorn the sterile rocks. The book will awaken new interest among those who frequent the Shoals in summer and lead many future pilgrims to the shores of Appledore, Smutty-nose and Star. Mrs. Thaxter's remembrances of childhood days and the many reminiscences of the queer people with quaint manners, customs and speech, who have lived and died on these islands, are put in a most fascinating manner before the public. Every Portsmouth family should have a copy of the entertaining volume, and every one who has once set foot on the isles will desire a copy for a keepsake in remembrance of past pleasures in the quiet, dreamy old place. The publication of the work is most opportune. It is a contribution of history and sentiment, of poetry and word painting, that is as valuable to literature as it is pleasing to the reader. The book may be ordered at any bookstore.

Youthful Indignation.

Messrs. Editors:—The following I think too good to be lost; therefore I hand it to you to publish, if you will:—

A bright little four-year-old in this city, being in the habit of having stories read to him, not having been to school until quite recently, his grandmother commenced reading to him after his first day's attendance at school; but he said as she had read to him he would now read to her. After looking at the book a moment, he turned with considerable feeling, saying, "Miss —— does not know anything, for I have been to school all day and cannot read now."

The Hampton Colored Students,

Seventeen in number, will give a concert here next Friday evening, May 9. These singers have received unqualified praise from the press wherever they have appeared and we are glad to announce their coming in our columns. The entertainment will be one of delight and profit to all who attend. It is not only singing but preaching, and their quaint words will touch almost any heart. Their concerts in Boston were crowned with success and they were enthusiastically received. The house should be filled.

Laconics.

The Fourth of July question—Is Market street to be arched?

Meeting of the School Committee this evening.

The various sub-committees are to report estimates of amounts needed to carry out the Fourth of July programme, at the adjourned meeting tomorrow (Wednesday) evening.

Another startling proof of the value of advertising! One of our oldest and most esteemed citizens on Friday evening handed in an advertisement of a pocket-book lost, and on reading the same in the CHRONICLE, Saturday morning, at once recollected that he had left the missing article in the "other pants," and immediately went and got it. Advertise, advertise! Advertising is the life of trade.

The staging of the Catholic church steeple came down on the run, Monday, the wind from the northwest completing its destruction. No one was hurt. It is said a portion of the steeple will be taken down.

Judging by building operations, Portsmouth is thriving and growing. Quite a number of new houses are going up besides those already finishing. Mr. James E. Huntress, who is canvassing for a new Directory, informs us that a large number of new names have already been added. It has been the general impression that Portsmouth does not grow, but the increase of houses and the Directory canvass indicate a different state of affairs. Portsmouth people have always had the reputation of living comfortably. Though few large fortunes have been made here lately, the average prosperity of our citizens is especially satisfactory.

Mr. John Pearson, Jr., of Newburyport, gives a column of testimonials to-day, of the excellence of the far-famed bread, cake, and goodies turned out at his steam bakery, to which we add our own unqualified commendation. Mr. Pearson is a reliable gentleman and his bonbons are toothsome and should be in all mouths. Sancho Panza called for blessings on the man who invented sleep, and with equal fervor do we extend the blessing to the man who cooks so royally for thousands of families. Pearson is his name. Long may it be before his cake be dough!

Mdlle. Ravel and her troupe played the "French Spy" and the comically ridiculous farce "My Neighbor's Wife," to a rather small house on Monday evening. The farce occasioned a great deal of merriment. This evening the troupe will present "Wildcat" and an original farce.

Railroad Matters.

Contrary to general expectation, the Maine Central railroad managers did not change their time of running trains to connect with the early trains from Portland for Boston, last week. The Boston & Maine trains left Portland on the advertised time, but the 9.10 A. M. train on the P. S. & P. R. R. waited until the arrival of the Maine Central train and took the through passengers to Boston. This accommodation still continues, and the third train for Boston from Portsmouth does not leave until about noon, although advertised at 11.28 A. M.. The Boston & Maine train gains no hing by leaving before the arrival of the Maine Central passengers, as the Eastern train after waiting forty-five minutes longer in Portland goes through to Boston in four hours and fifteen minutes, making the trip from Portsmouth in two hours, and overtaking the Boston & Maine train at East Somerville. The Boston & Maine train has thirteen miles further to run than the Eastern, and as fewer through trains are run on that road than on the Eastern, stops are made at every station, while the Eastern train runs express from Portland to Boston.

The Eastern, P. S. & P., and Concord railroads are considering the project of purchasing all the property on the northerly side of Deer street, between the Concord depot and Railroad avenue and have obtained the prices of the real estate necessary for their future operations. If they decide to purchase, a large and commodious Union depot will be erected on Deer Street and Railroad avenue.

The Eastern Railroad and its branches carried 5,200,000 passengers last year, and its managers have made preparations for a large increase of patronage during the approaching travelling season.

The preliminary examination of Wilfred Fitts takes place at Candia to-day before Geo. E. Hodgdon, Esq., of this city. Great interest is manifested in the case.

Morning Chronicle.

—Sam Long, a well-known circus clown, tells the following story of Henry Clay: "I remember once we entered Lexington in procession, and it just happened that Henry Clay was driving in at the same time. I brought up the rear of the procession, riding a mule. As he was directly behind me, I turned my face to the ass's tail and sang out, 'Here we are, fellow citizens, Wisdom led by Folly.' The people laughed and shouted, and old Harry seemed greatly amused. The next day at the circus I made him a speech, in which I advised him to be President of the United States, and take me in his cabinet. That night he sent me a bottle of the finest wine I ever tasted, with his compliments, saying, 'from the poorest fool to the best clown in the United States.' Ah, sir, there was a great man for you."

The Chronicle.

DOES FARMING PAY? — I was pleased with the letter from your Rumney correspondent, as he so very plainly portrayed the position of the New Hampshire farmer. Much of his letter is very truthful and to the point. But one of his statements I think is not correct.

He says farming does not pay in New Hampshire. I take direct issue with him, and say that it does pay. I have been engaged in the business more than forty years, and during all that time all my interest has been identified with agricultural pursuits. I not only have had my own experience to justify my position, but have had opportunities of knowing something of the success of others, more particularly in the county of Merrimack and in this vicinity.

If your Rumney correspondent will call on me, I will take him into my carriage and in one hour's time, show him half a score of farmers who commenced life with little or no capital—some of them having worked by the month, thereby getting a little money towards buying a small farm, running in debt for quite a portion of the purchase money; thus beginning with no stock, no tools, not even so much as the seed to start the first crop. These men have long since paid for their farms, bought additions, fitted up their buildings, improved their lands, and some of them have money at interest, meanwhile respectably schooling and clothing their children. Now, Mr. Rumney correspondent, I know whereof I speak. I am not one of that class of farmers to which you refer, that have had no practical experience in this business. I not only hold or drive myself, but with a well trained team have often held and drove both at the same time. I claim to say that a well managed farm does pay in New Hampshire.

In early life I was associated with a score of boys quite as smart as the average of boys of that time. Some of us stayed upon the hard farms of this vicinity, while quite a large portion engaged in other pursuits. Those of us that have stayed here and engaged in farming, have on the whole done much the best. Of those that went into other pursuits more than half have failed, while those that have engaged in a business that your correspondent says don't pay, have nearly all acquired a good property. I think I have abundance of proof to sustain my position.

I will speak of one more to corroborate my view. Take if you please the whole amount of the invoice of the farming towns in this vicinity, divide that amount by the number of ratable polls, and do the same thing with the manufacturing cities, and I have no doubt we will have two dollars to their one, quite a large portion of the property of our manufacturing cities being owned by the rich men of Boston; while the farmers of our country towns own their farms and stock, and our enterprising farmers must all have money at interest.

Mr. Editor: I should not have troubled you with this communication, had I not felt it a sense of duty to correct an error that has already done much to cripple the interest and prosperity of our State.

It is a sorry sight to see so many of our young men and boys staying about the villages and cities waiting for some places to be vacated, or seeking some, what they think, easy employment. We have hundreds, if not thousands, of young men and middle-aged men in our cities and villages, that are not needed there. The business of these places is overdone. If these men would come out into our farming towns, buy for themselves farms, and go into the honest business of farming, they would be more happy, more useful, and in a few years, more independent, I have no doubt.—Cor. Concord People.

The nickel mine on Prospect Mountain, Maine, four miles west of Litchfield court-house, is said to be one of the finest in the country. The ore is composed largely of copper, iron and sulphur, and about fifty years ago was worked as a copper mine. The discovery of nickel was afterward made by a German, who, on examination, found it to contain considerable quantities of that metal. He purchased the mine for $500 and sold it a short time afterwards for $5000. The mine is now owned by Mr. McCullum, who bought it for $7000, and although it is worked for nickel, enough sulphur is obtained to pay the running expenses.

A contemporary calls his items "Nits" to show that he gets them out of his own head.

The sale by the Mather heirs of the mill property and water privilege in Concord at the sum of $18.750, is considered remarkably low. Josiah Butler of Concord bid off the property on the westerly side of Gorham street for $9200, and F. T. Greenhalge (for the Lowell bleachery, it is understood) that on the easterly side for $9550. Last year when it was offered for sale it was determined not to sell the westerly lot at less than $30,000 and the other at less than $40,000. At that time there were parties ready to pay double the prices now obtained, but it was not sold.

The most novel accident recorded lately is one happening from a kick by a hog at Durham's Corner, Bureau county, Illinois. Mr. Durham was putting a hog in a wagon, when it kicked him in the eye, filling it with the broken glass of his spectacles. The hog was dropped so as to break its back.

The Massachusetts Legislature will probably pass the bill permitting the Eastern and Boston & Maine Railroads to consolidate—which they are not likely to do; and failing to do so, the next legislature will change permission to compulsion.

The Emperor Napoleon III was somewhat a Spiritualist. In his will he says: "It is necessary to consider that from Heaven above, those whom you have loved regard and protect you. It is the soul of my illustrious uncle that has always sustained and inspired me." He promises the same for his son: "Let him be convinced that my heart and my soul remain with him."

The rise in value of wharf property, by the building of the city railroad at Newburyport, is more than the cost of that road, and as yet the business for which it was designed has not begun.

The Philadelphia Press recommends people to buy their coal early this year. Though there is a heavy stock on hand and the demand has so far been light, the Press warns customers that a combination has been formed which means business, and that the operators have plenty of money and are in a position to regulate production according to the state of the market. Freights, it says, are likely to be higher.

Four rear admirals are to be retired from active service, this year, under the new law of Congress, placing them on the retired list at the age of sixty-two: George F. Emmons, Charles Steadman, William Rogers Taylor and Thornton A. Jenkins. The retirement of these officers promotes Commodores John J. Alsey, J. H. Strong, E. G. Parrott and William Reynolds to the grade of rear admiral.

Persons who may be in the habit of starting out of bed in the dead of night to hunt imaginary burglars should take warning by the fate which befel a Mrs. Stevens, at Stowe, Mass. Having wrought himself up to a high state of nervousness because of the theft of horses from a neighboring stable, Mr. Stevens kept a loaded revolver at his bed-side, and, at the first noise which struck him as strange, jumped to the floor, seized it, and ran to a window. While he was engaged in an effort to penetrate the darkness, Mrs. Stevens having been alarmed also, rose from her bed, went into the sitting-room, and locked out of the window. Mr. Stevens, in the meantime, was watching intently. He saw Mrs. Stevens, but supposing her to be a burglar attempting to escape, he sent a ball through her shoulder-blade, which coursed downward breaking a rib and otherwise injuring her in a very serious manner.

The Chicago Tribune touchingly speaks of "Old Probabilities, who supplies the country with areas of low barometers and storm-centres, and who is responsible, since his installation into office, for the worst weather the United States or any other country has ever known."

Donald McKay, commander of the Warm Spring Indians, is the son of a Scotch settler of the same name, by an Indian woman. He is said to be an educated man, and during the rebellion was the colonel of an Indian regiment in the Union service. He now holds a temporary commission from the government as captain.

A Pennsylvania boy named Bacon, fifteen years old, recently killed a boy of nine years, named Shaum, for a pound of sugar.

On Saturday night John Serliner, employed in a nail mill at Belleville, Ill., shot James Lang with a shot gun while the latter was in bed, blowing his head almost from his body. Lang was engaged to be married to Serliner's sister, and the latter opposed the match and murdered Lang to prevent the marriage. The men were fellow-workmen, roommates and bedfellows. Serliner fled and has not been captured.

The lamp-lighter of Altoona was summoned to court, which left the city in darkness. The natives tapped the lamp posts, and had buckets set to catch the illuminating fluid, but the effort was a failure. It smelled as if they had struck oil, but there was no yield.

The Boston Post has purchased as a location for its new building the site of the birthplace of Benjamin Franklin, a lot adjoining the Transcript estate on Milk street. The Daily Advertiser building is on the site of Franklin's first printing office.

The wild oranges of Florida make a wine which gets a man so drunk that he sleeps two days and nights before waking. This beats the California fig brandy, which gets a man tight and sober again in an hour's time.

A terrible accident occurred Sunday afternoon at the bridge being erected over Lanune River, on the northwestern extension of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad, 14 miles from Sedalia. The false work erected for facilitating the construction of the bridge sank into a quicksand on which it rested, carrying with it the bridge and twelve workmen and precipitating all into the river below. William McAvoy, Peter Conner and Harry French were killed and eight others were wounded, two of whom are not expected to recover.

Ninety-six boys escaped from the Massachusetts Reform School on Monday, but seventy-four of the young rascals were caught before night.

Some devils in human form attempted to wreck a railroad train near Southport, Conn., Sunday night, and assaulted and beat a men who attempted to remove their obstructions. The train passed in safety.

Mrs. Edward Gove of Seabrook, the well known Quaker preacher, died last week. She was advanced in years; respected for her intelligence; beloved for her virtues." Her funeral was largely attended.

Somebody bent upon mischief put powder in the arch of James Prescott's sugar houses in North Sutton. When it "went off" the explosion upset the pan and drenched the attendant with its contents. No further damage was done, though the intention was undoubtedly to blow up the building.

The people of Northwood are much disappointed that the Nashua and Rochester Railroad was not laid through that town, and they are now agitating the extension of the Dover and Portsmouth Railroad to Concord. It is said there is a feasible route by Bow Lake Village in Strafford, and thence through East Northwood, within a mile and a half of the village.

The Fitts boy had a preliminary examination at Candia, Tuesday, and was virtually acquitted of responsibility for his actions, though he was bound over in $500 to appear before a higher court.

A schooner, bound for Newmarket in tow of steamer Clara Batemen, was too long to make the sharp turn below Newmarket drawbridge, and her jibboom had to be cut away before she could be pointed through the draw. When that difficulty was overcome the schooner was too wide to go through the draw, and stuck fast; and eighteen inches or more of the bridge had to be cut away to allow her to pass.

Nashua has $60,000 which it does not know what to do with. It was received from the State for war expenditures, and $12,000 was voted for a soldiers' monument, which there is no probability will ever be built. The remainder was appropriated for a new high school building, and the Spring street cemetery recommended as a location. The Nashua Manufacturing Company, which gave the land to the city originally, with the provision that it should revert back to the corporation when it ceased to be used as a place for the burial of the dead, very generously gave a deed that it should be used for school purposes. The necessary resolutions for the removal of the interments, of which they were about one thousand, was passed, and the work of removal was commenced, but the public sentiment rose against the desecration so strongly that the work was discontinued after about half the bodies had been removed. There the matter rests, and the city government doesn't know whether to replace the bodies, leave everything as it is, or go on with the work.

At the last term of the Supreme Judicial Court in Dover, Attorney-General Lewis W. Clark filed information against the Boston and Maine railroad corporation for an unlawful over-issue of stock. Messrs. Choate and E. Rockwell H ar, attorneys for the road, have filed an answer, averring that the issue was made in accordance with an act of the Legislatures of Maine and Massachusetts, and that they have in no way violated the laws of New Hampshire. A hearing will probably be had at the next law term.

At the trial term just closed, of the S. J. Court for Rockingham County, held by Judge Foster, 21 fines were imposed for violation of liquor law, and 8 divorces were granted—7 for adultery, (4 women and 3 men), and one for desertion.

WELLS' GRAND DISTRIBUTION.—The committee, after drawing nearly one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, have decided to postpone the drawing until July 1st, 1873. This will positively be the last postponement. W. B. Lowd, Agent.

NO POSTPONEMENT. It is not wise to put off until the heats of summer have commenced the invigorating process which would have secured the system, in advance, against this untoward influence. By toning the stomach, liver and bowels in the spring months with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and continuing to take this harmless but powerful vegetable invigorant during the summer, it is quite certain that even persons who are naturally delicate and deficient in vital force may escape the fits of indigestion, headache, nausea, biliousness, nervous debility and mental oppression which, in the absence of such preparation, often prostrate and agonize the more robust. A pure stimulant, medicated with the juices of the finest tonic, anti-bilious and aperient roots and herbs, is an invaluable boon to the weak and ailing, and this life-sustaining boon in the form of Hostetter's Bitters, is fortunately within the reach of all.

FACTORY OPERATIVES, after the exhaustion of their long day of labor in overheated and poorly ventilated rooms, need a stimulant that is nourishing as well as warming. Neither tea nor coffee with all their agreeable properties, is so eminently suited to meet this need as is Cocoa or Chocolate. That prepared by Walter Baker & Co., Boston, has the highest reputation the world over. Try it!

NO LADY'S TOILET COMPLETE Unless there be the fragrant Sozodont; unto the lips it sweet odors it imparts, the gums a ruby redness soon assume, the teeth quick rival alabaster tint, and seem as pearls set in a coral vase.

The Eastern Railroad Company have just issued a beautiful lithograph advertisment of their road and its connections, setting forth the numerous advantages they possess for conveying passengers to the popular summer resorts at Wolfeboro', North Conway and the White mountains. The Portsmouth correspondent of the Portland State says probably one of the most valuable collections of autographs, ancient documents (some of them two centuries old) and mementoes owned by a private individual within the precinct of New Hampshire, is that in the possession of Samuel Dodge, Esq., of this city, who has spent several years in gathering them together. Looking over the carefully preserved specimens, arranged in book form, we discovered the names of Andrew Jackson, John Adams, Van Buren, Zachary Taylor, Lord Brougham, Gen. Scott, Farragut, Calhoun, George Bancroft, Lewis Cass, L. L. Yulee, Gen. Lee, G. P. R. James, Lady Sydney Morgan, Amelia Opie, Gen. James Sullivan of Revolutionary fame, Rufus Choate, Daniel Webster, Levi Woodbury, Duke Alexis, Gov. Benning Wentworth of New Hampshire, John Sullivan, a General in the war of the Revolution and President of New Hampshire, W. Gilmore Simms, George Boyd, "one Crœsus eighty years ago," Donald McGwitchell, S. Buchanan Read, Gen. William Whipple, who was sent to the North Western Frontier to stop the progress of Gen. Burgoyne into Vermont in 1777, John C. Wool, Walt. Whitman, Lord Walsingham, etc., etc. There are to be found scores of authors, poets, generals, statesmen, and many valuable mementoes all arranged with an eye to convenience, and for which the owner has refused generous offers. Additions of the "genuine article" are being constantly made, to secure which negotiations are regularly pending. Lovers of antiquity will here find much to interest.

Morning Chronicle.

"BEEN."—The Nashua Telegraph relates that a good many years ago, on a certain occasion, when an educational institution was in session in Lowell, one of the professors called on a young lady teacher to conjugate the verb been, and she commenced, "I will have ben" (been), "you will have ben" (been)—"Stop," yelled the professor; "you don't know whether Ben will have you or not." And the lady sat down, but ever after pronounced that word correctly.

POTATO PLANTING.—In planting potatoes this spring, let farmers try the method of putting the seed near the natural surface of the earth and not in the bottom of a furrow six inches deep. Make the hill as large as they please, but keep the seed up where sun and rain may reach it.

—Thirty years ago, a man living near La Crosse, Wisconsin, sold a pair of boots for a gun, traded the gun for a pony, sold the pony for thirty acres of swamp land, and now he owns sixty-six city lots worth $800 each. That is all very well, but how about the man who has got the boots.

IRON in the BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY, HUMORS

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes the Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested, and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ill," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, marching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Rumors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. B. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs, NO. 768 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

The Chronicle.

"BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON." When we see such revelations as have been made in Washington during the past winter, we are naturally forced to conclude that these must be but a small outcropping of the vast harvest of corruption that overspreads the country. Every one feels a keen desire to get at the facts of this terrible and intensely-interesting history. The author carries his readers "Behind the Scenes" of the great political drama of our governmental life, and shows us the actors who are charged with the most vital interests of the country, stripped of the brilliant hues and attractions which partisan admiration has thrown around them, and exhibits them to us as they really are.

It is no mere sensation-book, designed to pander to a morbid curiosity. Mr. Martin gives a plain and unvarnished history of the infamous Credit Mobilier affair, and makes disclosures with which every citizen, of whatever party, should acquaint himself and which are terribly startling. He drags the mysterious lobby and its members out into the broad light of day, and tells us all about them, giving sketches of the noted Women of the Lobby. He introduces us into the White House, and to its occupants. He lays bare the secret-workings of the Departments, and shows how they are conducted. He tells us about the hard-worked and poorly-paid employees of the departments, and gives interesting facts about the female clerks, of whom so much has been said. He introduces us to Senators, Representatives, Military and Naval heroes, adventurers, and all that vast crowd that makes up the life of the National Capitol, and has given to the public a work that will fully sustain his well-won reputation. It is not only deeply interesting for the disclosures it makes, but is brim-full of useful and valuable information to every citizen. It is a clear and lucid explanation of the manner in which the great departments of the General Government are organized and conducted, and contains full and admirably-written descriptions of the magnificent public buildings and other works of art, of which the whole land is so justly proud.

In short, the book is Washington City in miniature, and we cordially commend it to all. To those who contemplate visiting Washington it is invaluable.

It is sold by subscription only, and Mr. J. Meads, who is the authorized agent for this section is now canvassing for it.

The Fitchburg (Mass.) Sentinel, an excellent paper, is going to start a daily. We are glad of it. We started a daily once. We ran it nearly four months, and then paused. Since then we take lively interest in such enterprises. We have no doubt the Sentinel people will make the daily work, and we are quite positive it will make them work. A man who goes through life without having started a daily paper misses a rare and valuable experience. Falling down stairs with a cook-stove will hardly compensate him.—Danbury News.

A WARNING IN TIME.—Another "unknown man," while walking on the track of the Hudson River Railroad, has been run over and killed. We have suggested once, in the interest of humanity, that all strangers approaching that road should be required to produce letters of introduction to the officers of trains, or keep off the track, and we hope we shall not be forced to do it again.—Lou. Cour. Jour.

The hideous custom among Japanese women of blackening their teeth and shaving their eyebrows on being married or reaching a marriageable age, is likely to die out or become abolished, for the Empress has set the example of innovating upon this old custom, dicted by Asiatic jealousy.

Portsmouth, N. H.

THURSDAY, MAY 8, 1873.

Death of Chief Justice Chase.

Chief Justice Chase was on Tuesday attacked by apoplexy, from the effects of which he died Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. William Hoyt, 4 West Thirty-third street, New York. He was visiting his daughter in New York city, and on Monday complained that he did not feel as well as usual. He said he experienced great lassitude, which he attributed to the effects of the spring weather. His daughter requested that a physician be called.

Mr. Chase did not think it necessary to call medical attendance, and no further alarm was felt until Tuesday, when he was prostrated by a stroke of apoplexy. He was only partly conscious at any time after the shock, and it is not certain that he was able to recognize any of his friends who visited his bedside. His daughter and friends there secured the best of medical attendance, and everything that could be done for him was cheerfully and promptly performed.

OAKES AMES.—The false report of the death of Oakes Ames on Tuesday created quite a ripple in the financial waters in Wall street. Union Pacific stock, which had been steadily advancing since the opening of business, fell back 1-2 to 3-4 per cent. in consequence. Heavy sales were made on the theory that Mr. Ames' death would put a large amount of the stock in the market, but later in the day it was announced that Mr. Ames' stock in the Union Pacific was so involved with the rest of his estate that it could not be delivered with in a year, and the decline was in a great part recovered.

It is true, no doubt that Mr. Ames, like all the rest of mankind, had his faults; but the great body of his constituents believe him to have been a whole-souled, unselfish man. And it is also probable that had it not been for the famous Credit Mobilier Ring which he formed and to which he gave his energies, his time, and his fortune, the Union Pacific Railroad would never have been built. For by this scheme, the management became so concentrated as to be able to operate as one individual and hence the speedy accomplishment of one of the greatest marvels of this century of wonders. In speaking of Ames, the New York Express says, while referring to his connection with the Union Pacific Railroad he risked all he had and sacrificed his own credit, and with many in the end lost his own good name, which is better than the riches of a kingdom, to secure the greatest public work of the century, and if we are to believe the testimony of some of the ablest financiers and railroad men of the country he secured no more than what he was entitled to in equity and justice."

Readables.

The application for a stay of proceedings in the case of Michael Nixon, the murderer of Pfeiffer, has been denied by Judge Barrett. Nixon will be executed on the 16th inst., unless the governor interposes. Judge Barrett's decision refusing a stay of proceedings in Nixon's case is very brief and concise, the only doubt in the judicial mind having been whether the rulings of Judge Brady were not too favorable to the prisoner. Judge Barrett emphatically affirms the proposition that "Design may be formed upon the instant of doing a deed of death." Nixon's counsel still has the right to apply to any one of the other supreme judges of the State for a stay of proceedings, but it is doubtful if he will do so, since he had little hope that his appeal to Judge Barrett would be successful.

Occasional efforts are made to induce Mr. James Montgomery Bailey to leave Danbury and take a position on a large city daily. He, however, uniformly refuses, preferring to continue his connection with the News, the circulation of which paper, by his quiet and effective jokes, he has increased to nearly six thousand copies, weekly, and we have no doubt it will reach 10,000 within the present year. Mr. Bailey does wisely in remaining in Danbury, where he can reap the profits of his own work. So long as he stands by the Danbury News the people will stand by him.

We had begun to despair of this world, seeing by our exchanges that a great many exemplary persons were dying off, and never a one of the opposite class. The Danville Union now gives us hope, and publishes a first-class obituary of a certain Doctor, as follows: "Dr. C., of Lebanon, who was here the latter part of January to work on defective eyes, ears that were out of whack, and throats that were botherations to their possessor, died last Monday night. If the reports that reach us are correct, the Doctor was a very reckless sort of a customer, an abortionist, a drunkard, and not inclined to preserve the sanctity of the marriage vow."

Joseph Medill was asked if he would run again for Mayor of Chicago; he replied: "There isn't political, social, or pecuniary inducements enough in Chicago to hire me. I have had enough." Like the savage Danbury canine that had been terribly dosed with horse-radish and cayenne pepper, "he don't want any more seasoning."

The Providence Journal thinks that it will not be an easy matter to starve out men like the Modocs, who can live on grasshopper pudding, and grow fat on rat soup and lizard pie.

It is believed in Boston that the murderer of the Joyce children is the nephew of a distinguiser literateur; that he was sent abroad immediately after the crime, and that the influence and wealth of the family have prevented any attempt to bring him to justice.

A German in Buffalo fell into a beer vat recently and was drowned. He drank as hard as he could to save himself, and would have succeeded had not a floating cork choked him.

The motto of the Good Templar girls of Salem, N. J., is: "The lips that touch wine shall never touch mine." And isn't it very strange that the masculine lips of Salem are touching wine at about the same rate that they always did?

When a man worth a hundred thousand dollars gets drunk and goes fooling around between the bumpers of railroad cars, he is just as likely to furnish the subject matter of an item as any careful brakeman who only earns twenty or thirty dollars a month. It Mr. James McDonald, of Tennessee, could speak to-day he would confirm our statement.

We now have the clue to the cause of the horrible tragedy of the falling bridge at Dixon, Illinois. A special dispatch to the Boston Advertiser says that a statement is published that Truesdale obtained the contract in 1867 for the bridge at Dixon, Ill., which fell Sunday, by direct bribery of the aldermen of that city, paying them from $300 to $500 each. E. B. Baker and H. P. Becker are accused of having received $300 and $500 respectively. The efforts to raise the fallen spans of the bridge have proved abortive the powerful machinery breaking the rotten structure, but not raising it sufficiently to allow the bodies that are supposed to be still under the ruins to be recovered.

Hon. James L. Orr of South Carolina, our minister to Russia, died suddenly in Petersburg on the 5th instant. There is much speculation in regard to his successor. There will be an effort on the part of southern politicians to have the place given to a man from their section. Judge Bingham's name is often used in connection with the matter. This arises from the fact that he would have received this mission instead of Mr. Orr but for the fact that its pay had been increased by Congress during Judge Bingham's term. It is known, also that the Japan mission has been promised to Judge Bingham.

The conviction and sentence of Edward S. Stokes have been affirmed, and his friends have abandoned all hope of saving him from the gallows. When the decision was announced in Court it caused considerable excitement. Stokes is very despondent at the unfavorable turn matters have taken.

SEQUEL TO THE EPIZOOTIC.—The Commercial says there is at present a serious affection among the horses in Buffalo, which the veterinary surgeons pronounce a result of the epizootic last fall. The new disease attacks the animal's hoofs, and the flesh swells and bursts, leaving large holes, and very troublesome running sores. In extreme cases, the animal loses the hoof entirely and has to be killed. The hoof disease has existed in Buffalo for about two weeks, and at the present time some of the horses belonging to the street railway company, the express companies, &c., are suffering from it. The disease is not generally fatal or dangerous, but the animal affected requires much care and is entirely incapacitated for service. We do not hear that any of the Syracuse horses have been attacked with this disease. There is always, however, more or less of the "scratches" and other diseases of the feet.

ANOTHER SENSATION is in pickle. Edward H. G. Clarke, of Troy, announces that he will issue a paper called the Thunderbolt. He says of that sheet: "It will tear open the 'Beecher-Tilton scandal.' It will arraign every great social force that has entered into the late national conspiracy to hide the sins of Henry Ward Beecher. The paper will be largely occupied by an article of my own, prompted and impelled by the highest and most patriotic motives. But word is sent to me that Mr. A. J. Comstock (of 'obscene literature') is preparing to suppress my article. I trust the information is false. Bigots will consider the Thunderbolt a wicked paper, but there is not money enough on the globe to pay me for writing an article of obscene literature. Not only that, but the charge is so repulsive to me that I would rather be tried for murder; and give Mr. Comstock my word as a gentleman that I shall never gratify my choice in this respect, if he should make one of his illegal descents upon my person, character and property. This course, if no other, will bring the Beecher-Bowen-Comstock conspiracy to a head, and will again secure free-speech and a free press in the United States." Mr. Clarke is an accomplished scholar and a forcible writer; although he is given somewhat to imitating Wendell Phillips, of whom he is a devoted admirer. His Thunderbolt will be no mere pop gun—that is if Clarke is Clarke.

THE NEWBURYPORT GHOST AGAIN. The disturbances at the Charles street school house in Newburyport have broken out anew. On Saturday a party of five ladies and gentlemen, from out of town, called at the school room in the forenoon, from curiosity to inspect so widely noted premises. One of the number pulled the cord that raised the ventilator, and the instant it was opened the dustpan was thrown down through with great violence, striking the only unoccupied seat in the room. The pan was used Friday afternoon and hung up in the closet, but could not be found Saturday morning. The only entrance to the attic was securely locked and the key in the possession of one of the committee. The door was opened as soon as the key could be procured, it being closely watched meanwhile, and the party ascended, but nothing was there but vacant space. As may be imagined, the party was astounded, not having expected a performance for their benefit. The quondam excitement has been renewed, and the talk now is that Miss Perkins will at once be removed.

THE MASSACHUSETTS LIQUOR LAW.—"Templeton," the Boston correspondent of the Hartford Courant, is not of the opinion that the law prohibiting the sale of beer, which went into operation on the first of May, is likely to be carried out. What he says on the subject is not without interest here.

It is doubtful if there is any earnest effort to enforce the suppression of the beer shops. In such a case nobody will profit by the act but the State constables. The force is an active organization for blackmailing purposes. Saloons are selling ardent spirits and always have been, right under its eye, the city over. They pay the State constables for the privilege. The body is, in fact, a licensing board. We are living under a license law, with the exception that the money goes into the pockets of the State constables, instead of the State treasury. I beg you in Connecticut, to always remember this, whenever a State police is proposed with you. Its tendency is inevitably to corruption. Nor in this way alone. It is a political engine in Boston. The liquor saloons at the North End were ordered to use their influence in favor of the election of the republican candidate for Congress last autumn, on penalty of being compelled to close, and it is notorious that local candidates for office constantly have their aid, through threats from the State constables. I do not anticipate any reduction in the sale of beer here now. The only difference will be, that while before the law sanctioned the business, it will now be carried on through the sufferance of officers of law, who will levy upon those engaged in the traffic, for money in greater or less amounts.

A DISAGREEABLE SHOWER. A gentle traveller to Boston in one of the Sound steamers, curing the competition which crowded the boats with "all sorts of people" was very much annoyed on retiring to his state room with his wife and children, to find a group of "fellows of the baser sort" just under his window, indulging in coarse conversation and vulgar jest. A waiter, sent out to remonstrate, was consigned to a place some degrees hotter than the boiler-deck. After a moment's thought, the traveller filled his mouth with water from the pitcher, and, opening his window, suddenly expelled the water into the darkness with a fearful retch of the first agonies of sea-sickness. The astonished rowdies, imagining themselves to be treated to the contents of a sea-sick passenger's stomach, hastily retreated with curses on the qualmishness of their disturber, and using their handkerchiefs vigorously, while the ingenious traveller, with a chuckle of great satisfaction, retired to an undisturbed night's slumber.

State News.

Warren Wyman a paper carrier in Manchester, who in his youth lost the use of his right arm, and partly the use of his right leg by sickness, has, by industry and economy worthy of emulation, at the age of 24 years, saved money enough to pay for one half of a tenement block which he and his father have built in 'Squog, at an expense of $3,500.

Miss Nellie Mack, 16 years old, daughter of Rev. D. A. Mack, Superintendent of the New Hampshire Orphans' Home, was found dead in her bed Sunday morning. She was very sick with small pox some three months ago, and never recovered from its effects.

—A writer in Scribner's relates that on a certain evening, when unable to arouse his household by the ringing of the door-bell, a policeman suggested the expedient of knocking a brick gently against the outer wall, and that the dull, drum-like booming which resulted quickly secured for him an entrance to his domicile.

Business Notices.

WELLS' GRAND DISTRIBUTION. — The committee, after drawing nearly one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, have decided to postpone the drawing until July 1st, 1873. This will positively be the last postponement W. B. Lowd, Agent.

NO POSTPONEMENT. It is not wise to put off until the heats of summer have commenced the invigorating process which would have secured the system, in advance, against this untoward influence. By toning the stomach, liver and bowels in the spring months with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and continuing to take this harmless but powerful vegetable invigorant during the summer, it is quite certain that even persons who are naturally delicate and deficient in vital force may escape the fits of indigestion, headache, nausea, biliousness, nervous debility and mental oppression which, in the absence of such preparation, often prostrate and agonize the more robust. A pure stimulant, medicated with the juices of the finest tonic, anti-bilious and aperient roots and herbs, is an invaluable boon to the weak and ailing, and this life-sustaining boon in the form of Hostetter's Bitters, is fortunately within the reach of all.

FACTORY OPERATIVES, after the exhaustion of their long day of labor in overheated and poorly ventilated rooms, need a stimulant that is nourishing as well as warming. Neither tea nor coffee with all their agreeable properties, is so eminently suited to meet this need as is Cocoa or Chocolate. That prepared by Walter Baker & Co., Boston, has the highest reputation the world over. Try it!

NO LADY'S TOILET COMPLETE Unless there be the fragrant Sozodont; unto the breath sweet odors it imparts, the gums a ruby redness soon assume, the teeth quick rival alabaster tint, and seem as pearls set in a coral vase.

THOROUGH WORKMANSHIP in all custom goods is a feature in Boots and Shoes with T. E. Moseley & Co., 293 Washington street, Boston, while all material used is the best that can be found in the market.

For all throat diseases and especially Coughs, Colds, &c., there is no known remedy equal to Buchman's Pulmocine, and a few doses will satisfy the most skeptical of its efficacy. For sale at the Union Store.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is the concentration of sixteen composite parts and can be manufactured only in large quantities. So immediate and powerful is its action that one bottle (selling for 50 cts.) is more potent than any other curative of throat and lung diseases on sale.

☞ Persons suffering with Liver Complaint in any of its various forms will do well to call at Gilbert's Root and Herb Store, and try some of his Liver Lozenges. Many have tried them and are rejoicing to-day.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

NATIONAL SONGS.—We printed yesterday from Mr. Salisbury's essay on national songs the first verse of an old patriotic ode beginning with these lines—

On Olympus' high summit convened in full session," with the remark that "the graceful words had no power to gain popular favor or to preserve the remembrance of their author." The ode was written by Jonathan Mitchell Sewall of Portsmouth, for the celebration of President Adams' birthday, and is published with the writer's miscellaneous poems, collected and printed at Portsmouth in 1801. The song, though somewhat too loud for modern tastes, was considered very successful at the time, which encouraged Mr. Sewall to try his hand again in the same measure on the President's next birthday. As an example of the fervid patriotism which at that time found expression in the songs of the nation, we copy the following verses:—

The terror of Traitors, and pride of our nation!
'Mid clouds of detraction, still glorious survives,
Sedition's dread scourge, and his country's salvation.
Let his fame then resound
The wide universe round,
Till Heav'n's starry arch the loud chorus rebound!
Such honors pure worth must from gratitude claim!
Till the sun is extinct, and the Globe all on flame.

As bright Sol, whom the planets exulting obey,
Darts thro' clouds those glad beams that enliven creation,
So Adams 'midst tempests and storms, with mild sway,
Tho' dire comets may rise,
Let them meet but his eyes,
And in tangents, they whirl and retreat thro' the skies.
Our Sun, Regent, Centre! then ever extol,
Till yon Orb cease to shine, and those Planets to roll.

As gold try'd by fire, leaves the dross all behind,
So, slandered by Jacobin sons of sedition,
Adams bursts forth refulgent as Saints are refined
From the furnace of Satan, that son of perdition!
Then let Adams be sung
By each Patriot tongue,
And Columbia's loud lyre be to ecstacy strung!
These honors such worth must from gratitude claim,
Till the sun is extinct, and the Heavens are on flame!

Mr. Sewall made a figure at the bar of Massachusetts and New Hampshire in his day, but his tastes were for poetry, and he published several careful and clever versions of the poems of Ossian, in whom he was a devout believer. Perhaps no other lines of his are so widely remembered now as the couplet from his Epilogue to Cato, written for the opening of a theatre in Portsmouth in 1778:—

No pent-up Utica contract your powers,

The Hampton Colored Students.

We trust that all our readers will avail themselves of the peculiar musical treat which is to be offered at the Temple Friday evening. The Hampton Colored Singers are said to excel the Fisk Troupe in their style of song and the sweetness of tone. The following is their singularly quaint programme:

PART I.

2—Oh, Wasn't Dat a Wide Riber?
3—My Lord, what a Morning!
4—There's a Great Camp Meeting in the Promised Land.
5—Nobody knows the Trouble I've Seen.
6—Oh Yes, Oh Yes.

PART II.

1—Who'll Jine de Union?
2—I Hope my Mother will be There.
3—Swing Low, Sweet Chariot (known by this company as the Danville Chariot).
4—Roll Jordan, Roll.
5—I Don't feel No Ways Tired.
6—Aint that Hard Trial? (with Steal Away to Jesus).

Laconics.

The dust was unpleasantly lively in our streets on Wednesday, and we were glad to observe that "Old Probabilities" predicted a rain storm on Thursday, which would effectually lay the awful dust—until it rose again. A young lady said in our hearing, alluding to the loose dirt circulating through the air that it was "frightful!" We could see nothing particularly terrifying in flying dust, but we remember however, that we are of the sterner sex, and they are of the gentler; hence of course more easily affrighted,—the sweet creatures?

Farmers in this vicinity predict a good crop of hay this season. Their prognostications in this direction are based upon the fact of having had so large a quantity of snow during the past winter, which serve at once as a covering and protection to the grass roots and affording at the same time a moisture which is always indispensible to the proper nourishment of the numberless little fibres which give life and sustenance to the main roots.

A little girl of 11 years, named Lizzie Hatch, who was playing on High street Tuesday, was run over by a horse ridden by some unknown boy, and very severely injured.

The Hibernians which is to be exhibited this evening at the Temple, is pronounced an excellent entertainment by all who have witnessed it. The press and public are load in the praise of Mr. Jerry Cohan the Comedian, who is said to be an entertainment in himself alone. Besides, they bring with them the celebrated Irish prima donna Miss Nora O'Brien, who is only excell by such as Nilsson, Patti, and the like. The proceeds of the entertainment we learn are to be devoted to the benefit of the new Catholic Church, now being erected in this city.

The Navy Department has issued proposals for supplying machinery for the eight sloops-of-war authorized by the late Congress. The construction of three of them has already commenced, and the white oak for the fourth is being collected. Three of the sloops will be built of iron—two by private contract and the others probably by the Navy Department. Plans for seven of the vessels have been prepared, and that for the eight is nearly completed.

A manufacturing establishment at South Newmarket has been building, for a few years past, a novel class of locomotives for the wooden track railways in the lumber regions of Georgia. They are only six tons in weight, and have very large cylinders for so large machines. The capacity for carrying water and fuel is very great, the whole forming a very unique and serviceable machine, one of them being able to do the work of thirty mules easily.

THE MODOC REGION.—The Indian Commissioners, in their recently published report, describe the country of the Modocs as follows:

"The country of the Modocs is situated just east of the Cascade range of mountains, and south of the boundary line between California and Oregon. It constitutes a basin without apparent water outlet, the drainage of which forms a number of lakes, Lake Rhett being the largest. The area is about 40 by 60 miles, by far the largest part of which is covered with volcanic or basaltic rocks, and the lakes with their marginal marshes. Some of the rocky parts are extremely rough. The material seems to have been poured in a melted state into the basin when its area formed a lake of great depth, and being rapidly cooled by the waters, cracked into innumerable masses and blocks. The subsequent slaking of the surface of the lake, the action of the waves for a long period upon the gradually encroaching shore, and the action of the water from the slopes and from the melting snows, finding its channels for ages in the bottom of the cracks and crevices formed in cooling, have washed out the alluvial foundation upon which the rocks were originally deposited, and tumbled them into the confusion which renders the place so effective a stronghold for the Indians. The surface of the lowest of the present lakes is 4000 feet above the sea level, and owing to its elevation none of the land is suitable for general agricultural purposes; but its comparatively sheltered position; its nutritious grasses, roots and berries, the abundance of wo-cus and other seeds, and of small game and the wild fowl and fish which frequent the surface or abound in the waters of the lakes, make it a very choice home for Indians."

THE DIXON BRIDGE DISASTER.—The following extract from the Sterling Mills Gazette will give a clear idea of the manner and direct cause of the Dixon bridge disaster:

The people were closely crowded on the footway, and the immense weight all on one side was too much for the bridge. One of the cap stringers snapped asunder and allowed the north section to sag from the abutment, plunging into the river with its living burden. Between the foot and wagon roads was a network of iron braces about nine feet high, and this toppled over on the mass of humanity who had been thrown into the river, and by it men, women and children were pinioned beneath the water, without power to help themselves, and too firmly bound by the weight of the iron to be aided by their friends. It appears that the bridge was constructed in such a manner as to make each section depend on the other for support, and when the north section gave way the balance sagged between the piers, making a complete wreck of the entire structure. So far as known no fatal casualties occurred on any section but the first, though several were severely injured by being crushed between the iron work.

Special dispatches are filled with incidents attending the fearful calamity, but add little to the main facts. The number still known to be missing added to those bodies recovered make the list of killed 75; wounded 32.

A PLEA FOR MORE SLEEP.—The Hartford Courant says: Most people, we venture to say, get up in the morning when they feel that they need more sleep—all their system craves it. They force their nerves into activity. The tired brain has to be roused before it is rested, and it is sometimes hours before it can be worked up to the activity required. This is exactly like working delicate machinery without oiling it, and it is no wonder it so often creaks and breaks down. We daily, for lack of sleep, draw upon our reserved capital, and spend the principal before the interest matures.

Morning Chronicle.

ART. — A correspondent, who has attentively read the amateur art in the newspapers, sends us the following article on exhibition in another city, as a sample of what he is capable of in that line.

Daubson's head (No. 1) is very soft and airy, and pervaded by that tete de chou in the ensemble for which this artist is celebrated.

"A Greek, bearing the Hod" (No. 18), by Patricko Sullivani. A beautiful ideal picture, tenderly treated. The rounds of the ladder are beautifully rung in, and there is a great deal of strength shown in the bricks. The confidence with which the bearer approaches the scaffold, even with the cry of "More mort" ringing in his ears, is tremendous.

"Revenons a nos moutons" (No. 63), by Eugin Very-bock-beer-hove in. We were glad to see this picture, as no collection is complete without some mutton from this artist, though, as there can be but a few thousand of his sheep in this country now, they are of course quite rare, as mutton should be, notwithstanding hey are well done.

"Still Life in Bourbon County" (No. 22) is a spirited picture by Kornjuice; age will improve this artist's production, which is rather crude and fiery.

"Flourpiece," by Miller. The works of this artist are (k)needed in every family. This specimen is entitled "Rising in the (y)east."—a light and pleasing composition produced in Rochester, New York.

"Sou'ner on the Coast," by Snow. This is a (n)ice picture, though cold in tone. The recumbent b(u)oy in the foreground is well handled, and the rear elevation of the coaster brought out very strongly.

"The Power of the Pen," by Hogg. This picture bristles all over with the artist's characteristics, who always goes to the root of his subject. The pig-ment is strong, and the sty-le good. The height of dolce far niente is reached by this artist.

—A Baltimore boy was so badly frightened by one of the performing Indians, who chased him while they were riding through the streets, that he was thrown into a brain fever and narrowly escaped death.

—An elephant was so frightened by the cars at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., that he pulled up a tree to which he was chained and departed.

—A Danbury bride received among her wedding gifts, a receipted bill of eight dollars for gate hinges, from her father.

—The first Chinaman ever arrested in San Francisco for drunkenness turned up in the police court last month.

The Chronicle.

THE WRECK OF THE ATLANTIC.—Mr. Darnis Wellington, who has just returned from a resultless journey to Halifax for the purpose of recovering the body of his nephew, Mr. Henry M. Wellington, who perished in the steamer Atlantic, furnishing very interesting particulars of the present condition of affairs. He spent one month at Halifax and used every possible means to secure the body of his nephew, as well as to obtain information in regard to the manner in which business is being carried on. Mr. Wellington reports that the inhabitants of Prospect have for the most part behaved in a disgraceful manner since the catastrophe. Only the other day, he says, when the vessel was blown, there was a legion of small boats about the wreck, and after the blast, they devoted themselves entirely to the work of plunder. The money which has been sent for their relief has, in many instances, been misappropriated, for they are, with few exceptions, dishonest.

One of these exceptions, and the most prominent, is that of a family named Clancy. The mother of the family is confined to her bed with inflammatory rheumatism, her husband is an old man, and the daughter is weak and frail; yet these noble-hearted people opened their house to all who came, and gave away nearly all the clothing and food which they possessed. Even now, the house presents almost ineffaceable reminders of the visitation. The paper has disappeared from the walls where the survivors stood, and a board is missing from the floor from which it was taken in order to enable the dripping water to escape.

In relation to the prospect of the recovery of more bodies, Mr. Wellington opines that many more will be taken from the wreck. The breakers there are very rough, and their sound can be heard from one to three miles, according to the weather. There is a very strong under-tow, also, which does not subside until from four to six days after a storm, so that the divers have not been enabled to work more than ten days since their arrival. Already, however, they have recovered nearly four hundred bodies which are decently interred in a large pit at Prospect, or "Marr's Head." Only fourteen bodies had been claimed. Mrs. Davison and her daughter, cabin passengers, had considerable money on their persons, and were buried separately at Halifax with the expectation that they will be removed by relatives in California.

"It is a singular fact, by the way," said Mr. Wellington, "that not one single one of the rescued wore a life-preserver. On the contrary, many of the bodies which were picked up at sea were buckled about with these supposed to be preservatives of human life." Mr. Wellington pays a very high compliment to Judge Jackson, the United States Consul at Halifax, who was unwearied in his efforts to aid in the recovery of the bodies. Without his aid, the efforts of the Americans there could have been of little effect. Mr. Marckwald, he says, took charge of business there at first and accepted charge of the property recovered until the captain of the vessel gave orders that such goods should be delivered at the consulate.—Traveller.

HE MEANS BUSINESS.—The court-room was crowded this morning in anticipation of a lively time. Yesterday some parties got into a fracas, and today four persons were up before Judge Jellison. Mayor McMullan entered the court-room and asked permission to address those assembled, and his request was granted. As on all other occasions he spoke to the point. He desired to stop the sale of intoxicating liquors, and while the victims to strong drink had his heartfelt sympathies, he wanted to see the seller brought to justice, and made the following proposition: Every person arrested for intoxication, who will give such evidence against the party selling as shall lead to conviction, shall have his fine paid and $25 besides; also any person giving information that shall lead to the conviction of a seller shall receive $25 therefor. This is to be a standing offer for this year, and the more frequent the Mayor is called upon to pay the award the more pleasing it will be to him, and he will back up this proposition to the extent of $10,000 if necessary. No matter who the party is that is caught selling, he wants to see him convicted. He said he knew the value of money, and now that he had succeeded in securing a competence he was willing to use it for the good of his fellow man.—Biddeford Times.

The Daily Chronicle,

Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, MAY 9, 1873.

Readables.

A case which is likely to call forth all the emotional resources of a French jury, is told as follows: A young man having accepted a challenge from a noted duelist, goes home and tells his mother all about it. The good lady rushes off distracted to the house of the duelist, whom she finds practicing with a pistol in the garden and, what is worse, hitting the mark every time. She implores his mercy, but is coldly repulsed by the marksman, who declares his intention to kill her son. Thereupon, in her wrath and terror, the poor woman snatches up a pistol and shoots the duelist dead. The chances are that she will be acquitted, and, indeed, it is difficult to imagine any case which offers more, or more genuine, extenuation. A jury of mothers, at least, would not very long deliberate upon their verdict.

Among the spectators at a cock-fight in Rhode Island were a Providence policeman and a Fall River councilman.

The aspect of the strife for political supremacy in Louisiana grows worse, and a general appeal to arms is greatly to be feared, if the despatches from New Orleans and other points in the State are true. An almost successful attempt to assassinate Governor Kellogg is reported, several gun stores at New Orleans have been broken into and robbed, and it appears that the Metropolitans sent to St. Martinsville to install the Kellogg officials are hemmed in and overpowered by armed citizens who have gathered and organized in considerable numbers. A sharp engagement occurred, but without definite results, so far as reported.

Judge Fancher's opinion denying Stokes a new trial is long and exhaustive, and unhesitatingly affirms Judge Boardman's instructions to the jury that the killing being admitted the burden of proof was upon the prisoner to show that it was done in self-defence. Stokes' counsel will now take the case to the court of appeals, where it will have precedence over all other business.

The Spaniards are rapidly adopting all the customs of the most advanced nineteenth century civilization; the commissary general of the Carlist forces has scooted and carried off all the cash.

Advices from Montreal report a big fire at Tanneris, by which the village was in a great measure destroyed and one hundred families rendered houseless.

A stranger, a young man from the country, after having gazed at the banana at the eating-house in a railway station, yesterday, wanted to know what "them 'ar sweet potatoes were worth, and why so much pains were taken to string 'em." He couldn't see that he was wrong when the crowd laughed.

The body of Mrs. Cushman, who disappeared on Friday, April 25, and has been persistently sought for ever since, was found imbedded in coal tar in the bed of the Charles River, near where her hat was found on the day after her disappearance.

Despatches leave little hope for the safety of any of the crew of the Tennyson, wrecked at sea February 22, except the second mate and two seamen, who were picked up after floating seven days. Among her crew were a number of young men from Boston and vicinity, including Jarvis Perkins of Boston, Clarence L. Putnam of Danvers, and Daniel T. Worcester and George Thurston of Newburyport. The mate of the Tennyson was J. H. Ross, of Maine.

Twenty-one persons were killed and forty injured by a recent railway disaster near Pesth, Hungary.

A band of Carlists, under command of Don Alphonso, are reported to be surrounded by the republican troops in Spain.

By a kerosene explosion on board of a schooner at Lockport, N. S., eleven men were badly burned. The explosion was caused by a lighted match being thrown upon the floor where oil had leaked from cans.

Mrs. E. M. Alden, of Chicopee, Mass., was burned to death on the forenoon of the 7th. How the fire caught is not known.

Patrick Sullivan was run over and killed at Worcester, Mass., May 7th, by a Boston & Albany gravel train.

Paris, Tenn., lost its business quarters by fire on the 6th. Loss $100,000, with small insurance.

The late Chief Justice Chase (according to Mrs. Stowe, in her book entitled "Men of Our Times,") received his queer name, "Salmon Portland," from his uncle Salmon Chase, a distinguished lawyer of Portland, Me., who died suddenly while pleading in court. The same authority says "his parents were of the best class of New Hampshire farmers; bible reading, thoughtful, shrewd, closely and wisely economical,' and that "his early days were of waiting and poverty. The only professional work he did for a considerable time was to draw an agreement for a man, who paid him half a dollar, and a week afterwards came and borrowed it back."

Abraham Reed shot himself through the head at Dunstable, Mass., on Sunday evening, May 4th; cause, financial embarrassment. He was 52 years old, and leaves a wife and eight children.

Taunton, Mass., had a $150,000 fire on the 7th. Several stables, a theatre and a dwelling house were burned, as also were thirty or forty horses.

Theodore G. Dart of Hartford, Conn., while fishing at Shuttle Meadow lake, was killed by a bullet fired by some unknown person. A previously-fired bullet struck close to one of Dart's companions.

Mrs. Sidney Smith of Freeport, L. I., took chloroform that she might not suffer from the drawing of several of her teeth, and expired almost instantly.

THE VIENNA EXHIBITION.—The Vienna correspondent of the London Daily News ridicules the American department of the exhibition, and gives the following correct list of articles to be seen in the section assigned to the United States:—

Two cases of Colt's fire-arms.
Three binnacles.
One stuffed eagle.
Two salt-cellars.
A dentist's chair.

The explanation of this meagre display is found in the former mismanagement of the American section, and it is confidently hoped now that the new commissioners and exhibitors have gone actively to work to repair the evil effects, that the goods from America will be speedily unpacked and the exhibition from this country come up to the standard expected.

A RECTOR OUTWITTED.—The following is from the New York correspondence of the Boston Journal:—

Choirs are not only very costly, but are skittish things to handle. There is usually a row in the choir end about four times a year, and each lasts about as long as the seasons. Loretz is the great organist and composer of this region. He is a wiry, nervous and sensitive creature, and is full of music, as some people are of electricity. You can't touch him without sparks flying off in all directions. He has had the lead of the music for some time at St. Ann's. His music has been very celebrated, and on festive occasions it would have required a good sized park to hold all the people who wanted to get in. The rector has been rather jealous, from time to time, of the drawing qualities of the organ end of the church. To carry out his purposes, Mr. Loretz wanted to introduce into the choir the "harp, flute, sackbut, violin," and other instruments used on the Plain of Dura. The rector, who is rather pompous and opinionated, entered a decided protest against the introduction of these vain and worldly instruments of music. After the services were opened, came the grand musical performance. First came a beautiful flute solo. The indignant rector then heard the distinct twang of the prohibited harp. The shrieking violin rode on the top wave and could not be drowned even by the deep notes of the pedal bass. Word was instantly sent to the defiant organist to turn out the prohibited instruments at once. The answer was sent back: "There is nothing here to turn out but the organ. There is not harp, flute, or violin in the building." And the music held on its way. The rector was not only indignant that his wishes were not complied with, but felt that the organist was lying about the matter. Couldn't he hear with his own ears? The vestry was sent up to investigate the matter, and it was found that the organist was improvising on the organ itself and doing it so naturally that any man would have been willing to have taken his oath that the prohibited instruments were doing their work. The feelings of the rector, when he learned the situation, could not be expressed.

—The following anecdote has outlived its early youth, but it still reads well: John Phœnix tells the story that he was one day leaving San Francisco for Sacremento by the steamer. Everybody else was taking leave of friends—but he did not know a soul in the crowd. Ashamed of his loneliness, as the boat sheered off he call out in a loud voice, "Good bye, Colonel!" and to his great delight, every man on the wharf took off his hat and shouted, "Colonel, good-bye!"

—According to careful estimates and analysis, three hours of hard study wear out the body more than a whole day of severe physical labor.

A tail-less calf was born in Warren county, Indiana, last week, who is enjoying life now—but wait until fly time.

State News.

The new valuation of Concord is over nine millions of dollars, an increase of over three millions upon that of 1872.

The last spike in the Nashua, Acton and Boston Railroad was driven five miles below Nashua Wednesday afternoon, on which occasion the citizens were invited to a free ride to witness the completion of the enterprise.

The State convention of Young Men's Christian Associations was held in Manchester on the 7th.

OBITUARY.—Again we are called upon to perform the painful duty of announcing the death of one who, if not altogether lovely, was chief among a fraction of thousands of spirits who are not yet made perfect. We refer to "Shacknasty Jack," the genial, whole-souled, or perhaps (considering his mixed parentage) we should say half-soled, copper-colored gentleman, who recently died peacefully, and in pieces, in his little lava bed. Jack did not wrap what little drapery he had about him and lie down to pleasant dreams, and his demise was hastened by a seven-inch shell that entered and exploded in his diaphragm ruining a digestive apparatus that had never been disturbed by banquets of roast dog, salt horse, washed down by copious draughts of fiery untamed bourbon, and needle-gun whisky. As we recall the virtues of the deceased, our pen unconsciously drifts into the Philadelphia Ledger form of mourning, and we are led to exclaim—

Oh, Shack Nasty, thou hast left us,
No more horses will thou steal;
But 'twas Gillem that bereft us,
He can ALL our sorrows heal.

First we thought it was old Schonchin,
Then we heard 'twas Scar-Faced Charles,
But the latest news, Shack Nasty,
Says 'tis you have quit earth's snarls.

Friends of the family invited to attend—covered carriages for all who wear gloves.

Born of poor but honorable parents "Jack" manifested at an early age, those traits that in after years made him famous, and would in time have sent him to Congress if his soul had not been shelled out of its ephemeral shell, by a cast iron namesake. He had served his tribe as tax collector, president of a base ball club, and was about organizing a Young Red Men's Horse Plagarizing Association," when he felt a sensation of goneness at the pit of his stomach, and was gone. Possessing many of the virtues that marked the Credit Mobilier operations, Shack Nasty was also as generous as the increased voters, who only drew their back salary to pay off the public debt, and the news of his sudden death will cause a thrill of anguish in many bosoms—anguish that he was not permitted to die slower, and by inches.—St. Louis Democrat.

THE LAUGHING PLANT.—Palgrave's work on Central and Eastern Arabia furnishes something new for botanists. A plant is described, under the name of "laughing plant," the seeds of which produce effects very much like laughing gas. It grows only in Arabia, attaining a height of only about six inches at Kaseem, while at Oman it rises to three and four feet with wide spreading branches, being woody and the leaves green. Its flowers, in tufts are yellow. Two or three black seeds, much like French beans in size and shape, are produced in a soft, woolly kind of a capsule. They have a sweetish taste, with a slight flavor of opium. The odor from them is rather offensive, producing a sickening sensation. The essential property of this extraordinary plant is in the seed, which pulverised and administered cautiously, soon begins to operate in a way to create astonishment. The person begins to laugh boisterously, then he dances, sings and cuts fantastic capers of a ludicrous character. Such extravagance of manner was never witnessed from any other dosing. It is uproariously funny for about an hour. It is a common amusement to charge food with the powder, for an unsuspecting individual, for the harmless enjoyment of his capering antics. When the excitement subsides the exhausted exhibitor falls into a profound slumber. In another hour, on waking, he is totally unconscious of what has occurred.

DARWINIAN SUGGESTION.—Max Adeler, in the Boston Courier, remarks: "We are engaged now in developing a scheme for growing kid gloves upon the original animal. Our old friend, Darwin, teaches us that you can do almost anything with breeds by judicious 'selection'; and we are convinced that, with a little care, it will be possible to produce a beast whose skin, when stripped off, will make a seamless kid glove. Our first experiments are with lizards. A lizard has four legs and a tail. Now, we believe that eventually the off fore leg can be developed into a thumb, while the three other legs and the tail can be arranged as fingers. We are crossing lizards with short tails with those of long legs; and we are now looking around for a variety of lizard with a button or two on his neck, for the purpose of breeding it in with the others, whose eyes will answer for button-holes. The ultimate result promises to be startling. It will break up the old glove trade, and drive Jouvin to suicide. Thus it is that human ingenuity advances human civilization."

The "Party of the future" is still in the egg. A few fond but foolish birds like the New York Tribune take turns sitting on that egg patiently "waiting for new crystallizations upon issues which will soon more defiantly appear." Perhaps!

HOW TO WATER HORSES.—One writer says, never water immediately before or after feeding. I say that if a horse is thirsty always give him drink, and he will thank you for it. I have often seen horses put in the stable at noon for an hour or two, and eat a pound of hay or grain, but looking wistfully for water, and then their careful owner, who would not let them have water when warm, will come to give enough to kill, and drive the remainder of the day on two buckets of water and no feed. Ten chances to one his horse gives out with him or gets sick before night. Now, I say, give the horse water if he is ever so warm, give him a swallow, rinse out his mouth and nostrils, give him a bite of hay, in a short time a little more water, but not too much.

If he is watered several times, a little at a time, until he is satisfied, he will not drink more than half what he would if you let him gulp it down all at once. —Cor. Tribune.

Business Notices.

WELLS' GRAND DISTRIBUTION.—The committee, after drawing nearly one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, have decided to postpone the drawing until July 1st, 1873. This will positively be the last postponement at W. B. Lowd, Agent.

NO POSTPONEMENT. It is not wise to put off until the heats of summer have commenced the invigorating process which would have secured the system, in advance, against this untoward influence. By toning the stomach, liver and bowels in the spring months with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and continuing to take this harmless but powerful vegetable invigorant during the summer, it is quite certain that even persons who are naturally delicate and deficient in vital force may escape the fits of indigestion, headache, nausea, biliousness, nervous debility and mental oppression which, in the absence of such preparation, often prostrate and agonize the more robust. A pure stimulant, medicated with the juices of the finest tonic, anti-bilious and aperient roots and herbs, is an invaluable boon to the weak and ailing, and this life-sustaining boon in the form of Hostetter's Bitters, is fortunately within the reach of all.

FACTORY OPERATIVES, after the exhaustion of their long day of labor in overheated and poorly ventilated rooms, need a stimulant that is nourishing as well as warming. Neither tea nor coffee with all their agreeable properties, is so eminently suited to meet this need as Cocoa or Chocolate. That prepared by Walter Baker & Co., Boston, has the highest reputation the world over. Try it!

NO LADY'S TOILET COMPLETE Unless there be the fragrant Sozodont; unto the breath sweet odors it imparts, the gums a ruby redness soon assume, the teeth quick rival alabaster tint, and seem as pearls set in a coral vase.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is the concentration of sixteen composite parts and can be manufactured only in large quantities. So immediate and powerful is its action that one bottle (selling for 50 cts.) is more potent than any other curative of throat and lung diseases on sale.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Fourth of July.

At the citizens' committee meeting Wednesday evening Mr. Edward D. Coffin, from the committee on industrial procession, reported the probable cost of that branch of the procession at $350.

Messrs. Henry F. Wendell, Henry M. Clark, Alfred Stavers and William H. Y. Hackett were added to the auditing committee.

The committee on invitations was chosen committee on conference with New York, Boston and other conference committees.

Messrs. Gardner M. Goodrich, William H. Sise and Alfred Stavers were appointed a committee to assign additional members to the various subcommittees.

Mr. Thomas S. Nowell, from the committee on music, reported that he had engaged Harlow's Band, 25 pieces. The committee was instructed to employ three more bands.

The teachers of the public schools reported a proposition, which was adopted, for a floral display of children on a raised platform at the Academy. Adjourned to Wednesday evening.

Laconics.

The Boston Sons can get round-trip tickets to Portsmouth on the 4th of July for two dollars, good for two weeks.

The appointment of Mr. Jesse N. Wilson to be master caulker at the Navy Yard, a most judicious selection, has been recalled. The powers that be have made a sad political mistake in revoking the appointment; but the "ins" draw from it the consolation that it virtually closes the door to further removals.

Rev. Mr. Green of Vermont declines the call of the Universalist society of this city to become their pastor.

The sale of furniture in the house of the Rice estate on Islington Street will take place to-day.

Remember the concert of the colored students from Hampton University, in aid of that institution, at the Temple this evening. Our exchanges consider the songs or the Hampton troupe to be even better specimens of "plantation melodies" than those of the celebrated "Jubilee Singers." See advertisement, and go to the Temple this evening.

Col. William H. Hackett on Thursday sold the Rice estate on Islington street by auction, Mr. Joseph Pettigrew being the purchaser and the price paid $12,250.

One hundred and forty-eight mechanics and laborers were "required" in bureau of Construction and Repairs at the Navy Yard, on Thursday.

The May term of the U. S. Circuit Court, Judge Shapley presiding, opened in this city on Thursday. After the routine business was gone through the court adjourned, as a mark of respect to the memory of the late Chief Justice Chase.

Mr. John S. Treat was thrown from a carriage on Wednesday evening, and had his ankle dis'ocated and a bone in his leg fractured.

The Atlantic House at Salisbury Beach, kept by Morrill Brothers, will open for business on the 1st of June. The Morrills have both been engaged in hotel affairs in this city, and are well and favorably known.

WHAT IS CATGUT?—Some inquiring mind has started the question, "What is Catgut?" The Shoe and Leather Reporter thus answers: For many years the only article used under this name consisted of the intestines of sheep, cut and twisted. As the Italian sheep are the leanest of those accessible to market, and as the membranes of lean animals are known to be tougher than those of animals in high condition, the best catgut has come from Naples and that vicinity.

There is no historical record concerning the use of the intestines of cats for string of this sort, but from the fact that the name from the earliest times has uniformly been applied to this article, it would appear altogether probable that the strings did first come or were supposed to come from that source. The use of catgut for many years was for the strings of harps and guitars; it was manufactured from the viscera of sheep. The membranes of smaller animals are sometimes used for the covering of whips and such purposes, but sheep still furnish the strings for musical instruments. The process of preparing is quite curious. The membranes are ordinarily exposed to the power of burning sulphur, and then slit and twisted into cords of different sizes as wanted. Musical strings, whipcords, hatter's cords, strings of clocks, etc., are the chief uses on the list. They are dyed, stretched on frames, and dried in high temperature.

Governor Kellogg telegraphs from New Orleans that he hopes to secure the ascendency of law and order without the aid of Federal troops.

The Pope is again reported to be dead.

RACE OF A DOG WITH A LOCOMOTIVE.—Passengers in the noon train Sunday on the Boston and Providence road, were greatly interested in a pointer dog. The canine would not violate the rules which forbid passengers to stand on the platform, and he was too modest to enter the passenger-car, which was crowded principally by ladies. His master was in a dilemma, and before he had time to resolve what to do the train started, and so did the dog. The locomotive whistle screeched, and the dog yelped defiance as the race began. At times the ambitious animal would be ahead of the engine, and then he would fall behind. Every window in the train had a head or two peering out watching the race, and all sympathized with the dog. He seemed to realize that he was an object of interest, as he would make an occasional spurt and show terrific speed. Between the Hearth Street Station and Boylston the Stony Brook runs under the railroad, and the bridge is not planked. The pointer went pell-mell between the guides and down into the stream. But he as suddenly emerged and regained the track, and reached Boylston just as the train stopped. Had it been any other day than Sunday, the dog would have been saluted with hearty cheers by the ladies and gentlemen whose interest he excited. As it was, he gave three yelps for himself and almost upset his master, so glad was he at meeting him on terra firma. —Boston Times.

PEAS, BEANS, ETC.—The following is an extract from Voelcker's Agricultural Chemistry: Leguminous crops, as peas, beans, vetches, sainfoin, clover, etc., all partake of the character of the pea, which may be accepted as the type of this family of plants. The prevailing mineral constituent of these plants is lime; for this reason they are sometimes called lime plants. As we might for this reason expect, these plants flourish luxuriantly on lime soils, and are cultivated most successfully in limestone districts. For the same reason the addition of lime to soils containing but little of this substance greatly favors the growth of these crops. Another mineral constituent required by these plants is sulphur; hence the addition of some combination of sulphur is generally attended with benefit to a crop of this description. A substance well fitted for this purpose is gypsum or plaster of Paris. This compound as already noticed, contains sulphuric acid and lime, and on this account may be regarded as a special manure for leguminous plants.

—Professor Winchell says that the earth is constantly cooling, and in doing so, is absorbing water; and that in time it will not only drink up the ocean, but even the atmosphere, after which the earth will go revolving through space all cracked, parched, and wrinkled, without a living thing upon its surface. It will take millions of years to do it, but the Professor says it will be done.

An aged citizen of Memphis, Tenn., sends us a letter of advice which we appreciate and are thankful for. He recounts his own sad experiences, and in closing, feelingly observes:

"Bailey, my boy, you are doing well, but for God's sake don't bite off more than you can chaw."

He thinks we use plug; he is mistaken.—Danbury News.

—An eccentric old fellow, who lives slongside of a graveyard, was asked if it was not an unpleasant location. "No," said he. "I never jined places in all my life with a set of neighbors that minded their own business so steady as they do."

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY, HUMORS

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes the Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested, and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women: and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

The Chronicle.

WILLING TO HELP.—The good people of R, a small village not many miles from Cleveland, Ohio, were talking of moving their church building to a pleasanter location. One Sabbath morning the minister looks for his theme the "Rock of Ages," and in the middle of his discourse said, with considerable emphasis: "Who can move it?" A little Englishman, who had been napping, and who was one of those desirous of having the church moved, jumped up and startled the congregation with: "Ill bring over my yoke of steers and help." The which proposition was subsequently accepted.

LARGE FEET.—At the theatre, a gentleman felt the pressure of two feminine feet upon his patent leathers. "Madam," he gently suggested, "you are standing on my feet." "Your feet, sir?" "Yes, madam." "Goodness; I beg your pardon, sir; I thought I was standing on a block of wood—they are quite large, sir!" "Quite—but you covered 'em, madam."

—Dr. Loomis the physicist, is worrying over his plan to utilize the electricity of the clouds for light and fuel, or, as the correspondent puts it: "To tap the great aerial stratum and bring down enough of God's warm breath to heat and light our great cities."

—A lady philosopher has arrived at the conclusion that, although woman is justly blamed with having tempted man to eat forbidden things, he took to drinking of his own accord.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of City Ordinances No. 4 and No. 100, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

ORDINANCE NO. 4.

SEC. 3.—All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, &c. shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 11. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 14. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 17. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

ORDINANCE NO. 100.

SEC. 1. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 2. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 3. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

The Daily Chronicle,

Portsmouth, N. H.

SATURDAY, MAY 10, 1873.

Death of Hon. Oakes Ames.

Hon. Oakes Ames died at North Easton, Mass., at 9:33 Thursday evening. His disease was apolexy complicated with pneumonia. He died very easily, passing away without a struggle, in the presence of his family. Mr. Ames was born in Easton on the 10th of January, 1804, and was consequently, in the seventieth year of his age. Ever since his youth he has been connected with manufacturing interests, having extended to vast dimensions the business founded by his grandfather. As a business man only, shrewd, energetic and successful, was he known until the beginning of the war, when he was chosen a member of Governor Andrew's Executive Council, where he sat for two years. For ten years from March 4, 1863, he held a seat in the House of Representatives. The deed by which he would choose to be remembered, and which is an achievement worthy of lasting remembrance, is the building of the Union Pacific Railroad, which, without his credit, energy and successful management, would not have been accomplished when it was, or long years after. To Mr. Ames, it is universally acknowledged, we are indebted for the road more than to any or all other men.

Death of John Stuart Mill.

John Stuart Mill, one of the foremost and most honored philorophers of the world, died at Avignon, France, May 9th, aged 67 years. He was as noted for his love of liberty as he was for his depth of mind, and was an earnest advocate in England of the Union cause, during our war of secession.

Wholesale Murder.

Eight dead bodies, including one of a child eighteen months old, were found under the house of the Bender family, thirteen miles west of Parsons, Kansas, in Labette county, and near which the body of Senator York's brother was recently found shot. The Bender family left the county two weeks ago, but the excitement is so great, and the determination to bring the guilty parties to justice so strong, that no effort will be spared to effect their arrest.

A special from Cherryvale, Kan., the scene of the murder of William York and others, gives the following as the names of the bodies found under Bender's house and thus far identified; B. F. McKenzie, identified by his brother-in-law; H. Sonchor and child, eighteen months old, identified by his father-in-law; W. F. T. Carthy, 123d Illinois Infantry; D. Brown, identified by a Howard county man, and John Geary by his wife, and William A. York by his brother, Col. A. M. York. All were killed by a blow on the back of the head with a hammer and had their throats cut, except the little girl. The ground will be plowed for other bodies.

Strikes.

The strike of the mill operatives in Rhode Island continues, and is extending. As is always the case in great strikes, there are among the strikers a number of blatant demagogues who get off a great deal of cheap talk and superlative bosh. Signs bearing the cheerful inscription "Bread or Blood" have been stuck on the trees at Central Falls; and a fellow who went into an oyster saloon there and called for a stew, when asked to pay presented a pistol, saying, "This is the way I'll pay you." The great body of the strikers, however, are peaceable and orderly, though at present they seem very determined.

The Crispins in New York threaten to strike in sixteen shops, which have just been classified, unless an advance of wages is conceded. The female Crispins, of whom there are a large number, strike next week. The Crispins in Brooklyn struck Friday.

The strike of the horse shoers employed by the New York city railroad and stage lines has extended to most of the companies. The Eighth, Third, Sixth and Seventh avenue lines have employed non-society men.

—Two lawyers, returning from court, one says to the other: "I've a notion to join Rev. Mr. ——'s church; been debating the matter for some time. What do you think of it?" "Wouldn't do it," said the other. "Well, why?" "Because it would do you no possible good, while it would be a great injury to the church."

—"What are you doing there, you rascal?" "Merely taking cold, sir." "It looks to me as if you were stealing ice." "Well—yes—perhaps it will bear that construction."

Readables.

The law repealing the franking privilege is not confined in its operation to Congress, and contains one clause which will be felt by almost every one. All free matter is prohibited, and after June 30—when the law goes into operation—postage must be paid on newspaper exchanges and on papers sent to subscribers in the country where published, which have hitherto been free. There is no reduction of postage on this kind of matter, and the rate is five cents per quarter for weekly and thirty cents for daily papers, to be paid in advance either at the office where mailed or where delivered.

Popular invention has been very severely taxed to find a fitting name for the increased pay of Congressmen. It has been called the Salary Steal, the Salary Grab, the Back-pay Grab, and many things more as unpalatable as true; and now it is proposed to adopt a word from the parlance of thieves, and style it the Congressional "Swag." The merit of the latter term, says a sarcastic contemporary, consists in the fact that it is a professional term, and Congressmen will understand it better.

The trial of Robert P. Bleakley for the murder of his niece, Mary Ann Foley, alias Maud Merrill, in New York, was concluded on Thursday. The jury, after an absence of two hours, rendered a verdict of murder in the second degree, and the prisoner was sentenced to the State Prison for life.

Galveston, Texas, has tried cumulative voting at a charter election, and succeeded in electing all the candidates of both tickets. And now they don't know who is to hold offices.

In an article on the Vienna scandal, the Hartford Courant says: "Among those journalists who take every occasion, in season and out of season, to condemn the President and his administration, there is the usual improvement of the event to moralize on the inherent wickedness of General Grant and all his acts. Because a few of the many thousand appointments made by the President in the past four years have been bad, therefore he is to be blamed because certain of General Van Buren's appointments have turned out badly. General Van Buren has always had an excellent reputation. By birth and education he is, or ought to be, a gentleman, and has always been considered a worthy representative of one of New York's most worthy families. His appointment as chief commissioner met with general approbation, and it was quite natural and proper that the President should appoint such assistants as General Van Buren recommended. We hope and believe that the full facts when ascertained will exonerate the general from personal complicity with the alleged corrupt practices, but he and not the President should be held responsible for the short-comings of the assistant commissioners. To condemn the President on such grounds is not honest or independent journalism, but a low order of partizanship."

The Pope is not dead.

A San Francisco dispatch says the rumors as to the attitude of the Oregon Indians are very conflicting, and that the chief of the Snake Bates says he will remove his people from the vicinity of the lava beds, and none of them shall aid the Modocs. The dispatch closes: "The heads of Chief John, Schonchin and several other fallen Modocs have been forwarded to the military headquarters here." These red-skinned wretches had been guilty of the savage atrocity of scalping the slain; who believes anything short of extermination will civilize such a ferocious race?

Four persons were killed and many hurt by a railroad accident at Shrewsbury, Eng., May 8th. This country has not yet secured a monopoly of railroad accidents.

The public are cautioned against a young man of light complexion, light side whiskers, slender build and good address, about 27 years of age, who is traveling about the country, and falsely representing himself to be an agent of the Boston Commercial Bulletin, giving his name as E. H. C. Davis, H. W. Tyler, and other aliases, his real name being Wm. H. Carroll. Carroll is a swindler, who has fled from Boston to escape arrest, and is no way connected with that office.

Two detached freight cars on the Boston and Providence Railroad ran into the down express train at Canton, Mass., Thursday afternoon, disabling the engine and killing two or three horses which were in the runaway cars. No person was seriously injured.

—The ladies of Ironton, Mo., have united to discourage the practice of smoking in church.

P. T. Barnum's Great Show.

It will hardly be necessary for us to refer our readers this week to the imposing advertisement of the great American Show Prince in another column of our paper. We have for once stepped aside from our usual course, and gone into the business of illustrating our paper. There is no man in the world for whom we entertain more respect as an advertiser, and showman, too, for that matter, and who could gain access with cuts into our columns but P. T. Barnum. How much the genial and efficient agent, who so ably manages Mr. Barnum's advertising Department, (we mean Barnum's Crum of comfort,) had to do in effecting this innovation, we will leave for him to decide.

The increased notoriety which Mr. Barnum has gained since the fire—already the best known man in America—is not alone due to the fact of universal sympathy of the public in the loss to the world of such a valuable collection of rare living wild animals and other curiosities, as he had acquired, but rather to the recognition on the part of the press of the country, of the indomitable energy and perseverence of the great showman who, in less than six months, could come before the world again with a new colossal enterprise, said to be ten times larger than ever! That he has actually done this, is everywhere attested by the unanimous expressions of papers published in towns where the great exhibition has taken place. All the way from New York to Boston the grand affair, has been characterized by one continual ovation.

Some days tour exhibitions are given to accommodate the public. This was the case in Worcester, Mass. In Boston, where Barnum will remain for ten days on the Coliseum grounds, an immense amphitheatre building has been erected which together with the twenty colossal tents will seat over sixteen thousand people. Three entertainments a day are given, morning, afternoon and evening.

Tuesday, May 27, will witness the advent of this monster show in Portsmouth.

We have no space to enumerate the ten thousand new and interesting features contained in Barnum's last. We can only judge of it, when it is said to contain one hundred thousand rare curiosities, fifteen hundred animals, birds reptiles, sea-lions, and other marine monsters; two thousand men and horses, twenty mammoth tents, a free menagerie open to all for gratuitous inspection; a street procession three miles long, a twenty-centre-pole tent, with three separate and distinct circus, arenic, and spectacular rings: three grand circus and hippodrome performances, all going on at the same time, in the same pavilion, and in the presence of the same audience, without any extra charge; three bands of music, one hundred life-size oil paintings of Presidents, Statesmen, Kings, Emperors and military heroes; Prof. Rogers' group of classic statuary, Hall of Art, one hundred moving mechanical automatons, living water fountains, trausformation landscape scenes, singing and flitting birds, mechanical musicians, and hundreds of gorgeous tableaux and mythological fantasia, all operated by a steam engine; the famous talking machine, riding-goat, sea lions, camels, elands, dromedaries, zebras, trained elephants, elk and deer in harness, which will appear in the procession—in fact a whole world of contributions, such as only Barnum has the nerve and audacity to furnish for the amusement and benefit of the multitude.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

City Councils.

IN BOARD OF MAYOR AND ALDERMEN on Thursday evening, a petition of John H. Bailey, collector of this port, for the appointment of Edwin H. Leslie as policeman without pay around the Custom House and Post Office, was granted.

George E. Hodgdon, Frank Junkins and Charles Green were appointed special police without pay.

Request of School Committee for new furniture in lower rooms in Walker School House was received, and it was voted that the furniture asked for be granted.

Petition of J. W. Moses and others for acceptance of gas post at entrance to Beacham's stable, Congress street, was granted.

Bills of James W. Lefavour, S. A. Spinney, Franklin Cole and W. K. Pyror for service as selectmen in 1873, were ordered to be paid; ayes, Ald. Garrett, Spinney, Sise and Lefavour, 4; nays, Ald. Wilson, Hayes and Trefethen, 3.

The Common Council gave notice that they concurred in the Aldermen's amendment to the joint resolution making an appropriation for the reception of the "Sons of Portsmouth."

Also that they had passed the following joint resolution in which they asked the concurrence of the Mayor and Aldermen.

Resolved, The Board of Mayor and Aldermen concurring, the sum of one hundred dollars be and hereby is appropriated towards defraying the expenses incurred by Storer Encampment, G. A. R., Post No. 1, in the observance of Memorial Day.

The resolution was passed in concurrence.

The Common Council gave notice that they had passed a joint resolution providing for the sale of a fire engine and the purchase of another, in which they asked the concurrence of the Mayor and Aldermen. The subject was referred to the Committee on Fire Department to report.

The petition of the "Portsmouth Guards" for an appropriation for the purpose of aiding them in procuring uniforms, was received. The Board refused to make the appropriation: ayes, Ald. Wilson, Spinney, Sise and Lefavour, 4; nays, Ald. Garrett, Davis, Hayes and Trefethen, 4.

A communication from Dr. S. C. Whittier, relative to his claim for attendance upon cases of small-pox and asking for a reconsideration of the action of the Board thereon, was received and laid on the table.

The Committee on Fire Department, to whom was referred the subject of the sale and purchase of a Steam Fire Engine, reported that the "Dearborn" is unfit for use, and recommended that it be sold and a new one bought. Report laid on the table.

The Committee on Accounts reported bills approved by them against the following accounts, which were ordered to be paid:

Streets, $843.06; Watch, $357.78; Salaries, $179.35; Roads, $769.16; Printing, $60.75; Fire Department, $117.32; Health Committee, $160; Police, $82.50; Contingent, $1202.80; total, $3772.70.

The same committee reported without recommendation bills of Critchley & Whalley for Fire Department, $70.79; Perry & Sharp, Fire Department, $70; John Clark, damage to house, etc., $58; and Henry Wallace, police service, 3,—which were ordered to be paid.

Also bills of Henry Wallace, $4, Thos. E. Rand and others, $6, and Richard Davidson, $3, for police services. So much of Davidson's bill as applies to time when Officer Entwistle was sick was ordered to be paid, and the balance, with Messrs. Wallace and Rand's bills, were referred to Committee on Police.

Hang Him.

A respectable married lady, of Boston, was accosted on the Common on Wednesday by a fellow who "wanted to engage a girl to go to New Hampshire to do housework." He intimated that the lady in question would suit, and finally stated that he wanted several girls for a woman residing on Water street, in this city, where they would get plenty of fine clothes and have a good time generally, with little or no work to do. The lady fully understood the rascal, and allowed him to believe that she would accede to his wishes, appointing a second meeting on the Common for next day. On reaching home she informed her husband of the whole affair, and he secured the services of an officer and kept his wife's tryst. The engager of "help," who gives the name of James Stevens, was on hand promptly on time, Thursday, and was astonished at being arrested and locked up.

From this it would seem that dens of prostitution in small cities are recruited from Boston, even as the dens of Boston are filled with foolish young creatures from country towns. Three wretches have just been committed for trial, at Lewiston, Me., for enticing young girls from their homes for base purposes; and it is not long since that we published an account of the unsuccessful attempt of a fellow to decoy away a young girl from this city. If ever lynch law is justifiable, it is when practised on such libels on manhood as this Stevens and his co-laborers in infamy.

Good!

Albert C. Fisher, the fellow who was some time ago prosecuted in this city by Mr. H. F. Ford of Boston, for fraudulently procuring money by representing himself to be an agent for the Christian Union and at another time as a brother of Mr. J. B. Ford, was brought before the S. J. Court at Amherst on the 8th, plead guilty to a charge of obtaining money under false pretences and was sent to the State Prison for two years. He is a first-class swindler and dead beat, and Mr. Ford deserves the thanks of the press for prosecuting him to a conviction. There is another gentleman of Fisher's stamp going round seeking to devour widows' (or anybody else's) houses, pretending to be an authorized agent of that excellent paper, the Boston Commercial Bulletin; and we would suggest to the Bulletin men that they do with their bogus agent as J. B. Ford & Co. did with theirs—bottle him up, to keep.

Laconics.

Mrs. Emma E. Weston of East Boston, Mass., will hold public test circles at Mendum's Hall, Congress Street, tomorrow afternoon and evening. An admittance fee of 25 cents will be charged at the door. Doors closed at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and 7:30 in the evening.

The "Hibernians," with Healy & Cohan's comedy company, at the Temple on Thursday evening, was a really meritorious entertainment, deserving of much better patronage than it received. The panorama of Ireland was good, the drama illustrating it was new and much more interesting than the old style "lecture," and there was a good deal of fun in the comic dancing and the illustrations of national peculiarities. There was nothing offensive to the most scrupulous delicacy in the whole performance, and we hope the Hibernians will have a full house next time it exhibits here.

We are informed that the sum of eleven hundred dollars recently expended for the repairs of the steamer Dearborn was entirely thrown away, as she is wholly unfit for use and in case of a large fire we have but two steamers on which we can rely. The Dearborn was tested on Friday at the reservoir on Haymarket Square, and it was found impossible to make steam enough to work the pumps that supply the boiler of the steamer with water.

Rev. Mrs. Fannie U. Roberts will preach at the Universalist church in this city, on Sunday morning. No services in the afternoon.

The colored singers from Hampton University had a good audience at their concert, Friday evening, and fully bore out the encomiums bestowed upon their performances by the press of other cities. Their quaint songs, so unlike the burnt cork minstrelsy, and their sweetly musical voices, gave a rich treat to such an audience as (for quality and ability to appreciate music for music's sake) no minstrel troupe has ever gathered to the Temple.

Mr. George Rice, baker, had his hand badly lacerated by a cracker machine, Friday forenoon.

Mr. Francis Chase has resigned the superintendency of the P. S. & P. Railroad; and that line and the Eastern have both been placed under the superintendence of Mr. Jere. Prescott.

The Christenson sisters will be removed from the receiving tomb and interred in Harmony Grove cemetery, at 2 o'clock, Sunday afternoon, with appropriate services by Rev. Dr. Bingham. Should the weather prove unfavorable the removal will be postponed until the following Sunday.

Rev. Carlos Martyn will lecture at the Temple, to-morrow evening, on Temperance. There will be singing by a triple quartette of male voices. Admittance 10 cents.

An important law suit, involving the title to a large amount of real estate in the northern part of the State, is now being tried before the U. S. circuit court in this city.

LOST.

ON Thursday afternoon, at about 3 o'clock, on Pleasant Street, between the north corner of Warren street and the entrance of the Custom House, a WALLET containing between 40 and 50 dollars and some receipts, paper, &c. A liberal reward will be paid to the finder on leaving it at the Chronicle Office.

The Chronicle.

SATISFACTORILY ARRANGED.—A man in Haverhill, Mass., was recently brought before the local court on a charge of rape. The plaintiff in the case, a girl of 19, and the man and woman who kept the house in which the alleged outrage occurred, were the witnesses for the prosecution. The case being adjourned over for a day, the girl was put upon the stand to testify. She quite demurely refused, claiming that a wife could not be made to testify against her husband. Covertly, and unknown to the officers of the court, she had been admitted to the prisoner's cell the previous night, and with the assistance of a justice, the twain were made one. The prisoner was let off; and there was considerable indignant talk from the judge.

GLAD HE DIDN'T MARRY HER.—At Athens, Georgia, a lovely and amiable woman had a lover who refused to perform his promise to marry her. She scorned to appeal to the courts; she found a better way to avenge her wrongs. She went for him, found him, knocked his hat off and stamped on it, and tried to do the same kind office for his head. Failing in this, she tore his coat, put her arms about his neck and bit his ear, and then captured his shirt bosom entire. She then took a handful of hair for a keepsake, and worked a delicate plaid pattern on his face with her nails, and made an attempt to carry off one of his thumbs in her mouth. The miserable wretch at length escaped from her, but so little ashamed of what he had done to provoke his punishment that he was heard to say, with exultation, he was glad he did not marry her.

WHISKEY VS. INDIANS.—A correspondent of the New York World suggests bloodhounds for the Modocs. Another correspondent advises that as the bloodhounds need training the party recommending them be stripped and put in a field and the hounds be permitted to chase him awhile. Another correspondent thinks the dog suggestion a good one, but improves on it in this fashion:

"If the Indian has one weakness it is for whiskey, and it is more than probable that by means of a judicious use of it he might be induced to come out of his fortifications. Let one bogshead of good whiskey like that to which we have accustomed the red men be placed upon some prominent rock where all may see it, and then let the Indians be picked off by sharp-shooters as, one after one, they creep up to the bung-hole. No reasonable man who knows the ascendancy which fire-water has over these treacherous and bloodthirsty villains will doubt its persuasive powers, or deem it improbable that, by a judicious use of it, the Modocs might thus be utterly exterminated. The use of bloodhounds would strike the civilized world as barbarous."

HOW TO DYE HAIR.—The liquor that comes from boiling potato tops gives a bright yellow color that is sometimes employed on hair and is sufficiently poisonous to meet the wishes of the most tired of life and the natural color of their hair. It is used in dying false hair and had better be kept for that alone. Tumeric in champagne is the gold en fluid most favored by blondes of the stage, and there is a story of a British beauty of that order out in the wilds of Indianapolis or elsewhere, who found her Trifette Golden Liquid, price 30 shillings a bottle, gone to smash, and daringly substituted the curry-powder belonging to the manager, who was fond of East India dishes. The curry steeped in champagne had the desired effect of restoring her tresses, which had fallen off in shade. For the worst of these dyes is that they need to be constantly renewed. The editor of a ladies' newspaper of note is in constant receipt of letters from afflicted ones bewailing their faded hair, which will not stay bleached when bleached, but grows yellow and sick-colored, and as the flaxen blonde in some circles of taste supercedes the Titian blonde, or the blonde doree, this habit is intolerable. So is the depravity of golden switches which persist in going back to a dead hay color unless treated to toilet mysteries every few months or weeks. Drab hair is not in the category of fashion.—New York World.

—A Milwaukie lady had a hundred dollar's worth of point lace clipped off her clothing by an adroit thief while she was at church singing "Strip me of the robe of pride; cloth me in humility."

—The first symptom of true love in a young man is timidity; in a young woman, boldness. It is the two sexes tending to unite, and each acquiring the qualities of the other.—Victor Hugo.

The Polaris Expedition.

Nineteen men of the party which left New York in June, 1871, in the Polaris, Capt. Charles F. Hall, to explore the Arctic regions, have arrived at St. Johns, Newfoundland, in the sealing steamer Tigress, having lost the Polaris on the 15th of October, 1872, and lived on the floating ice until the 30th of April last. They report that the Polaris was driven from her moorings by a heavy gale, while they were on the ice, and the last seen of her she was making for a harbor under steam and sail, Capt. Hall fell dead from apoplexy on the 8th of November, 1871, as he was cheering his men in the cabin, shortly after returning from sledge expedition; since which time the Polaris has been commanded by Capt. Buddington, Capt. Tyson being in command of the rescued party. The Polaris has no boats left, but has abundance of provisions for the fourteen men remaining on board. The wandering party suffered much from hunger and cold, but none died and they all seem to be doing well now.

The Modoc War.

The Modocs sallied from their stronghold on the 7th instant, attacked a wagon train, captured several mules and horses, and burned three wagons. Three soldiers of the train escort were wounded.

The Modocs have left the lava beds. A dispatch says the trail indicates that they have forty horses, so that the settlers will have to be on the alert for raids. Donald McKay, in command of the Warm Spring Indians, reports finding a hole in the rocks which had evidently contained water, but giving out, the Modocs were forced to leave. The embers and ashes of numerous fires were found through the rocks; also the charred remains of two of their warriors whom the Modocs had endeavored to burn up. The bodies of Lieut. Arthur Cranston and the other missing soldiers have been discovered among the rocks. All the available cavalry will be employed scouring the country after the Modocs, and the infantry and artillery will be kept in garrison. The guerrilla warfare has commenced and as the Modocs are well mounted it may continue all summer. One hundred Oregon volunteers have arrived at Klamath ferry and will be employed escorting trains.

DEATH OF A HERO.—Captain Stauffer, who by his daring conduct in rescuing two hundred and fifty persons from the steamer San Francisco in 1856 made himself famous, died in New York on Tuesday night. The captain at the time of the wreck of the San Francisco commanded the ship Antarctic, and seeing the sinking vessel he lay by her three days, keeping up the spirits of the people on board by the words, "Be of good cheer, I will stick by you;" which were displayed from the stern of his ship. This gallant deed was recognized by Congress, who voted to Captain Stauffer a gold medal and $8000 in money, while the city authorities of New York and Philadelphia and the merchants of New York and Boston took similar action.

THE EARL OF ZETLAND.—The Right Hon. Thomas Dundas, Earl of Zetland, for many years Grand Master of the Free Masons of England, died on the 7th inst., in the seventy-eight year of his age. He was descended from an illustrious family, distinguished for several generations in the civil and Masonic annals of Great Britian. He succeeded this Royal Highness, the Duke of Sussex, as the head of the Masonic order in April, 1843, and was continued in that office by successive annual elections for more than quarter of a century. In the higher degrees and societies, and in the various charities conducted under the auspices of Free Masonry, the noble Earl took a constant and active interest. Prior to his succeeding to the peerage, the Earl of Zetland for some years represented Richmond, in the county of Yorkshire, in the House of Commons, on liberal principles, which he afterwards consistently supported in the House of Lords, though he never took an active part in politics. The Zetland lodge of Boston, established in 1867, was named for him, and as an honorary member of the lodge he took a personal interest in its welfare.

Readables.

In reference to the recent statement that the Newfoundland government possesses the right to claim possession of the Newfoundland telegraph line next year, it is ascertained that by legislation three years subsequent to the granting of the original charter in 1854, the colonial parliament gave permission for the consolidation of the Newfoundland Company with the Atlantic Cable Company. This action, it is asserted on high legal authority in England, overrides the right of purchase through arbitration.

During the trial at Annapolis of Joshua Nicholson and Thomas R. Whalen alias Hollahan, for the murder on the 2d of January of an aged lady named Mrs. Mary Ann Lamprey, for the purpose of robbing the house, Hollahan suddenly sprung from the prisoners' box and rushing at Deputy Marshal Frey struck him violently over the head with a heavy piece of iron wrapped in a stocking. Nicholson also sprung out of the prisoners' box and rushed towards Frey, when an indiscriminate melee ensued. Detectives Pontier and Shaffen rushed to the rescue of Marshal Frey to protect him from the murderous attack of Hollahan and to secure the two criminals. Hollahan was struck on the head and badly cut, the blood streaming over his face. Marshal Frey, though terribly stunned, was able to assist in subduing the prisoners, both of whom were soon overcome and handcuffed. After the excitement had subsided the trial proceeded and the case was given to the jury, who soon returned with a verdict of guilty in the first degree.

Two men, a conductor and roadmaster, were killed by a railroad accident near Waterville, Conn., on Friday.

The present month has thus far been marked by an unprecedented mortality among the leading men of the nation, Salmon P. Chase, James L. Orr, Oakes Ames and James Brooks having all died within a few days of each other. There can be no doubt that the Credit Mobilier complications hastened the death of Messrs. Ames and Brooks.

Rear-Admiral Winslow, who commanded the Kearsarge in the engagement with the Alabama, has been stricken with apoplexy at Washington and is in a critical condition.

When Oakes Ames failed he owed seven millions of dollars. Within two years he paid every dollar with interest.

The Louisiana war is quiet, the Spanish Carlist war is progressing to the entire satisfaction of both parties—so they say— and the king of Ashantee, a sable monarch of South Africa, has declared war against Great Britain.

"Pop" Tighe has been arrested in Brooklyn, on suspicion of complicity in Goodrich murder.

A duel took place at Richmond, Va., Friday evening, about a woman, between John B. Mordecai and Page McCarthy, in which both were wounded. It is feared that Mordecai cannot survive. The seconds are under arrest.

Hon. Charles Sumner's suit for divorce from his wife, on the ground of desertion, was heard before Judge Colt of the Massachusetts supreme court on Saturday. One witness only was examined, and the decree of divorce was granted.

The prohibitory law is being enforced in Massachusetts with more strictness than ever before, and many dealers are giving up the business.

A tornado destroyed a church and fifteen other buildings at Belle Centre, Ohio, on Friday. Loss $40,000. No lives were lost.

Thirty-two pupils of the State Normal School graduated on the 7th.

The faculty of Dartmouth college have inhibited all lectures by women in Hanover; but two hundred students went to hear Mrs. Livermore on a recent evening, and no doubt heard as good a lecture as any of the Dartmouth faculty could give.

Pike Brothers & Horn have cut and hauled to the steam mill at Stark, 900,000 feet of spruce logs, and 100,000 feet of pine; have cut and hauled nine or ten hundred cords of wood to the Grand Trunk Railroad, about four hundred hard wood piles, and some 60,000 spruce spars, during the past winter.

The following is the State Executive Committee chosen by the Y. M. C. A. State Convention, at Manchester, last week: Hon. John P. Newell, of Manchester, M. B. Critchett, of Concord, T. H. Hussey, of Nashua, E. O. Foss, of Dover, Dr. D. S. Prescott, of Laconia, C. W. Moore, of Concord, John S. Rand of Portsmouth, C. B. Downing, of Hanover, C. P. Wellman of Manchester, Rev. John Bragdon of Hillsborough Bridge.

The Winnipesaukie Lake Cotton and Woollen Manufacturing Company are endeavoring to dispose of their right in the control of the waters of Newfound Lake, together with their real estate in Bristol. This company has expended in clearing the channel at the outlet of the lake, building dams, and other improvements some $140,000 and now offer to dispose of the whole for $40,000. Their willingness to dispose of it for this sum is probably due to the action of the courts.

On Tuesday night, the 6th, a valuable horse was stolen from Edward P. Ela in Derry. The thief then stole a wagon, harness and buffalo robe from R. R. Strong, and drove off. In another part of the town the operator took a better wagon from Mr. John Low, leaving Mr. Strong's in its place.

The wife of Taintor, the defaulter, is the daughter of Gen. James Wilson of Keene, and has returned to her father.

James T. Fields will give three lectures on English literature, at Dartmouth College, the first week in June.

Charles W. Hardy of Lebanon shot a woods cat recently, which measured three feet from the tip of his nose to the tip of his tail, and three feet from the tip of his tail to the tip of his nose,—six feet in all.

A lumber shed and about 1,500,000 feet of pine lumber were burned at Whitefield on Saturday. Loss $40,000, with small insurance.

A building on Hollis street, Nashua, occupied by the American Fan Company and others, was burned Friday night. Loss $25,000, partially insured.

The debt of Coos County has been reduced over $10,000 the past year.

Sometime during Monday night, May 5th, a horse and a wagon were stolen from George A. Downs, in Wilton, and to complete the necessary outfit for an excursion the thieves managed to steal a harness from L. W. Felt. They were tracked to West Wilton, where the trail was lost.

The dwelling house of Mr. Spellman, in North Haverhill, was destroyed by fire on Saturday night, May 3d. The fire broke out in the ell part, between ten and eleven o'clock, taking from a defect in the chimney. The contents of the house were mostly saved. Loss, $500. Fully insured.

A party of riversmen recently undertook to clean out the premises of John Heath of Stewartstown. Mr. H. was badly beaten, and one of the rioters was treated by Mrs. H. to a pot of hot tea outside. The sheriff took 36 men in pursuit of the roughs 17 miles. He captured 11 of them and took them to Colebrook to settle.

Railroad Extension.

Parties are at work surveying routes for the proposed line of railroad to connect Dover with the Great Falls & Conway Railroad, and there is every prospect that this connecting link will be built, and that before a great while. The Dover Enquirer speaks of its prospective value to Dover as follows:—

The proposed extension of the Great Falls & Conway Railway to Dover, to build which permission will be asked at the coming session of the Legislature, will prove, we believe, to be very advantageous and convenient for the business interests of our city, opening as it will direct speedy, communication with many parts of the old County of Strafford whose business relations were formerly almost exclusively with Dover, from which we have been almost entirely cut off for many years. The road to be built to make the connection is less than four miles in length. There will be no difficult grades, and the work will be comparatively light. The building of these three or four miles of new road will shorten the distance from Boston to Great Falls and to Conway several miles. There will not only be a very considerable time saved in the running of the express trains to the Mountains, but a great saving will also be made by running the trains from Great Falls and Dover to Boston together, instead of separately on different routes to Portsmouth. If we can only have union depots at Dover, Great Falls and Rochester, the railroad facilities for Strafford County could hardly be bettered after the completion of this proposed route and the Nashua & Rochester. Certainly as far as Dover is concerned but two more roads will be desired, and those are the Lake Shore and one from Concord to Dover, except the short piece necessary to connect the Portsmouth & Dover and the Great Falls & Conway directly with the P. S. & P. at South Berwick. We hope to see all these railroad enterprises shortly completed, and we look most of all to the energy and farsightedness of the Eastern Railroad in the accomplishment of these results.

—"Say, Jones, what's the matter with your eye?" "Oh, nothin," only my wife said this morning I'd better get up and make a fire; I told her to make it herself—that's all."

Business Notices.

WELLS' GRAND DISTRIBUTION.—The committee, after drawing nearly one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, have decided to postpone the drawing until July 1st, 1873. This will positively be the last postponement. W. B. Lord, Agent.

NO POSTPONEMENT. It is not wise to put off until the heats of summer have commenced the invigorating process which would have secured the system, in advance, against this untoward influence. By toning the stomach, liver and bowels in the spring months with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and continuing to take this harmless but powerful vegetable invigorant during the summer, it is quite certain that even persons who are naturally delicate and deficient in vital force may escape the fits of indigestion, headache, nausea, biliousness, nervous debility and mental oppression which, in the absence of such preparation, often prostrate and agonize the more robust. A pure stimulant, medicated with the juices of the finest tonic, anti-bilious and aperient roots and herbs, is an invaluable boon to the weak and ailing, and this life-sustaining boon is the form of Hostetter's Bitters, is fortunately within the reach of all.

NO LADY'S TOILET COMPLETE Unless there be the fragrant Sozodont; unto the breath sweet odors it imparts, the gums a ruby redness soon assume, the teeth quick rival alabaster tint, and seem as pearls set in a coral vase.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

An Election Bet.

Two firemen of Great Falls made a bet on the result of the State election, the loser to haul a hose carriage from an engine house in Somersworth to Portsmouth,—the task to be performed between the hours of sunrise and sunset, on some day after the official count of the gubernatorial vote was announced. The names of the firemen are J. C. Pitman (who bet on Straw) and W. H. Holbrook (who named Weston), both of Engine Co. No. 1 of Great Falls; and Mr. Holbrook, whose candidate stood next to the highest on the list of those voted for, proposes to start with his hose carriage on the morning of the 20th, if fair weather, in fulfilment of his pre-election contract.

Laconics.

The recent rain has given the grass a good start.

All the Banks in this city will be closed this afternoon, the time appointed for the funeral of Ichabod Rollins.

The suit of Mr. Wood, of Maine, vs. the Pingree estate of Salem, involving the Iron Mountain in Jackson, has occupied the circuit court now in session here for several days. The property is worth $50,000, and has for twenty years been in possession of the Jackson Iron Company; but it is claimed that, as the deed of purchase from the State was not recorded with the Secretary within a year from the sale, by an old law the sale was void, and the land reverted to the State, and was included and sold again, with all the public lands of the State.

Morris Brothers' Minstrels appear at the Temple to-morrow evening, and it is safe to say they will give a first class entertainment of the kind in which they have so long been engaged. Billy Morris is positively announced for an appearance. See advertisment.

A dog died in this city last week at the age of nineteen years, lacking about one month, which is about as old for a dog as one hundred and twenty years would be for a man. "Colonel" was known by many persons in this city, favorably by some and not so favorably by others. He lost all his teeth at an early age but never lost his temper,—at least he always had enough of it on hand for all practical purposes,—and his appetite for sleep and all sorts of provisions stuck by him almost to the last. His mistress (whose pet he had been all his life) died some months ago, but the old fellow was tenderly cared for in his second puppyhood by her friends, who regarded him somewhat in the light of a sacred trust.

Mr. C. B. Parker, the popular landlord of the Franklin House, Portsmouth, has been recently made the recipient of an elegant present from one of his guests. The present was a valuable diamond pin worth several hundred dollars. It is a gift which any landlord might be proud to exhibit as coming from one of his patrons, a gentleman who lives almost continually at hotels and knows how to appreciate a well kept house. Mr. Parker's friends in this city will be pleased to learn of his success.—Biddeford Democrat.

New Church---New Creed.

By the following, which we clip from the Cincinnati Times and Chronicle, it will be seen that Rev. Henry D. Moore, formerly pastor of the North Church in this city and later of the Vine street Congregational Church in Cincinnati, has struck out a new theological path for himself, not finding any of the old ones exactly to his liking:—

Rev. Henry D. Moore, whose separation from the pastoral charge of Vine-street Congregational Church has already been announced, has the backing of several prominent citizens, not now indentified with any church organization, in the movement which he is about to inaugurate. His idea is to erect a large plain structure, capable of seating fifteen hundred or two thousand persons, and to be used for the meeting of benevolent or religious associations of all kinds, and the giving of lectures and appropriate concerts. He thinks there should be provided an immense organ upon which the best players shall be invited to perform on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, tickets to which performances may be purchased at very low cost, not to exceed ten cents each. Mr. Moore's views as to the fundamental doctrines of the new church are that they should be very plainly, though briefly, stated, with but little regard to the elaborate definitions and hair-splitting theories of the theological schools. At the same time, he will insist that the creed be thoroughly evangelical. Some other parts of Mr. Moore's plan are quite as novel as those we have mentioned, and he is thoroughly enthusiastic in his belief that they are entirely feasible. He holds his first service at Robinson's Opera-House one week from next Sunday.

A Different Story.

In Saturday morning's CHRONICLE we mentioned the arrest of a man named James Steavens, in Boston, on the complaint of a young woman that he had endeavored to get her to enter a house of no good repute, in this city. The Boston Herald says the woman calls herself Mrs. Lake, and that in court, when Steavens was examined, she "showed herself to be not the woman she had represented herself to be. After Steavens was arrested, a man who gave the name of J. W. Jackson called on the parties who bailed Steavens and wanted to fix matters for $200, and it was afterwards learned that this man Jackson, or Baxter as he once called himself, was the partner of Mrs. Lake's husband, and that they did business under the firm name of F. W. Howard & Co., commercial brokers, No. 629 Washington street. This Mrs. Lake is a young, handsome, stylish and fast-looking woman; not a woman, however, to make a good impression on the court. On being cross-examined she refused to tell when or where she was married. The question was asked her a dozen or more times. She flatly refused to answer. The court then told her she must answer the question, that it was a proper one, and if she refused, she would be locked up till she did answer. She still refused to answer the question, when Judge Churchill ordered her to be committed to jail. This closed the examination, when Steavens gave bail in the sum of $500 for his appearance. The affair created quite a sensation about the court room, as it dawned upon all that this 'brave little woman' was only playing the role of a blackmailer."

Clippings.

From the Portsmouth Journal.

—It is suggested that in lieu of a regatta on the afternoon of July 4th, a second large tent be pitched in some central locality and a free public entertainment be given therein for the benefit of the children, consisting of magical performances, by Prof. Anderson, or some other skillful manipulator, stereopticon exhibitions, and a Punch and Judy show. Some such provision for the young folks—who have been ignored thus far—would add immensely to the other fine features of the day, and serve a feast to the little ones, while the dinner and speech-making are going on in the large pavillion. The tides are unfavorable to a regatta, which would have to take place at low water, at noon, just the hour in which the procession will be moving through our streets. If the tent entertainment cannot be carried out, a balloon ascension might be substituted.

—At a meeting of the Directors of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, held at the office of Dr. A. P. Stevens, on Monday evening, George E. Hodgdon, Esq., was elected Secretary, vice Dr. Stevens resigned. It was voted to pay an annual salary of $150 to the Secretary of the Society. A committee was appointed to examine into a local case of alleged cruelty to a horse. A Lyceum committee, consisting of Mrs. John J. Pickering, Mrs. Alfred W. Haven, Wm. M. Thayer, Dr. A. P. Stevens, and Thomas E. O. Marvin, was chosen to provide a course of popular lectures for the winter season.

—Of the many good features of the grand procession of July Fourth, none will be more attractive than the proposed full-rigged vessel "Constitution," which is to be made as near a model as possible of that celebrated old ship-of-the-line. This craft will be manned by experienced seamen, and during the passage of the procession will "make the welkin ring" by occasional discharges from a small howitzer.

—A new alliance has been formed in Boston by Mr. Henry C. Barnabee, formerly of this city, for sale of the famous Weber piano, which has so extended in popularity all over the country. Mr. William J. Winch, also well known in the musical world, is associate partner. Their wareroom is at 368 Washington street, Globe Theatre. See their advertisement in to day's paper. May success attend them.

—There will be a total eclipse of the moon May 12, in the morning, which will be partial and visible from Boston west to Chicago. While we here shall not be granted a sight of it, we are promised a partial eclipse of the Sun, May 26, which will rise partly eclipsed in Maine, New Hampshire, and part of Vermont.

—John Falvey, under three months' sentence to the City Farm, assaulted a farm laborer with a four-pronged fork on Wednesday, inflicting painful wounds in his arm. The affair would have been more serious but for the timely interference of Superintendent Scott.

—Sch. J. B. Myers, Lewis, of Orrington, from Bangor for this port, went ashore 4th inst., on Folly Island, Cape Porpoise, and will be a total wreck, except sails and rigging. The cargo of fence boards for the Portsmouth and Dover Railroad will be mostly saved.

—Mr. J. T. Fields will read a paper on "Tennyson" at the Unitarian Chapel on Court St. next Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The lecture will be free. All interested in English Literature are invited to attend.

—Estimates for the work of building wharves at Nobles' Island were made on Monday by contractors. The construction of a wharf 350 feet long and 100 feet wide is to be commenced immediately.

—It is probable that on Memorial Day, the recently organized military companies and the drum corps will make their first appearance in procession, in connection with the usual display.

—The city is again clear of small-pox, thanks under Providence, to the vigilance of our health officers.

Senator Hamlin of Maine refuses to take the five thousand dollars back pay, and has returned it into the Treasury Department. Messrs. Frye and Hale, Representatives from the same State, have done the same.

Morning Chronicle.

THE MASSACHUSETTS MEDICAL SOCIETY has been making itself conspicuous lately, if it has not greatly added to its reputation for sagacity. The Society of course was originally composed of old school allopathic physicians. In process of time it seems that a portion of its members have become converts to the doctrines of homœopathy. The former were in a very decided majority, and wanted to rid the Society of the latter. But the disciples of Hahnemann were not disposed to submit quietly to the eliminating process. So they called in the aid of the courts; and for some time past a sort of trial has been going on before the officers of the Medical Society, the object of which seems to be to ascertain whether the homœopaths maintain theories or practices which are repugnant to the constitution of the Society. To non-professionals we fear the quarrel is not a very edifying spectacle. The average citizen when he is sick calls in a medical man simply that he may be cured, and he is not at all particular whether it is one "pathy" or another which does the business. He is rather inclined to smile at the narrow view which some of the "regular" faculty seem to take of the healing art, and to believe that the severest blow they could inflict on the homœopaths would be to cure more sickness than their rivals can. There used to be a proverb that when doctors disagree the patient is in danger; but in the present case the fact seems to be just the reverse, for while the Medical Society is in a wrangle the patients of both wings of the profession are reported to be getting well. —News-Letter.

—A Danbury man enjoys himself without molestation. His dog chases the neighbors' hens, his own hens dig up their gardens, his cow breaks down their fences, and his cats fight on their roofs. But his father died a maniac, and his grandmother was a respectable lunatic for thirteen years, and as he owns a couple of guns, and is quick tempered, the neighbors are wise in their generation and keep clear of him.

Specie Payments—The Balance of Trade—Louisiana Affairs—Monopolies—District of Columbia Finances—Civil Service Examinations.

The magnates of New York, assembled as a Chamber of Commerce, invited some of the outside magnates of the land to take a dinner with them the other day; and after dinner, as is the custom, had some speeches. Among the speakers was Joe Hawley of Connecticut, who generally carries a level head. The burden upon his mind was specie payments, as the great cure for hard business, diseased trade and unhealthy speculation. Now, specie payments can only be reached in one of two ways- by contraction or by waiting the slow process of increased productions for export and diminished imports. The first course brings ruin in its train to the whole debtor class, and prosperity to the creditor class. It makes the rich man richer and the poor man poorer. It increases the tax payer's burden to increase the value of the principal and interest of the bondholders of every description. The other way increases the exportable productions of the country until they equal the importations and the interest payable abroad.

The balance of trade has been heavily against us the last year, and more than the usual amount of gold has been called for in settling the balances. This has caused an increase in price. Who has been hurt by the rise? I see it has led to a great increase in our exports, and there has been a decided falling off in our imports. Yet our Treasury people are all the time trying to "bear" the gold market and keep the price down, when, if a high price tends to increase exports and diminish imports, I can't see the good of it. It cripples the importer to have high gold, but it seems to help the export producing interest and the shipping interest. Suppose the export price of wheat to be two dollars a bushel, when gold goes up two cents, wheat goes up four cents a bushel, and the price of cotton, cheese, petroleum and of every article we produce for export goes up in the same proportion. It takes off the surplus on the market, raises the price, increases the demand and stimulates production. Beyond that it creates a demand for shipping to transport these products which would not otherwise exist. There is still another benefit from the rise of gold. There are from thirty to fifty thousand absentees in Europe spending on an average two thousand dollars each and drawing annually from the industry of the country from sixty to a hundred millions. Each of these absentees is as much an evil as the absentee land-owners of Ireland, who have enriched other nations by spending the money wrung from the tillers of their lands, until poverty and want is the rule among her population. The rise in gold diminishes the resources of this class and tends to send them home and keep others at home. Until specie payments can be reached through increased production for exports to restore the balance of trade, bearing gold to keep down the price, is an evil.

The Louisiana troubles seem to be getting to a head, after distracting the State so long. It is the result of overturning a State Government by the injunction of a judge, and ought to have been remedied by the action of Congress, which would have saved the bloodshed and civil commotion. One party cheated all they could before the election and the other after it was over. A recent decision of the U. S. Supreme Court in the Louisiana slaughter-house case, is calculated to reflect but little credit upon that body. It seems a legislative act required all the slaughtering in New Orleans to be done in a certain locality and then chartered a company and gave them the monopoly of the business. The case came before the court of appeals under the fourteenth amendment, and the monopoly was sustained. By the doctrine of this decision every butcher was cut off from his means of living, and not allowed to follow his trade; and every other calling and business could be given to a monopoly, as well, and everybody outside of it thrown out of business. Everybody concedes the right of the State to say where, for sanitary purposes,

The Polaris Castaways.

The account of the wanderings and sufferings of the party from the Polaris, given by Capt. Tyson, who commanded the party, furnishes a good idea of the pleasures of Arctic navigation. Capt. Tyson's story is as follows:

We started for home on the 12th of August, and on the 15th were beset with ice, and drifted south until we encountered a heavy southwest gale. The ship being under heavy pressure on the night of the 15th, we commenced landing provisions, &c., on the ice, the vessel being reported leaking very badly at times. We continued landing provisions for two or three hours, when the pressure ceased. I went on board the vessel and asked the sailing master if the vessel was making any more water than usual and he reported that she was not. I then went to the pumps and ascertained that she was not making any more than she was during all summer. I went on the ice again, and shortly after it began to crack, and in a few minutes afterwards broke in many pieces. The vessel broke from her fastenings and was soon lost to sight in the darkness and storm. On the broken ice were most of our provisions to sustain the party through the winter, and seeing nothing of the vessel we attempted to reach shore in hopes of finding natives to assist us in living through the winter.

Getting about half way to the shore with our heavily laden boats our progress became hard by the drifting ice, and I was compelled to haul upon the ice again. At this time succeeded in saving fourteen cans of pemmican, eleven and a half bags of bread, ten dozen one and two pound cans of meat and soup, fourteen hams, one small bag of chocolate weighing twenty pounds, some musk ox skins, a few blankets, a number of rifles and abundant ammunition. In the morning, knowing that I had not provisions enough and other articles of food, clothing, compasses, &c., on the abatement of the gale, I endeavored to shoot as many seals as possible, both for food, light and fuel, but could only get three, owing to the bad weather having set in. I supposed the wind to be about southwest. On its clearing up I found myself to be within about eight miles of what I supposed to be the east coast and about 30 or 40 miles below the ship.

The ice being weak I could not transport the boats and provisions to land until it grew stronger. While here I discovered my other boat, bread, &c., and saved all. The ice grew firm and I made another attempt to reach the shore, carrying everything in the boats and dragging them on their keel. The ice being exceedingly rough we stove both boats. We succeeded on the 1st of November in getting about half way to the shore when night came on us, and very stormy weather. In the morning the ice was broken and we were drifting southward very fast. We saw no more land for many days, bad weather continuing all through the month of November. We built snow houses and made ourselves as comfortable as we could. We were ten white men, two Esquimaux, two women and five children in all.

We succeeded in killing a few seals, which furnished us with light and fuel with which to warm our scanty allowance of food through the darkness of the Arctic winter. In the latter part of February we lived principally upon birds, and in March commenced to catch seals. Through that month we supported ourselves on bears and seals' flesh, wasting neither skin nor entrails. We collected enough food, in this way, to last until the middle of May, had we not been driven to sea by a strong westerly gale in the latter part of March, our floe piece being then reduced from five miles in circumference to about twenty yards in diameter. We left the piece on the first of April and abandoned nearly all our meat, a large amount of ammunition, clothing, skins and other articles, taking a portion of the meat in a boat, which we were obliged to throw overboard on account of the boat being so deeply laden.

I regained the outer edge of the pack of ice on the 3d of April, and succeeded in getting a little farther in the pack. On the 4th a heavy northeast gale set in, a heavy sea running under, which broke it in small pieces so that we had to live on small pans, as we could not put the boat out, neither could we find seals for food. On the 21st of April we sighted a polar bear. Every person was ordered to lie down and imitate the seal, while the two Esquimaux secreted themselves behind a piece of ice, enticing the bear near enough to us to kill him. A few days after this, we got our boat in the water and worked our way west and southwest, and continued to work, every opportunity, to the westward, in the hope of reaching the Labrador coast and getting temporary relief.

We were picked up by the steamship Tigress, Captain Bartlett, on the 30th of April, near Wolf Island, and about 40 miles from land. The Polaris is now without boats, having lost two in trying to get north in the spring of 1872.

The Tigress fell in with the party, in a dense fog, and providentially struck the very floe on which they were, otherwise they must have perished. When they left the Polaris all on board were good health.

Dr. Hayes, the well-known Arctic explorer, expresses the opinion that the Polaris was unfit for the service, and that there was no discipline on board of her, but that Captain Hall has proved that Smith's Sound is navigable, and is the true passage to the Polar sea, which he seems to have reached, though driven back by drifting ice fields or gales of wind. Dr. Hayes cannot understand why the ship, when so near Northumberland Island, should have been driven up on the ice and discharged her cargo upon it. He thinks there was dissension on board, and that it looks as though the party cut off from the ship had been determined to leave her. But Captain Hall has done a glorious thing. He has gone farther north with a ship than any human being ever did before, (although others have gone as far in sledges,) and the Polaris was 219 miles farther north than Kane's ship. Dr. Hayes says that it almost looks as if Mr. Hall was killed by one of his men in a mutiny, for he had never known of any one dying in that latitude from apoplexy, and Captain Hall did not look like an apoplectic man. Dr. Hayes believes that the rest of the crew are yet alive, and that the Polaris will return by September.

Professor Baird of the Smithsonian Institute thinks the expedition far from a failure, and that it has no doubt realized many of the objects in view in sending it out.

Readables.

The excitement at Cherryvale, Kansas, where the dead bodies were discovered under the Benders' dwelling, is intense, and a large number of men are searching the ground. Seven men (including a travelling preacher named King and a notorious murderer named Major Rumford) and six women have been arrested, and the detectives are still out.

The lady about whom the two fools, Mordecai and McCarthy, fought with pistols near Richmond, Va., on Friday, is said to have been for several years past the leading belle of Greenbriar, White Sulphur Springs, Va., and to be in the deepest distress over the duel.

"Pop" Tighe, arrested in Brooklyn for supposed complicity in the Goodrich murder, is said to be identical with "the Spaniard Roscoe" and to be a noted desperado and scoundrel. He is of Irish parentage, and well known as lerder of a desperate gang of thieves. It is also reported that the detectives "have in their possession strong evidence against him,"—but we think we have heard something like that before.

One hundred and fifty houses were recently burned at Port au Prince; six lives were lost and many persons injured. New Orleans had a $100,000 fire on Sunday, and St. Louis a $75,000 one on Saturday.

The Modocs are said to be making for the Goose Lake country, with the Warm Spring Indians and the white scouts in hot pursuit.

Over 200,000 acres of the public lands of Iowa have been sold on forged deeds. Many arrests have been made, but the ringleaders are still at liberty.

The funeral of the late Hon. Oakes Ames took place at North Easton, Mass., on Sunday.

A lawyer named Marvin slapped Jay Gould's face and gave him a bloody nose, a week ago. On Saturday Marvin was fined $200 and held in $1000 to keep the peace.

The New York Central Railroad authorities, tired of having their engines and cars seized by Collector Bailey and sold for non-payment of taxes, have agreed to pay the whole amount ($40,000) claimed, under protest.

The New York Herald has a despatch to the effect that the Emperor William was shot at by a priest while at a review, the bullet severely wounding an adjutant but not harming the Emperor.

The regular Sunday murder in New York took place at a rum saloon on Washington place, where John Mahan (drunk) stabbed Thomas McGuire (drunker) and killed him.

Rev. Miss Olympia Brown, pastor of the Universalist church at Bridgeport, Conn., was married on the 23d of April to Mr. James H. Willis.

Rev. A. P. Peabody, D. D., of Harvard University, preached in the First Baptist Church in Charlestown, Mass., Sunday afternoon. That Dr. Peabody gave "an able discourse" (as the papers say he did) is nothing to wonder at; but the occupation of a Baptist pulpit by an eminent Unitarian divine is worthy of notice, as an instance of the spirit of liberality which is rapidly extending itself among the Christain denominations. Not many days ago, in the suburban correspondence of the Boston Journal, we noticed an account of a Congregational festival in which the correspondent spoke warmly in commendation of the appearance of certain masqueraders as they "threaded the intricacies of the mazy dance" to the music of a string band! The world moves—and with steam at high pressure, too, now-a-days.

The New Orleans opera house was sold by the sheriff, Saturday, for $40,000. It cost $220,000.

Steamer Electra of Providence broke the connecting rod of her cylinder on Friday night, which filled the saloon with steam, causing much excitement among the passengers. But the steam was soon shut off and the damage repaired.

A correspondent of the Boston Journal writing under the heading "Beware of Cigars," tells a story of how a lady's dress was set on fire by a burning "stub" on the sidewalk; whereat another correspondent of that paper advances the idea that "Beware of Trails" would have been "a more appropriate heading, for a lady with a proper dress would run no risk of taking fire from a lighted cigar. No one questions the gracefulness of a trail for a house dress, but some women, either to cover hideous feet or to show how wasteful they can be, drag half a yard of silk along the dirty sidewalks. The style is not in vogue in London or Paris, except among women of very doubtful reputation, while with us, I am thankful to say, that by the length of the drag we can judge of the paucity of the wearer's brains." It is very evident that the correspondent last quoted is pretty mad,—mad enough to think that vigorous vituperation and terrible insinuation may have some effect in preventing ladies from following the fashion, let fashion be as ridiculous and monstrous as it may. The utter futility of the furious crusade of the masculines against the hideous chignon and the mammoth bustle should have taught him better.

Nixon, the murderer, is to be hung on Friday.

A dispatch from San Francisco says a courier arrived there at 9 o'clock Monday morning, with news of another fight with the Modocs, in which the Indians were repulsed.

Three million postal cards were issued to postmasters on Monday.

State News.

Mr. John Morgan, of Bow, was killed Saturday by being thrown from a wagon in which he was riding with his wife and child, the two latter being seriously injured.

Mr. Kendrick of Franklin, President of the Concord & Portsmouth Railroad, was severely injured on Saturday by the falling of a chimney upon him, while he was engaged in moving a building.

The Sugar River paper mill, in Claremont lower village, was partly burned on Saturday evening. The mill was a fine one and nearly new, and the loss is about $30,000.

Mrs. J. S. T. Cushing, sister of Hon. John P. Hale, was stricken with paralysis Friday night, and is in a critical condition.

Another Kansas Tragedy.

James Erickson, who was arrested at Westmore, Kansas, some time ago, for an alleged felonious assault on the wife of a man named Marquette, and was acquitted, returned to Westmore on Friday. On Saturday morning he went to the house of Marquette, and when the latter came to the door Erickson shot him dead. He then took Marquette's two children to a neighbor's house and left them, saying that he had killed their father and was going back to kill their mother. An alarm was given, but the neighbors feared to enter the house until re-enforced. Upon entering they found Mrs. Marquette lying on the bed in a nude state, dead, and shot in seven places. Erickson was lying across her body, also dead.

—A young man becoming a little dissatisfied with the coquettish actions of his young lady while she was shopping, retired to another part of the store, and resting his elbow on the dummy figure of a woman, gave himself up to gloomy reflections, from which he was rudely aroused by a sharp push, while the dummy received a vigorous slap over the head from an indignant lady's parasol. There is hardly enough of the English language to do justice to the scene that followed.

—A Louisiana paper asks, in a distressing tone, "If we can't raise the sweet potatoes we eat, in heaven's name what can we raise?" As they have been raising the devil in that State for a year past (says the Pittsburgh Commercial) very successfully, we don't see the necessity of inquiring any further.

Tarrant's Seltzer Aperient.

Ridiculous Ideas are entertained about purgatives. It is dangerous to scourge the stomach, to rasp the bowels, to prostrate the nervous system with furious evacuants. Nature has given a sample, in the famous Seltzer Spring, of what the bilious, constipated, or dyspeptic system needs for its restoration, and in

Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient

Science has improved on Nature by combining all the valuable ingredients of the German Fountain in a portable form, and omitting those which have no medicinal virtues. LOCAL AFFAIRS.

U. S. Circuit Court.

In the U. S. circuit court in this city, Monday, Lewis E. Gendron, of Hereford, was fined $100 and sentenced to nine months in jail, for smuggling a horse and bull from Canada.

Indictments have been returned against the following parties:

Wm. M. Johnson, for passing counterfeit money. [Bail forfeited.—$6000.

Wm. Crawford, stealing letters from the mail.

Smash-Up.

On Monday afternoon Mr. David Marshall, who was driving a hack, stopped the vehicle in front of the Post Office and alighted to deposit a letter. The horses took advantage of his temporary absence to run away down Pleasant street, and soon struck a wagon owned by Messrs. Geo. Tompson & Co., flour and grain dealers, which however was but slightly damaged. The runaways kept on until they came in collision with another hack, owned by Mr. Plaisted and driven by Mr. Dow; Mr. Plaisted's hack was capsized, the driver falling beneath the wreck, from which he was extricated with but trifling hurts, though how he escaped death or serious injury is a mystery. The other hack went over, a few rods from the scene of the last collision, and the runaway came to an abrupt conclusion. Both hacks were badly smashed, and it is fortunate indeed that no passengers were in either at the time of the collision.

Police Court.

John Murphy, a boy, was fined $9.90 by Judge Page on Monday, for being drunk and disorderly. David Welch, another boy, who was let out on probation on Saturday, was fined $8.76 for being drunk, and will go to jail to await trial on a former case. Luke Long and James Welch were also each fined $8.76 for being drunk, and four boys were complained of for playing ball on Sunday, two of them receiving light fines and the others getting off with a reprimand. The boys Murphy and Welch are bright and shining lights in a gang of young roughs whose highest ambition it seems is to became notorious for evil; they have been an intolerable nuisance to the parts of the city which they infest, and it is time the whole lot were sent to State Prison.

Laconics.

A very neat and handsome granite monument has been placed on the Cutts lot in Harmony Grove cemetery, in memory of the late Mrs. Mary H. Cutts and her husband. The lot has also been surrounded with a handsome and substantial fence, the curbing and posts being of dressed granite and the rails of galvanized iron. It will be remembered that the erection of a monument and fence on this lot was one of the conditions to be fulfilled before Mrs. Cutts' street-beautifying bequest was to be available.

A little girl named Sadie Gray, about three years of age residing on Gates street, while playing with a pair of scissors on Saturday afternoon stuck them into one of her eyes, injuring it so badly that it will probably be destroyed.

Morris Brothers' Minstrels appear at the Temple, this evening. The many who patronize and enjoy this class of entertainments need not be told that this company stands nearly or quite at the head of the list of minstrel troupes, as always giving a good show. Billy Morris and other favorite artists in burnt cork are positively announced to appear. See advertisement.

We desire to call the attention of our readers to the sale of the beautiful villa situated just at the edge of the city, owned by Mr. Alexander Robinson and formerly the estate of True M. Ball, Esq. Col. Hackett sells it to the highest bidder at public auction to-day at 12 o'clock.

The temperance lecture at the Temple, Sunday evening, was thinly attended, owing probably to the superabundance of water outside. The singing by the double quartette was good, and so was Rev. Carlos Martyn's address.

Rev. Mrs. Fannie U. Roberts, pastor of the Universalist church at Kittery, preached in the Universalist church in this city on Sunday forenoon, to the general acceptance of the congregation. She is an earnest, pleasing speaker, and the Universalists of Kittery express great satisfaction with their minister, for whom a pleasant surprise, in the shape of a general reunion of the society and congregation at the house of one of the members, was planned and carried into effect on an evening of last week, resulting in a most agreeable interchange of good feeling.

LOCAL EDITING.—The Cincinnati Times thinks there should be a special professorship for instruction in local editing, and discourses thereon in this wise:—

The student in the local business should have a great deal of exercise on his legs each day—taught that it isn't brains so much as leg talent that is required to make an efficient local reporter. He must learn to smell an item a long distance, as the model war horse "snuffeth the battle from afar," and spare no exertion in finding it. His fancy and imagination need to be cultivated somewhat, and his invention quickened and encouraged, in order that he may have something to fall back on in case things persistently refuse to happen, for the public demands local news every day, remember, whether there be any or not. Deprive them of able "leaders," and they may stand it for a day or two, but they won't give up their local news—not for a single issue.

The would-be local will require little instruction in regard to receiving presents of boots, hats, clothing, bottles of wine, oysters, cigars, deadhead tickets, &c. They learn that very readily.

The professor can do as he pleases about advising them to accept or refuse such perquisites.

The student should be taught to miss his meals often, sit up late nights at all sorts of festive suppers, and sit patiently to hear long and dull speeches from after dinner orators. He must learn not to be alarmed by threats of horsewhipping, and must be licked occasionally by the professor to accustom him to any incidents of the kind that are not improbable to occur.

He must be taught to have no emotions of his own, to look upon all calamities with a purely professional eye, to observe and describe the convulsing humor of a popular comedian, and catch the last sigh of an expiring victim of the hangman, with the same stoical indifference. The professor of local reporting ought to hang a man occasionally in the presence of the class, in order that they may become accustomed to reporting executions. And finally, the candidate for the "local" chair should learn to live on a moderate income, sternly subdue all inclinations for more than the necessaries of life, and be willing to give poverty a smiling welcome, until fate or his own exertions hoists him to a higher place.

ANOTHER FASTING GIRL.—The following, which we take from the Otago (New Zealand) Morning Star, shows that individuals who won't eat are common to all parts of the globe, England and this country having numerous cases of them:

The latest accounts of the Taieri fasting-girl, of whom our readers have often heard, is that she continues much in the same condition she has been in for the past three years. She never feels hungry or has any desire for food, and when she takes nourishment it produces a feeling of faintness. Her countenance retains its healthy, cheerful appearance, but her voice is much weaker, and she says she feels herself gradually sinking. It is said, however, that there has been no observable change in her condition or appearance for the past two years.

—A Western contemporary is thirsting for blood. He cries aloud for vengeance. The Modoc assassination has roused him to the pitch of frenzy. He says:—"Let every blade of grass in the Northwest be watered with the blood of these treacherous fiends, and the rivers, as they flow down to the ocean, carry with them the scarlet tidings of a nation's vengeance, and may it be mingled with the gory stream that flows in the veins of the vacillating shrickers for peace, to whom is principally due the perpetration of the late horrible butchery. Let there be no wavering, no pity, no remorse. The names of the slaughtered cry aloud for blood, and blood alone will give them peace beyond the grave." The writer was possibly excited when he wrote this glowing piece of indignation.

—As some lady visitors were going through a penitentiary under the escort of a superintendent, they came to a room where three women were sewing. "Dear me!" one of the visiters whispered, "what vicious-looking creatures! Pray, what are they here for?" "Because they have no other home; this is our sitting room, and they are my wife and two daughters," blandly answered the superintendent.

—A local paper in Iowa records the accidental shooting of a doctor, and has "strong fears of his recovery."

particular kinds of business may be conducted, but not the right to say who may pursue that business, and who may not. Otherwise it could give to a corporation composed of colored trick-layers the monopoly of that business and no white man could follow that trade; or to a few white hackmen a monopoly of that business, and no colored man could drive a hack; and so of all other avocations. It is a decision which upsets the fourteenth amendment, and is an outrage upon individual rights, in support of monopolies.

District matters seem coming to a head. Extravagance from Congress and the District Legislature hasn't been equal to keeping the extravagant management in funds. All is swallowed up and the Legislature are looking a deficiency of between three and four hundred thousand dollars in the face, after taxing to the highest point allowed by law. In order to get over this latter difficulty they will add twenty per cent. to the valuation. Office-holders and advertising useup over half a million, or twenty-five per cent. of all the taxes, and interest on the debt still more than that amount. This does not include any of the expenses of the Board of Public Works, for offices. They have a Board of Health here which ought to be abated as a nuisance. It has cost $63,000, besides the $40,000 voted it by Congress. They start off in expenses with $6,800 for clerks, messengers and telegraphers to three old fogies to look after the health of 130,000 people in the healthiest city in the country.

Civil Service will undoubtedly undergo some changes. About five hundred candidates were examined for forty vacancies. Many ladies, who passed some of the best examinations, have been left out. About as many more are now being examined for the 3900 positions, which are held exclusively by ladies. The girls fresh from school of course can beat out of sight in competitive examinations those who have been fighting the battle of life, and partially borne down by its sorrows and toils. No matter how deserving or capable, the record of the examinations on school subjects is looked to, to decide their case, and, of course, it is a marvel if not always against the workers. X. E.

The Chronicle.

GOOD WORK BY A CATHOLIC PRIEST. An English correspondent of the Boston Post writes as follows respecting a temperance reformer of the Father Mathew type who has for years done good work among the Catholic poor of Liverpool:—

"Father Mathew's mantle has evidently fallen upon the shoulders of Father Nugent, of Liverpool, who is doing about as much for temperance as any man now in the flesh. Within the past fourteen months he has induced nineteen thousand drinking persons to become teetotallers, and seventy-five per cent. of that number have kept their pledges inviolate, notwithstanding the fact that the majority of them belong to the lowest classes in the community. In February of last year he inaugurated a temperance league in one of the Catholic churches of Liverpool, and so successful was it that in two months he had branches in three or four other churches of the city. One branch alone comprises over three thousand persons, and the organization and enthusiasm are so complete under the inspiration of the Reverend Father, that the work of redeeming men and women from drunkenness by moral suasion goes on at a marvellous rate. His work commenced in behalf of the men alone; but he has now begun to save the many women who, is a great city, also fall into the vice of intemperance. He recently brought together in a place known as Newsome's Circus, about 1500 women and girls who gained their living by hawking wares through the streets. Never before were there so many bareheaded women brought together in the city, and for two hours they were kept perfectly happy by excellent music and a fund of appropriate amusement. After that he spoke to them upon temperance, while they listened to him with patience, and seemed to be much impressed.

CLEANSING BLANKETS.—It is quite as important to have the blankets on our beds clean as to have the sheets pure and white. The foul emanations which they absorb in time makes the bed anything but sweet. The Boston Journal of Chemistry gives the following method of cleansing blankets: "Put two large table-spoonfuls of borax and a pint of soft soap into a tub of cold water. When dissolved, put in a pair of blankets and let them remain over night. Next day rub and drain them out and rinse thoroughly in two waters, and hang to dry. Do not wring them." But this is not the only domestic use to which the borax may be put. Says the same journal: "Borax is the best cockroach exterminator yet discovered. This troublesome insect has a peculiar aversion to it, and will never return where it has once been scattered. As the salt is perfectly harmless to human beings, it is much to be preferred for this purpose to the poisonous substances commonly used. Borax is also valuable for laundry use. To about ten gallons of boiling water add a handful of borax, and you need use only half the ordinary allowance of soap. For laces, cambrics, &c., use an extra quantity of this powder. It will not injure the texture of the cloth in the least. For cleansing the hair nothing is better than a solution of borax-water. Wash afterward with pure water if it leaves the hair too stiff. Borax dissolved in water is also an excellent dentifrice or tooth-wash."

PROVING TOO MUCH.—Walter Savage Landor used to relate an anecdote of a judge. Being on circuit, two old men were brought before him as witnesses, and according to custom, he began to chat with them, among other things, about their age, for the purpose of giving a moral lesson to the young barristers:

"Well, my good man," said he to the first witness, "how old may you be?"

"About eighty-seven, my lord."

"I daresay, now, you have lived a very sober life?"

"Yes, my lord; I haven't been tipsy for the last sixty years."

"There!" cried his lordship, turning to the gentlemen of the bar, "you see what a fine thing sobriety is! The witness looks as though he would live twenty years more."

The barristers nodded assent. In his turn the next witness came forward, who looked particularly hale and robust.

"And how old are you, friend?" inquired the judge.

"Ninety-five, my lord," was the reply.

"Ninety-five! I'll answer for it, you have led a sober life—haven't you?"

"Well, then, my lord, I haven't gone to bed sober for the last seventy years."

At this his lordship looked rather blank, and the bar smiled. The judge then said:

"We will proceed with the case, gentlemen."

WEDESDAY, MAY 14, 1873.

Editorial Correspondence.

NEW YORK, May 11.

The "Sons" resident in the metropolis are as confidently looking forward to an enjoyable REUNION on the Fourth of July next as are the "old folks at home." It is proverbial that Portsmouth boys may be found the world over, and they turn up in most unexpected places. In this city, their rendezvous is at that famous hotel, corner of Broadway and 42d street, the St. Cloud, and the Rand Brothers, who have the lease of the building for a term of years and are natives of Strawberry Bank, make all from the old homestead as comfortable as possible. Most successful has been their management thus far and long may it continue.

We found at Tiffany's, Mr. Remick, a "Son" who located in New York many years ago, and Mr. Howard D Lowd, who has charge of the order and manufacturing department of that immense business. Through his courtesy, we inspected the elegant stock, which fills three stories. A tour through the building nearly bewilders the "young fellow" who hasn't a pocket full of rocks. Diamonds, gold, silver and glass-ware, are displayed in such profusion that one is painfully reminded that one's exchequer must need frequent replenishing to patronize the establishment more than once in a century. Ten thousand dollar diamonds were not exactly in our line—so we left it. Musical clocks which chime every fifteen minutes, statuary which a fortune is needed to purchase, sets of glass ware that one would hardly care to break, are among the most noticeable of the thousands of articles there stored—for Tiffany & Co. carry a stock of $3,000,000!

At the New York Times office we found Mr. Jacob H. Thompson, the exchange editor, young in years, yet nearly the veteran of the editorial fraternity of that paper. Laborious, faithful and especially adapted to his business, the proprietors recognize the worth of our old friend and would not readily part with him socially or in a business capacity. The Times has grown to be a great power in the land by reason of its bold assaults on the Tammany Ring, and supplanting the Tribune as the leading republican paper in the country, is prospering, ably edited and signally successful financially. A reference to the advertising columns of the Times and the Tribune shows that it is not policy to be dishonest even in the dirty sea of politics.

The Beecher scandal has broken out afresh. Theo. Tilton's letter to the Brooklyn Eagle revived it and E. H. G. Clarke's Thunderbolt is in everybody's possession. "Why is Beecher silent?" is the general query. A denial of his alleged guilt would please his most partisan defenders. Clarke's report of Beecher's conduct differs from that of Mrs. Woodhull in that she makes Mrs. Tilton a victim while he states she refused to become "to all intents and purposes" Beecher's wife. The silence of Mr. and Mrs. Tilton as to the true story may be suggestive or not. They may be shielding a friend from exposure—but at what a fearful cost to Mrs. Tilton's good name!

We journeyed to Brooklyn this morning, the Mecca of Sunday pilgrims, to hear the much abused preacher of Plymouth church. Every seat is occupied every Sabbath, whether raining or not. It is a goodly sight to see and the congregational singing is a goodly sound to hear, rolling up a volume of music that causes quartet singing to fade into insignificance. Two things were not especially enjoyable—the tediously long prayer and the incessant "barking" of one in ten of the hearers. If ever an assemblage of ladies and gentlemen needed an inexhaustible supply of Pulmocine, that audience did!

Beecher is droll, besides being eloquent. He never loses an opportunity to make a point by gesture or manner. His remarks on reading a notice handed in, illustrate this well, and might have been deemed irreverent had any one else been responsible for their utterance. He proceeded in this style: "I do wish people would remember that I am growing old. When they write notices for me to read they should use ink and not colored water!" (Sensation.) He then read a notice for a "donation reception," slowly, syllable by syllable, interjecting an occasional query or remark which stirred the risibles of his audience. The closing sentence read, "Further particulars will be furnished elsewhere," to which he added a fervent "Thank God!" The audience laughed heartily and Mr. Beecher had broken the ice, placed himself in sympathy with them. The baptism of a score of infants, mostly "young lady babies," gave him opportunity for further remarks of a conversational character, and when he commenced his discourse all were ready to listen.

Mr. Beecher has a custom of answering publicly enquiries naturally occuring to his parishioners and communicated to him by letter. This time he replied to the query of a lady who desired maternity, but as the teachings of some religionists made her fearful that the chances were as one hundred to one that her children might be lost, she would not risk bringing them into this life! He said he had the same thoughts—as did nearly every Christian father and mother in Christendom. Did he believe the doctrine, nothing on earth would tempt him to marry. Believing differently, he sought to remove the doubts and fears. However true, he said, that nearly every child was born in ignorance; that fathers and mothers did not know themselves; that the followers of Calvin supported the doctrine of responsibility,—he believed that the Father of all was wiser than all, and our wisest men for a thousand years had settled on the idea that for twenty-one years the child was not directly responsible. Mothers asked of the fate of their children, some dying at four, others at eight, twelve and fifteen. God was less vengeful, more merciful than man, and he would "trust to His wisdom and mercy." Following the matter closely, it seemed a specious plea for the safety of children from the damnations of Calvin—but with the well known liberalism of Henry Ward Beecher, it was not difficult to discern that he purposely left unanswered the question of responsibility for older persons, as he dwelt especially on the way "the twig is bent" when evil parents teach their children evil from earliest childhood. Mr. Beecher has been charged with holding the "advanced ideas" of the Woodhull on sturpiculture and its contigent moralism. His appeal to the young to allow their parents to consider with them the possible injury to themselves in selecting partners for life, while he abhorred the practice of marrying for money, and advocated the idea of "earning all you spend,"—together with the assertion that he believed "in first love—if it lasted long enough to be seen a second time,"—is evidence that the great apostle of large-heartedness, good morals and brotherly love, though he may not agree as is charged with Mrs. Woodhull in all her notions, is evidently in sympathy with some of the measures she advocates and which she prophetically claims will yet stir this continent in a "social revolution." The importance of Mr. Beecher's guilt or innocence of the charges she so boldly makes, is far less in its personal relations than his belief. As effect follows cause, and as some impelling power would be necessary to cause Mr. Beecher to descend from his high morality, and as he studiously avoids denial of the charges of guilt, the public are directly interested in the matter only as it is to guide the future course of society—and as a nation's progress or the reverse is shown by its leaders, we look to Mr. Beecher's utterances for the inspiration of his acts, and thereby must glean the truth from the belief of a representative man powerful for good or evil, but still powerful!

Evidence is said to have come to light in Hartford that Edwin Noyes, the Bank of England forger, is identical with Edward Hill, who was concerned in a bank forgery and horse stealing case in Worcester, Mass., with Michael McDonald, now in the Connecticut State Prison. Noyes was once a music teacher in East Hartford, and is very respectably connected.

A dispatch received from Yreka, Cal., says Wm. Hathaway, an army packer, brings late news from the camp, having started twelve hours after the regular courier. Donald McKay's Warm Spring scouts found the Modocs in the lava beds four miles south of their old strongbold, near the foot of the Snow Mountains, where they are strongly intrenched.

The New Haven Paladium says: "a Meriden clergyman, not having a Bible handy, took Barnum's show for a text and preached a capital puff of the concern, under the guise of a sermon. Some portions of the exhibition he denounced, considering the female riders "disgusting," and predicting that the gentleman who surrounds his wife with a frame of knives will some day miss his mark and bring the plucky woman to grief. But he pronounced the menagerie good and edifying, and gave a high moral character to the sea lions and other beasts. If Mr. Barnum is desirous of securing the services of a chaplain to look after the spiritual welfare of the canoibals, he will know where to find one."

They must have been a bright set of men who composed a Chicago jury last week. A burglar was on trial, and when the Judge gave the case to the jury he said that a sealed verdict might be delivered. At eight o'clock the Judge returned to Court to discharge the jury if they agreed, but they failed to do so. When the Court opened the next moring, however, they came in with a verdict of acquittal. The State's attorney considered this verdict so utterly at variance with the evidence that he demanded that the jury should be polled, whereupon nine of the twelve believed the prisoner guilty, but had been so tired by the obstinacy of the other three that they had agreed to acquit him. The jury were at once sent back to reconsider the case, and in one hour returned with a verdict of guilty, fixing the punishment—a part of a jury's duty in Illinois—at one year's imprisonment in the Penitentiary

The St John (N. B.) Globe relates the following: "Recently the papers reported that there had been pistol firing at a hotel in this city. The day after the occurrence a popular physician was stopped at his office door by a person who quietly said, "I would like to speak to you a moment, sir.' 'Walk in,' said the medical man, 'and take a seat.' The stranger did as he was bid, then removing his hat, said in the coolest manner possible; 'there was a shot fired last night, and I think there is a bullet in my head.' The doctor looked, and sure enough there was a pistol bullet found in the skull, and as firmly embedded as if it had been encased in stone. It was quite a trouble to remove it. This accomplished, the man walked off as cooly as he had come in. He evidently had a narrow escape with his life."

A British man-of-war has been sent to Zanzibar, to suppress the slave trade. France supports England in the attempt to destroy the traffic in human flesh.

The people of Hartford, Connecticut, were alarmed on Friday night by hearing a loud report, which came from a distance, and caused a sort of trembling of the earth for a moment or so. The cause was a heavy explosion of a double wheeling powder mill at Hazardville. The building contained about 400 pounds of powder, and was entirely destroyed, not even the frame being left standing as is ordinarily the case. An eight-inch shafting was broken short off by the force of the explosion. Fortunately no one was injured. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

Dr. Hayes' statement concerning the Polaris expedition was exaggerated in the first acount, as he only suggested the possibility of Capt. Hall's having been put to death by his men.

Joseph Ormsby, of the firm of Ormsby & Co., manufacturing jewelers, was robbed, Monday morning, of his carpet bag containing $15,000 worth of ring and pin jewelry, diamonds, etc., at the Osborne House, Rochester, N. Y. The thief escaped. The bag was in the custody of the proprietors of the hotel and was delivered to the thief by a clerk through mistake. It was some time before the mistake was discovered.

Some funny man circulated a report in New York, Sunday, that Gov. Dix had dropped dead from apoplexy, and several ministers announced the sad news from their pulpits. That funny individual should be kicked in the proper place.

The coronation of the king and queen of Sweden and Norway took place May 12, with imposing ceremonies and great rejoicing.

Four soldiers were killed and six wounded, and one Warm Spring Indian killed and one wounded, in the last fight with the Modocs.

Three more bodies have been discovered on the grounds of the Bender family, at Cherryvale, Kansas. The excitement is intense, as might be expected.

SYMPATHY AS A BUSINESS.—A Vienna paper relates an amusing incident which occurred to a great lady just recovered from a long and severe illness. Seated in her boudoir, she was looking over the cards of condolence that had been left for her while sick. Among the names of counts, barons and other aristocratic sympathizers, emblazoned with coronets and coats-of-arms, she came across a simple card with the plain inscription of "Hermann Berger." In vain the lady asked who Hermann Berger was. None of her servants could give her any other information than that the individual had been a remarkably handsome young man. The lady's curiosity was excited, and she gave orders to admit the person in case he should call again. The order was punctually obeyed, and on the next day she received a really charming young man dressed in exquisite style, who evidently appeared greatly embarrassed at the honor of a tete-a-tete with a still charming, though somewhat faded beauty. "I can hardly find words," said the lady with a blush, "to thank you for the sympathy you have manifested for a stranger." "I beg your pardon, gracious lady," stammered the dandy, "but I am the agent of Messrs. A. B., the undertakers!"

—There was a desire on the part of the teacher to make a scholar understand what conscience is. She said, "What makes you feel bad when you have done wrong?" "My pap," said the youth, feelingly.

MRS. HARRIET BEECHER STOWE, after a residence of some years in Paris, and a thorough trial of foreign articles, writes as follows in commendation of W. Baker & Co's preparation:—

PURGATION AND PROSTRATION. Let us rejoice that the absurd and paradoxical idea that sick people could be restored to health and strength by violent cathartic treatment has been pretty generally exploded. If there are still to be found any medical dogmatists who believe such practice, the sooner their sands of life are run out the better it will be for their patients. A more rational mode of dealing with human ailments was inaugurated some twenty years ago when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters were introduced, and that powerful vegetable invigorant began its triumphal progress to universal popularity. The world now understands the importance of strengthening, refreshing and regulating, as well as purging the disordered system, and is aware that all these processes go on together under the fourfold operation of the Standard Restorative of the age. Prepare the system for the debilitating heat of summer with this vitalizing specific.

"Blessed are the Merciful."

We witnessed a little incident, Monday evening, which interested us considerably and gave us a high opinion of the principal actor's humanity to dumb brutes, tho' we don't consider him very choice in his selection of expressions, when he's mad. It was just at dark, and we were rounding the corner of the North church; a burly young man, evidently a farmer, in a wagon, drove rapidly around the corner in the opposite direction, and at that moment two small dogs, engaged in a game of rough-and-tumble skylarking, threw themselves down directly in front of the wheels of the farmer's wagon, and so close that we thought they could not possibly escape being run over. A vigorous pull of one rein caused the horse to sheer out just enough to save the little dogs, and a sharp "Whoa!" simultaneous with the pull on the rein, brought the well-trained animal almost on his haunches. The small dogs sloped, and the irate wagoner apostrophised them after this fashion: "There! you (adjective) fools! You'll be gettin' your (two big adjectives) necks broke one o' these days, if you don't look out; or some other (adjective) fool will be a breakin' his (adjective) neck to save yourn. Go 'long, Jake; what are you standin' here for?" And away he went in the darkness. There was nothing wonderful in all this, although we think the young farmer mightoasily have selected better expressions than he did; yet taken in connection with his previous action, his indignant remonstrance to the dogs, plentifully garnished with profanity though it was seemed to us much more like a Christian's prayer than some petitions we have heard offered up in churches.

The Ideal Policeman.

The editor of the Springfield (Ohio) Republic, in answering a suggestion of the mayor of that place to the effect that the machinery of the law should be set in motion primarily by private citizens, expresses our ideas on the subject exactly, (only more so,) as follows:

Our idea of an officer of the law is an aggressive sort of a man who is on the lookout for law-breakers, and with a policeman's club in his hand for use, hits a head wherever he can find it, and when he can't find it, ferrets it out and then hits it!

That's it, exactly; that sentence combines poetry and good, sound common sense in an unusual degree. The policeman's first duty is to protect good citizens, at all hazards to the law-breakers; after the good citizens are protected is plenty time enough to pick up the pieces of the law-breakers. We possess none of that scoundrel-admiring sentimentality which always sympathises with law-breakers in every squabble with the police, and considers it the primary duty of a policeman to look out that the law-breakers' "rights" are not trespassed upon. After the law-breaker is effectually squelched is soon enough to enquire whether or no he has any rights left which a law-observer or law-enforcer is bound to respect. The police of this city cannot justly be found fault with for not doing their duty in enforcing respect for the laws and the rights of the law-observing public upon the would-be law-breakers; and to the fact that our police know their duty in this respect, and do it pretty well, we are largely indebted for the generally quiet character of our city.

State News.

The Monitor announces the death of Jacob Wright of Washington, aged 85 years. He was a soldier of the war of 1812, and did good service along the Canada line. At Bridgewater his company went in with 100 men and came out with but 11 unhurt.

Senator Chandler, of Michigan, has been on a visit to Bedford, where he still owns and runs the paternal farm. Forty years ago he was clerk in a grocery store in Nashua.

Littleton has voted $2500 for engines and appliances to protect the village from fire.

Charles W. Hartshorn of Littleton and Mr. Walcott of Conway have leased the new "Fabyan" hotel, near the Mount Washington road, and will get it ready in season for the summer travel.

The first death which has occurred at Tilden Seminary since its opening in 1855 took place a few days since—that of Miss Carrie Beckwith of North Granville, N. Y., aged 19 years.

The Pittsburg Star says that the sum of $200 has been contributed in Manchester for the relief of Eld. Joseph Harvey of that town, whose premises were recently burned. It was raised by John C. French, Esq., who started the paper with $20, and was followed by Gov. Straw and Ex-Gov. Weston with the same amounts, each. Elder Harvey, says the Star, has attended 1800 funerals during his ministry.

Ex-Senator Patterson sailed for Europe on Saturday.

President Grant will visit Manchester in July, as the guest of Ex.-Gov. Smyth.

Gov. Julius Converse, of Vermont, and Miss Jennie Martin of Woodstock, Vt., formerly of Stratford in this State, were married in Columbia by Rev. Mr. Tewksbury of Gorham, Monday night.

The house, stable and outbuildings of Mr. Benjamin Soule in Milford were burned on Saturday last. Loss about $3000.

Snow fell to the depth of two feet on Mount Kearsarge, Saturday, May 3d.

As the down train over the Sugar River Railroad was passing the saw mill above the Newbury deep cut, a small child was discovered on the track a short distance ahead. Down brakes were whistled three times, and the speed of the train slackened sufficiently to enable Engineer Albert Pillsbury to reach the front of his engine and snatch the child from the track just before the engine reached it. The child was about a year and a half old, and had wandered on to the track from a house near by. The frantic mother running to the rescue of her child, attracted the attention of the engineer. It was a heroic act on the part of Engineer Pillsbury, which cannot be too highly commended, and shows him to be a man of remarkable self-possession and nerve.—Monitor.

LOOK OUT.—A woman with two children, a boy and a girl, has been for some two or three months an occasional applicant for aid from members of the Masonic fraternity, claiming to be the widow of a member of the craft, formerly residing in Maine and subsequently in the West. From her various "styles" there is some reason to question the truth of her stories, as told in different parts of the country; and the brethren should be on their guard. She was in town yesterday, and is, perhaps, still here.—Manchester Union.

Brainard's Musical World for May contains three choice pieces of music which, if purchased separately, would cost more than the subscription price of the World a year. The music consists of a beautiful new song and chorus, entitled "Summer Stars," and two brilliant piano pieces by Strauss. $1.00 per annum. The publishers offer to send their large "Descriptive Catalogue of new and popular music," free to any one on application. Address S. Brainard's Sons, Cleveland, O.

—Talk about men losing their senses when they are drunk; it is not always the case, for some men are all the sharper when they are about so full. A man by the name of Hanafran, in Detroit, lately applied to the station house in that city to be locked up. The Sergeant appeared a trifle surprised at the request, and proceeded to interview him on the subject. "Its all right, old man, I know my biz. When I'm drunk, the old woman can handle me like a child, but I can whollop blazes out of her when I'm sober. Lock me up, for I'm on it ter night, an' the old woman is waiting for me to come home. Turn on the bolts! old man." They were turned on.

—The epitaphs of Dakota papers are pathetic. Jim Barritt had been shovelling snow, from which he caught a bad cold that turned into fever. The fever settled Jim's mundane affairs, and a local paper says, most affectingly, in his obituary, "He won't have to shovel snow in the country where he has gone."

—"Lucy" writes from Brooklyn to say that she don't object to a good-looking gentleman gazing square in her face, but that it does make her awful mad, when she looks back, to see him staring back too.

—"Pretty bad under foot to-day," said one citizen to another, as they met in the street. "Yes, but it's fine overhead," responded the other. "True enough," said the first, "but then very few are going that way."

—The fellow who was told that the best cure for palpitation of the heart was to stop hugging and kissing the girls, said: "If that is the only remedy which can be proposed, I say let her palpitate."

The Chronicle.

CALIFORNIA JOE.—During the Rebellion, one of the characters brought to light, and who gained quite a national celebrity, was "California Joe," one of Berden's sharpshooters. Joe, after the war, returned to California, and has since been leading a quiet, unobtrusive life in the country, forgotten by almost every one, because a man, now-a-days, must keep himself before the people if he desires to be remembered. We are making history too fast to look back and scan the pages written a few years ago.

Yesterday morning, while going to Oakland, one of our reporters observed a little, stoop-shouldered, grizzly-haired, sharp-eyed man, of perhaps fifty years of age, who carried in his hand a heavy rifle, in the barrel of which was the ramrod used for cleaning the gun. There was something in the appearance of the man that caused our reporter to address him. A conversation ensued, of which we shall give the reader the substance.

"Well, you see, I'm old California Joe, and hain't bin doing much for a long time, and hev bin gittin rusty like. I hain't smelt blood nor had a fight of any description for so long that I really don't know that I am fit for anything, but you see these Modocs have been playing a very rough game onto the people of the North. They is good fighters, and as mean Injines as ever was seen, and I sorter think a few ov their skelps would ornament my cabin. I haint got narry Modoc skelp, and you know my collection won't be complete unless I can get som Modoc har to hang alongside the other kinds. So you see I'm going to the lava beds to take a hand in the little game that is being played thar. May be you will hear the result of Joe's rifle, and may be the red-skins will lift my har, but one thing is certain, I am going to give them a chance."

The boat reached the opposite shore, and bidding the old man good bye, with plenty of luck, we saw him enter a car and disappear from view.—Alta California.

KEEPING WORK AHEAD.—Though most farmers and gardeners know well the value of starting early in their war against weeds, the importance of the task is very apt to be forgotten in the hurry of spring-work. We scarcely need give the advice, as advice, but a suggestion is always encouraging, and the more so when we know it to be true.

The great trouble with most of us is that we lay out too much work for ourselves to do. We get a great many things half done, and work twice as hard as need be, when the same amount of labor judiciously expended would have a threefold result. This is just how it is in the war against weeds.

We are so accustomed to get into a "flurry" about getting in the crops in time that we forget the weed-crop is already in, and going on at a rapid pace. We have not infrequently seen the greatest exertion in getting in seed or plants that would have done just as well a week later, when the same time in harrowing or weeding ground, would have been equal to four times the time at a later period. These remarks of course apply more to garden than to farm-work. Where horse-power is at hand, weeds half an inch high, if annual weeds, are as easily destroyed by a broad-toothed cultivator, as if they were but just pushing through the ground; but in garden-work a simple raking of the ground when the weeds are just sprouting is quite as effective as the best hoeing would be. An hour or two raking of a garden between the rows of the various crops, will in fact almost render hoeing unnecessary, and thus save many a hard day's work.—Germantown Telegraph.

A PRINCE OF THE PRESS.—The London papers contains a notice of the rejoicings at the country seat of Mr. Walter, of the London Times, consequent upon the marriage of his eldest surviving son. Bearwood, the superb abode of this prince of the press, is in the royal county of Berks, and not many miles from Windsor. The young lady who has married the heir of this goodly heritage comes of a distinguished ancestry, being the daughter of a clergyman, Mr. Axson, first cousin of the Earl of Litchfield. Her parents having married on slender means, and having resolved, as their family increased, to give their children the best of education, had the rare courage to resort to a course which were it more general, we should less often hear the wail of general pauperism, more especially on the part of impecunious clergy. They dismissed all their servants and with the exception of the occasional help from the village the family did its own work, and Mrs. Axson herself, the daughter of a Colonel in the Guards, of ancient family, thought no more of cooking a dinner than a Fifth avenue fine lady does of going to a ball. This wise conduct won the admiration and respect of every one, and there are not a few wealthy young men who would prefer a wife from such a home to the spoilt fal-lal darlings with which ball rooms do most abound.

The French Catholic Church at Nashua will be dedicated, on the 8th of June by Bishop Bacon of Portland.

George Crouch, an Erie lawyer, and S. L. M. Barlow, had a fight in Barlaw's office in New York on Tuesday. Faces were scratched, eyes blackened and coats torn, but no lives were lost.

The Association of the Army of the Potomac, the National Encampment of the G. A. R., and other military associations, met in New Haven, Conn., on the 13th.

A portion of Boss Tweed's property, in New York, will be sold in a few days, to satisfy a mortgage of $300,000.

The Louisiana war seems to be ended.—for the present. Col. De Blanc, generalissimo of the forces of McEnery and his prime minister, Warmoth, has disbanded his troops and surrendered himself on parole. The United States troops which went to St. Martinsville to enforce the decrees of the courts, have nearly all returned to New Orleans.

An exchange says the young ladies of Vassar have formed an "anti-falling-in-love-etc-you-are-out-of-school-club." Don't believe a word of it; 'tisn't their style.

The father of the late James Brooks of New York was a native of England, and for many years sailed from Portland, Me., a ship master. In June, 1814, he sailed from Portland in command of the private armed sloop Yankee, and neither vessel nor crew returned or were heard of at any port.

Madame Loyson, the wife of "Pere" Hyacinth, has made him a father in sober earnest, having presented him with a son.

The thunder-squall of Tuesday afternoon extended as far west as New York, and did considerable damage to chimneys, etc., in various places. During the squall a little steamer, the "Hope," belonging to Bellevue hospital and manned by six men, was ran down and sunk by steamer Americus, at Hell Gate, and four of her crew were drowned.

Barnum's big show had over 15,000 visitors, besides "complimentaries," on Tuesday evening, at Boston. Four or five thousand people were turned away, as the seating facilities were insufficient to accommodate them.

The beer bottlers of Boston had a meeting Tuesday evening, to discuss action concerning the prohibitory law.

Boston had a heavy wind-and-thunder squall, Tuesday afternoon, and the menagerie pavilion of Barnum's big show was blown down. There was quite a panic among the thousands in the hippodrome, but the big tent stood the squall well and no one was hurt. After the gale was over the performance was finished as usual.

The two hundreth anniversary of the town of Dunstable, of which Nashua formed a part, occurs in October, and it has been proposed to celebrate the event in an appropriate manner. The Mayor of Nashua called a meeting of citizens to take action upon the subject.

Mr. Frank H. Carlton, of Newport, of the class of '72, Dartmouth, has taken a position as local editor of the St. Paul (Minn.,) Press, the leading republican organ of the Northwest. The daily Journal, of that city says he is "a good fellow personally, shows a lively quill and is not afraid of work."

Among the members of the forty-second Congress who have returned their back pay and did not do so when members of the thirty-ninth Congress, are Senators Sumner, Wilson, Sherman and Morrill of Vermont, and Congressmen Marshall, Farnsworth and Garfield. The increase then was one-sixth proportionately greater, while no reduction was made in mileage for that Congress though the salary bill legislated that members of the fortieth Congress should receive but twenty instead of forty cents per mile. A prominent official, who was Senator in the last Congress, says he has no back pay to return, and thinks the members who drew weeks before their conscience accused them enough to refund, do not honor their credit as members of the national councils. Mr. Randall of Pennsylvania, a member of the conference committee which reported it, says he paid debts with his.

Hon. Peter Balen of New Jersey has been elected President of the American and Foreign Bible Society, located at 150 Nassau St., New York. This society has translated the scriptures into fourty-four languages and circulated about four millions of copies in this and other countries, since its organization in 1836.

Hon. N. A. Farwell, of Rockland, a prominent candidate for the governorship of Maine, has withdrawn in favor of Judge Kent, of Bangor, who was Governor in 1840.

The body of Thomas Pitman, 55 years old, formerly a letter carrier of Providence, missing for a fortnight, was found by fishermen floated ashore at Sassafras Point, three miles below Providence, Tuesday morning.

The Modoc War.

San Francisco dispatches contain intelligence, brought by couriers, from the front of the last engagement with the Modocs. Captain Hasbrouck reports that his command was attacked very suddenly by 33 Modocs, headed by Captain Jack, who wore the uniform of General Canby. Four soldiers and one Warm Spring Indian were killed, and six soldiers and a Warm Spring Indian were wounded. After the first fire of the Modocs Captain Hasbrouck rallied his men and charged upon them in a body. The Modocs retreated under the charge and were driven into the woods, scattering in all directions. Several volleys were fired upon them, but it is not known whether any were killed. The troops succeeded in capturing twenty-five horses belonging to the Modocs and six boxes of carbine cartridges which had been captured by the Indians a short time ago while being sent to the front. When the last courier left General Davis's camp the troops were between the Lava Beds and the Modocs, and the Modocs were out of their lava stronghold. The artillery will be moved to the side of the lake to prevent the Modocs from returning to the Lava Beds, and the balance of the troops will immediately follow and exterminate them. It is the opinion of Captain Hasbrouck that the Modocs are almost entirely out of ammunition. There is a strong suspicion in San Francisco that they are receiving aid from outside parties.

The New York Supreme Court, general term, has granted a writ of error in the case of Edward S. Stokes, upon a stipulation by the defence to take the case at once to the Court of Appeals. As that court is now in session, it will be unnecessary to re-sentence him.

On Tuesday, three workmen were killed and one badly injured by the fall of a staging on which they were at work, at Macon, Ga., an engineer and fireman were killed by a railroad smashup in Missouri and three men were killed by the fall of a stable floor in New York.

Another Horror.

There was a terrible explosion of gas in a coalmine at Pictou, N. S., on Tuesday. The mine had been closed for several days, owing to a strike, but all differences had been settled and the miners went to work Tuesday morning. At about half-past 11 o'clock in the forenoon a shot in the coal set fire to the slope, and soon afterward the gas which had been accumulating while the mine was closed, exploded with immense force. Soon after the explosion cries were heard at the foot of the air-shaft; men were lowered with ropes, and four of those below were brought up, but at about 2 o'clock a second explosion took place, coming up the air-shaft with terrible force, and it is supposed killing every person in the mine, including two men who were going down the shaft at the time to render assistance to those below if possible, and who were blown to pieces by the explosion. The second explosion cut off all hope of the escape of any one in the burning mine. The number of lives lost is estimated at from forty to one hundred, many of the miners lost being married men with families. The loss of property will be immense.

The "Dollar Store" at Manchester, kept by Brown Brothers, recently of this city, was entered by thieves on Sunday evening last and some $70 worth of goods stolen. John Mahan, one of the thieves, was arrested and bound over for trial.

Some scoundrels in Plymouth recently girdled a lot of fruit trees, belonging to several residents, and smeared several houses with black paint or tar; but the greatest mischief was done at William Hill's marble shop, the monuments standing on the platform in front of the shop being covered with paint, causing to him a loss of about $900. The outrage is supposed to have been perpetrated on account of trouble arising from the enforcement of the liquor law.

J. M. Mears, of Peterborough, killed a black snake on his farm on the 6th which measured 5 feet 4 1-2 inches in length, and George Tenney, of Goffstown, while out in search of May flowers, on the 4th, killed eleven black snakes, varying from two to six feet in length.

At Amherst, Tuesday, the jury returned a verdict in the famous Felt vs. Vose case, which has been on trial a week. The suit was to recover for pine trees claimed to have been cut on the land owned by the plaintiff in Peterboro'; the bounds of the land owned by the parties being the question. Verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $129, about one-third the amount claimed. The suit has been twice tried before. The first time the jury disagreed. The second trial resulted in a verdict for the defendant; and now, upon a review which is final the plaintiff is successful.

The annual May Festival of the Unitarian Society was a success in equal degree with past years. The handiwork, refreshments and music presented like attractions, and the gross cash receipts of the day and evening amounted to $557, and the net earnings to $411.—News-Letter.

Matters in Kittery.

KITTERY POINT, ME., May 13.

Messrs. Editors:—The Pepperrell Hotel erected at this Point last year, and so well patronized during the summer months, will be opened again for the season about the fifteenth of June next. The grounds about the building are being improved and will add greatly to the attractiveness of the place. The situation of this hotel is one of the finest on the coast, for beauty and variety of scenery, cool and healthy air during the Summer months, for opportunities for boating, fishing, bathing, &c. Those interested in antiquity will find many mementoes of former greatness and much of historic interest connected with this ancient town, while those who court retirement, and seek health will surely find the former, and probably the latter. From the favorable reports that went out from this hotel last season, and the number of rooms already engaged for the approaching season, we predict for our friend Safford that success in his new enterprise to which he is entitled for his courage in taking hold of the business, as well as for the outlay of means.

We understand that Mr. C. L. Duncan is making arrangements to run a steam launch between Portsmouth and Kittery Point this summer, touching at Kittery, Newcastle and the islands in the harbor when desired, for the accommodation of those having business, as well as those who "are on pleasure bats," and we learn that his fare is to be very low for the trip, that those who have a "frugal mind" can avail themselves of the pleasure of an excursion down the harbor on the steam launch instead of the more expensive and uncertain one on a sail boat. He intends to make the trip every two hours, and will arrange to tow a barge for the accommodation of chowder parties, picnics, &c. His experience in managing boats and machinery, as well as his general character recommends him as a man thoroughly adapted to such a business and we heartily wish him good success.

U. S. Circuit Court.

Mrs. Hannah Wood, of Keene, was on trial, Wednesday, charged with attempting to defraud her creditors by secreting $1000 worth of property, when she went into bankruptcy. She claims that the goods were properly made over to her son, for debt, before she took steps towards going into bankruptcy.

DON'T buy a bottle of Bitters, unless you need it. But if you need a mild and gentle stimulant, be sure and get "SONOMA WINE BITTERS." PURGATION AND PROSTRATION. Let us rejoice that the absurd and paradoxical idea that sick people could be restored to health and strength by violent cathartic treatment has been pretty generally exploded. If there are still to be found any medical dogmatists who believe such practice, the sooner their sands of life are run out the better it will be for their patients. A more rational mode of dealing with human ailments was inaugurated some twenty years ago when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters were introduced, and that powerful vegetable invigorant began its triumphal progress to universal popularity. The world now understands the importance of strengthening, refreshing and regulating, as well as purging the disordered system, and is aware that all these processes go on together under the fourfold operation of the Standard Restorative of the age. Prepare the system for the debilitating heat of summer with this vitalizing specific.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Memorial Day.

As in years past, the 30th day of May will be observed, this year, as a day for decorating with flowers the graves of the heroes who died for the Union during the war of the rebellion, and in other ways doing honor to their memories. Storer Encampment, G. A. R., of this city, has placed the following named Comrades on the several committees for making arrangements for the observances of the day:—

On Programme: R. E. Rich, D. J. Vaughan, J. A. Sanborn, W. C. Coleman, W. H. Lovell, J. H. Locke, M. E. Long.

On Location of Graves: Chas. Cummings, John Moore, Emanuel Charlesworth, E. H. Leslie, W. H. Lovell, Jas. Moore, James Afferson, Daniel Danielson.

On Preparation of Flowers: D. W. Barnabee, E. A. Tilton, Thomas White, J. W. Parsons, B. Dearborn, J. H. Haddock, A. M. Lang.

Any person having knowledge of the location of the grave of any soldier or sailor which has heretofore been overlooked, will confer a favor by giving information thereof to any of the above committee.

That Doctor's Bill.

Messrs. Editors:—I see by your reports of the doings of the Board of Aldermen, that Dr. Whittier's bill for attendance on small-pox patients was cut down from $1349.50 to $964.50, by the Board; and that a petition sent in by the doctor, explaining the items of his bill in detail and asking for its payment in full, was laid on the table. Dr. Whittier explained that his charge for each visit to a small-pox patient was $10, which I believe is the usual charge of physicians in this vicinity, for such service; in fact, I know that several doctors make such a charge, and will not attend such cases for less, as their general practice suffers in consequence, and no precautions can be taken which will entirely do away with the physician's risk of contracting the disease himself or communicating it to his family or his other patients. Our board of health should receive all due credit for their success in preventing a small-pox epidemic in this city; quite a number of bad cases of the disease were imported, and in several instances many persons were exposed to contagion before the health officers were aware of the presence of the disease, notwithstanding which they managed to confine it in very narrow quarters in every instance. Plenty of people were frightened enough, however, and I heard no one complain during the prevalence of the disease, that the health officers were doing too much or taking too many precautions, or going to too much expense to prevent its spread; on the contrary, I did hear many enquiries as to why the board of health didn't do more than than they were doing. That the health officers did their duty efficiently and successfully cannot be disputed; and if (as I am satisfied is the case) Dr. Whittier's bill is based on a reasonable and usual scale of charges, it is unjust to refuse payment of it, when the work for which pay is claimed was so well and faithfully done. The Board of Aldermen devote liberal sums to matters of a day,—the reception of the Sons, for instance; this is all right, and I would not have it otherwise, if I could; but the health of the city, year in and year out, is of far more importance than any one day's performance can be, and the bills of the city physician, if he does his duty well and makes only the regular professional charges, should be paid promptly and without demur. FAIR PLAY.

Laconics.

An ex Alderman of Portsmouth, recently appointed Justice of the Peace announces that he has $5 to invest in the first couple who will call upon him to marry them. He wants the privilege of marrying somebody, provided (we presume) he be allowed to kiss the bride.

"Sidney" writes from Portland to the Boston Journal that "the City Marshal has inaugurated a good work, that of clearing the sidewalks and corners of loafers. It ought to be a permanent thing." Any person who threads a devious way along our loafer-crowded sidewalks in the evening, will be inclined to pray for the complete success of the Portland official, and that his "good work" may be imitated and successfully carried out in this city.

The body of an unknown man, much disfigured by fishes, was found on the river bank in Newington, near the ruins of the old Piscataqua bridge at Fox Point, on Tuesday morning. The remains were buried by the town authorities of Newington.

Mr. John Hickey, an employee of Messrs. Mathes & Foor at Star Island, was caught in the thunder storm of Tuesday while on his way to this city in a whale boat carrying two sails. The boat was capsized and sunk, but Mr. Hickey clung to a floating mast until picked up by two men who witnessed the accident.

The U. S. supply steamer Tallapoosa arrived at the Navy Yard at noon, Wednesday, from Washington and Charlestown. Second Assistant Engineer James G. Little is transferred from the relief steamer Mayflower, at this station, to the Tallapoosa.

George Everett Moulton, aged 13 years, son of David Moulton, Esq., of York, was severely hurt on Thursday by being kicked in the face by a horse. The wounds are not dangerous, but will probably leave some scars.

Mr. Frank Merrill, brother of Mr. A. F. Merrill, formerly of this city, recently had a thumb sawed off at the second joint and the first and second fingers between the first and second joints of the left hand, by a circular saw at Bangor.

It is to be hoped that summer will come along by 1874.

Captain Hall.

A gentleman formerly connected with the British consulate in New York says at sea Captain Hall was known to be of a very obstinate disposition, and was considered a rigid martinet. He was bound to achieve his end at any and all risks, and without consulting the feelings of those under him. A brave man to recklessness, he rarely weighed consequences and felt that everybody must share his own sanguine enthusiasm. This disposition would account for his quarrel with Captain Buddington, his sailing-master, at Upernavik, which was only settled by the captain of the United States transport. The gentleman volunteered the following information which had come to his knowledge in his official capacity at the consulate,—namely, that on his last Arctic voyage Captain Hall had shipped two Englishmen. Before reaching Newfoundland these two men became a little rusty. They were afraid of the voyage and they went into Captain Hall's cabin and told him so. "Now, men," he said, "I have treated you well up to the present and mean to treat you well to the end, but come with me you must now; you have signed articles." The two men went to work a little mollified, but still dissatisfied. Two weeks after, one of them refused to work any longer, and Captain Hall drawing his revolver shot him dead.

Morning Chronicle.

A CURIOUS CUSTOM.—The rectory of Falmouth, a town in Cornwall, England, about fourteen miles from Lizard Point, was recently put up for sale. Many of the livings of the Church of England, as by law established, are the gift of the landed proprietors, and they have the right to appoint any ministers whom they may choose, to become pastors of the Christian flock. When a pastor becomes stricken in years, and the owner of a living wants to raise money, he can sell to the highest bidder the right to appoint a successor. The living—that is, the spiritual charge of the people of the parish—is put up at auction just like a horse or an easy chair.

The rectory of Falmouth is worth about £1,700, or nearly $10,000 a year. The incumbent is in his seventy-seventh year, and the income of the church property is constantly increasing. Charles II. gave "the parson of the parish and his successors for ever" the right to a portion of the earnings of the inhabitants of the town, in the shape of a tax of about thirty-five cents a year on all houses, shops, warehouses, cellars and outhouses then in existence or thereafter to be built. Besides this, there are tithes and surplice fees, and what is known as the Black Rock Beacon dues, consisting of fifty cents on every coasting vessel, and over sixty cents on every other vessel which shall pass the beacon. The town thought of trying to buy the rectory, and thus free itself in part from these imposts; but high legal authorities have decided that they can never be got rid of.

At the recent auction the sale was started at about $30,000 and rose by slow bids to $45,000. The auctioneer urged the value of the income and the extreme age of the incumbent, dwelling on the probability of his soon dying, but all in vain. "Very well, then," said the auctioneer, "my clients reserve the right of making the bidding £10,000."

So the right to appoint a man to save the souls of the people of Falmouth was bought in, and likewise the right to levy rates on an angry populace and curising ship-masters in the name of the church.

—A New York correspondent says: Did you ever hear a story told of Train at the Jerome Park? He had made several bets on a certain day, and in each case had bet on the wrong horse. His ill luck or bad judgment, as the tale runs, irritated him so much that, being on the gentlemen's stand, he cried out, just as the races were closing, "I will bet $100 that I am the biggest fool in the United States. Who'll take me?" he inquired, looking about excitedly. "I will," said a quiet looking stranger standing near, and drawing out his pocket-book; "I'll go you $100 that you are not the biggest fool in this country, provided your name isn't George Francis Train."

The Chronicle.

COMBAT WITH A SHARK.—We had not long come into the roadstead at Madras when a circumstance occurred which I cannot help relating. There was a Lascar on our ship who was very expert in handling a catamaran, a kind of raft made of three sticks of wood lashed together, and used in the surf which in this place rolls in very heavily. This man had a little child, a boy of eight years, and while we lay here he would take this boy and show him how to handle a catamaran, it being his intention to bring up the lad to this pursuit.

Now it happened one morning that, going out very early, even before the day had sprung, the catamaran ran foul of a palm which was washing ashore, and overset, throwing the man and the boy into the water. The man rose easily enough, for he swam just like a duck, and made for the raft, which he had scarce reached when he saw a huge shark seize the child and make to sea with its prey.

The man, as may be supposed, was horrified at the sight, and for a moment dazed; but he soon recovered, and drawing a long knife which he carried in his commerbund, plunged after the shark. I was on the beach at the time, and saw the whole affair. The man disappeared, but rose again, the shark near him, and both apparently engaged in a desperate conflict. This lasted several minutes. The water then began to grow red; the man rose two or three times in quick succession, his knife still in his hand, and striking with great force and energy.

This lasted several seconds. Then the shark rose suddenly, and, throwing its huge form half way out of the sea, sank with a heavy plunge, dyeing the waters with a deep crimson as it disappeared. I looked now anxiously for the man, and seeing no sign of him, thought he had shared the fate of his adversary; but presently he came to the surface, and swam directly to the shore. He was very much exhausted, but his body was without a wound, a strange circumstance, seeing the danger he had encountered.

After he had rested I asked him to relate the particulars of his combat with the sea monster, which he did. He said that as he plunged into the water he saw the shark in the act of devouring the child; that he made toward it and gave it a stroke with his knife; that the shark turned and snapped at him; but he, diving, evaded its jaws and coming up under its belly gave it a stab, and the knife running along produced a wound over a yard in length, which, in short, made an end of the monster. On receiving this wound it raged about in a flurry for a few seconds, then careening on its side drifted at the mercy of the waves, a mere piece of lifeless matter.

Such was the story of this brave man's encounter. While we were talking, I heard a clamor among some of the Massvolah boatmen on the beach, and sent one of our men to learn its occasion. He came back with the tidings that the shark had come ashore and the men we heard proceeded from the natives, who were amazed at its size, which was indeed enormous, and the number of wounds it had received; on hearing this I proceeded toward the place where it was stranded, taking the Lascar with me, who had by this time thoroughly regained his energies.

We approached the monster. It lay on its side among a lot of sea-weed, the blood still oozing from the wounds with which its body was covered. The size, as I have observed, was surprising. I had seen sharks of large proportions, but they were small compared to this creature. I did not measure it carefully, but it was near 30 feet in length and as big round as the mainmast of our ship. It had made a bold defence, and was not conquered till its life gushed out of its numerous wounds.

After satisfying my curiosity, I had the monster opened, when a ghastly spectacle was presented. The child was found in the stomach, but utterly dismembered, the head being severed from the body, and the whole being so ground together as to be scarcely recognizable, I was greatly overcome at this melancholy sight; even the apathy of the Hindoo gave way, and as he gazed on the remains of his child, his sorrow burst forth in loud lamentations.

A TALE OF A TRUNK.—Bumps, the baggage man, had not made two trips before he could sling a satchel eleven rods, retaining both handles in his grasp. When gentle females would hand up their tender little baskets and satchels, Bumps would smile a diabolical smile, and get in the corner and jump on the articles and toss them up and kick them and fling them through the real space. And when the train stopped he would throw out a waterfall and toothbrush in answer to a call for check twenty-two. Husbands would strike at him and dare him out of his den, and call him a base fiend; but Bumps was solemn. He knew his line of business. When he got hold of a nice trunk he would carry a countenance like a strawberry for joyfulness. He would jerk off one handle and then another, then kick in the ends, then take an axe and smash the locks, and then let the shirts and things rattle out on the track. He got so at last that the people actually paid high prices for the privilege of living along the line of the road, as they got their shirts for nothing.

But there came a black day. A miserable, contemptible, sneaking wretch, who owned a saw-mill, went traveling. He run his factories two weeks on nothing but trunk stuff, and he made the wickedest trunk that ever went into a car. It was seven feet thick all round, and there were sixteen nails driven in, one on top of the other, until the thing was clear proof. Bumps got the axe as usual and struck at the lid, but the axe bounded back. He struck once more; the axe flew in pieces. Then he got a crowbar and a can of powder, but he couldn't burst a rail. He swore and jumped up and down and wanted to die, and wished he'd never been born. He got all the train men in; they all pounded, but the trunk held firm. It went through all right. It was handed down without a jam, and the owner was there to say "thank you, sir," and he pretended he was going back again, and had the trunk put aboard once more.

Bumps grew pale. He grew sick. His legs shook. He had chills all over him. The trunk went back a witness of "man's inhumanity to man." Bumps grew worse. He felt that he was forever disgraced, and went to bed with a brain fever. They tried to console him and said that they could have bursted the trunk, if they had thought of having a collision, but the spirit of the man was gone. I was there when he died. I never want to weep as I wept then. He sunk right away, murmuring, "Cussthat-t-u-a-k!"

Stereotyping—A Merciless Hoax—Stokes' Case—A Visit to the Tombs—Sharkey and Simmons—Wealth for Conviction in one case and spilgs it in Another—Simmons Will not Hang.—Will Stokes?

NEW YORK, May 11.

Visiting the Times office, Sunday night, we found another Son in the proof-reading department, Mr. Geo. W. Watkins. By the courtesy of Mr. Jacob H. Thompson, we were enabled to witness the stereotyping process by which the type is "dead" and ready for distribution before the paper goes to press. A description of this interesting process would be too lengthy at this time. A late number of Scribner's has it in full.

The cruel hoax perpetrated by the wretch who gave rise to the rumor that Gov. Dix had died induced great excitement at the churches, in the streets and on the horse cars. The first queries were as to its probable result in Stokes' case. Would the incoming Governor show him any mercy? In their engerness for the news, reporters scoured the city for reliable information, and it was not until nearly nine o'clock that a despatch was received from Albany stating that Gov. Dix was in usual good health. At his residence, the members of the family were plunged into the deepest grief and for four hours were in doubt. His daughter swooned at every ring of the door bell, fearing confirmation of the rumor. When it was ascertained to be untrue, gloom gave way to the wildest joy and sympathizing friends who had called to offer consolation remained to rejoice.

The fate of Stokes is yet an uncertainty. His friends are numerous and vigilant. They believe that Jay Gould has spent a mint of money to have him hanged, that the jury was bribed, as were some of the witnesses. As time passes, Stokes gains friends, and those who call upon him go away with the conviction that the poorest use to which he can be put is to hang him. Some declare that he never will be hanged, for it is very easy to pass poison into his cell. Through the influence of Mr. David T. Ross of Brooklyn, one of Portsmouth's "adopted Sons," we were furnished to-day with tickets of admission for four to the Tombs, which is not so gloomy a prison as depicted. We were especially interested in "murderers' row," and saw Stokes, Simmons and Sharkey. Everything within the Tombs was quiet and orderly and the only word of impudence we heard was from a supercilious New York Graphic reporter who monopolized Stokes' attention until supplanted by a lady visitor. Fisk's murderer is a fine looking man and seems entirely out of place among the thieves and blacklegs of the Tombs. He is dressed scrupulously neat and pays great attention to his toilet. Possessed of a kindly disposition and agreeable manners, he is a favorite with all callers, and it is difficult to comprehend that even Fisk's merciless persecutions could have induced him to deliberately fire the fatal shot. Stokes' hair is not suddenly changed to gray as reported, neither is his cell sumptuously furnished. On the contrary, the fittings are all plain.

A cell near by, occupied by Simmons who stabbed Duryea to death on Broadway, is the best fitted cell of the "row," and we found the occupant sitting back in his chair, leisurely reading a morning paper, as if unconscious of any danger of the noose. He is a lottery policy dealer and worth several hundred thousand dollars. No one appears to believe he will be convicted, as his wealth will secure a disagreement of any jury, and the man he murdered has no wealthy friends to spend money for vengeance. That's the difference between the cases of Simmons and Stokes.

Sharkey occupies a cell between the two, and was sitting at a table smoking and writing. His trial for murder comes on apace. We were not allowed to see Nixon, the Broadway truckman condemned to be hanged on Friday. As we passed out into the yard of the prison, the officer on duty pointed out the place where the gallows is to be erected to-morrow for his execution. Hanging, for months was thought to be "played out," as the late but not lamented Jack Reynolds expressed it, but Jack paid the penalty for his rash speech, and since then hanging has been the prevalent disease for the removal of several individuals from their sphere of unusefulness in this world of change. Will the anger of the law be appeased and a people tired of the taking of human life demand a cessation of horrors before Edward S. Stokes is sacrificed?

The Modoc War.

The Kansas Murders.

From detailed accounts of the murders at Cherryvale, Kansas, published in the western papers, we learn that the house where the murders were committed was occupied by two men (the Benders) and two women, and was a kind of prairie tavern, with but two small rooms. The following account of the manner in which suspicion was directed toward the wretches, and of the discovery of the bodies of eight of their victims, is condensed from the Kansas City (Mo.,) Times:—

On the 9th of last March Dr. William H. York, brother of State Senator York of Kansas, left Fort Scott on horseback for his home at Independence, Kansas. The time came for his arrival, but he was missing. His family and friends waited anxiously for his return or for some tidings from him, until their anxiety became so great that search was made for him. His neighbors joined with his brother, Colonel M. York, and the missing man was traced to Cherryvale, but there the search had to end. Early in April some men rode over to the Bender House, about two miles south of Cherryvale, to learn something, if possible, concerning Dr. York. They learned nothing, however; the Benders had neither seen him, heard of him, nor knew of his mysterious disappearance.

This visit seems to have alarmed the Bender family, for soon after a man riding from the prairie one day saw no smoke arising from their chimney; there was no sign of life anywhere about the premises. He rode to the house, and his investigations convinced him that the people had fled secretly. He galloped to Caerryvale, and a party was soon organized to examine into the matter, for every one now believed that the flight of the Benders was because of some crime, perhaps that of murder. A long and thorough examination led to the discovery of a trap-door in the floor of one of the rooms of the house, under a bed. Beneath was a pit some six feet deep and five feet in diameter, and here and there blood, thick, fetid and clammy, was found. Nothing further, however, rewarded their search in the pit.

Taking a long, sharp rod of iron they went next to the garden, where, after prodding about an hour, something was found on the end of the rod. Shovels soon discovered a corpse buried face downward. The flesh had dropped from the limbs. One look at the face and a dozen voices cried out, "It is Dr. York," and they spoke truly. He had been murdered by a blow from a hammer upon the head. The iron rod was again put in requisition, and seven other bodies were discovered. All had been killed by blows with a hammer upon the back of the head, and were otherwise mutilated. The throats of all, with the exception of the little child, were also cut. The people were so aroused by their discoveries as to at once hang a man named Brockman, whom they suspected of knowing something of the murders. Death was within reach of him each time he was cut down, but he said not a word at any time, although called upon to confess, and was at last allowed to crawl away after being pulled up three times. It is believed that the wife of the elder of the Bender brothers is the chief one in the murders, since the family dreaded and obeyed her in all things.

Three other bodies have since been discovered, making in all eleven murders committed by these demons, who have as yet escaped arrest.

The expense account of the Geneva arbitration amounted to $144,000.

Five Indians attacked the house of James Harrison near Walla Walla, Oregon, because he refused to give them tobacco. Harrison knocked two of them over with his little hatchet, and his daughter remonstrated with another in such a manner as to take all the edge off the family axe. Three Indians were caught and put in jail. From Arizona it is reported that Gen. Crook's men recently caught an Apache chief who had murdered five squaws, and were about to hang him when Gen. Crook interfered and had the savage sent to Fort Alcatrer." Three companies of troops have gone from Arizona to fight the Modocs.

A remarkable forgery has been discovered in Boston, creating a great breeze. James A. Coe was arrested on the charge of using as collateral certificates of railway stock raised from one to one hundred and from two to two hundred shares. The amount of the forged paper now out is variously estimated at from one to two hundred thousand dollars. Several of the city banks it is thought will lose largely.

The Philadelphia base ball club is ahead thus far in the contest for the championship. On the 15th they beat the Athletics for the second time, five to four, in thirteen innings.

THE REUNION OF THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC at New Haven on the 15th was eminently successful. President Grant, Vice President Wilson, Gen. Sherman and Lieut.-General Sheridan were present. The song of a "Bummer," which was introduced by the poet as an incident of a camp-fire scene, upset even the Presidential gravity. Grant fairly shook with laughter, in which Sheridan joined hilariously, nudging Sherman violently, as the song alluded to the general of the army as "Humpsy Dumpsy, old Tecumseh, bully boy with a glass eye." One of the best appreciated hits in the verses was the following:—

He carooms on Bethel and pockets himself;
And he always rolls off when he's laid on the shelf.

This sally set the company in a roar, their mirth being heightened by the unrestrained merriment of all the dignitaries on the stage.

Gens. McDowell, Hancock and Franklin were named for the presidency of the organization, Hancock withdrew in favor of Franklin, and Sheridan worked zealously for McDowell, who was chosen.

A FAITHFUL CONDUCTOR.—Conductor Bradley, of Hartford, Conn., who was killed with others, by a railroad accident on the Hartford & Waterbury road, Friday, was on a "caboose car" at the time the train reached the broken rail. The instant he felt the shock he knew the car was off the track and sprang for a brake. It was his last act. In the same instant he was killed by the crash, and his skull was broken. When picked up a part of the brain was visible, oozing out; but the true and faithful conductor was able to speak. And these were the words he uttered, the last he ever spoke: "Put out the signals for the other train!"

PURGATION AND PROSTRATION. Let us rejoice that the absurd and paradoxical idea that sick people could be restored to health and strength by violent cathartic treatment has been pretty generally exploded. If there are still to be found any medical dogmatists who believe such practice, the sooner their sands of life are run out the better it will be for their patients. A more rational mode of dealing with human ailments was inaugurated some twenty years ago when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters were introduced, and that powerful vegetable invigorant began its triumphal progress to universal popularity. The world now understands the importance of strengthening, refreshing and regulating, as well as purging the disordered system, and is aware that all these processes go on together under the fourfold operation of the Standard Restorative of the age. Prepare the system for the debilitating heat of summer with this vitalizing specific.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Fourth of July.

The meeting of the general committee was largely attended, Wednesday evening, Hon. Ichabod Goodwin occupying the chair.

Mr. William R. Boardman, from the committee on tents, made a report of terms proposed by Mr. R. M. Yale—to furnish two large tents to seat 2500 each and a small one for a cook-room for $245. The committee was authorized to contract with Mr. Yale for the tents on the terms proposed, and to procure more tents if needed.

Mr. Thomas S. Nowell, from the committee on music, reported the engagement of Harlow's Band of twenty-five for July 3d, 4th and 5th for $350; also that the Dover Band of twenty had been secured for the 4th for $150. [Applause.] Mr. Nowell reported that negotations were pending with the Seabrook Band. The Dover Band is to be assigned for music for the Fire Department as voted by the committee at a previous meeting.

After considerable discussion as to the appointment of new committees by the committee empowered to assign additional members to the sub-committees, the following persons were agreed to as committee on lumber, viz; Augustus W. Odiorne, chairman, L. Edwin Martin, Hiram C. Locke and Thomas Neil.

Mr. Hiram C. Locke, from the committee on lumber, reported an estimate of $1100 for floors, seats and tables, the dealers agreeing to re-purchase the seats and tables at 40 per cent. reduction. The report was accepted.

Mr. Chas. C. Akerman, from the collation committee, reported contracts for supplies, crockery, cloth for tables, &c.; also that Mr. Joseph H. Gardiner, who was so signally successful at the time of the Firemen's muster, be appointed Caterer; and recommending that 500 citizens be admitted to the collation with the Sons at 50 cents each. The report was accepted and the plan was adopted.

Discussion ensued on a motion of a member of the auditing committee to relieve that committee from the duty and responsibility of authorizing expenditures, as the general committee had thus far assumed its duties and authorized the expenditure of between $3000 and $4000. The matter was finally settled by the chairmen of the sub-committees being instructed to submit written reports of the amount of money required to carry out their plans, to be referred to the auditing committee.

Mr. George W. Marston gave notice that the auditing committee would hold their first meeting at the Common Council room next Monday at half past seven o'clock. The other members of the committee are Messrs. J. C. Carr, A. W. Odiorne, Henry F. Wendell, Henry M. Clark, Alfred Stavers and Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett.

Mr. William M. Thayer, from the committee on printing, suggested that each sub-committee report in their estimates the amount needed for printing.

Mr. J. Horace Kent, from the committee on the reception of the Press, desired to know the proper course to be pursued, and the committee wish to know the extent of appropriation to be allowed by the auditing committee, at an early day.

Mr. William R. Preston thought the sum of $300 for decorations likely to be too small.

Mr. William R. Boardman, from the committee on location of tents, reported in favor of the field of Mr. Chas. H. Mendum on Middle street, the owner desiring only remuneration for damages to soil, trees and fences. The consideration of the report was postponed one week.

Mr. Plumer D. Norton, from the regatta committee, reported communications from Commodore J. C. Howell and Major Fendall. Commodore Howell's letter was as follows:—

NAVY YARD, May 12.

Dear Sir:—It will give me much pleasure to enter my barge in the 4th of July regatta and I shall be glad to cooperate with you in any manner you may suggest. As we have no fast pulling boats at the Navy Yard just now, I should think that a general regatta, open to all Piscataqua river boats, entrance fee, say, one dollar per boat, to be added to the prizes, would make an exciting and interesting race. I would have prizes for first, second and third boats, the race to be a straight race, the finish, at a boat anchored off Noble's Island or at such other point as may seem best to the committee. We have neither fast boats, nor proper crews to pull them here—and a naval race would be a very tame affair. I understand that there are quite fast boats in Portsmouth and we do not object to being beaten by our own countrymen.

Very truly yours,
J. C. HOWELL,
Commo., U. S. N.

MARINE BARRACKS, May 12.

Sir:—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of this date relative to a regatta on the Fourth of next July when the "Sons of Portsmouth" are to visit said city, and enquiring if I will enter the barge belonging to the Marine Corps on that occasion.

In reply I would say that it will afford me much pleasure to enter the "barge" or to do anything else in my power to contribute to the pleasure of the citizens of Portsmouth and their visitors.

My boat is a slow one but it will do its very best on the occasion in question.

Respectfully yours,
PHILIP R. FENDALL,
Capt. & Brevet Maj., Comd'g.

The reading of both letters was received with hearty applause.

Mr. Norton reported that the committee recommended a race as proposed by Commodore Howell, commandant at the Navy Yard, and that they would probably determine upon a race for single sculls. The report was accepted and the committee was empowered to complete arrangements.

A communication from Harry Leslie, offering to perform publicly on a tight rope for $250, was laid on the table amid roars of laughter.

The committee on invitations was instructed to invite Governor Straw and staff to be present.

The committee then adjourned for one week, but will probably meet on Tuesday evening.

Caught in Season.

On Wednesday afternoon, the 14th as a young daughter of Jonathan Philbrook of North Hampton, fourteen years of age, was returning to her home in company with a still younger girl, after visiting the "depot store" in that town, the two were accosted by a fellow who made indecent proposals to the elder girl, and then attempted to force her to accede to his wishes. Miss Philbrook screamed and resisted, and her companion ran away, also screaming; and the approach of a wagon frightened the assaulting scoundrel, who took to the woods and escaped.

On Wednesday morning, two men who were at work on the railroad between Greenland and North Hampton, mending Drakes' bridge, saw a man who answered the description given of the fellow who assaulted the girls, and promptly arrested him. Officer John S. Hobbs of North Hampton brought him to this city, and on searching him at the Police station two bottles of Medicines, a butcher knife, brad awl, memorandum book, bunch of keys, a short piece of fuse and two bottles of gunpowder were found in his pockets. One of the bottles had a hole cut in one side of the cork and a fuse in it connecting with the powder inside—possibly a "fire bug's" implement. He is a German, about 25 years old, and says he last worked at Cincinnati. He gives the name of Carl Schulton. He acknowledged enough to the City Marshall and his assistants, to show that he was the person who assaulted the girls.

Laconics.

The postal cards are coming along right lively. The first received at this office was from Cashier R. W. E. Robinson, of the Narragansett Steamship Co., New York, saying "Can you see this and go one better?" Some fault is found with the quality of the paper, as the ink spreads, the effect being similar to writing on blotting paper.

Hon. Joseph B. Adams has returned to Portsmouth and has purchased the house on Lincoln Avenue built by Mr. George E. Stackpole.

The 11:28 train for Boston on the Eastern Railroad was delayed about half an hour at Ipswich on Thursday, one of the cars—a Pullman—being thrown from the track by that fruitful cause of railroad accidents, a frog. One of the wheels ran upon this iron frog throwing the car from the track, but doing no damage beyond that of breaking the journal of one of the axles.

The plans and model of an iron vessel of 450 tons, to carry a battery of one eleven-inch and two nine-inch guns, have been completed at the navy yard, and the vessel will be built here. Many improvements have been made in the machinery at the yard, especially in the way of sawing.

HOW EASILY IT IS DONE.—While the writer was one day conversing in a car with a friend on the subject of pocket-picking, he told the following story: The best joke I know of about pick-pockets, is what happened to a gentleman named A——, who at the time was president of one of our New York banks. I had occasion to go to Philadelphia to attend to some business in which A—— was interested, and in the cars met a friend, an old gentleman and his grown-up son. When we reached Philadelphia, the old gentleman declined getting into the coach of the hotel to which we were going, preferring to go more cheaply by the horse-cars. We got to the hotel before him, and when he joined us he said he had had his pocket picked on the cars. Mr. A—— had been talking with a friend about something else, but catching a word or two of our conversation he asked me about it, and when I told him what had happened he said: "Oh! I can't have any sympathy with a man who has had his pocket picked. Why, when I was getting on the cars at New York, a fellow reached across me very roughly, pretending that he wanted to reach the knob of the door. I looked at him, and knew in a moment that he was a pickpocket; so I just put my hand on my breast pocket, where I carried my pocket-book and papers, and kept it there, while I looked at him so as to let him see that I knew who he was and what he was after."

We then went on conversing about the business that had brought us to Philadelphia. After discussing it for some time Mr. A—— wished to show us some memoranda he had made, and put his hand into his breast pocket in which they were. I saw him start, and asked what was the matter, when he exclaimed, with a countenance expressing the most intense astonishment, "Why, my pocket-book is gone."

It was very clear that the man that reached across him had taken his pocket-book, and that he had been ever since feeling the other papers in his breast pocket, and been thus deluded with the idea that his pocket-book was safe. It was a very serious business for him, for he had brought on about $30,000 worth of notes of Philadelphia merchants to negotiate for his bank, and he had besides some five or six hundred dollars in bills. He asked me what he should do, when I advised him to telegraph immediately to New York, and put an advertisement in the papers offering at least $2,000 for the return of the papers. He replied, "Oh! no; $500 will do." "Very well," said I, "try it." He did try it, and received a note stating that $2,000 were required. He tried to negotiate for less, but was finally compelled to pay the price named. Since then I have occasionally amused myself by quoting to him his own remark: "Oh! I can have no sympathy with a man who has had his pocket picked."

WHAT IS A LIBEL?—Perhaps some journalist who has the fear of the libel law constantly in mind, may find a useful hint in the following anecdote: In the reign of Queen Elizabeth, one Peter Palmer, of Lincoln's Inn, brought an action against a barrister of the name of Boyer, for having, with the intention to injure him in his name and practice, said, "Peter Palmer is a paltry lawyer, and hath as much law as a jackanapes." It was moved in arrest, that the words would maintain no action, because they were not slanderous. Had Mr. Boyer said, Mr. Palmer had no more law than a jackanapes, it would have been actionable, for then he had lessened the opinion of his learning. But the words were, "he hath as much law as a jackanapes." This was no impeachment of his learning, for every man that hath more law than a jackanapes, hath as much. Sed non allocatur, for the comparison is to be taken in the worse sense.

Judge Berkely says it has been adjudged, where a person said of a lawyer that he had as much law as a monkey, that the words were not actionable, because he had as much law, and more also; but if he had said, he hath no more law than a monkey, these words would have been actionable.—Philadelphia Proof Sheet.

—A spiteful contemporary, evidently edited by a bachelor, uses the following elaborate simile:—"I have seen lovers look into each others eyes with that sublimely silly expression characteristic of such unfortunates, somewhat like the piteous, appealing look of a forlorn calf going home through the rain." This expression has been patented.

—Some men spend a fortune coloring their pipes. Others spend a fortune coloring their faces. We know one man who has spent $20,000 simply in coloring his nose, and is not satisfied yet. We hold him up as a beacon.—Graphic.

—A defeated litigant in Wyoming demands that the verdict against him be set aside, on the ground that there were thirteen present during the jury's deliberations; one of the jurywomen had her baby with her.

—An Indiana Sunday school man writes to a Bible firm in New York:—"Send me on some Sunday school papers and books. Let the books be about pirates and Indians as far as possible."

—A fond husband boasting to a friend—"Tom, the old woman came near calling me honey last night." "Did she Bill, what did she say?" "She said, 'well, old Beeswax, come to supper.'"

—The marriage license fee in Baltimore is four dollars, and a Baltimore paper says it prevents many marriages. Few men want to incur that expense at the start.

The Chronicle.

CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS.—The man who discovered America two points off the port bow. One day in his garden, he observed an apple falling from its tree, whereupon a conviction flashed suddenly through his mind that the earth was round. By breaking the bottom of an egg and making it stand on end at the dinner table, he demonstrated that he could sail due west and in course of time arrive at another hemisphere. He started a line of emigrant packets from Palos, Spain, and landed at Philadelphia, where he walked up Markes street with a loaf of bread under each arm. The simple hearted natives took him out to see their new Park.

On his second voyage Columbus was barbarously murdered at the Sandwich Islands, or rather would have been but for the intervention of Pocahontas, a lovely maiden romantically fond of distressed travellers. After this little incident he went West, where his intrepidity and masterly financial talent displayed itself in the success with which he acquired land and tobacco without paying for them. As the savages had no railroad of which they could make him president, they ostracized him—sent him to the island of St. Helena. But the spirit of discovery refuses to be quenched, and the next year we find him landing at Plymouth Rock in a blinding snow storm. It was here that he shot an apple from his son's head.

To this universal genius are we indebted also for the exploration of the sources of the Nile, and for an unintelligible but correspondingly valuable scientific report of a visit to the valley of the Yellowstone. He took no side in our late unhappy war, but during the Revolution he penetrated with a handful of the Garde Mobile into the mountain fastnesses of Minnesota, where he won that splendid series of victories which, beginning with Guilford Court House, terminated in the glorious storming of Chapultepec. Ferdinand and Isabella rewarded him with chains. Genoa, his native city, gave a statue, and Boston has named in his honor one of her proudest avenues. One day he rushed naked from the bath, exclaiming, "Eureka!" and the presumption is that he was right. He afterward explained himself by saying that he cared not who made the laws of a people, so long as he furnished their ballots.

Columbus was cruelly put to death by order of Richard III of England, and as he walked to the scaffold he exclaimed to the throng that stood around him, "The world moves." The drums struck up to drown his words. Smiling at this little by-play, he adjusted his crimson mantle about him and laid his head upon the block. He then drank off the cup of hemlock with philosophic composure.

This great man's life (which, by the way, was not insured,) teaches the beautiful moral lesson that an excess of virtue is apt to be followed by redundancy of happiness, and that he who would secure the felicity of to day must disdain alike the evanescent shadows of yesterday and the intangible adumbrations of the morrow. — Lippincott's Monthly Gossip.

—Good old deacon H——, having occasion to spend the night at a hotel, was assigned a room in which there were three single beds, two of which already contained occupants. Soon after the light was extinguished, a man in one of the other beds began to snore so loudly as to prevent his falling asleep. The tumult increased as the night wore away, until it became absolutely fearful. Some two or three hours after midnight the snorer turned himself in bed, gave a hideous groan, and became silent. The deacon supposed the third gentleman asleep, until at this juncture he heard him ex-claim, "He's dead! thank God! he's dead!"

Mr. Wyman Stevens, of Canaan, has in his possession a cream-pitcher, salt-celler, and some tiny cups and saucers, of ancient-looking earthern ware, which were probably brought from old Boston, England, more than two centuries ago, as they were once the property of Rev John Cotton, the first minister of Boston, Mass. There are numerous relics of the old Puritan divine still carefully preserved by other members of the Stevens family, who are his lineal descendants.—Patriot.

The Back-Pay Steal.

When Congress,—at the close of a session of which a large part had been used up in investigating charges against members, of having secretly robbed the treasury of thousands,—proceeded to openly rob the treasury of millions, its action aroused the indignant astonishment of the whole people; but no less astonishing is the different manner in which the salary-steal question is treated by the papers of the two great political parties. The Republican press, almost without exception, has denounced and still denounces the salary-steal as a disgraceful outrage, which should consign every one who aided in it or who has profited or may profit by it, to political infamy and oblivion, no matter to which party they belong; while the democratic press, unable to take any other than the narrowest partizan view of the matter, instead of seeing in the salary-steal a gross outrage committed by individuals of both political parties upon the people, generally preserve a discreet silence regarding the thieves in their own party, and bend all their energies towards making political capital against "Grant and his followers" out of a steal for which no political party is responsible, and for participation in which the republican party proposes to deal out stern justice to republicans, however the democratic party may condone or attempt to palliate the stealing of democrats.

When we speak of the salary-steal, we refer solely to the back-pay swindle, for that only was dishonest. The increase of pay for the 43d Congress, by the 42d, though uncalled for and unwarranted, was not a steal; and it is safe to assume that not a single member of the 43d Congress, republican or democrat, will refuse his increased compensation. President Grant received no back pay, and the democratic partizans who howl at him for not vetoing the whole salary-grab are well aware that a veto of the appropriation bill in which it was attached would have cost the country even more than the united band of democratic and republican thieves stole, and that they (the democratic press) would have denounced a veto even more loudly than they have the failure to veto. It was the voting themselves more pay for services already once paid for, which was dishonest in the members of the 42d Congress, and those who voted against the scheme and then pocketed the back pay are worse than any others, in our view. The men who openly advocated the steal, and voted for it, can at least claim that they did not attempt to cloak their dishonesty; while those who pretend opposition yet hastened to pocket the plunder once it was stolen, showed themselves to be not only thieves, but sneaks as well. The republican press has steadily denounced both the bold and the sneaking thieves, of both parties, without distinction or favor; how the democratic press tries to make political capital for that party out of the salary steal is fairly shown by the following sample from the Biddeford Democrat:

> Several Republican papers have labored hard to demonstrate by figures that a larger proportion of Democrats voted in favor of the "salary steal" bill on the test votes, than Republicans. The object is to figure up an excuse for Radical misdemeanors, because of the wrongs of others. For Democrats who assisted Radicals in their infamous acts we have neither excuses nor apologies to make. Suppose every Democrat in Congress had voted for this Treasury-plunder bill, it is no excuse for Republicans to commit the same wicked act. The republicans had the power to defeat the bill, and the President could have prevented it from becoming a law, had he been so disposed. But nobody expected that Grant would veto a bill that provided a hundred thousand dollars for his own pocket. Here let the responsibility rest.

As the official record of Congress lows that a majority of the republicans who voted "on the test votes" voted against the steal, and that the democratic majority in favor of it—back-action attachment and all—was sufficiently large to overcome the adverse republican majority, we cannot see that republican papers have any need to labor very hard "to demonstrate by figures that a larger proportion of democrats" than republicans voted in favor of the salary steal. The animus of the democratic papers is well expressed in the last sentence of the Democrat's paragraph—"Here (with Grant and the republican party) let the responsibility rest." Thank you! but as the republicans do not choose to meekly shoulder the "responsibility" for the thieving acts of members of their own party, we question if they will "let the responsibility" for the thieving acts of the democrats "rest" in the wrong place, so long as they can "demonstrate by figures that a larger proportion of democrats voted in favor of the 'salary-steal' bill on the test votes, than republicans."

Few persons can peel onions without shedding tears over them. This serves to wash the onions prepratory to cooking them. A scientific cook has recently discovered, however, a neater way of washing them at the same time that they are being peeled, and all without tears. It is, simply, to nearly fill a deep pan with water, and to peel the onions beneath its surface; it is a small discovery, but it will save oceans of tears.

Rockingham Teachers Institute.

The time for the commencement of the appointed session at Raymond 12th inst. at two o'clock P. M., arrived, but it appeared rather desolate around the Town Hall. A retired minister living near rang the bell and a few began to appear. In all from 12 to 15 collected. Mr. Simonds, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, had not arrived, but a Mr. Lord, a teacher from Concord, conducted the exercises giving a lecture on Physiology. In the evening from 60 to 70 were present. Mr. Simonds was in charge. Perhaps some 15 were teachers or intending to be such. Mr. Lord spoke on the importance of Common Schools, Rev. B. W. Chase of Laconia on good teachers, Mr. Vose, late a teacher in Kansas, on the necessity of school apparatus, and Superintendent Simonds on School Supervision, urging the abolishment of the District system.

Tuesday 13th, there was an increase of the number of teachers. Prof. E. Knight of New London Institution led in Arithmetic, Mr. Chase in Grammer, and Geography came in for attention. At this stage the Institute assumed a promise for good. J. E.

OPENING OTHER PEOPLE'S LETTERS. The three indictments which were found by the Grand Jury at the U. S. District Court, a few days since, against Wm. Crawford of Chester, have been continued to the next term of the Court in October next. Crawford is charged with taking from the Post Office in Chester letters addressed to other parties. It is claimed on the part of the respondent that the letters, containing certain bank notices, related to business transactions in which he was jointly concerned with the parties to whom they were addressed, and that he had been authorized to open them. The respondent also claims that the prosecution was instigated by malice. Mr. Crawford was a few years ago elected County Treasurer for this County, and has been extensively engaged in Chester for several years and more recently in the lumber business. About a year since he failed, and his liabilities amounted to upward of $100,000; his assets amounted to about $20,000.

SHORTENING THE SCHOOL SESSION. The Concord school board, with a number of citizens, discussed the question of "too much school" on Monday evening. All the speakers, except the teachers, agreed that there should be more exercise and less confinement for young scholars. Dr. Conn said "there are children in the Concord schools who, with the present management, must either come out or go to the asylum for the insane." In speaking of the number of hours a child should be in school he thought that, under ten years of age, they should not be confined more than three hours a day in school; from ten to fifteen years of age but five hours, and at ages over fifteen they should not be confined in the school room at all except for recitations. It was finally resolved to abridge the afternoon session one hour.

THE FEMALE MODOC is thus portrayed by the correspondent of the San Francisco Chronicle:

> You do us grave injustice in remarks about killing squaws. They were killed in the fight—one at least—and the only one killed by soldiers. They fight like devils, load guns, and are as dangerous as the bucks, and should share the same fate. No squaws have been killed out of battle. Four are now fed and protected at this camp, taken since the fight was ended. They will not be harmed, though at the first chance they will flee to the Modocs with arms and ammunition, if they could get a chance to steal any. In the event of another fight, they would return to our lines to do the same thing over again. Remember, they are not white women, but fiends, guilty of torturing and murdering every wounded soldier who fell in their hands, and of horribly mutilating the dead. Remember the fate of the soldier of the 21st Infantry, wounded and left on the field of battle on the 17th of January. The squaws tortured him in every conceivable way all night long, until death put an end to his sufferings in the morning. This they admitted to be so during the interval employed in making peace efforts. Don't waste any sympathy on such fiends, for it will be impossible to expect a soldier to spare one of them on the field.

SOMNAMBULISM.—The New Hampshire somnambulistic boy, who goes about hitting people on the head with a hatchet, has an imitator up in Fairview, Erie County. It is related that, one of the bitter cold nights the past winter, a boy of that borough, aged about twelve years, rose in his sleep, and, clad only in boy's nocturnal garb and a pair of stockings, went through the frosty air and deep snow one-quarter of a mile to the house of a neighbor, informed them that burglars had effected an entrance into the house, and solicited aid. The neighbor cross-questioned the youth, the result of which was that the boy's statement appeared to be straight and correct. After routing the neighbors, hunting for revolvers, and a general hullabaloo, an armed party made for the house where the boy had stated that the burglars had been operating. They approached carefully, slyly effected an entrance, and imagine their surprise when they found the family reading quietly by the fire-side. They stated that they supposed the boy was sleeping in bed. He slept in the chamber, and in a somnambulistic mood crawled out of a back window and down to the ground, when he was off for the neighbors for assistance.—Titusville (Pa.) Courier.

PURGATION AND PROSTRATION. Let us rejoice that the absurd and paradoxical idea that sick people could be restored to health and strength by violent cathartic treatment has been pretty generally exploded. If there are still to be found any medical dogmatists who believe such practice, the sooner their sands of life are run out the better it will be for their patients. A more rational mode of dealing with human ailments was inaugurated some twenty years ago when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters were introduced, and that powerful vegetable invigorant began its triumphant progress to universal popularity. The world now understands the importance of strengthening, refreshing and regulating, as well as purging the disordered system, and is aware that all these processes go on together under the fourfold operation of the Standard Restorative of the age. Prepare the system for the debilitating heat of summer with this vitalizing specific.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

City Council.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, Robert Shillaber's bill, $226.94, for services as Health Officer, was referred to committee on claims.

The claim of Harlow's band for services at the firemen's muster was voted to be paid from any unexpended allowance for the muster.

A notice was received from J. S. H. Frink of a claim of George E. Barsantee for services as Assistant Marshal and witness fees. Referred to committee on claims.

The following resolutions were passed:

Resolved, That the committee on City Lands and Buildings be and are hereby ordered to surrender to the Board of Engineers their room in the city building by the 20th inst.

Resolved, That the same committee be and are hereby ordered to have the flag staff on the city building placed in position as in the plan of the architect, on the front of the building, between the towers.

Steamer Dearborn being comparatively useless, after an expenditure of $1100 or more within three years, it was voted to sell the Dearborn and purchase a new Manchester steamer—yeas, Aldermen Garrett, Spinney, Sise, Lefavour, 4; nays, Wilson, Hayes, Trefethen, 3. The Mayor withheld his concurrence in the vote until the next meeting.

A Rising Young Man.

It is said the nomination for Representative in the 11th district may be awarded to J. M. Vanderslice, the young lawyer from the Twenty-eighth ward. He will make one of the ablest and most influential members in the Legislature. No young man is better and more favorably known throughout the State. He has done good service to the country as a gallant young soldier, and to the party as an eloquent campaign speaker. In 1868 he was upon the stump for more than two months in New England and this State, rallying the soldiers for Grant, and every year since then he has taken part in the campaigns, last year rendering good service for Hartranft; he is a pleasing and effective speaker. With fine education, irreproachable character and genial disposition, he is a favorite with all who know him. His strength, they say, lies in the number of his friends, and the zeal with which they work for him. He has never been a candidate for any position before, and his friends think he is entitled to this nomination. —Philadelphia Republic.

Mr. Vanderslice will be remembered as the eloquent young orator who while stumping the Eastern States for Gen. Grant in 1868 achieved a brilliant success and won many to the support of the cause by his electrical appeals to his old comrades. We heard him follow Hon. Hannibal Hamlin in a fervent address at York, Maine, where he was recognized by some of the veterans of the 1st Maine Cavalry as a daring young Captain in their brigade. He also spoke effectively at Kittery with Gen. Hawley. He will make his mark if elected to the Pennsylvania legislature, and his old comrades, and friends who made his acquaintance here at the East, regret they cannot be for the time being in the Keystone State to vote for him.

The Journal's Somersault.

The Portsmouth Journal says we took umbrage at the retention of Mr. Osgood as master caulker at the Navy Yard, and the recall of Mr. Wilson's appointment at the request of Mr. Small, after he had sanctioned it. The facts of the case are that Mr. Wilson was endorsed by Ex-Gov. Goodwin, Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett, several of the Representatives to the legislature, Aldermen, both Republican papers in this city, through their editors, and many of our best citizens. A large number of letters were sent to Mr. Small by merchants and others, suggesting the appointment, and after weeks of consideration, it was approved by him and sent by mail from Newmarket to the Secretary of the Navy. It laid on file in Washington for weeks and was finally acted on and sent to the Navy Yard here, arriving on Sunday. As soon as it became known, an effort was made to get Commodore Howell to suspend it, but failing, a delegation went to Newmarket and by ex parte statements succeeded in inducing Congressman Small to telegraph to Washington and have the appointment suspended. Mr. Small states that his reasons for so doing were that he decided not to make removals without cause.

Laconics.

The Fakir of Vishnu opens his series of entertainments at the Temple tonight. He is not a stranger here, as our readers well know, and therefore needs no introduction to the citizens of Portsmouth. His sleight-of-hand performances are of a high order and his manner of distributing his gifts proves satisfactory to his patrons. The Fakir is one of the most genial and courteous of men, and we cordially recommend him to the patronage of the public.

Charles Gillis, Ex-Postmaster of Hillsboro', was found guilty of robbing the mails, on Friday.

A horse belonging to Mr. C. H. Megdum was struck by a ball near the High School, Friday noon, and ran up Daniel street, falling at the corner of Market and breaking the shafts of the carriage to which he was attached.

The "Spirit Manifestations" through Mrs. Cooper, at No 13 Court Street, are said to be convincing to some and interesting to all.

Dr. Colman will leave town to-day to be absent three weeks.

Mrs. Emma E. Weston of East Boston will hold public Seances at Mendum's Hall, on Congress Street, to-morrow afternoon and evening at the usual hours. An admittance fee of 25 cents will be charged at the door.

"AN OLD ESTABLISHED FIRM.—The firm of S. M. PETTENGILL & Co. commenced their Advertising Agency in the old Journal building, No. 10 State Street, Boston, nearly a quarter of a century ago (February 1849), where their Agency is still located, carrying on a large and successful business. They established a branch in New York City, May 1852, which has grown to be larger than the parent house, —increasing steadily, year by year, until now it has the agency of nearly every newspaper in the United States and British Provinces, and does a yearly business of hundreds of thousands of dollars. S. M. Pettengill & Co. have recently opened another branch office at 701 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, where they are doing a successful increasing business. They have done advertising exceeding ten millions of dollars since commencing business. This firm is favorably known not only throughout this country, but in all parts of the world. They have established a reputation for honorable and fair dealing which any firm might envy, and but few have attained to. We congratulate them upon their success. We would recommend all who want advertising done in any part of the country to call upon them. They can point to hundreds of business men who have followed their advice, and trusted to their sagacity, and rewarded themselves of their facilities, who have made fortunes for themselves, and are daily assisting others in the same path."—Boston Journal, May 8th.

From the Portsmouth Journal.

GRAND UNION CONCERT.—The Portsmouth Music Society, the Old Folks Choir, and Harlow's Orchestra, will give a grand Union Concert at the Temple at an early day. A committee or arrangements consisting of Messrs. John Christie, Jerome C. Butler, E. B. Goodall, H. L. Harlow, A. Pearson, L. V. Newell and Frank W. Miller, was appointed at a meeting on Thursday evening; and a Rehearsal will be held at Irving Hall, Market Street, on Sunday evening May 18th, at 7 o'clock. Mr. Pearson will direct. Singers are invited, and those having copies of the "Continental Harmony" are requested to bring them.

—It is "in season" to remind many who were disappointed because the lyceum course was not continued the past winter, that the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals have thus early taken hold of the matter and propose giving a brilliant course during the next cold season. The course will consist of seven lectures and one musical entertainment, to be given in the Temple, at $1.50 the series. The committee hope to secure the services of James T. Fields, Robert Collyer, John B. Gough, Henry Berg, Petroleum V. Nasby, Wendell Phillips and Oliver Optic. The concert talent has not been decided on yet.

—The law now requires every vessel at anchor in port to display an anchor light. The penalty is a fine of $200. Many coasters and fishermen neglect the precautionary signal upon moonlight nights and when in positions where it is not deemed necessary. The law, however, allows no leeway and requires the light. The wise and prudent should govern themselves accordingly.

—Special trains will doubtless be run from Newburyport to this city on the day of Barnum's show, as this travelling "World's Fair" will not visit that place, but comes direct by rail from Gloucester to Portsmouth.

—At the annual parish meeting of the Universalist society held last week the officers of the previous year were re-elected: Wardens, Thomas E. O. Marvin, William A. Vaughan, Jr., Clerk, Alpha Senter.

—Ezra A. Stevens, Esq., has been appointed chief marshal of the procession of Boston boys who are to return home on July 4th.

The Chronicle.

The Deacon's Ram.

Of all the stories that I know,
'Tis very sure I am,
That you would like the best to hear
About the Deacon's ram.

This ram with large and crooked horns,
In summer days was seen
Among the quiet flocks which grazed
The pastures of Shausheen.

The deacon had three roguish boys,
Who, when their work was done
Would tease and fret this ancient ram
And call it glorious fun.

For they would stand upon the bank
As forward he would dash,
Then turn aside, as in the tide
They let him plunge and splash.

The Deacon saw their cruel sport,
And laid upon their backs
The toughest birche of the grove,
In hard and wholesome whacks.

Sometimes, upon the sly.
And play their pranks upon the ram
When no one else was nigh.

And as they made him run and plunge,
One calm and pleasant day,
They raw with basket on his arm
The Deacon move that way.

They hid within the broken grove
And still as mice did keep,
While he his basketful of salt
Gave to his flock of sheep.

He was a jolly, but old man,
And thought how nice 'twould be,
To have some sport all by himself,
With no one near to see.

So where the stream was dark and deep,
The bank was step and high,
He took his stand upon the edge,
His luck for him to try.

Right onward came the furious ram
In all his power and pride—
But ah! the Deacon quite forgot
That he must step aside.

And as he felt the head and horns,
Hit him a stunning blow,
Heels over head he quickly plunged
Into the stream below.

And then the boys who all beheld
Their father in this fix,
Ran from the grove where once he cut
His choicest birchen sticks,

And sung out in their loudest tones,
As he crawled up the shore,
"Now, you have got a ducking dad,
You'll whip the boys, no more." G. O.

HUMAN HAIR.—The length of the hair of the head in women ranges between twenty inches and a yard, and its weight to between six and eight ounces. In many instances the length for exceeds the above, and trails on the ground when she stands erect. When the hair is frequently shaved, it becomes more persistent, and increases in strength and bulk. It has been calculated the hair of the beard grows at the rate of one line and a half in the week. This will give a length of 6 1-2 inches for a year, so that an old man of eighty would have shaved from his chin twenty-seven feet of beard. This is by no means surprising, when Mr. Erasmus Wilson tells us in his treatise on "Healthy Skin," that according to Eble, there is in the Prince's Palace at Eidam a painting of a carpenter whose beard was 9 feet long, so that when engaged at work he was obliged to carry it in a bag, as a lawyer carries his brief. Moreover, we are told by the same authority, that Burgomeister Steiningen, having on one occasion forgotten to fold up his majestic beard, trod upon it as he ascended the staircase leading to the Council Chamber of Brunc, and was thereby thrown down and killed.

To our surprise, we learn that the hair of the fair sex, who are so much superior to us in point of delicacy and sensibility of feeling, is as a rule coarser than that of the ruder sex. In children it is naturally finer than in adults. Great diversity is discovered in hairs from the same head and even in the diameter of the same hair. Flaxen hair is the finest and black the coarsest. The beard produces the coarsest hair, each tube in a dark man averaging 1-200 of an inch.

As a rule, the complaint we usually hear is of a deficiency, rather than an excess, of hair, but when the latter event occurs, it is sometimes exceedingly disagreeable to the owner. In their normal state and condition the little hairs growing on the skin all over the body are colorless and transparent, but under the influences of increased action of the skin, they are susceptible of growth to a considerable extent. Sebenkins and Ambrose Pare have left accounts of cases in which the entire body was covered with hair. Rugeiri published, in 1815, the case of a lady twenty-seven years old, who was covered from her shoulders to her knees with black, soft, woolly hair like a poodle dog.

During the time of the embassy to Burmah in 1822, a man was met at Ava, who was completely hairy from head to foot. On his face, ears and nose the hair was eight inches long, and on his breast and shoulders four or five inches. This man had a daughter named Maphoon, whose face also was covered with thick, silken, brown hair. It was especially close about the ears, which were scarcely visible, and these it grew to the length of eight or ten inches. The hair over her forehead was brushed so as to blend with that of her head, the latter being dressed according to the custom of the country a la Chinois. The beard was pale in color, and soft and silky. Maphoon's manners were good and modest, her voice soft and feminine, and her expression not unpleasing when the first repulsion was conquered. It is said that her appearance rather suggested the idea of an agreeable woman masquerading than of anything brutish. Her neck, bosom and arms were, too, covered with a pale down. The lady, notwithstanding the peculiarity of her aspect, had found favor in the eyes of one man at least, for she was a wife and mother of two boys. The youngest of these, only fourteen months old, was evidently taking after the parent, and promised to continue in a third generation the freak of nature carried out in two previous generations.

Other instances of a similar nature are on record. A French physician mentions the case of a beautiful damsel, with dazzling fair skin and blue black eyes, who, on recovering from a fever, found her person overspread with a "goose-skin," and to her horror, at the end of a month she was covered from head to foot with hair an inch long. During the reign of Maria There a of Austria, a woman served in the army for many years, attaining to the rank of captain, and she was noted for the luxuriance and beauty of her moustache. Such cases might be multiplied to any length. They are far from common in England, and some of our readers may recollect having seen or heard of a bearded woman who was exhibited at shows some years ago, under the name of Julia Pastrana. It was a complete illustration of this kind of phenomenon, and the hair on her chin was quite equal to that owned by some men. Dublin University Magazine.

A portrait of Gen. Joseph Cilley of Revolutionary fame has been added to the portrait gallery at the State House. It is a copy after Trumbull in 1790, and is presented by his son, Col. Joseph Cilly of Nottingham, a soldier in the war of 1812 who is now about eighty years old.

A Manchester despatch says that several of the performers of Lent's circus "got on a bender" and attempted to run the city, pulling down signs on the main streets, throwing boxes into the street, using boisterous and profane language and creating a brawl and tumult generally. They were requested by the police to desist, but refused, whereupon a posse of officers took the party in. Among them were the ringmaster, both clowns and several of the principal performers.

Boston Correspondence.

BOSTON, May 17.

Barnum's "unparalled great moral show of livin' wild beasts of pray" has made this lively village even more than usually lively this week. The crowds in the streets on Monday exceeded anything in that line within reach of my memory, excepting the jam of St. Patrick's Day, and I am not certain but that was equalled. For residents near the Colisseum grounds, the ceaseless patter of feet on the pavements, commencing moderately at an early hour of the day, increasing to the clatter of a dense and rapidly moving procession (there is no sauntering in "that crowd;" they all seem to know where they want to go,) soon after noon and kept up far into the night, brings forcibly back reminiscences of Jubilee times. Barnum has a big show in a big tent (which stood a big squall in good style) and draws big crowds; many thousands of intending patrons have been turned away from the doors during the week, owing to the lack of seating accommodations.

The prohibitory law and State police are big things; owing to the "rigid" enforcement of the former by the latter, "every open bar in Boston is closed," and thirsty individuals who long to struggle with whiskey are obliged to do—pretty much as they have always done, i. e., walk in and "nominate their poisons." There has been some derangement of trade, and the light and harmless beverages, such as ale and lager, are tabooed to a large extent; but spirituous liquors are plentiful as ever, and as easy to get at if you only "know the ropes." Proper precautions have been taken to guard against a whiskey drought, even should the prohibitory law be strictly and impartially enforced; every man-about-town carries at least two keys of peculiar construction, by which, should worse come to the worst, he can gain admission to his "club" and drink his own grog in his own house. It is said the locksmiths have all become fabulously rich within a few weeks, making these club-house keys.

"Do fish bear?" asks the Danbury News. Give it up; but I've long been aware that many of them smelt.

I always like to see liberality that is well dispensed,—liberality that doesn't cater for a broad acknowledgment through the public press. An instance came under my eye a day or two since, and I've a strong mind to "blow" on the donor who fancied his kindness would be a secret between himself and the worthy recipient. Just in front of our City Hall I met one of Portsmouth's wealthy men; he introduced me to another old settler of "Strawberry Bank" whom sickness and trouble had rendered a stranger to my younger eyes, then left on score of business engagements. Nervously clutched in the hands of the invalid your correspondent noticed two five dollar bills. Be this little or be it much to the donor his sleep will be better, his life will be sweeter for his thoughtful liberality to a deserving man. I would give names did I not think it a breach of trust.

The latest ghost is one of bell-ringing proclivities, now sojourning at Springfield, Ill. This rather pleasant spectre confines himself wholly to the amusement of bell-ringing, but has hitherto declined to announce his wishes, when his summons has aroused the cook or the chamber-maid. Rumor suggests that he is the ghost of a testy old gentleman, who, while in the flesh, was annoyed by the delay of servants to bring him hot water for shaving purposes, and who now, by way of vengeance, keeps the servants and the rest of the household in perpetual though metaphysical, hot water. In this connection it may be remarked that the Newburyport school-house ghost has resumed business at his old stand, and is as cheerful and active as ever. The selectmen, having utterly failed to account for this ghost upon any theory of mischievous small boys or wandering winds, now threaten it is said, to dismiss the schoolmistress. If the latter possesses the moral pluck of the Yankee schoolmistress, she will undoubtedly appeal to law to test the right of selectmen to associate her name with disreputable ghosts, and thus to impair her reputation for discretion and self-respect.—New York Times.

A little girl attending the South-street School has lately had her dinner stolen. No flew could be obtained of the thief, although it was sought with tears. Finally a mild plan was hit upon. A tempting doughnut with a filling of cayenne pepper was placed in her pail, and the result watched. Before noon a little boy was seen at the pump, working it in a lively manner. It seemed if he had two hundred pairs of arms he could have used them. The fire was put out, however, and enough of the structure saved to take across the knee for a few minutes.—Danbury (of course.)

HOW A DROWNING MAN FELT.—The New York World's correspondent writes from Dixon, Illinois, giving a graphic account of the recent bridge calamity at that place, and in conclusion relates the experience of Mr. Hoffman, who was on the bridge at the time of the disaster, and who was taken insensible from the water a short time after. He is very weak yet, says the writer, but notwithstanding the shock to his nervous system and the mental deprivation caused by the death of his wife, he gave a very interesting account of his narrow escape from drowning. Your correspondent interviewed him this morning, particularly in reference to his sensations while under the water, and learned from him what is subjoined: "My wife and I went to see the baptism of the converts, and took up a position on the bridge about thirty feet from the first pier, and between it and the abutment. We were crowded by people—men, women and children. Suddenly, while Mr. Pratt was entering the water with a female, I heard a report similar to that made by a small cannon, and in an instant the water closed over me, and I felt that something was pressing me down. A heavy weight appeared to be over me. I did not sink to the bottom. I was perfectly conscious and immediately thought of getting out if possible. My hands came in contact with the trestle-work, and crawling up as if ascending a ladder, I was fortunate enough to finding an opening through which I crawled and immediately arose to the surface. I was then, as near as I can judge, about seventy or eighty feet from the shore. I swam toward the bank, but when near it my strength gave out and I sank. While swimming, some person, who must have been under the water, caught hold of my left leg and grasped tight for a minute, preventing me from going forward. The person let go as suddenly as he had taken hold, and I gave a stroke or two, when I encountered a dress. Thinking it was my wife, who was standing beside me when the span fell, I grabbed it, but having become enervated, I was obliged to let it go. I was almost exhausted at the time, and do not know that the dress was that of my wife. I did not notice it particularly. My thoughts were almost solely confined to her, and I imagined, when I saw the dress, it was hers. When I sank I was still sensible of the surroundings. I went apparently very close to the bottom. The current rolled me over and over, and my hands frequently came in contact with the gravel. I could feel the water running down my throat and in my ears, and all at once experienced the most delightful sensation. I seemed to be at peace with everything, and perfectly happy. My whole life passed before me like a flash of lightning, the events appearing in sequence, the most prominent appearing to be indelibly impressed upon my mind. Circumstances I had forgotten appeared vividly, and I did not want to be disturbed. I should have preferred to remain where I was. While in the midst of a beatific reverie, thinking what my wife would do if she were saved and I drowned, I felt a hand on my shoulder. I was pulled out and placed on a rock. I was almost insensible, but gradually came to myself. Oh, how sick and wretched I felt. I was greatly astonished at the number of events that had passed through my mind while under the water. Nothing that occurred during childhood was evident, but everything since I was about 19 years old appeared before me as if photographed.

The sensation I experienced while the water was going down my throat was not unpleasant. It seemed as if I was going on a journey, and was surrounded by all kinds of beautiful things. While on the rock I felt very bad and desired to be let alone. The sudden transition from the beatific state in the water to the dry land seemed to have a bad effect and made me indifferent to what was going on around me. Several people came to me and wanted to take me home, but I told them to let me alone, I was so miserable. The corpse of my wife was found after she had been in the water about three hours. It is said that Mrs. Hoffman's countenance was lighted up with a life like smile, so peaceful and suggestive of such pleasant thoughts when dying that everybody's attention was attracted to her."

IRISH JURIES.—Juries in Ireland seem to have hit upon an admirable plan for removing those difficulties in the way of agreement which so often lead to their prolonged incarceration. At Ballinakill quarter sessions recently a woman named Ellen Moore was indicted for having stolen a shawl. Evidence having been given in support of the charge, the jury retired to consider their verdict. After a considerable lapse of time one of the jurors was observed to emerge from the room in which they were confined, and to be about leaving the court. He was immediately stopped by the deputy clerk of the peace, who asked him where he was going? "Ah, begor," replied the juror, "I wouldn't stay there; they're all boxin' and fightin' inside." Notwithstanding this painful state of affairs, the juror was ordered back to the room and a constable placed at the door to prevent the escape of any survivors of the fray. At last the prisoner was found guilty, and the verdict being delivered the jury were discharged, when one of them was heard to remark; "Only I threatened to 'lick' him he'd never agree."

—An Indian tribe in Wisconsin has organized a brass band, and, as the savages are protected by the government, the white people have no redress. There is a great deal of hard feeling among the citizens toward the young aborigine who plays the cymbals. He performs with such earnestness and vigor that a vigilance committee has been organized to waylay him, and take him apart, in order to ascertain whether he is a real Indian or is merely riveted together and run with a steam engine. The manner in which he wakes the echoes amid the everlasting hills would make a deaf and dumb asylum nervous. When the band has serenaded a man two or three times, he succumbs. He goes calmly around among his little family, and removes their hair, and scalps the hired girl and the colored boy, and, after taking up the collection, he hands the whole lot of bunches over to the band, which goes off happy to sweet strains from the harmonic young cymbal player. If we lived there we would bathe his cymbal in nitro-glycerine, and lift him out to Lake Michigan at the first clash.

PURGATION AND PROSTRATION. Let us rejoice that the absurd and paradoxical idea that sick people could be restored to health and strength by violent cathartic treatment has been pretty generally exploded. If there are still to be found any medical dogmatists who believe such practice, the sooner their sands of life are run out the better it will be for their patients. A more rational mode of dealing with human ailments was inaugurated some twenty years ago when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters were introduced, and that powerful vegetable invigorant began its triumphal progress to universal popularity. The world now understands the importance of strengthening, refreshing and regulating, as well as purging the disordered system, and is aware that all these processes go on together under the fourfold operation of the Standard Restorative of the age. Prepare the system for the debilitating heat of summer with this vitalizing specific.

THE MARKET is flooded with Bitters, pretending to be made from some old recipe, which contains no spirit, and parties desiring a real tonic for spring or summer are often at a loss which article to choose. The SONOMA WINE BITTERS are made of choicest wine, roots, and herbs, and the guarantee of James Diogley & Co., is sufficient to attest their purity. Ladies and children use them with benefit and pleasure.

If the increase in sales be any criterion of merit the "DOMESTIC" bears the palm.

The "DOMESTIC" works so easy, it is working itself into every family.

The "DOMESTIC" runs so light, it is distancing all competitors. It only takes a few days trial.

The "DOMESTIC" is recommend by the Medical Faculty. 182

Laconics.

Carl Schulton, the German who tried to outrage a young girl at North Hampton, has been held by Judge Page in the sum of $1000 for trial at the next term of the S. J. Court.

The Fakir of Vishnu opened a series of interesting entertainments at the Temple, Saturday evening, to a rather small but appreciative audience. The Fakir is a good magician and a pleasing talker. The Marrionette Family are very amusing, and the music by Harlow's band excellent. The leading present Saturday evening was awarded to Charles F. Parks. The leading present for this evening is a chamber set.

It is decided that the hospital for patients with infectious diseases at Wood Island is not what it should be, and the project of towing the United States steamer Macedonian from Norfolk to be moored and converted into a hospital ship for temporary use, is suggested.

It was reported on Sunday that the body of Capt. Frisbee, of schooner Free Wind, has been found in the East river at New York. Capt. Frisbee belonged at Gerrish's Island, and recently took a cargo of lumber from Bangor to New York, whence he was to have returned to this port with a cargo of coal. We were unabled to verify the foregoing, and hope it may prove incorrect. He was said to have been stabbed in two places.

The May session of the court at Alfred, Me., commences to-morrow, and Wagner will probably be tried at an early day.

The Isles of Shoals during the coming season will be as popular as ever. Nearly half the rooms at the Appledore House are already engaged. John G. Whittier, Gail Hamilton, Celia Thaxter, Harriet Prescott Spofford, and other literary notables will spend part of the summer here.

Kittery wants a savings bank.

Mr. James T. Fields gave a lecture on Tennyson at the chapel of the South Parish on Wednesday, to a highly gratified audience. The lecturer made his debut on the same spot forty years ago, when as a Portsmouth schoolboy on an exhibition day he "spoke a piece," and represented Goliah.

Strawberries are to be plenty and cheap.

To Horsemen.

Some of the finest bred yearlings, including Col. H. S. Russel's Fearnaughts, are to be sold at the Home Farm, at Milton, Mass., at 4 P. M., on Friday the sixth day of June next, as will be seen by the advertisement elsewhere. There will be no postponement on account of the weather. A train from Boston leaves the Old Colony depot at three o'clock, and our localhorse favorites, whose numbers are many, will doubtless be desirous of seeing Col. Russell's fine stock to secure at the great sale a fast trotter or two to astonish the slow-goers a few years hence. The stock consists of seven colts and nine fillies believed to be sound. The best trotting blood, with a strong admixture of thoroughbred, is found in the dams of this young stock. Fearnaught trotted at Buffalo in 1868, in 2.23 1-4, and the owners of his yearlings place great confidence in the future doings of their favorites.

"Divorce."

Next Wednesday the "Fifth Avenue Theatrical Combination" is to appear in this city, and will present "Divorce." An exchange, in speaking of the play, and company says:—We want to say that "Divorce," while it is in itself abhorrent to refinement, and surrounded in its very name with disgusting associations to those of pure and sensitive natures, yet, as presented by this company, it becomes a moral lesson which all may learn with profit. But few hearts, if any, failed to respond last night to the touching sentiment of the play. Hearts as callous as stone could not dry up their fountains of sympathy in those scenes of utter despair and desolation portrayed in the characters of Aldred Adriance and his wife, Fanny."

TEACHER' INSTITUTE. — Raymond, Saturday, May 17.—In our last account, the exercises of the Rockingham County Teachers Institute, held in this place, were brought down to the close of Tuesday, P. M. The professors named then, Knight in Arithmetic, Chase in Grammar, Vose in Geography, continued during the session, also Mrs. Miller was constant every day and evening on Elocution. A full account of these exercises need not be given, suffice it that they were well conducted, and their beneficial results on the teachers present, and through them must be lasting, on the schools. Tuesday evening. The lecture was by Mr. C. C. Lord on the Brain, Wednesday evening by Rev. S. E. Quimby of Exeter on Language, Thursday evening by Mr. S. G. Edgerly of Manchester on School Discipline and Mr. Vose on Solar Spectrum, Friday evening by W. W. Calburn, A. M. of Manchester in the Physical Geography of New Hampshire, and closing very appropriately by readings by Mrs. Miller. The number of teachers present at this session was small. We think not more than 30 or 40 were enrolled. Others were in for a day or two. These with few exceptions were females. Good audiences from this and surrounding towns were greatly interested. - J. BOTHERS.—Men are bothers. Women were born to be anxious about them. Life, without any men in it, would be such a calm that possibly nobody would want to go to heaven.

To be sure, without men, nothing would ever have been invented, except dresses. There would be no steam engines, nor any buildings or bridges. We should still hammer our corn out between two cold stones and bake it between two hot ones; but, on the other hand, we should very seldom have the fidgets; we should know about what was going to turn up next, and not feel anxious.

Men stay out late at night without any good reason. Many a woman has begun sitting up to let her father in, gone on with her brothers, continued with her husband, proceeded with her son, and wound up with her grandson, until sitting up for folks became chronic; and if ever her ghost appears, it will be with its nightcap on, in the attitude of listening for somebody.

Men go out in boats upon the water, and in ships upon the sea; women stay home and read the awful accidents. And when Tom and his friends, out in a yacht, are becalmed and have to "stay out" all night, Tom wonders the Susan is "almost dead with worry." If anybody ever names a boat after me, I hope he will call it the "Anxious Polly," for oh! how I have peeped out of upper windows in the moonlight, watching folks who were enjoying themselves mightily upon the river, and making sure they were all drowned.

Who forgets to mention that he is going to run up to Albany, and supposes the folks will know it by intuition? Man.

Who forgets to write home for a week or two? Man. Who goes off in the morning with ammunition, firearms, and a friend who is going to try to learn to shoot that day? Man.

Who takes pains to get himself into danger, and wonders why women will fidget so? Man.

Who worries about him? Woman.

It is well-known that a boy baby cuts his teeth harder, is in danger of death oftener, and is far more trouble "to raise," than a girl. That what with a strong will and a fondness for climbing to high places born in the child, the woman who keeps her little boy from breaking his bones is a marvel. And on the whole, I don't know but I should side with the Woman's Rights folks if they would only change their form of words and say instead of "Man is a tyrant," "Man is bother." He certainly is if you care anything about him, and, on the whole, it is rather a thankless task to love him much as a general thing; and at the close of life old Granny Grey may lie down with the remark:

"I've worried about a number of men folks in my life, and I've cooked for good many too, and I don't know as I've band any thanks for it."

As for the other world, I believe angels are neither men or women, and I'm very glad to believe it too; else would there be some gentleman angel for whom I should be predestined to sit up late always.

The Chronicle.

Old Time Chronicles No. 75.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

GOV. MESHECH WEARE.—Mr. Weare was one of New Hampshire's distinguished men in the time of the Revolution. His place was not in the army and on the field of conflict, but at home his labors were abundant, planning, advising and counciling, and filling the most important civil offices with great ability and wisdom.

He was born in Hampton Falls, June 16, 1714, was son of Hon. Nathaniel Weare, who held important offices, and grandson of Hon. Nathaniel Weare, both of whom an account has been given in former articles.

Meshech Weare entered Harvard College in 1731 and graduated in 1735. He became a good business man in his own town, and acquiring the confidence of his fellow citizens he was chosen Representative to the Provincial Assembly, of which in 1752 he was made Speaker.

In 1754 he was one of the Commissioners of the Province to a Congress in Albany to form a union for protection against the invasions of the Indians and French. Previous to this he had been appointed Judge of the Court of Common Pleas. The date was 1748. In 1776 he was elevated to Chief Judge of the Supreme Court. He was Judge till 1782, in all 34 years. He was Councillor of Rockingham County for a series of years during the war, and from 1776 to 1783 President of the Province under the temporary Constitution. This was in fact the same as Governor now. At the same time he was a member of the Committee of Safety and much of the time Chairman. This Committee had great power in the direction of affairs when the Legislature was not in session. In 1784, the war having ended, a State Constitution had been formed and this year went into operation. Mr. Weare was chosen the first Chief Magistrate under the Constitution, but he was enfeebled and worn down by long devotion to the public service, and before the year was out, was obliged to resign and retire to private life. The remainder of his days were spent in the seclusion of his family and immediate friends. His life had been a busy, laborious one, and his energies had been used to the accomplishment of good purposes. The storm of war had passed, the British yoke thrown off and broken, and the free nation was springing into power and prosperity.

Few men of his time had a more accurate knowledge of the affairs of the State. None had been more industrious and faithful in the discharge of the duties of public trusts. In 1764 a large town in what is now Hillsborough County was incorporated and in honor of him, then a Judge, was named Weare. He died Jan. 15, 1786, aged 72. A few years ago a monument to his memory was erected at the expense of the State on the Common in Hampton Falls. It stands near where the first meeting house was built and is within 50 rods of the house owned by the Governor, and in which he died.

The first Sunday in the new house is a notable day. The is an entire absence of old landmarks, and a strange, wierd newness on everything, and you can't find your shaving soap. You start for a scuttle of coal, but you don't see the scuttle. It is in the bottom of a barrel in the garret. You take the dripping pan. When you change your shirt, you look for it first. It is in one of the bureau drawers, which are piled one upon another in the parlor, and you find you have got to lift a half ton of carpets and feather beds before you can get down to the drawers. After you have lifted them down and searched them through, it is remembered by your wife that the desired garment is in one of the barrels—the one in the shed, she thinks, although it may be the one in the garret, and yet it would be just like the stupid carman to have carried that barrel down cellar. You think so, too. You attack one of those barrels, and are surprised at the result. A bedquilt comes out first, then a pie tin, next a piece of cold ham neatly done up in your vest and packed away in the missing scuttle. Below is an assortment of iron ware and a length of stove-pipe, a half loaf of bread, a couple of towels, and a rolling pin. You begin to expect you will eventually come upon a coal mine, and perhaps some dead friend. Then you go down in that barrel again, and come up with a pleasing assortment of stockings and half-emptied medicine bottles. The way you come up this time leads you to consider the barrel itself. It has caught in the back of your vest and made the cloth let go; it took off one-half of the sleeve, and created a sensation on the back of your hand as if a bonfire had raged there. It is quite evident the cooper who built that barrel was called away before he commenced to clinch the nails. You involuntarily grasp the rolling pin and look around as if you half expected to see him. Then you call the girl to repack the barrel, and start up stairs to look after something that is easier to find, but finally change your mind, and pass the balance of the day in digging carpet tacks and worthless wood from the palms of your feet and concocting lies about the wealth of your uncle; and the moon looks through the window at night, and touches up with a glow of burnished silver, several lengths of stovepipe, a half dozen chairs, a sheet of dingy zinc, and a barrel with bedquilts foaming over the top.—Danbury News.

The Daily Chronicle,

Portsmouth, N. H.

TUESDAY, MAY 20, 1873.

Retribution.

Several years ago, Dorman B. Eaton, a New York lawyer, was obliged to flee to Europe to escape from the intrigues of James Fisk, Jr., who controlled judges and juries, and who it was asserted had hired a brace of ruffians to waylay Eaton. Having succeeded in getting Eaton out of his way, Fisk turned his attention to Edward S. Stokes, who had supplanted King Erie in the affections of Josephine Mansfield. Stokes was sued, his business ruined and his life threatened. Pursued so fiendishly, it is not strange that he avenged himself on his adversary, and deeming his own life in danger, summarily shot Fisk, feeling that he would probably not be convicted of the crime, as hanging seemed to be "played out."

With the demise of Fisk, Dorman B. Eaton came once more to the front, and has energetically followed up Fisk's tools. He drew up a bill legislating the police justices of New York city out of office, labored untiringly until it passed the legislature and had the satisfaction of seeing it become a law on Saturday, Governor Dix having signed it. The announcement created considerable excitement among the smaller and more notorious politicians, to whom the bill is of even more practical importance than the new charter. Dowling, Cox, Scott, Ledwith, and their associates of police-court jurisprudence, are all removed from office by the bill, though they are to continue in office until their successors are appointed. Two or three of the present incumbents threaten to dispute the constitutionality of the act removing them from office, but there is little encouragement for them to press the matter to an issue, Francis Kernan having just made an ineffectual constitutional argument in their behalf before a legislative committee. The bill provides for the appointment by the mayor and confirmation by the aldermen of ten police justices at annual salaries of $8000, any citizen under 60 years of age being eligible.

Prof. Denton says we all came from fishes. To eat fishes, therefore, is to eat our own flesh and blood. A lobster is our brother and a clam is our mother! Well, we love them both.

Cain and Rainier, two of the colored Congressmen from South Carolina, have nominated white youths who excelled in the competitive examination for West Point cadetships. Mr. Cain has also nominated a colored youth, who stood a similar test, to a naval cadetship. Representative J. H. It is proposed to build a union railroad station at North Berwick, where the Boston and Maine Railroad crosses the Portland, Saco and Portsmouth road.

The latest despatches from the Modoc expedition report that the Indians have abandoned their last stronghold, and are encamped on Snow Mountain, whither Hasbrouck's command was despatched on the 26th, while Mason's remained at the lava beds.

The Republican press of Indiana seems to be almost unanimously in favor of Oliver P. Morton for President in 1876.

A brutal murder was committed in the negro quarter of New York on Friday night, Mary Jane Sullivan, a young white woman, being beaten to death by a negro named Joe James, with whom she lived.

"Josh Billings," who is Mr. Shaw, of Poughkeepsie, has been written up by the Poughkeepsie Eagle. He gets $100 a week from the New York Weekly; has a desk there and at Carleton's. He gets $1,500, three cents a copy, for dedicating his first Almanac to the Weekly publishers, and $1,500, two cents a copy, for dedicating the second. He is now worth $41,000 clear of all debts. He has written a new lecture, "Beauty and the Beast," and is going to the Adirondacks this summer, and perhaps to Europe by-and-by.

A DIVING TORPEDO.—There is now lying at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, a torpedo-boat, invented by Abraham Halstead, of Jersey City. It is built of iron, about thirty-two feet long and seven feet wide at the middle. In shape it resembles a very fat cigar, its rounded back only lying out of the water. Its appearance entitles it to the name of "Intelligent Whale," bestowed on it by its inventor. In principle it is a boat-shaped diving-bell, the bottom being open, to enable its occupants to work upon the bottom or sides of the vessel or other object to be destroyed. In each end is an air-tank, and when in use, air is allowed to escape till the boat is entirely under water, when it is propelled by an ordinary propeller screw turned by hand. It has two rudders placed at right angles to each other, and can be guided up or down as well as to either side. The cask containing the explosive may be taken in tow or carried in the prow, ready to be attached to the enemy's vessel, where it is to be exploded with carefully graduated fuse, with an arrangement of clockwork, or with electric wires which are paid out of the torpedo boat as it withdraws a safe distance.

The boat as thus described does not greatly differ from other inventions of its kind. Its distinguished characteristic is an apparatus by which the carbonic acid gas exhaled from the lungs is absorbed and oxygen supplied. This process is, as yet, a secret. A recent experiment near the dry dock resulted very satisfactorily to the officers of the Navy Yard. Mr. Halstead and family have, on several occasions, remained in the boat under water for periods of three or four hours.

A TOUCHING INCIDENT.—A short time since, in this city, says the Covington (Ky.) Journal, a brilliant and much admired lady, who had been suffering for some time with a trouble of the eyes, was led to fear a speedy change for the worse, and immediately consulted her physician. An examination discovered a sudden and fatal failing in the optic nerve, and the information was imparted as gently as possible, that the patient could not retain her sight more than a few days at most, and was liable to be totally deprived of it at any moment. The afflicted mother returned to her home, quietly made such arrangements as would occur to one about to commence so dark a journey of life, and then had her two little children, attired in their brightest and sweetest costumes, brought before her; and so, with their little faces lifted to hers, and tears gathering for some great misfortune that they hardly realized, the light faded out of the mother's eyes, leaving an ineffaceable picture of those dearest to her on earth—a memory of bright faces that will console her in many a dark hour.

When we fail to get good live advertisements at paying rates, our readers will have a jubilee, as we shall begin the republication of the new Testament for the edification of those that have never been called upon by the agents of the Bible.—Kokomo Republican.

—A young lady at Troy, while engaged in a conversation with a gentleman, spoke of having resided in St. Louis. "Was St. Louis your native place?" inquired the gentleman. "Well, yes, part of the time," answered the lady.

It is said that there is a boy in Concord, N. H., who can repeat the multiplication table backwards, and he is only nine years old. We know that boy. We were never in Concord, but we know him. We lived next door to that boy when we were a boy, and it is not so long ago but that we remember him distinctly. He always went to bed at eight o'clock and had a slight cough. He brushed his hair back of his ears, and carried a store handkerchief, and when he played marbles it was to win. He always got home from school before we did, and employed the interval in detailing to his mother the "beltin'" that boy next door was getting. And indeed we were getting it, but there was no special interest in it for other folks. He was the model boy, the boy our parents used to point to, and speak of in tones of mingled admiration and regret, while uniting us for licking on anything harder than a poulice. He never ran away from school, nor stole money, but he used to throw mud on old people when they weren't looking, and unselfishly throw the credit on us. And then to see that boy come around into our yard with jam on his bread! that was the last feather—that was the climax to all the sorrows our young heart knew. We could have willingly forgiven everything else, but that jam upset us. It went right down into our hearts, and it rankles therein yet. It sent us into the house bawling for jam, and getting it, but not on our bread. We remember that with ghastly distinctness.—Montgomery Bailey.

—A revengeful traveller on a certain railroad packed a carpet bag full of revolvers, and handed it to a gentleman-ly baggage smasher, who had ruined three or four trunks for him already. The smasher flung the bag against the wall savagely, and then threw it on the floor and stamped on it, and jumped up and down on it, as usual. At about the fourth jump firing began along the whole line. Forty-six revolvers went off in rapid succession, distributing bullets around the car with disgusting carelessness of the legs of the smasher, who was shot in six places before he could get out of the car. He rode upon the platform during the whole of that trip; and when he did enter the car he incased his legs in stove pipe, and ran an iron-clad snow plow in front of him to push the baggage out with. He smashes, perhaps, fewer carpet bags now than he once did in the blissful past—much fewer; and he is filled with gloom. The only boon he craves is that he may be present when the carpet-bag owner calls for his check. He says there will then be a conflict which will make the Franco-German war appear perfectly ridiculous.

—A few days ago the Newport News was exultant over a cat, in that city, that daily washes its face in a basin. Its exchanges took up the item and added such improvements that the editor is wrathful at the stupidity that hindered him from seeing his chance to tell a good story, and says that he soon expects to read that the cat wipes its face on a towel, puts on Lubin's powder with a puff, and cleans its claws with a nail brush.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Believers and Skeptics

Are astonished at the wonderful manifestations attributed to spirits, at No. 13 Court street, where Mrs. M. Sunderland Cooper, the original New England medium, has taken rooms for a short time. Lovers of the marvelous and honest investigators are offered every opportunity to ferret out the mystery in a public "circle" or at a private sitting, the manifestations not requiring darkness. Hearing that Mrs. Cooper was creating quite a sensation in spiritualistic circles, our reporter sought an interview and finding a convenient opportunity, waited for developments. While conversing with the lady, a series of low raps were heard in various parts of the room, and Mrs. Cooper placed a small lead pencil on a porcelain slate, held the slate in the palm of the right hand under the table, and placed her left hand on the table, still conversing. The sound as of some one writing was heard and the pencil soon dropped on the floor. On the slate, the reporter found the name of a deceased friend, written in phonographic characters, and it occurred to him that the friend was the only one deceased who was acquainted with short-hand writing. Again the slate was placed under the table, as before, and on the side next the medium's hand was written "comrade," plainly and distinctly. The pencil could not be found and has not since been seen.

Then the reporter thought he would do a thing or two, and held the slate on the tips of his fingers and thumb. In a half minute it slipped slowly across the digits and fell to the floor. This was done repeatedly. Verbal questions were answered by raps in the affirmative and negative, and some on the slate. The reporter began writing questions on a slate and instantly the hand of the medium began to move and she wrote answers on another slate as she sat at the opposite side of the table in a position in which she could not see the questions. The name of a mutual friend being called for and the medium being unable to write it, the reporter began writing a list of names, and a silence of some seconds ensued, until he wrote the name he desired the medium to write, when three distinct raps were heard on the table under the slate. Being an unbeliever in spiritualism, he of course could not account for the demonstrations, but was convinced that Mrs. Cooper could not cause them by trickery. She was not in a trance state, being a rapping and writing medium. An hour at Mrs. Cooper's circles can be profitably spent by those desiring to investigate.

"Art Treasures of Germany."

No subject under discussion in America at the present day is more calculated to interest young and old than fine Art. Its influence, and intimate acquaintance with it, is of incalculable benefit in it development of culture and refinement, particularly in youthful minds. "Art Treasures of Germany" is published by A. H. Payne & Co. of Leipzig, and S. Walker & Co. of Boston are sole agents for the United States. The work places the reproductions of the finest paintings in the world, executed in inimitable style, on the parlor-table, and one need not go abroad to see and recognize them. The plates are engraved from the finest paintings in Central Europe by the leading engraving house of the world. They are accompanied by histories of the original paintings and biographies of the artists, from the pen of Prof. Dr. Woltman, the ablest art critic in Europe. The supply is limited to 1500 sets for the United States, being the first 1500 impressions from the steel plate. They are furnished in numbers at fifty cents each, each number containing four engravings which could not be sold by any picture dealer for less than $2.50 apiece. Mr. L. H. Bugbee, the only travelling agent, is in this city and will remain but a few days. He will call upon our leading citizens during the week and we are convinced that people of culture and refinement will gladly give him audience and not consider him in the light of a casual agent bore peddling doubtful wares. The engravings need no praise and while Mr. Bugbee is pleased to exhibit them, those on whom he calls will be none the less pleased to look them over.

A Race for a Ride.

Running after a railroad train in rapid motion rarely amounts to much, except to raise a laugh from the bystanders at the runner's expense, but we witnessed an instance recently in which the laugh was on the other side, at the last. The train from this city for Boston was detained at Ipswich by a car getting off the track, said car being in the middle of the train; and about twenty of the passengers, including a number of railroad men, "drummers," the news agent and Pullman-car conductor of the train, and other regular railroad travellers, with one particularly fat and well dressed farmer, got out at the depot while the train was being made up afresh. When this was done and the engine came puffing up to the station, the crowd of passengers gathered up their valises and bundles ready to jump aboard; but the train moved swiftly by the depot without a stop, nobody seeming to care save the fat old farmer, who struck out after the receding train, (amid the laughter and jeers of his knowing fellow passengers,) shouting swinging his carpet-bag and making tremendous speed, but to no purpose. In a few minutes the train came backing down to the depot again, having switched off upon another line of rails, and again the old farmer excited the derision of the other parties by starting off at a gallop, to get on board; but the train did not come near the depot; it moved rapidly away for Boston, leaving about twenty disappointed passengers on the depot platform, swearing both loud and deep at the railroad and conductor, the general disappointment and rage being not a bit lessened by the sight of the old farmer being dragged upon the rear platform of the last car, by a dozen willing hands twisted in his coat collar, hair and coat tails. The left-behinds looked guilty at each other, and the remark of one of them, "Well, we had a —— good laugh at the old fellow, anyway," failed to restore their mirth, each unlucky individual being painfully aware that for once in his life he had been a trifle too smart.

The Union Concert.

The first rehearsal of the music to be sung at the grand Union Concert in aid of the Portsmouth Music Society, was held at Irving Hall on Sunday evening. Many of the singers who were members of the Old Folks' choir in "days of auld lang syne" were present, and under the direction of Mr. Amos Pearson and with the accompaniment of Harlow's splendid orchestra, the old "song our fathers sang" were given "with a right good will." The concert is to be given within a month, tickets to be placed at twenty-five cents each and a mixed programme of sacred and secular music to be decided upon. Miss Agnes Plummer is to preside at the piano and it is expected the various church choirs will give choice selections. A club of gentlemen, twelve in number, are rehearsing several pieces for the occasion, and other attractions will be offered. Three or four more rehearsals only will be necessary, the next occurring on Sunday evening, May 26th.

The Lingards

Are coming next Tuesday evening with a new company, new programme and new songs. They drew a large audience at their last appearance here, and will do so again, doubtless, regardless of Barnum.

Laconics.

Arrangements have been pefected for the Boston "Sons" to leave for Portsmouth on a special train, July 4th, at seven o'clock.

Meeting of the Fourth of July committee to-morrow evening.

The Fakir of Vishnu makes quite a sensation daily, parading the principal present to be awarded his exhibition about the streets, with tenor and bass drums. The Fakir's success still continues because, probably, he fulfils his promises. He disposes of about five tickets to every person in the audience, on the average, and so can afford to give valuable presents.

Capt. Frisbee, who was reported murdered in New York, by Dame Rumor on Sunday, called on us Monday morning to deny the statement, and is of the opinion that he still sails schooner Free Wind and would be likely to know if he had been transplanted from his sphere of usefulness here.

The ladies of the Fourth of July committee will meet this afternoon at the Common Council room at four o'clock.

Murder at Nashua.

Jesse Diehl, who says he is from York, Pennsylvania, shot and mortally wounded Robert E. Blair, a painter at Whittemore's stable, Nashua, Sunday afternoon. Rum is the supposed cause of the act. Diehl was arrested.

SONOMA WINE BITTERS.—We do not often refer to advertisements of bitters, in way of commendation, but the standing of the old house of James Dingley & Co., and the long trial of Sonoma Wine Bitters, seem to impart to this favorite tonic a reputation for all that is desirable for spring or summer use. These bitters are for sale everywhere.

BY comparison of Statistics from sworn returns of the sales of Sewing Machines for 1871 and 1872, it shows that the
"DOMESTIC"
SEWING MACHINE CO.'S sales have increased over 375 per cent. while no other Co.'s sales have increased over 36 per cent., proving the great popularity of the "DOMESTIC."

Domestic Sewing Machine Co.,	gain	375	per cent.
Wheeler & Wilson	"	36	"
Singer	"	23	"
Grover & Baker	"	5	"
Weed	"	5	"
Wilcox & Gibbs	"	12	"
Wilson	"	8	"

If the increase in sales be any criterion of merit the "DOMESTIC" bears the palm.
The "DOMESTIC" works so easy, it is working itself into every family.
The "DOMESTIC" runs so light, it is distancing all competitors. It only asks a few days trial.
The "DOMESTIC" is recommend by the Medical Faculty.

SOMNAMBULISM.—The New Hampshire somnambulistic boy, who goes about hitting people on the head with a hatchet, has an imitator up in Fairview, Erie County. It is related that, one of the bitter cold nights the past winter, a boy of that borough, aged about twelve years, rose in his sleep, and, clad only in boy's nocturnal garb and a pair of stockings, went through the frosty air and deep snow one-quarter of a mile to the house of a neighbor, informed them that burglars had effected an entrance into the house, and solicited aid. The neighbor cross-questioned the youth, the result of which was that the boy's statement appeared to be straight and correct. After routing the neighbors, hunting for revolvers, and a general hullabaloo, an armed party made for the house where the boy had stated that the burglars had been operating. They approached carefully, slyly effected an entrance, and imagine their surprise when they found the family reading quietly by the fire-side. They stated that they supposed the boy was sleeping in bed. He slept in the chamber, and in a somnambulistic mood crawled out of a back window and down to the ground, when he was off for the neighbors for assistance.—Titusville (Pa.) Courier.

LEVEL-HEADED LOVERS.—A singular marriage was recently made by a fascinating lady school-teacher in a Kentucky country town. First she rejected him, but he behaved with so much dignity under the mortification of her refusal, neither getting drunk nor hating her, and manifested so many signs of earnest affection, that she relented and wrote him a note informing him that she had reconsidered. The young man, all aglow with happiness, hastened to her side, and insisted on immediate marriage. But here an unlooked-for obstacle intervened. Her school term was but half out, and the stone-hearted directors refused to cancel her engagement except at the expense of forfeiture of the half term. Lover was importunate. Finally the lady consented to compromise. She bounced into the young man's buggy and was driven to Danville, where the knot was hastily tied. Then she went back to her school and the groom went about his business, with the understanding that he was not to see her or "pester" her in any way until next July, when her term will be finished.

IRON in the BLOOD.

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes the Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested, and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, enriching our morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

The Chronicle.

SHOOTING THE RAPIDS. The steamer L. Lennad left Cornwall on Monday morning at 5 o'clock, to make her usual trip to Montreal, touching at Beauharnois and other points. She had on board from 125 to 150 passengers, and as she neared the famed Lachine Rapids the decks were crowded in anticipated excitement of the "shooting." The vessel was staunch, the captain an experienced waterman, acquainted with the St. Lawrence, and the pilot trustworthy. When the travellers entered into the bubbling channel and listened to the roar of the breakers they experienced no misgivings of danger. But suddenly, as the steamer veered the Cheval Rouge, an ominous crack was heard, then a thump, accompanied by a violent rocking, and, immediately after, a tremendous crash, as if the black hull were rent in twain.

The terror on board was then intense, as the appearances seemed to betoken instant destruction to all the passengers. It was soon discovered that the vessel had struck on a shoal of the north side, about twenty or thirty yards above the pitch of the rapids. The water at once rushed up, and within three minutes the fires were quenched. The blow-pipe broke and the steam escaped in hissing columns. An elderly gentleman from Beauharnois was scalded on the neck and face, and up to the half of his forehead the skin peeled off completely. His is a sad plight, and the physicians fear that if he has breathed any of the steam into his lungs, the result may be fatal. His daughter, a child of five or six years of age, had both hands, both legs, and the right cheek very severely scalded. Two or three ladies were likewise more or less burned, but their wounds are not serious.

The position being critical in the extreme, Capt. Rankins manned a boat, and taking four of the passengers with him rowed over to Isle-aux-Heron, the nearest point of land within easy distance. A second boat, commanded by Mr. J. S. Tanguay, of St. Anicet, and Mr. McFee, merchant, of Beauharnois, followed to the island with ten passengers. The pilot took out a third boat with fifteen ladies and gentlemen. When once upon the island it was found impossible, owing to the rapidity of the current, to return with the boats to the wreck, so the Captain dispatched two men to the Laprairie side in quest of canoes, the only species of craft available for the purpose. With the usual perverse greed of human nature which preys upon misfortune, the canoe men haggled for the price of their services, asking as much as $2 a head for every person rescued from the imperiled steamer. Of course, there was no time to bargain, and the terms were accepted. The canoes then shot with the foaming waters. With marvelous bravery, consummate prudence, and indefatigable perseverence the hardy canotiers succeeded in taking of boat after boat, to the Isle-aux-Heron. All night long the dreary ferrying went on under the favoring light of the moon. The island contains only one house, but that was thrown open by the kindly host and hostess, and the ladies at least had a shelter from the blackness and damp of the night.

Early yesterday morning a pioneer boat was launched by Mr. Tanguay and Mr. Larocque, of Valleyfield, accompanied by Miss Larocque and Miss L. H. Nasson, of Coteau Landing, who floated the river for about three-quarters of an hour and landed at the second mile-post along the Lachine Road. Two boats followed, and in this way the whole of the passengers were brought to the main-land. Thence the ladies came to the city in carriages, and many of the gentlemen trudged on foot.

The passengers with whom we have conversed on the casualty regard their escape as little short of miraculous. If the vessel had struck twenty feet further in the channel, where there were twenty fathoms of water, they would all inevitably have perished in the rush of the rapids. The cause of the accident will, of course, be fully investigated, but we are informed that it lies in the fact that the boat took a sheer, in spite of the Captain and pilot. The conduct of the Captain is bitterly complained of by the passengers. Though his motive was doubtless good, it seems clear that he should not have been the first to leave his vessel, but should have remained to encourage the frightened passengers, maintain order, and watch the safety of those intrusted to his care. The baggage of the passengers will all be saved, as well as much of the cargo. The vessel itself is a total wreck. She is five or six years old, and is worth about $25,000. She belongs to the company of which Hon. L. Renaud and C. S. Rodier, Jr., Esq., are the chief directors. The work of salvage will proceed without delay. Messrs. A. Buntin & Co. had about $5,000 worth of paper on board.—Montreal Gazette.

—The prohibitory law has been in force in Boston about a fortnight, and Monday there were eighty-three prisoners in court on the charge of drunkenness, the largest number of such cases on any one morning for two years, the day after fourth of July and St. Patrick's day excepted.

A gallery in Sing Sing prison, New York, fell Sunday morning, killing one convict and wounding eighteen others, two seriously. A coroner's jury has returned a verdict in which the legislature is found culpable in not providing means to render the galleries secure.

There is a good deal in the remark of the Buffalo Express—"It is all very well to talk about the dignity of the United States, but the truth is, Indians are a good deal like bumble-bees, and the man that stands on his dignity with a nest of bumble-bees is a fool."

A. T. Stewart's partners are Mr. Libby, of New York, and Mr. Fox, of Manchester, England. In the event of Mr. Stewart's death, it is difficult to predict what would become of his vast commercial interests. Probably Mr. Libby would succeed to their entire control for the present. He is a man of great executive ability, and is virtually now in control.

George G. Wilbur, a wool buyer for the State of Georgia during the rebellion, and later a cotton speculator and agent for the Washington Mills at Coventry, R. I., was held in $12,000 for trial, at Boston on Monday, on a charge of swindling. He was found on a plantation in Georgia, to which place he had retired to get rid of some $60,000 he owes in Rhode Island.

About $150,000 in securities has been recovered from Coe, the Boston forger.

The most accommodating man we ever saw, says the Danbury News was the captain of a steamship which plied between New York and Port Royal during the war. One day a soldier lost his hat overboard, and went to the captain about it. The old gentleman said it was impossible to stop the vessel to recover it, but he kindly offered to make a mark on the rail where it went overboard, and get it when he came back. We saw him make the mark ourselves, and well remember that in all that motley crowd there was not a single dry eye.

Dr. Baker, who was murdered at Camden, Me., had $10,000 insurance on his life, and at her property to the amount of $20,000. Miss Mink, his paramour and supposed murderer is in the State Prison at Thomaston; she has a good education, and has been a school teacher. There are strong suspicions of a third person, either as the actual murderer or as an accomplice. Dr. Baker leaves one son, a boy 11 years of age.

Joseph Waltz, of Hudson, N. Y., murdered a scissors-grinder for a small sum of money, and buried the body. He has been arrested, and has confessed the crime; also that he had previously burned three schoolhouses and stolen the books in them.

A grain elevator in Toledo, Ohio, was burned on Monday; loss $160,000. The shops of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad at Aurora, Ill., were burned Sunday; loss $250,000. A powder mill near Halifax, N. S., blew up Saturday night, destroying much property but causing no loss of life.

The surviving veterans of the 5th regiment of N. H. Volunteers will hold their regular annual reunion, on the anniversary of the battle of Antietam, Sept. 17th, at Pennacook Lake, Concord.

A meeting of the depositors in the Exeter Savings Bank was held in the Exeter town hall Monday afternoon. About 400 were present—one-fourth ladies—of the whole number of 1600 depositors. It is reported that the depositors would receive 70 per cent. if the bond of $35,000 will be not collectable, which is not decided yet on account of informalities. A motion to sue the bondsmen was laid on the table, as Mr. Woodbridge Odlin for the trustees, stated that a suit would be commenced should their counsel advise it. A committee was chosen to report at an adjourned meeting, the 31st instant, as to the advisability of forming a new savings bank, to receive and pay the funds of the old one pro rata.

The Grand Lodge F. A. M. of the State of New Hampshire will hold their annual meeting at Masonic Temple, Concord, to-day. The Grand Chapter met on Tuesday and the Grand Council on Monday evening.

The Nashua Murder.

The evidence before the coroner's inquest at Nashua, on the body of Robert E. Blair, shows that his murderer, Jesse Diehl, is a worthless fellow and keeper of a vile and disorderly den of infamy; also that he had repeatedly threatened to murder Blair on account of his supposed intimacy with his (Diehl's) mistress. The murder was committed in cold blood, Diehl taking his pistol from his pocket, aiming it at Blair, then putting it in his pocket again, and finally drawing it out and shooting his victim; there was no dispute or hard talking. The body of Blair was taken in charge by the Masonic fraternity, and put in the tomb belonging to the order, to await the disposal of his friends. Diehl was arraigned for willful murder, Monday, and trembled so violently when the complaint was being read that the presiding magistrate ordered a chair to be furnished him; he seemed to be controlled by the most abject fear.

EPISCOPAL BISHOP OF MASSACHUSETTS.—Rev. Dr. Benjamin H Paddock, Bishop elect of the Episcopal diocese of Massachusetts, is a son of the late Rev. S. B. Paddock, of Norwich, Conn., and a brother of Rev. John A. Paddock, D. D., rector of St Peter's. He graduated from Trinity College, Hartford, in 1848, with the highest honors, and soon after entered the ministry. It is understood that he will accept the responsible position tendered him.

We would like to see farmers raising a greater variety of vegetables in their gardens and using them on their tables. Citizens have twice if not thrice the variety of vegetable food that graces the tables of countrymen. Market gardeners keep them supplied, while the farmers fail to supply themselves. A few dishes of peas and a few heads of lettuce in a year satisfy most countrymen, while the citizen has these vegetables half the year round. By a little painstaking in sowing a succession of crops we can have green peas, green corn and other good green things for a much longer time than generally is the case, and by a little more painstaking in canning we can have them in winter as well as summer. We especially desire to commend to farmers the cultivation of asparagus. It comes early, produces a score of crops each season, is very delicious, very healthful, and when once started requires comparatively little care. We know no crop that produces so much good food for a little labor, and still we see many gardens without an asparagus bed.

Celery is another vegetable worthy of more general culture. It requires more labor in its cultivation than asparagus, but it is a great luxury in winter when green food is scarce, and its healthful effects compensate for all the labor it demands. It can be grown after peas and does not require the deep trenches once used in its cultivation.

One great secret of success in gardening is to secure good seed. The seed gives a character to the plant as surely as the sire to his offspring. Much old and otherwise worthless seed is palmed off by growers and dealers, and the only sure way to get the genuine thorough-bred is to raise your own, or purchase of some reliable grower.—Pittsfield Eagle.

—Calcraft, the London hangman, has retired from the profession, the last recipient of his attention being a Mrs. Cotton, of Durham. He told her that she was "the last one on whom he should put a night-cap," though he would like to end his official life "by hanging a newspaper reporter."

—Wit loses its respect with the good when seen in company with malice; and to smile at the jest which plants a thorn in another's breast is to become a principal in the mischief.

—Mr. P. S. Gilmore will soon make a western trip with his military and orchestral bands, giving concerts on the way to and from Chicago, intending to be absent about three weeks.

FOR ALL LOCALITIES AND CLIMES.—A true specific is adapted to all localities and climes, and for this reason, that it strikes at the causative principle of the diseases which it is administered to cure. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, for example, is a true specific, not only because it fortifies the body against the external influences which prompt disease, but because, when taken as a remedy instead of as a preventive, it neutralizes the infective principle in the blood and thereby destroys the primary source of the ailment. Hence as an antidote to epidemic disorders, and to all complaints which are produced or aggravated by miasma, or the presence of anything deleterious in the air, the water or the soil, it is as nearly infallible as any medicinal preparation can be. In our own country, as a remedy for intermittent fevers, bilious affections, constipation, dyspepsia, nervous weakness, rheumatism and general debility, it is unrivalled, nor is it less celebrated in the tropics as a preventive of malarious fevers.

LIKE REGULARS ON DRESS PARADE the teeth should always be scrupulously clean and free from blemish. Keep them in this condition with the incomparable SOZODONT, and when they are veterans in the service they will still be as "good as new."

THE BEST AND CHEAPEST Boots, Shoes, and Gaiters, for all ages and sexes, are constantly offered by T. E. Moseley & Co., 293 Washington street, Boston,—both imported and of their own manufacture.

SUICIDE COMMITTED, as the result of an inactive state of liver and stomach, producing headache, obtuse intellect, dullness, despondency, dementia, and finally insanity, is no uncommon occurrence. All of these disagreeable symptoms and bad feelings are most certainly dispelled by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It revitalizes and builds up the whole system. A little book on chronic diseases sent free. Address R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y. 680

MESSRS. JAMES DINGLEY & Co., announce their favorite "SONOMA WINE BITTERS," which they believe the best in the market for spring and summer use, as they are lacking in the fiery spirit which renders bitters objectionable to so many persons.

FOR BREAKFAST, Cocoa has become a favorite wherever it has been introduced. Medical men recommend it as preferable to tea or coffee for nervous or delicate constitutions. Walter Baker & Co., Boston, have achieved the highest reputation for their preparations of Chocolate and Cocoa, which are sold everywhere.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Accident.

A serious and probably fatal accident occurred at the Eastern Railroad depot on Tuesday morning, at about half-past 8 o'clock. Mr. William Nellins, for some time past employed in the store of the Bureau of Navigation at the Navy Yard, was at the depot waiting to see a friend off by the 8.20 train for Boston; as the train entered the depot his companion stepped across the track, and Mr. Nellins a moment later attempted to follow him, but unfortunately stumbled and fell, in such a position that the engine passed over his left leg, crushing the bone and mangling the flesh in a frightful manner, the sinews of the thigh also being pulled out, and the thigh-bone laid bare to the hip. Besides these terrible injuries he received a blow, probably from the parallel-rod of the engine, which tore open his cheek and badly disfigured his face. He was immediately taken home, but we understand that there is no hope of his recovery, his loss of blood having been great and the shock to his system of course excessive. He is about thirty-five years of age, and has a family consisting of a wife and two or more children, residing on Gardner street in this city.

A Feline Nurse.

A paragraph concerning a cat which has hatched out a brood of chickens has been going the rounds of the press lately, and doubtless there are people who believe it. As a cat story we think it difficult to beat, and we shall not try it; but there is a cat of the Thomas variety in this city, who steals every litter of kittens or puppies he can find, treating them with the utmost kindness after they are stolen. Some time ago a black-and-tan terrier at the house where this cat lives got tired of mauling him for stealing her puppies or looking into their box, and at last allowed him to take up his residence in the box; and thereafter it was common to see the cat holding a puppy tenderly in his paws and washing it all over, while the mother looked complacently on. Recently a litter of kittens was carried from the house and put in a building some distance away, as an inducement for the mother cat to remain there and clean out the mice with which it is infested; this result was attained, and more; for the old Tom, missing his pets from their accustomed comer in the cellar, soon traced them to their new home and installed himself as their nurse, purring vigorously when the kittens crawl over him and clawing their mother over the head if she ventures to intrude upon him and his stolen family. The old rascal is perfectly aware that he is a usurper, for though he has always hitherto been annoyingly tame, he now jumps out of the kittens' basket and scoots under the floor on the approach of any member of the family. Another odd trait of this dishonest cat is that though always ready to use his teeth and claws on the slightest provocation from a grown person, no amount of rough handling by children has ever won from him a scratch or a bite.

P. T. Barnum to the Public.

Editors Chronicle:—In consequence of the immense throngs that have crowded my exhibitions daily since leaving New York, thousands being invariably turned away for want of room, I am admonished that my Manager has made a mistake in arranging for one day only in your city. As, however, we are advertised three months in advance, it is impossible to make any change at this late day. In view of this, I would respectfully urge ladies, children, and all who can do so, to attend the 10 A. M. exhibitions, as those are rarely crowded, our performers and animals are fresh, and the entertainments are in every respect as full and complete as those in the afternoon or evening. The public's obd't serv't,

P. T. BARNUM.

Our readers may remember the exploits of a "confidence man" in this city about two years ago, said confidence man representing himself to be a timber merchant from Savannah, and in that capacity selling to Mr. Littlefield, the ship-builder, a large lot of timber, after which he contracted with Wm. Downs & Son for a large amount of pork and beef, as a return cargo for his lumber schooner. In connection with these transactions he borrowed several small sums of money, "preferring not to draw on the bank until his vessel arrived," but was finally suspected, arrested just as he was leaving on the train and compelled to disgorge most of the money, after which he was allowed to escape. Soon after he left, a notice reached our police that the fellow was "wanted" at Newburyport, where he had sold large quantities of ship timber to the builders, contracted for numerous return cargoes of beef and pork for his lumber schooner, ordered several suits of clothes, and ended by borrowing a little money and a valuable great coat, with which he made his escape. Another of his exploits was victimizing the good people of Hampton by buying all their potatoes and wood to load his schooner, the trouble being that no schooner was to be found in the river when the laden carts were driven down; nor could the landlord of the hotel find his honored guest, when he went to present his little bill. One Allen alias Boyd alias half a dozen other names, arrested in Boston last week for forgery and swindling, turns out to be the peripatetic seller of timber and merchants, and buyer of schooners' cargoes at high prices. He is trapped at last, but says he don't care a snap.—that he has always had plenty of money, worn good clothes, ate and drank of the best, and moved in far better society than he could have done had he been an honest man and worked for his living. He says they may keep him in jail for the rest of his life, but they can't take away the good time he has had.

Brown Brothers & Co., of New York, have been victimized by an "indiscreet" correspondent in Mobile to the tune of $120,000 or more—one account says $600,000.

Laconics.

Mr. Josiah P. Frisbee, of Kittery Point, died in Boston on Sunday of cerebro-spinal meningitis. He was a member of St. John's Lodge of Freemasons, of this city, and was also an Odd Fellow, and will be buried at Kittery Point to-day, by the two Orders.

The trial of Michael McGlynn of Nashua, on a charge of stealing a letter and forging a post-office money order, resulted in a verdict of acquital, Monday, before the circuit court in this city.

Gov. Straw has offered to Colonel A. M. Eastman, for the Direct United States Cable Company, a site at Rye for landing the Atlantic cable which is to be laid next year.

Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett will deliver an address at Gilmanton on Memorial Day.

The 5th Avenue Theatre Combination, Mr. Chas. Furbish manager, will present "Divorce" at the Temple this evening. The representations of this piece have been crowded and highly praised in other cities, and it will doubtless have a good audience tonight. See advertisement.

A Great Falls fireman, named Pitman, paid the penalty of losing an election bet, by hauling a hose carriage from Somersworth to this city on Tuesday, arriving here at 7 o'clock in the evening. He was received and entertained by Kearsarge Engine Co., No. 3, who turned out in uniform and with a drum corps, and escorted him to his quarters. He started from Somersworth at twenty minutes before five in the morning, and arrived at the Kittery end of Portsmouth bridge at 3:20 in the afternoon. He was accompanied by the man with whom the wager was made, and one other.

The school house in Dist. No. 3, in Eliot, Me., was burned Monday night by an incendiary.

The Banner Billiard Hall on Vaughan street, after being closed a short time for alterations and improvements, will open again on Thursday evening, May 22d. Two new Briggs tables, with patent wire cushions, have been substituted for two of the old tables, and the proprietor considers that he now has the best set of tables in the city, and requests lovers of the game to give him a call.

What's Riled Him?

Messrs. Editors:—The local organ-grinder complains that Mr. Shannon's horse is stabled at the City Stable, which is true,—and it is also true that the bills are paid. Somebody or something has evidently put the organ-grinder out of humor; perhaps the race he was induced to take a few evenings since with an indignant citizen at his heels was the cause thereof.

WHO WAS IT?

BY comparison of Statistics from sworn returns of the sales of Sewing Machines for 1871 and 1872, it shows that the

"DOMESTIC"

SEWING MACHINE CO. sales have increased over 375 per cent., while no other Co.'s sales have increased over 36 per cent., proving the great popularity of the "DOMESTIC."

Wheeler & Wilson	"	36	"
Singer	"	23	"
Grover & Baker	"	5	"
Weed	"	2	"
Wilcox & Gibbs	"	6	"
Wilson	"	8	"

If the increase in sales be any criterion of merit the "DOMESTIC" bears the palm.

The "DOMESTIC" works so easy, it is working itself into every family.

The "DOMESTIC" runs so light, it is distancing all competitors. It only asks a few days trial.

The "DOMESTIC" is recommend by the Medical Faculty.

ORDINANCE NO. 4.

SEC. 3.—All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, &c. shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 11. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 14. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 17. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

RICH SCENE IN A SMOKING CAR.—An amusing incident occurred recently on the smoking car of a C., C. C., and I. Railroad train between Shelby and this city. A woman with a poodle dog entered the car just prior to the departure of the train from the former point, and after depositing her dog on one seat, turned over the back of another one, so that each seat faced the other. Together she and her canine companion thus monopolized two entire seats.

Appearances seemed to indicate that the car was one exclusively for the convenience of those addicted to the use of the "weed;" but of this fact she was soon apprised by the conductor, who advised her to obtain a seat in another car, informing her at the same time that the accommodations in the way of seats in the other coaches were superior to those where she was then. However, she insisted on remaining, urging that her presence would deter the occupants of the car from smoker, and she would consequently experience no discomfort from tobacco fumes. Long before the train reached this city, however, a gentleman sitting directly in front of her produced his case and, taking therefrom a cigar, began puffing away at it in a manner which seemed peculiarly calculated to aggravate the woman back of him. In an instant, by a strategic movement, she wrested the obnoxious cigar from his mouth and threw it out of the window, exclaiming, "If there is anything I do hate, it is tobacco smoke."

The passengers who had witnessed the affair were convulsed with laughter, but the offending smoking suppressed whatever emotions may have been struggling for expression in words or action, and maintained throughout the same imperturbable gravity which had characterized him from the first. Calmly rising from his seat, he opened the window nearest him, fastening it up, and reaching over the seat back of him, took that woman's poodle dog and threw him out of the window as far beyond as possible, at the same time saying, "If there is anything I do hate, it's a poodle dog!"

The scene which followed beggars description. The car resounded with peal after peal of laughter, and as the extreme ludicrousness of the affair became apparent to the principal actors in it, they too joined with the rest. Despite the regret incident to the loss of her dog, the woman could not repress her inclination to laugh at the unexpected finale of the affair.—Cleveland Times.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

☞ MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to secure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. HUNTING SNIPE.—Among our own hunters was a trapper named Shep Medary—a lively, roystering mountaineer, who liked nothing better than to get a joke upon any unfortunate "pilgrim" or "tender foot" who was verdant enough to confide in his stories of mountain life.

"What a night!" said Shep, as the moon rose broad and clear—"what a glorious night for drivin' snipe!"

Here was something new. Two of our young men were eager to learn all about the mystery.

"Did ye never hear?" replied Shep, with a face expressive of wonder at their ignorance. "Why, it's as old as the mountains, I guess; we always choose such weather as this for drivin snipe. The snipe are fat now, and they drive better, and they're better broiled on the buffalo chips, is not bad to take, is is, Dick?"

Beaver Dick, who had just arrived in camp, thus appealed to, growled an assent to the proposition contained in Shep's question; and the boys, more anxious than ever pressed Shep for an explanation.

"Maybe," said one of them, "maybe we can drive the snipe to-night and get a mess for breakfast; what have we got to do, Shep?"

"Oh well," responded Shep, "if you are so plaguy ignorant, I'm afear'd you won't do. Howsomever, you can try. You boys get a couple of them gunny-sacks and candles, and we'll go out and start 'em up."

Elated with the idea of having a mess of snipe for breakfast, the two young men, under Shep's direction, each equipped with a gunny-sack and candle, followed him out upon the plain, half a mile from camp, accompanied by some half-dozen members of our party. The spot was chosen because of its proximity to a marsh which was supposed to be filled with snipe. In reality it was the swarming-place for mosquitoes.

"Now," said Shep, stationing the boys about ten feet apart, "open your sacks, be sure and keep the mouths of 'em wide open, and after we leave you, light your candles and hold 'em well into the sack, so that the snipe can see, and the rest of us will drive 'em up. It may take a little spell to get 'em started, but if you wait patiently they'll come.

"I've got a couple of green 'uns out there," said he with a sly wink. They will wait some time for the snipe to come up, I reckon."

The boys followed directions,—the sacks were held wide open, the candles kept in place. There they stood, the easy prey of the remorseless mosquitoes. An hour passed away, and yet from the ridge above the camp the light of the candles could be seen across the plain. Shep now stole quietly out of camp, and making a long circuit, came up behind the victims and, raising a war-whoop, fired his pistol in the air.

The boys dropped their sacks and started on a two-forty pace for camp, coming in amid the laughter and shouts of their companions.—"The Ascent of Mount Hayden," by N. P. Langford Scribner's for June.

A GEYSER WASH-TUB.—One evening Messrs. Spencer and Hamp, desirous of testing the cleansing qualities of the hot springs, attempted to wash a flannel overshirt belonging to the former in their boiling waters. After carefully soaping the garment, they committed it to one of the least active cauldrons in the basin, when to their astonishment the water in the spring suddenly receded, carrying the shirt out of sight. Curiosity led them the next morning to revisit the spring, which proved to be a geyser of considerable force; and as they stood in mute astonishment upon the edge, and gazed down its corrugated sides, listening to the gurgling and spluttering of the water and the ominous intonations from beneath, an eruption suddenly took place, which projected the missing shirt, amid a column of water and vapor, to the height of 20 feet into the air, and in its descent it was caught upon one of the numerous silicious projections which surrounded the edge of the crater, and recovered.

During our stay in the basin we had the good fortune to witness, besides the eruptions already mentioned, the Castle, the Bee-hive and the Grotto in action. A hard wind was blowing in the morning, when the Castle, by various throbbings, pulsations and shakings gave notice of its intention to discharge.—From "The Ascent of Mount Hayden," Scribner's for June.

The Nashua Telegraph means to keep up its reputation on dog stories, or Nashua has a large number of remarkably intelligent canines. Its latest is about a black and tan belonging to Dr. A. Lull of that city. It says that one evening the Doctor lost his portmonnaie, and made the discovery while sitting in his house. He had been at work in his garden, and thought he might have lost it there. Stating as much to his dog, he directed him to go for it. The dog at once left the room and soon returned with the missing pocket-book. On another occasion this dog found a twenty-five cent scrip in the street, and of his own accord picked it up and carried it to his master.

The Isles of Shoals.

"Among the Isles of Shoals, by Celia Thaxter, with Illustrations," is the title of a neat volume of 200 pages which has been published by James R. Osgood & Co., Boston.

Practically, the "Shoals" belong to Portsmouth, and Mrs. Thaxter, the author of this book, being the only daughter of the late Mr. Thomas Laighton, who made his home at Appledore Island for many years prior to his death, and also sister of Messrs. Oscar and Cedric Laighton of the "Appledore," the book in New England as well as elsewhere will find ready readers.

The writer modestly says by the way of introduction: "It is with reluctance that I suffer these fragmentary and inadequate sketches of the Isles of the Shoals to appear in book form. Except that some account of the place, however slight, is so incessantly called for by people who throng these Islands in summer, I should hardly venture to offer to the public so imperfect a chronicle, of which the most that can be said is that it is, perhaps, better than nothing."

From this book your correspondent gathers the subject-matter of this letter, which will be interesting, especially at this the beginning of this season.

The "Isles of the Shoals," nine miles away from here, are supposed to have so called not because the ragged reefs run out beneath the water in all directions, ready to wreck and destroy, but because of the "shoaling" or "schooling" of fish about them. There are six islands if the tide is low; but if the tide is high there are eight, and would be nine but that a breakwater connects two of them. The names of them are Appledore, for many years called Hog Island, from its resemblance to a hog's back, rising from the water when seen from the sea. Next, and almost within a stone's throw is Haley's Island, or "Smutty Nose," so christened by passing sailors, and at low tide Cedar and Malaga are both connected with it, the latter permanently by a breakwater. A quarter of a mile southwest lies Star Island, upon which is the little village of Gosport. A mile further southwest White Island lifts a lighthouse for a warning. This, with Seavey's Island at low water forms a double island of some twenty acres. Westerly lies Londoner, and two miles northeast of Appledore is Duck Island. In addition to these are the ledges, Shag, Mingo, Anderson, Devil's and "Old Harry" rocks. The dividing line between Maine and New Hampshire passes through the group, giving Appledore, Smutty Nose and Duck Islands to Maine, and the rest to New Hampshire.

The natives, or persons who have been brought up here, find it as difficult to tear themselves away from the islands as do the Swiss to leave their mountains. No other place is able to furnish the inhabitants of the Shoals with sufficient air for their capacious lungs. Each island has its peculiar characteristics, and no two are alike. There are no trees except, perhaps, a few balm-of-gilead trees on Star Island and a small elm on Appledore, which has been struggling with the bleakness of the situation some twenty years. Probably they were wooded many years ago with spruce and pine perhaps,—a rugged growth. The oldest inhabitant remembers quite an orchard on Smutty Nose. On Appledore there are a variety of plants, wild flowers, berries and grasses, and were it not for the flock of sheep and cows a little wilderness of wild flowers would put forth all their strength and loveliness, as it is a fact that the salt air and a peculiar richness of the soil give a luxuriance of growth and a depth of color not found elsewhere.

The islands were discovered in 1614 by John Smith, and Williamson's "History of Maine" tells of the first meeting house on the island (Appledore), "built of brick at a very early period, possibly the first in the Province," also the "Academy," to which "gentlemen from some of the principal towns on the sea coast sent their sons for literary education." How like a dream it seems, looking now at these deserted rocks that so much happened here in the years that are gone! "In 1730, and afterwards, three or four ships used to load at the Shoals with winter and spring merchantable fish for Bilboa, in Spain."

Several vessels have been caught in the terrible gales of the Atlantic and wrecked as these pitiless ledges might testify, and as late as 1813 it is said the Saguntc met her destruction here. An unknown vessel wrecked on Appledore left a quantity of broad silver pieces and glittering coins which when found in later years the neighbors made short work of. Captain Kidd "as he sailed" is supposed to have made this one of his many hiding places, and it is reported that a three-legged black pot full of gold and silver was dug up on Star Island not many years ago, and it is certainly true that Mr. Samuel Haley, while building a wall on Smutty Nose, turned over a large flat stone, beneath which lay four bars of solid silver. In 1653 Philip Bath of Hog Island was appointed constable for all the islands of the Shoals, Star Island excepted. In 1676 William Pepperell emigrated from Cornwall, England, to Star Island, and lived there upwards of twenty years, and carried on a large fishery. He was the father of Sir William Pepperell, the most famous man Maine ever produced. Previous to the Revolutionary war the Shoals had from three to six hundred inhabitants, and they flourished steadily. Tucke, a graduate of Harvard College, of the class of 1723, was ordained at the Shoals July 20, 1732, and died there 1773, his ministry thus covering over forty years.

At this time the prosperity of the Shoals was at its height, but in less than thirty years after Mr. Tucke's death a most woful condition of things was inaugurated—and at the breaking out of the war most of the inhabitants moved to the neighboring seaport towns, where their descendents can be found to this day. With those that were left, with a few exceptions, the hideous madness of drunkenness was the great trouble, which time has somewhat modified. A Miss Peabody, of Newburyport, went there in 1823, taught school, visited the families, read to such audiences Sundays as would collect, and achieved wonders during her three years' stay. In 1835 Rev. Origen Smith went there, and remained ten years at Star Island, doing much good among the people and succeeding in banishing the great demoralizer, liquor, thereby restoring law and order. He was followed by a Mr. Mason and others, and within a few years the reckless few have bravely helped themselves—and compared with Gosport of twenty years ago, with its tumble down fish houses, there is not now a vestige of the dilapidated buildings or the business to be seen, and it has become a historical fact that the town of Gosport has disappeared, is obliterated from the face of the earth, all the inhabitants having been bought out and the place converted into a summer resort, a large hotel, the Oceanic, and several surrounding cottages having been built, the slight sprinkling of inhabitants that are left now living on Smutty nose. Upon Appledore island the large house of entertainment of the same name has been extending its heretofore immense capacities, and the future of the Shoals may be considered certain.—"KENT" in Traveller.

VALUE OF LIME.—A writer in the Journal of the Royal Agricultural Society, describing the permanence of the action of lime, says he knows a piece of land containing 166 acres which formerly grew nothing but heath. A good dressing of lime was applied on the surface of the sward, which has nearly doubled its value. This was done several years ago, and totally eradicated the heath. The lime this day appears in full condition, as its effects usually testify, from the richness and sweetness of the herbage, the texture of which has been entirely changed by the application of lime.

FOR ALL LOCALITIES AND CLIMES.—A true specific is adapted to all localities and climes, and for this reason, that it strikes at the causative principle of the diseases which it is administered to cure. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, for example, is a true specific, not only because it fortifies the body against the external influences which prompt disease, but because, when taken as a remedy instead of as a preventive, it neutralizes the infective principle in the blood and thereby destroys the primary source of the ailment. Hence as an antidote to epidemic disorders, and to all complaints which are produced or aggravated by miasma, or the presence of anything deleterious in the air, the water or the soil, it is as nearly infallible as any medicinal preparation can be. In our own country, as a remedy for intermittent fevers, bilious affections, constipation, dyspepsia, nervous weakness, rheumatism and general debility, it is unrivalled, nor is it less celebrated in the tropics as a preventive of malarious fevers.

LIKE REGULARS ON DRESS PARADE the teeth should always be scrupulously clean and free from blemish. Keep them in this condition with the incomparable SOZODONT, and when they are veterans in the service they will still be as "good as new."

For all throat diseases and especially Coughs, Colds, &c., there is no known remedy equal to Buchman's Pulmocine, and a few doses will satisfy the most skeptical of its efficacy. For sale at the Union Store.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is the concentration of sixteen composite parts and can be manufactured only in large quantities. So immediate and powerful is its action that one bottle (selling for 50 cts.) is more potent than any other curative of throat and lung diseases on sale.

☞ Persons suffering with Liver Complaint in any of its various forms will do well to call at Gilbert's Root and Herb Store, and try some of his Liver Lozenges. Many have tried them and are rejoicing to-day.

Another War.

Dearborn S. F. Engine, No. 1, has never been a reliable machine for extinguishing fires, but has seldom failed to kindle the fire of wrath in the breasts of all who have had anything to do with her. The last war concerning her is quite recent.

Some weeks ago the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department reported in the proper quarter that the Dearborn was out of order; and the usual amount of talk in the City Councils finally resulted in a vote by the Board of Aldermen, at their last regular meeting, to sell the old rattletrap,—the vote standing 4 to 3, and the Mayor withholding his concurrence until the next meeting of the Board. Pending a decision of the question as to whether or no the engine should be sold, the Chief Engineer did not consider that he had any legal right to have any repairs made; but on Tuesday the Mayor procured workmen to be sent down from the establishment of Messrs. Campbell & Whittier, who built the machine, to put it in repair.

As the firm named declined to give a written guaranty that the engine would work properly for a reasonable time after the proposed repairs were made, and our local mechanics are fully competent to do any work in that line, Mr. Marston refused to sanction anything being done by the out-of-town mechanics; and on Wednesday morning, the Mayor, finding his workmen excluded from the engine house, had the door forced (as he had a right to do,) and ordered the removal of some of the fire apparatus in defiance of the orders of the Chief Engineer, (as he certainly had no right to do,) and proceeded to further usurp the authority of the Chief Engineer by assuming the power to cause repairs to be made on the engine, notwithstanding the vote of the Board of Aldermen that the engine should be sold. The Chief Engineer was notified of what was going on and soon made his appearance, which blocked further progress; and the Mayor's next move was to call a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen, at which it was Voted, That the subject of repairing the Steamer Dearborn be referred to a special committee, with power.

Alderman Wilson and Garrett were appointed said committee, and the Mayor was added; and this committee decided to repair the Dearborn. The Mayor then notified the Chief Engineer that the engine was to be repaired, and requested him to look after the job, which Messrs. Chritchley & Whalley of this city were engaged upon; and the vote of the Board of Aldermen at their special meeting having put a new face on the matter, the Chief Engineer consented.

The vote of the Board of Aldermen to sell the engine is still undecided, the vote not having been vetoed by the Mayor nor reconsidered by the Board; but that can be easily fixed. It is stated that the builder said the engine could be put in repair for a small sum, and would then last for years; but the same thing has been said before, and the old tea-kettle has broken down just the same, the next time it was tried. Alderman Marvin was on the committee which expended $1100 in repairs on that machine three or four years ago, when it was proposed to sell it and get a good one; the talk then was that the engine would be serviceable for many years, without other repair; but it has needed constant tinkering ever since, and never has been (nor do we believe it ever can be made) a reliable machine. Mayor Marvin certainly stretched his authority over all the ground it would cover, when he undertook to exercise unlimited control over the apparatus of the fire department, in defiance of the vote of the Board of Aldermen and the powers vested in the Chief Engineer by the laws of the State.

Eastern Railroad.

The Portland Press says the preliminary survey of the line for which a charter was granted by the last Maine legislature, was completed Monday. It leaves the present line of the P. S. & P. road at Kittery, and passing south of it runs through the towns of Kittery, York, Wells and Kennebunk, and connects at Kennebunk depot, being 26 miles in length. In York the proposed line is about ten miles south of the present road. The new line is four miles shorter than the P. S. & P. The permanent location will be made at once.

Nearly every Spring is the most backward of any for many years, and this season is not an exception. We are informed that last year the cherry blossoms had commenced to fall from the trees on the 20th of May; this year no cherry (or other) blossom had shown itself at that date in this vicinity.

In the basement, there are to be three stores and an entrance to the upper stories. The second story will have a reading room for the Association, and four offices, to let. There is to be a hall in the third story, 38 by 50, and two large aute-chambers.

The Banner Billiard Hall on Vaughan street, after being closed a short time for alterations and improvements, will open again on Thursday evening, May 22d. AN ALARMING DESPERADO.—Michael Dolan, an Irishman, sixty-five years of age, would seem to be not exactly the sort of a man one would like to meet in a sequestered spot at "the witching hour of night." Indeed he made himself rather disagreeable to the foot passengers on Tremont street on Saturday afternoon, when he took up a position on the sidewalk, and undertook to "guard the pass" by means of an ugly-looking knife, with a blade full one foot in length, which he excitedly brandished in the faces of the would-be passers. Officer Patterson interfered with his fun, however, and the old ruffian ran as far as Prentiss street, where Officer Head gave assistance, and he was captured and taken to Station 10.

On searching him he was found to be a walking armory; having, besides the murderous-looking knife before mentioned, a sailor's canvas-knife, a spring slung-shot, and a six-barrelled revolver with every chamber loaded, ready for use. His residence he stated to be at Cottage place, and his occupation a shoemaker. No reason whatever is furnished for his strange behavior on the sidewalk of Tremont street, nor for his having in his possession so many dangerous weapons.—Boston Paper.

—A quaint old gentleman of an active, stirring disposition, had a man at work in his garden who was quite the reverse. "Jones," said he, "did you ever see a snail?" "Certainly," said Jones. "Then," said the old man, "you must have met him, for you could never have overtaken him."

The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said health officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 14. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

INCREASED USE OF TOBACCO.—The use of tobacco is manifestly increasing in this country to an alarming extent. The high price of the weed caused by taxation has no perceptible influence in deterring persons, even in indigent circumstances, from its excessive use. The positive injury physically and morally produced by smoking and chewing tobacco, can hardly be ever estimated. A case of tobacco-poisoning occurred in New York, recently, and a gentleman in communicating an account of it to a journal, remarks as follows:—

"The victim was exacly of my own years, and a companion from early boyhood. For thirty years at least he has been a daily smoker of the choicest cigars, but in all his other habits temperate and regular and of excellent constitution—one who, of all men, would have laughed at the suggestion that tobacco was killing him. A week ago last Sunday night he died. His death was most pitiful. First, sight was lost, then speech, then motion of the neck, then motion of the arms, and so on throughout the body, and he lay for a week unable to move or make a sign, save a pitiful, tongueless, inarticulate sound, which sometimes rose to almost frantic effort, all in vain, to make known what he wished to say to his family or friends,—for his consciousness and mental faculties were left unimpaired till within two hours of the last, to aggravate to the uttermost the horror of his situation,—a living soul in a dead body. The sense of hearing was left unimpaired, so that he was conscious of all around him, while as incapable of communication with them as if dead, save by a slight sign of assent or dissent to a question. The doctors were fully agreed that tobacco was the sole cause of his stroke."

Dr. F. D. Daney, of Holly Spings, Miss., writes that as a medical examiner for life insurance companies, he has had occasion to observe the terrible effects of tobacco upon the constitution of young men who apply for policies. He says he has found more functional diseases of the heart and nervous derangements than he supposed really existed. He could trace these troubles to the use of tobacco in various forms, and the evil is of great magnitude. Dr. Daney suggests that as young men and old men persist in using tobacco, notwithstanding its pernicious effects, it would be desirable to devise a method for removing the nicotine, the poisonous principle, and thus take away one of the agents of evil. This we regard as impracticable, as the chemical manipulation necessary to extract nicotine would also remove the nicotianine, the principle which gives to the plant its desirable quality. Also, the evil effects of tobacco are not altogether due to any principle which it contains, but the loss of saliva is immensely hurtful. The digestive organs are weakened, and a train of ailments follow, which rapidly undermine the constitution.—Dr. Nichol's Journal of Chemistry.

An Irish clergyman who was a hard laborer on his glebe, and when so occupied dressed in a very ragged manner, was recently engaged attending the early potato field, when he was surprised by the very rapid approach of his patron in an open carriage with some ladies whom he was to meet at dinner in the afternoon. Unable to escape in time, he drew his hat over his face, extended his arms covered with his tattered jacket, and passed himself off as a scarecrow.

It is stated by Willoughby Smith, that under the influence of the light of the sun selenium gradually becomes crystalline. In its vitreous state it is a nonconductor of electricity, but in the crystalline condition it is a conductor.—Scribner's for June.

The Chronicle.

THE MONEY VALUE OF GOOD LOOKS. "Looks is everything, behavior is nothing." This is one of the oldest and safest proverbs known. In trade, and especially retail trade, it works beautifully as a practical maxim. We never could bring ourselves to purchase candy or even the lovely peanut from the dust-covered tray of the common street vender. Recently there has appeared a new style of peddler in our streets. A well-dressed young man spreads a pretty, slender tray on the walk and covers it with snowy muslin, embroidered, crimped and clear starched. Thereon he spreads his sweetest wares, and, as we pass, we pause—admire, and buy some. He puts the candy up in whitest paper, bows graciously, and smiles upon us, as if we had done him a favor. The lumps of creamy nothing are no better than any other sugared terra alba, but they did look so very nice that we bought—just this once. This man knows his business.

Once in a great while we see a vegetable, grocery or provision store conducted on this principle. The crisp lettuce lays cool and pearly on the marble slabs; the potatoes are washed and in neat baskets; the meat for once ceases to be repulsive; the fish repose on glittering ice; and everything from apples to watermelons, is clean, neatly put up and arranged in attractive forms. Of course, we do all our shopping there. It is a pleasure to buy things in such a sweet, well-kept establishment. Alas! such stores are rare indeed, and we gladly let some one else do our marketing, that we see not its daily horrors. The average retail store is not an agreeable, subject to consider. Our dealers, generally, are totally ignorant of the fine art of keeping a store. We will not bring up dreadful pictures of what is in all our unhappy daily appearance. We mourn for the nations of shoppers. They are a long-suffering race, and it is time something was done about it. Oh! fellow man, how long shall we suffer you? When will you learn that exquisite neatness, a painstaking care of the details, tasty arrangement of goods, neat wrappers and good looks, are worth much money? When will you imitate the candy man on the sidewalk, and compel business to come to your door by the allurement of good looks? When will you learn that good looks are worth money, and that neatness has a commercial value?—Boston Journal of Commerce.

EXTRAORDINARY ADVENTURES.—The extraordinary adventures of a ship-wrecked crew in the Antartic Seas have recently been brought to light by the arrival in New London of the sole survivor. The crew left New London nearly two years ago to engage in the seal fishery near the South Shetland Islands. Arriving at their destination the Captain ordered a boat's crew of five men under James A. King to proceed to the shore and commence killing seals at Windon Island, off which the vessel was anchored. The men did as directed, and subsequently preceeded to St. George's Island, which lay in the immediate vicinity. When it was time for the vessel to return from the cruise the men were sent for, but they were nowhere to be found. For several days the vessel cruised in the vicinity of the island, the Captain constantly studying it with his glass to see if he could perceive any signs of human life. The Captain was finally forced to abandon the search and leave the men to their fate. In August last another sailing fleet started out from New London for the Islands, and anchoring off St. George's a number of the ship's crew went ashore to explore the barren, uninhabited region. Walking along the beach, for some distance, the party were astonished to find a small wooden hut, from which projected a stovepipe, situated at about two ships' length from the shore. The door was pushed open, and in a corner of the hut, a man with a long, red beard and matted hair, was found fast asleep. It was found to be King, the only survivor of the party of men who had been abandoned to their fate a year before. Like Robinson Crusoe, he had been living the monarch of all he surveyed in the uninhabited region, and had abandoned all hope of ever being rescued from his forlorn plight.

—A Dutchman residing at the upper end of Dauphin county, Pa., was applied to, to contribute something to the Washington Monument, the agent at the same time presenting a picture of the contemplated structure for his inspection. The Dutchman regarded the plate attentively for a moment, and at length exclaimed: "Vell, I wont pay nothing towards him, for I don't see no use to build a house mit such a big chimply."

—A bandsaw 55 feet long and 5 1-2 inches in width is in successful operation in Philadelphia. Its speep is 4,500 feet per minute. It is said that the blade will follow the curvature of the grain of the lumber, thus combining economy with increased value in the product, especially when it is to be used in ship-building.

—Shakespeare would never have asked,—"What's in an aim?" if he had been hit on the head with a brick.

Readables.

John Collins was killed on the 21st, by an explosion while at work blasting on Pearl street, Concord. He was 50 years of age and leaves a wife and seven children.

Chicago is to have a jubilee on the 5th of June. The orchestra is to be selected from eastern and western bands, under Gilmore's leadership, and will consist of three hundred performers. The chorus is to number one thousand voices, and to be composed of volunteers from Chicago and other places. The programme will be selected from that of the last Boston jubilee.

The Carlists have captured the town of Lanshoja, in Catalonia, and butchered sixteen men after the surrender of the town.

The Modocs are reported to be moving toward the Pitt River Indians, with whom they are said to have an alliance. A fight occurred at Antelope Creek, Monday, between the Modocs and their pursuers, and five Indians were killed.

At a meeting of the Portland city government, the sum of $2500 was appropriated for the Fourth of July.

Sabin Birsch, an elderly Chicago woman, thought 25 cents' worth of arsenic and a plunge in the river tolerably sure. But she little knew the resources of modern science, and she is still strong and hearty.

The soil in Nebraska froze to the depth of eight feet, and the potato bug—oh, where was he? He was nine feet down, and is now coming out gay and lively.

We know of nothing so susceptible of perversion as the efforts of a young man to kill a mosquito on a young lady's cheek. A censorious world never forgives him for trying to seize it with his teeth when any less extraordinary method would do just as well. And yet, it is said that in New Jersey no gallant with sound incisors ever adopts any other method.

The Newport hotels advertise to be ready for the season June 1, but as the season is somewhat backward this year, a combination of the landlords keep a man with a straw hat walking about for of course you'll soon be getting another canary, so as not to waste the cage.—Scribner's for June.

Col. J. Iscariot, and Where He Made His Mistake.—In appropriating $5,000 to themselves from the Treasury our Congressmen did but enlarge the prerogatives of the people's Representatives. They might have taken more than they did. They might have taken Washington's old breeches from the Patent Office. They might have taken the Washington Monument—but they didn't. Some people will continue to complain of them, but we are mute, from this moment. We apologize to the whole human race, for every thing.

As a rash and blinded Sunday school scholar we may have spoken disrespectfully of J. Iscariot. The experience of the last six months shows that Mr. Iscariot may have been a gentleman who was much misunderstood by the people of the period. Some Scribe probably placed the thirty pieces of silver where he thought they would do the most good, and when poor Judas found that he had bought into a lawsuit (Hon. P. Pilate, Chief Justice) he went and hung himself. That was where he made his mistake. He ought to have sent the money down to the Capernaum Female Seminary, and then appealed to the generous confidence of a constituency with whose feelings and interests every throb of his heart beat in unison. The editor of the Galilean Telegram would have made a very nice thing of that, and the Honorable J. Iscariot would have been one of the most prominent candidates at the next election.—Columbus Journal.

—The stone cutters of Chicago not long ago struck for higher pay and for less hours of work, and so succeeded in obtaining for a while $4.50 per day of eight hours. The builders let stone alone and used bricks, consequently the stone cutters have nothing to do. They have killed the goose that laid the golden egg. Now they announce that "owing to the necessities of the times," they have concluded to work for $4; but bricks are preferred at any price, and so the stone cutters find their occupation gone. That is just about the way this style of business will be found to work.

—The sailing of a Newburyport vessel with a cargo of molasses casks for Cuba, this week, reminds the Merrimac Journal of one with a like cargo last year, which filled 100 hogsheads with fresh water from the river, for ballast. Just as she reached her destination, Cardenas suffered from a tidal wave, that overflowed the streets and filled the wells with salt water, when the captain found a ready sale for his Merrimac River water at $2.50 per hogshead. That beat Timothy Dexter's warming-pan venture.

To Catch a Canary.—At this season of the year, when it behooves us to scrub and re-gravel our bird-cages, it's more than likely that your canary will get out.

In such a case prompt and decisive action is required. It is useless for the whole family to collect and shout at the canary and make desperate attempts to waft pocket-handkerchiefs over him.

Life is too short to be wasted in this way.

And maddened efforts to clap hats over him generally amount to very little, especially when he is up a tree.

And just here we may remark, that there are few methods of taking exercise that may be relied upon to hold out like that of following a loose canary around a village, reaching out at arm's length towards him a good-sized bird-cage, and endeavoring by a series of monotonous and irrelevant chirps to make him believe he wants to go in.

Sugar and cuttle-fish bone, as engines of seduction, are not to be depended upon. The average coaxation into cages by sugar of the ordinary canary of North America is in the proportion of a wheelbarrowful of the one to a feather of the other.

We will also state in this connection that a man with new shoes on, and a big cage in one hand, can furnish an interesting spectacle to every forty bystanders by simply climbing a tree to offer wiry blandishments to an enfranchised canary.

The real way to catch a loose canary, and the only way which can be warranted for a term of years, is to collect all your friends and family and post them around the tree or fence where the canary is at bay. Let them all furnish themselves with plenty of bits of kindling wood, sods of grass, lumps of dirt, bunks of brick, curry-combs, bootjacks, porter-bottles, and other handy missiles, and let them fire away boldly at the canary. If the bird cowardly turns tail and flies off, let everybody follow and slam-bang at him with their utmost vigor. It will be hard to confine this entertainment to your immediate circle. No boy whose heart is in the right place and who has any legs will refrain from the pursuit, and there are men who would leave a dentist's chair to mingle in the fray. There are cases, too, where a funeral would hang by a thread, as it were, in the vicinity of a canary-hunt. Even from the windows of upper rooms, where sickness or dishabille may detain unfortunate enthusiasts, there will come, ever and anon, a frantic wash-bowl or a whizzing lamp-chimney to testify the universality of the public interest. Of course, in this rapid free distribution of fire-wood and paving material, it will not be long before several of your relations will wish they had brought a tin umbrella along. But considerations of mere personal comfort must not be allowed to interfere. If you keep this thing up long enough, and you all fire pretty straight, you'll be sure to get your canary. And then you can have him stuffed. Beautiful glass eyes can be had for twenty cents a pair; but you had better buy your glass by the dozen, for of course you'll soon be getting another canary, so as not to waste the cage.—Scribner's for June.

CONCORD, N. H., May 22.

The semi-annual convocation of the New Hampshire Grand Lodge of Free Masons commenced its session here yesterday, and contrary to its usual custom, finished up all its business, elected new officers and installed them, all within the space of twelve hours. When it is understood what a large amount of Masonic matter comes up at these meetings to be disposed of in one way and another, the brevity of the session above alluded to will be appreciated. The following is the list of officers elect who were duly installed on Wednesday evening, by Right Worshipful Past Grand Master, John R. Holbrook of Portsmouth.

Nathan W. Cumner of Mancnester, M. W. Grand Master; William Barrett of Nashua, R. W. Deputy Grand Master; John J. Bell of Exeter, R. W. Senior Grand Warden; Solon A. Carter of Keene, R. W. Junior Grand Warden; Daniel R. Marshall of Nashua, R. W. Grand Treasurer; John A. Harris of Concord, R. W. Grand Secretary.

We expected from what we had heard and read regarding the severe winter in this region and its almost unprecedented lingering in the lap of spring to see a barren and cheerless aspect of the face of Dame Nature, but were surprised to find the fields and pastures in the interior of oer State green and promising, and farmers in their planting somewhat in advance of our tillers of the soil down in "clamshell corner," as the countrymen hereabouts factiously term old Portsmouth and its environs.

A ride over the Concord Railroad convinced us of one or two facts, viz: that this road is doing a thriving business, and as a proper sequence the public are accommodated with better rolling stock than was wont to trundle over its road-bed in former times. The freight business on this road is sufficient alone to sustain the property and make it good stock to hold. We learn that there are no shares in the market and quotations have reached as high as 130! Certain it is that the coal and lumber freight on the road is already immense, while that of the former commodity is constantly increasing.

Concord is a smart, thriving place and bears evidence of an intention to keep up with the times in every department of industry of which she boasts. What with conventions and gatherings of almost every character and kind, the business of the city is kept at par (and sometimes greatly above) while the inhabitants are not afflicted with that aristocracy and social caste that is common to some places of more ancient birth. We intend no reflections and make no complaint against the habit of ostracism in society, only mentioning it incidentally in drawing a comparison of business interests alone. For our part, we believe in affiliating with those who are suited to our tastes, socially, but in business and trade we must "cross the suit" as the saying is, come down on a common level or our pecuniary affairs suffer. We are wandering, however, and lest we should get beyond our depth will close.

By comparison of Statistics from sworn returns of the sales of Sewing Machines for 1871 and 1872, it shows that the

"DOMESTIC"

Sewing Machine Co.'s sales have increased over 375 per cent. while no other Co.'s sales have increased over 36 per cent., proving the great popularity of the "Domestic."

Wheeler & Wilson	"	"	36	"
Grover & Baker	"	"	5	"
Weed	"	"	2	"
Wilcox & Gibbs	"	"	12	"
Wilson	"	"	8	"

If the increase in sales be any criterion of merit the "Domestic" bears the palm.

The "Domestic" works so easy, it is working itself into every family.

The "Domestic" runs so light, it is distancing all competitors. It only asks a few days trial.

The "Domestic" is recommend by the Medical Faculty.

FIRE AT THE HAYES FARM.

Thirty-Four Animals Burned.

Loss $12 000---Insurance $7,000.

An alarm of fire, about 9 o'clock on Thursday evening, was occasioned by the burning of the large cattle barn at the Hayes farm, two miles from town. A barn was burned on the same site, nine years ago last August. Alderman Charles Hiram Hayes was at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen, and drove rapidly out, but arrived too late to be of service. The barn was soon a heap of smoking ruins, the contents being all destroyed except two horses, a bull and four cows; four horses, twenty-five milch cows and five calves being suffocated.

Mr. Joseph O. Ham informs us that he put up "Lady Peirce," a trotter valued at $1000 and which was one of the animals burned, about twenty minutes before the fire broke out. As he was driving in, he noticed a heavy column of sparks being thrown into the air and drifting over the barn, from an engine which was attached to a passing train. A window on the end of the barn next the railroad had been left open, and the fire undoubtedly caught from these sparks.

Mr. Ham and Mr. Charles Hayes were called by some of the farm laborers who first discovered the fire, and succeeded in rescuing four cows, including an Ayrshire heifer worth $500, "Floss," a Meader colt valued at $1500, which Mr. Ham released and led out from the further end of the barn, and "Kit," Mr. Charles Hayes' favorite family horse. In saving these, Mr. Ham fell over two dead animals and was nearly suffocated, and Mr. Hayes barely escaped with his life after saving "Kit." A negro boy cut the halter of "Kate," an English blood mare worth $300, but she was unable to escape and only reached the door to fall out of it dead and be burned afterwards. The "little bull" broke out on his own account, came bouncing out of the barn and struck for the bush like mad; he was evidently satisfied that the barn was no place for a respectable bull, and so saved himself. "Rock," a family horse of renown, was in town and so escaped destruction. "Peerless," a $1000 Fearnaught colt, was burned. Twenty tons of hay and several hundred dollars' worth of tools and harnesses were destroyed. Among the milch cows burned was "Lady Geraldine," giving twenty-four quarts of milk per day.

The barn cost $4000 and was insured for $3000. The entire loss is $12,000 or more, and there is but $7000 insurance, including $500 on hay, $200 on tools, $2100 on neat stock, $700 on horses and $500 on the stable adjoining the barn, which was consumed. The Hartford company loses $5800, the Etna $500, and the North America $700. The cows burned were worth $2500.

Alderman Sise presided at the meeting of the Fourth of July committee, Wednesday evening. The chairman of the committee on Music, Mr. Thos. S. Nowell, reported the engagement of the Seabrook Band, for $65 and expenses.

The auditing committee, through its secretary, Mr. John E. Colcord, reported the adoption of rules to govern their action. The report was accepted and adopted. The Auditing committee were authorized to choose as a treasurer one of their number.

A communication from the Executive Committee of the New York Sons regarding the accommodation of their Band, of forty members, was referred to committee on accommodations.

Major Vaughan, chairman of committee on programme, reported that the committee had held a final session and offered recommendations, which were agreed to as follows:

That a special committee on Promenade Concert be chosen to take charge of that feature of the festivities;

That the bells be rung and salutes be fired, morning, noon and evening;

That a special committee be chosen to invite ladies and gentlemen who took part in the Centennial Ball in 1823, to ride in the procession in carriages provided for them.

Messrs. D. Webster Barnabee, Dr. J. J.W. Parsons, Dr. J. R. May, Capt. J. A. Sanborn, Geo. W. Marston, and Mrs. Frank W. Miller, Mrs. C. C. Akerman, Mrs. B. F. Webster, Mrs. Joseph E. Adams and Mrs. John Stokell were appointed committee on Promenade Concert.

The resignation of Geo. W. Marston from committee on Fireworks was accepted and Mr. Chas. A Hazlett chosen to the vacancy.

Hon. William H. Y. Hackett was appointed to carry out the recommendations regarding the Centennial Ball survivors.

A communication from Hon. Ezra A. Stevens, chairman of the Boston committee of Conference, was read. A portion of it referring to accommodations for ladies having no friends to visit, was referred to committee on Accommodations, and their chairman, Ex-Alderman Thomas S. Nowell, has already engaged Congress Hall for the visiting ladies.

Mrs. F. W. Miller, from the ladies' commitee on Accommodations, reported that thus far but two places had been found that would not be filled with friends on the 4th.

That portion of the communication relating to a formal invitation was referred to the committee on Invitations.

The committee on Floral Display reported a request for the erection of a platform at the Academy. The matter was referred to the committee on Lumber. Adjourned for one week.

Laconics.

That finely written social drama, "Divorce," was as finely rendered on Wednesday evening, by the Fifth Avenue Theatre Company. The entertainment was made intensely interesting throughout, and we do not hesitate to say that this is the best stock Company appearing upon the Temple stage for years. Miss Georgie Langley, who made her first appearance here with the Bidwells, is the leading lady, and her assumption of the role of Fanny Adriance showed much study and dramatic art. Miss Dolly Pike and the other ladies are also entitled to praise for their fidelity in representing the characters assigned them. Mr. Boniface and the other gentlemen whose name we do not call to mind, were as perfect in their representations as were the ladies. We hope the company may reappear, and favor our citizens with "Article 47" and "Frou-Frou."

Before the police court on Wednesday, Langdon M. Perkins, of this city, for beating a horse, was ordered by Judge Page to recognize in the sum of $500 for his appearance before the October term of the Supreme Judicial Court.

At the last meeting of the school committee it was decided to again engage the services of Mr. J. S. Montgomery to teach writing on the Spencerian system in the public schools. Mr. Montgomery taught penmanship in the schools for about two years, but a year ago the committee voted not to longer employ a special instructor in that branch, since which time the only writing-masters have been the regular teachers of the schools. Mr. Montgomery's re-engagement seems to indicate that the committee are satisfied of the value of special instruction in writing and of Mr. Montgomery's efficiency as a teacher.

The piling for the Portsmouth and Dover Railroad bridge at Dover Point has been commenced on the north side and 112 feet have been put in.

Willie Nowell t,he young violinist, son of Mr. Thomas S. Nowell, broke his left arm while jumping from the cars at Greenland on Monday. Dr. Hall set the limb and the lad is doing well. His injuries will not be permanent. He is one of the most ambitious little fellows we know of, has been practising six hours a day, studies harmony while he is disabled and declares he will make up for lost time by practicing twelve hours a day after he recovers the use of his arm.

It is said that the defence in the case of Wagner, the Isles of Shoals murderer, will attempt to prove an alibi. His trial is to take place at Alfred, beginning on the second of June.

—The Worcester Press says, "Two medical societies met in this city yesterday. A car load of gravestone also arrived during the day. It is not often that the eternal fitness of things sticks out in this manner."

—On one of the gentlemen in Congress saying, "We must return to the food of our ancestors," somebody asked: "What food does he mean?" "Thistles, I suppose," was the reply.

Dr. I. Waly finds that glacial acetic acid is an excellent solvent for iodine. On cooling a hot saturated solution, long arrow-headed crystals of iodine separate.—Scribner's for June.

A Corpse Burned.

Widow Rhoda A. Fowler, living alone at the south part of Seabrook, was found dead near the door of her house on Wednesday with a few sticks of wood by the side of her body. Probably she had been for some wood to build a fire, and fell dead. Two young men were called to watch during the night, and while there with lighted candles they got frightened and ran away, and in their absence the house caught fire and was consumed, together with the corpse of the old lady. A few of the bones were found among the ashes.

P. T. Barnum to the Public.

A rumor,—originating with, and industriously circulated by unscrupulous showmen, — having gained some credence, that I would divide my Great Travelling Exhibition on leaving Boston, I beg to state that such an idea has never been entertained for a moment. The vast enterprise,—involving a cost of one million five hundred thousand dollars,—is the crowning event of my managerial life, and, although acting against the advice of many experienced showmen, I shall adhere to my determination to keep the monster combination intact during the entire season.

The public's obedient servant,

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of City Ordinances No. 4 and No. 100, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

ORDINANCE NO. 4.

SEC. 3.—All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, &c. shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 11. The health officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them, on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the health officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause the said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 14. The owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure shall be liable to pay the expense of the removal or destruction of any such nuisance or other thing, as aforesaid, including fees of the health officers who order or cause the same to be removed; and the same may be recovered by action to be brought in the name of the city.

SEC. 17. Any person or persons who shall violate any rule or regulation, or commit any act forbidden in any section of this ordinance, to which no special penalty is annexed, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than one dollar nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered by complaint before the police court of this city.

ORDINANCE NO. 100.

SEC. 1. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 2. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the Small Pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 3. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

TESTIMONIALS.

Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases as at very reasonable charges.

The Chronicle.

Barnum's World's Fair.

The great show of modern times has come and gone, and 15,000 people who visited the tents on Monday, despite the storm of snow and rain, attest the view of its merits. No man but P. T. Barnum has the inclination or capacity to project and carry forward successfully so immense an undertaking. As was seen on Monday, the programme was carried out to the letter even to the street parade. This magnificent display was sufficient to induce the populace of Norwalk to a man, with all the ladies and children thrown in, to make the Fair Grounds a visit. To go into details of ring performances or arrangement of curiosities, would be impossible, and perhaps useless, for all were satisfied that the "Prince of Humbugs" had perpetrated no humbug this time. Admiral Dot, the Circassian Girl, and talking machine, and a hundred other things, spoke for themselves. One could not, without two pairs of eyes, appreciate what was going on in two rings at the same moment, and we confess to a lingering inclination to wink and blink as we think of the daring feats there performed. In the afternoon the sight was beautiful when the vast tent was filled to its utmost with people. During the performance, loud calls were made for Mr. Barnum. At the request of Mr. Hurd, treasurer, and son-in-law of Mr. Barnum, His Honor Dudley P. Ely, Mayor of this city, came forward and said, Mr. Barnum had expected to be present, but was prevented by a subpœna to attend some court. His Honor then said he regretted this circumstance as he wanted to see Mr. Barnum's smiling face, hear his musical voice, take him by the hand, welcome him, and thank him for his "Great Show." It was a right down good show. There was no humbug about it. There was no "Wooly Horse" or "Joyce Heath" here—all was reality. He wanted to tell him we had all got our money's worth, (loud applause). He wanted to thank him for his enterprise, for who ever heard of a wonder or a curiosity, but that he went for it even to the ends of the earth. He was informed that Barnum was after "Capt. Jack," and if the United States troops did not hurry up, he would have him in his show before they knew it, (laughter and applause). He wanted to thank him for his courage, for where in the whole country was there another man who would dare undertake so vast an enterprise, requiring three heavy trains to transport, with 400 persons to manage, at an expense of $5000 a day, risking his all on the result. He felt proud of Mr. Barnum—our Barnum, for he belonged to this country, and we could claim himas our Mr. Barnum. While he thus expressed himself, he believed he expressed the views of all present. (Applause, during which His Honor took his seat.)

The Minneapolis Tribune thinks the only objection to Nebraska is that there are fully six weeks in midsummer when the sleighing is poor.

A Western editor, who received half a dozen soft-shell crabs recently, says in the next issue of his paper, "They were indeed delicious, but were evidently intended to be eaten when dead, as one of the cusses went skittering up and down our throat two or three times before we could mash him with our boughten teeth."

It is said that the late Chief Justice Chase was the finest scholar who has ever presided over the Supreme Court. As a Latin and Greek scholar he was not surpassed by any man in his profession.

The Norfolk Journal suggests that Secretary Robeson shall engage Sergeant Bates to carry the American flag through the Modoc country, and promises as a reward that the people will rise up and call the Secretary blessed—"especially if Captain Jack kills and scalps Bates."

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

City Council.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, a petition asking for the straightening of the road between the houses of C. H. Mendum and Mrs Sarah on Middle street, was referred to committee on Streets.

The committee on Claims reported favorably on bill of Robert Shillaber, and recommended that a regular salary be paid death officers.

A petition of John H Broughton and others for widening First street to forty feet was read. A motion to indefinitely postpone was defeated; yeas, Aldermen Wilson, Davis, Lefavour, Trefethen, 4; nays, Aldermen Garrett, Hayes, Spinney, Sise, 4. On a motion to refer it to the committee on Streets, another tie resulted, Messrs. Garrett, Hayes, Sise and Lefavour voting yea, Wilson, Davis, Trefethen and Spinney voting nay. A motion to indefinitely postpone was defeated, 5 to 3. Alderman Wilson moved to widen the street to forty feet on the west side of the street. A motion to amend and widen on the east side was defeated. Alderman Wilson's motion was defeated and the petition was laid on the table for one week.

Alderman Garrett moved to take as unfinished business from the table, the subject of selling steam fire engine Dearborn. The Mayor announced that he concurred with the vote to sell the engine.

Alderman Garrett said that Mr. Fay, Campbell & Whittier's workman, said that in order to make a good job of it, the Dearborn should be sent to Boston and have a new set of tubes. He instanced this as agreeing with the report of the committee which recommended selling the machine.

Alderman Spinney asked when the staging at the City building would be taken down. Complaint was general. The staging is a nuisance and tax payers remonstrate. He thought it was an exhibition of obstinacy on the part of the chairman of the committee having charge of the repairs.

Mayor Marvin stated that he wished to complain of a city official. He sent officer Wallace to the Messenger for the key of Engine house No. 1, and would like the Board to hear officer Wallace's statement. The latter being present said that he received the key, met Mr. Hidden, who said he would take it and it was given to him. [At this juncture, an alarm of fire caused adjournment to Friday evening.]

On Friday evening, but six Aldermen were present, Messrs. Garrett and Hayes being absent.

The Mayor preferred charges against City Messenger Hidden for neglect of duty, disobedience of orders and insulting language, recommending that the Board take measures to secure his discharge. These charges should have been made to the City Councils. He then made a long statement of his grievances and Alderman Sise remarked that there must be two sides to the question. Mr. Hidden then answered everything in detail, completely turning the tables on his Honor, who then sent for City Marshal Johnson. The statements of this official concurred with those of Mr. Hidden, especially in declaring that he did not understand Mr. H. to order the arrest of the Mayor, but thought it was intended to prevent workmen commencing repairs.

Here the Mayor lost his temper and his cause. Waxing wroth, he tried to bully the City Marshal, and in a bellowing tone of voice asked him leading questions, but not mending his side of the case much. Then Chief Engineer Marston testified that he considered Mr. Hidden subject to the rules of the Fire Department and that he did right in taking orders from Engineer Betton. The Mayor became enraged several times during the evening, forgot his "dignity" and said if he was "merely Tom Marvin he would have made the 'City Messenger bite the dust." From what we know of the City Messenger, we are of the opinion that any attempt of the kind would have been a disastrous failure. The Mayor certainly made a most contemptible exhibition of his spite, which reacted, as those present will testify. The Board postponed the subject till next week and adjourned.

The Late War.

In a recent issue we gave a brief account of the war of usurpation waged by Mayor Marvin against the authority of the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department, the stand made by Mr. Marston in defence of his rights as an official, and the appeal of the Mayor to the Board of Aldermen, sitting as a board of arbitration,—or rather as a convention to ratify the substitution of the Mayor's pleasure for State laws and municipal ordinances, and to vote that the "one-man power" which is such a bugbear to our democratic brethren, in national affairs, is the correct thing when applied by a democratic official to municipal matters. The Mayor's official organ, in its account of the war, of course put the best possible construction on his conduct and the worst on all other people's; but even its one-sided and distorted statement shows that the Mayor's action was (or would have been, if done by a republican official) a "high-handed outrage" and defiance of law, and insolently contemptuous towards the Board of Aldermen. Mr. Marvin is certainly Mayor; and the result of his last move shows that he is also to a great extent the Board of Aldermen; from the showing of his official organ it is evident he also thought himself Chief Engineer of the Fire Department, and there is strong ground for suspecting that he thinks himself the Revised Statutes of the State of New Hampshire. We quoted the fire-engine war of sufficient importance to demand a more detailed history than our first brief sketch.—and here goes:

Chief Engineer Marston, finding the steamer Dearborn in very bad condition, (as usual,) reported the state of affairs to the Committee on Fire Department of the City Councils; the chairman of that committee satisfied himself by personal investigation that the engine was not only unreliable but also unsafe; and at the regular meeting of this municipality accumulating notoriety as a mischief maker? Pugnacity is an attribute which is valuable at certaine, Aldermen Garrett, Sise, Spinney and Lefavour voting for the measure, and Aldermen Wilson, Hayes and Trefethen against it. The Mayor announced that he withheld his concurrence at that time, but did not veto the vote, thus leaving it on the record.

The city authorities having voted to sell the engine, even the Chief Engineer (who has absolute control over all apparatus of his department, subject only to the City Government—not to the Mayor alone) had no right to expend a dollar upon it; but (says the Mayor's organ) "it appears that the Mayor had secured the advice of Messrs. Campbell, Whittier & Co.,"—as he had a perfect right to do, if he paid any expenses therefor himself. Having procured an inspector, (a disinterested one, of course,) the Mayor next proceeded to hold an inquest, to which the chairman of the Committee on Fire Department, who voted to sell the Dearborn, was not invited, and to which Ald. Wilson, who voted not to sell, was invited. The Chief Engineer received an invitation to attend—after the investigation was finished!

We learn from the Mayor's organ that Mr. Whittier "informed him that the steamer could be put in good order at a very small expense," (that good old tune—how often we've heard it sung!) and that "the Mayor therefore ordered him to make the necessary repairs"—by whose authority, we should like to know! The Chief Engineer had virtually condemned the engine as worthless, the Committee on Fire Department had approved his report, and the City Councils had voted to sell the old rubbish; yet the Mayor, in cool, contemptuous disregard of that vote, ignores both the City Councils and the vested authority of the Chief Engineer, and calmly proceeds to have the Dearborn repaired, on his own authority alone. Our local contemporary has done some tall howling in its day about "infamous, high-handed outrages," "reckless disregard of law," and "one-man power;" suppose it should give us another specimen of its ability in that line, and take this engine war for a text!

The Mayor and Alderman Wilson both state that they understood Mr. Marston to agree to the Mayor's proposition to have the Roxbury men repair the engine; Mr. Marston positively denies agreeing to anything of the kind; and we do not doubt that there was a misunderstanding, for we do not believe either of the gentlemen named would be guilty of the petty meanness of lying about the matter. But neither one nor the other of them had any right to give anybody instructions, or permission to repair the engine, when the City Councils had condemned the machine and voted to sell it instead of repairing it.

After the Mayor found out that his cool assumption of the Chief Engineer's authority would not work with that individual, he called the Board of Mayor and Aldermen together, informed them that he proposed to repair the engine which they had voted to sell,—and the Board, without a question as to who gave him authority to order the repairs, or propounding any other conundrums, meekly voted to refer the subject to a special committee! This special committee, appointed by the Mayor, of course had Ald. Wilson for its chairman; and then the Board on Ald. Wilson's motion, added the Mayor to the committee—thus making everything altogether lovely, endorsing the Mayor's exaltation at his pet scheme over the vote of the Councils, and swallowing as gross an insult as we ever heard of as being offered to a deliberative or legislative body by its chairman. Mayor Marvin is the Board of Aldermen for sure.

The Mayor's organ—which it used to be a copperhead sheet, before it ate the crow—closes its account of the affair as follows: "It is proper to state here that S. H. Goodall, Esq., was present and read to the members of the Board the law that gives the Mayor authority to enter the buildings of the city at any time, and which fully justifies his action in this matter." How "authority to enter the buildings of the city at any time" can "fully justify" the Mayor in interfering with the authority of another man, or in assuming that his will is the only law to be observed, we cannot see. William, just give us one more howl about "high-handed outrages" and "one-man power,"—do!

More Strife.

Another internecine war is imminent and men go about the streets declaring they are "unable to decide which is right in the matter, City Messenger Marvin or Mayor Hidden." People will get perplexed, you know! But seriously, isn't the Chief Magistrate of the Board of Aldermen on the evening of May 15th, it was voted to sell the Dearborn and buy a Manchester maintain times, but when an individual becomes too much imbued with ideas of his own importance and thinks the world created for his sole use and that fellow men exist subservient only to his will, conceit and pugnacity are liable to mislead him into strange and foolish ways.

Mayor Marvin's experience on the Board of Mayor and Aldermen has not been a peaceful one, and his pathway has not been strewn with roses. Flattered by transitory success, perhaps anxious for notoriety, he has played a game of "bounce," from the first. Last year, he allowed himself to get into a quarrel with the police, placed himself in antagonism with a majority of the Aldermen, broke faith with his political friends, commenced this year by insulting members of the Aldermanic Board at its first regular meeting, picked a quarrel with the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department, and having been worsted in that fight has declared war against the City Messenger and Secretary of the Fire Board for doing his duty. A peaceful disposition would lead any reasonable man to pour oil on the waters troubled, but Mayor Marvin has thus far failed or neglected to apply any soothing remedies, and we leave it to the public to decide whether he is peaceably disposed or otherwise.

No reason is assigned for Mayor Marvin's hostility to City Messenger Hidden, who is also Clerk of the Fire Department, except that Mr. Hidden was active in endeavoring to defeat Mr. Marvin at the recent election. On Monday last, Mr. Hidden on going to the City rooms was informed by City Clerk Bufford that Mayor Marvin wished to obtain a key to Engine House No. One, and had sent Officer Wallace to obtain one. Mr. Hidden replied that he would get one, started to do so, and meeting officer Wallace in the door-way, asked if he had succeeded. The officer replied in the affirmative, and Mr. H. said, "I will take it." Officer Wallace handed him the key, and Mr. Hidden said, "I don't see what right Mr. Pinder had to give up this key." Returning to the City Clerk's office, Judge Bufford told Mr. Hidden he had better go to the engine house, open it and remain there till the Mayor came. He did so, and when the Mayor arrived he sent Mr. Hidden to the Navy Yard for Engineer Lovell. Leaving the City Clerk in charge of the engine house, Mr. Hidden went for Mr. Lovell, and afterward for Chief Engineer Marston. Mr. Whittier, of Boston, and Alderman Wilson visited the engine house in the meantime.

On Tuesday, Mr. Fay and another workman from Boston asked Mr. Hidden to allow them to go into the engine house. He accommodated them and treated them courteously, remaining there nearly an hour. Mr. Fay said he thought he would like to go to work then on the engine, but Mr. Hidden said he would prefer he should not do so as he was held responsible, had let them into the house with his key and there was a collision of authority as to the repairs. Mr. Fay said, "Very well, to-morrow will do," and left the house. That evening, the Board of Engineers held a meeting and instructed Mr. Hidden, their Secretary, to notify Messrs. Fay and Shine that the Board sustained and concurred with the Chief Engineer and that they be notified not to touch any of the apparatus in No. One's house or they would be proceeded against and made to suffer the penalty of the law. Mr. Hidden served the notice as instructed.

On Wednesday morning, Mr. Hidden having returned home for breakfast, was sent for by the Mayor, who said Mr. Hidden had intercepted Officer Wallace, and taken the key from him, and demanded the delivery of the key. Mr. Hidden refused to give it up, saying he had no right to, and would be disobeying orders should he do so. The Mayor insisted and repeated the demand, but being refused, started for the engine house, Mr. Hidden following. Arriving there, after more talk and another refusal to give up the key, Mr. Hidden, not knowing that the door was fastened inside, endeavored to unlock it and failing to do so, was sent by the Mayor for the City Marshal, and asked him to try to open it. Failing to open it, entrance was made through a window, the door unfastened and the city officials entered. Mayor Marvin went after Messrs. Fay and Shine, and Assistant Engr. Betton being present ordered the City Marshal to arrest any person who should attempt to move or deface any of the apparatus in the house belonging to the Fire Department. Mr. Betton then went to the Navy Yard after the Chief Engineer.

The Mayor soon returned with Messrs. Fay and Shine, and Mr. Hidden called their attention to the notice he had served on them that morning. Mr. Fay asked the Mayor if they should proceed, and he replied, "Go ahead; I will be responsible." The Mayor and City Marshal ran the hose carriage out of the house, and Mr. Hidden then called the City Marshal's attention to the order he had received from Acting Chief Engineer Betton, as the workmen proceeded to take off the dome of the steamer. Chief Engineer Marston, on arriving, ordered the workmen to cease work. They did so and he sent for Critchley & Whally, who worked on the machine until noon. The mayor, finding he was playing a losing game, called a special meeting of the Aldermen—the result of which is already known.

All this trouble was of the Mayor's own seeking, and he now endeavors to avenge himself on the Clerk of the Fire Department, who acted according to the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Engineers as authorized by the new city ordinance for the government of the Fire Department. Article 9th declares that "no member (of the Fire Department) shall be allowed to let the key go out of his possession." Article 16th declares that "any violation of these rules and regulations will be considered just cause (if by an individual) for removing him from the Department." Thus far hath this ridiculous strife proceeded, and we think our readers will look upon Mayor Marvin's action as an endeavor to stir up a young tempest in a very small way.

A DAINTY SLIPPER is the needed accessory to a lady's home dress. The latest styles are offered by T. E. Moseley & Co., 293 Washington street, Boston, Mass.

FOR ALL LOCALITIES AND CLIMES.—A true specific is adapted to all localities and climes, and for this reason, that it strikes at the causative principle of the diseases which it is administered to cure. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, for example, is a true specific, not only because it fortifies the body against the external influences which prompt disease, but because, when taken as a remedy instead of as a preventive, it neutralizes the infective principle in the blood and thereby destroys the primary source of the ailment. Hence as an antidote to epidemic disorders, and to all complaints which are produced or aggravated by miasma, or the presence of anything deleterious in the air, the water or the soil, it is as nearly infallible as any medicinal preparation can be. In our own country, as a remedy for intermittent fevers, bilious affections, constipation, dyspepsia, nervous weakness, rheumatism and general debility, it is unrivalled, nor is it less celebrated in the tropics as a preventive of malarious fevers.

LIKE REGULARS ON DRESS PARADE the teeth should always be scrupulously clean and free from blemish. Keep them in this condition with the incomparable SOZODONT, and when they are veterans in the service they will still be as "good as new."

Dr. Ira A. Thayer, of Beaverburg, Ohio, writes Dr. Pierce as follows, "I have been using some of your remedies in my practice and have been very much pleased with them. I regard your Purgative Pellets as the best remedy for the conditions for which you prescribe them if any I have ever used, so mild and certain in effect, and leaving the bowels in an excellent condition. It seems to me they must take the place of all other cathartic pills and medicines." 681

Cocoa is the cheapest drink for the working class. Dr. Lankester says: "Cocoa contains as much flesh-forming matter as beef." There is no Cocoa or Chocolate in the market superior to that made by Walter Baker & Co., Boston. All grocers sell it.

General McKenzie crossed the Rio Grande River with six hundred cavalry recently, and after a march of about eighty miles into Mexican territory, attacked and broke up a camp of Kickapoo Indians, near the Santa Rosa Mountains, killing nineteen warriors and capturing about forty squaws and considerable property, which had been stolen from this side. The cavalry lost one man killed and two mortally wounded. The Mexicans, it is said, are preparing to retaliate for the invasion of their territory.

GENTLE SARCASM.—The Chicago Tribune having published a "cut" of the Dixon, Ill., bridge after the disaster, the Times of the same city feels moved to remark:

"One of those vexatious accidents which render the existance of newspaper makers aggravating, occured at the Tribune office on yesterday morning. A meat ax, which an employe in the basement had been using to pare his finger nails, was carelessly left upon the press. When the machinery was set in motion the useful tool in question was caught up in the cylinder and left its jagged imprint upon each copy of the edition. The men in charge escaped proper punishment by labeling the blotches 'View of the Dixon bridge after the disaster.'"

—A labor-saving young genius in Evanston, Ill., recently saddled the duty of drawing the baby out for an airing upon a noble mastiff. He made a nice harness out of the clothes line, and had just got it nicely adjusted, to the evident delight of the cooing occupant of the carriage, when the noble mastiff's favorite playmate of the other sex frolicked past. Utterly oblivious of the new duty enjoined upon him, the dog sprang after his companion, and the two started for a run at a reckless pace. A howl from the startled hopeful brought both parents to the scene, and then ensued a chase for dogs and baby which beggars description. Up one street, down another, through blind alleys, across crowded streets, and all that time that baby gathered lungs as the crowd in pursuit gathered members. At length a friendly stump precipitated the precious infant, all in its lovely white embroidered clothes, plump into a choice mudpuddle, from whence he was fished, dirty but unhurt. But the boy genius! Well, he stands around or leans on chairs, occasionally lying down on his side.

—Says the Utica Herald: "The man who thought anybody could milk a cow don't think so any more. He bought a cow yesterday, and last evening he took a new tin pail and a raisin box and started for the stable. He revolved out of the stable through a window in just three minutes. At the same time the tin pail was heard wandering among the rafters, and the raisin box came bounding out of the door. The hired girl made a reconnoissance in force, and reported that the cow was standing on her horns, so to speak, and wiggling her hind legs (the cow, not the girl,) for more worlds to conquer."

BY comparison of Statistics from sworn returns of the sales of Sewing Machines for 1871 and 1872, it shows that the

"DOMESTIC"

SEWING MACHINE CO.'S sales have increased over 375 per cent., while no other Co.'s sales have increased over 36 per cent., proving the great popularity of the "DOMESTIC."

The Deacon's Prayer.

That the church holds every week,
One night a listening angel sat
To hear them pay and speak.

It puzzled the soul of the angel
Why some of that gathering came,
But sick and sinful hearts he saw
With grief and guilt aflame.

They were silent, but said to the angel:
"Our lives have need of Him!"
Stirred through their spirits dim.

You could see 'twas the regular meeting,
And the regular seats were filled,
Though any one might who willed.

From his place in front near the pulpit,
In his long accustomed way,
When the Book was read, and the hymn was sung,
The deacon rose to pray.

First came the long preamble—
If Peter had opened so,
He had been, ere the Lord his prayer had heard,
Full fifty fathom below.

Then a volume of information
Poured forth, as if to the Lord,
Concerning His ways and a tribute,
And the things by Him abhorred.

But not in the list or the latter
Was mentioned the mocking breath
Of the hypocrite prayer that is not a prayer,
And the make believe life in death.

Then prayed he for the church and the pastor,
And that "souls might be his hire,"
Whatever his stipend otherwise;—
And the Sunday school and the choir.

And the swarming hordes of India;
And the perishing, vile Chinese;
And the millions who bow to the Pope of Rome;
And the pagan churches of Greece;

And the outcast remnants of Judah,
Of whose guilt he had much to tell—
He prayed, or he told the Lord he prayed,
For everything out of hell.

Now, if all of that burden had really
Been weighing upon his soul,
'Twould have sunk him through to the Chinaside,
And raised a hill over the hole.

'Twas the regular evening meeting,
And the regular prayers were made,
But the listening angel told the Lord

IRON in the BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA. DEBILITY. DROPSY. HUMORS

PERUVIAN SYRUP
Makes the Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested, and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, nourishing organic secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, imparting strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Testimonials have been charged by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

The Chronicle.

WOMEN SHOPPING.—Next to mental improvement, shopping is now the business of life, and a most bewildering and exhausting business it is. The amount of it accomplished by women is unanswerable proof of their strength of body and clearness of mind. (The latter may be owing to the severe training and purifying by scientific and philosophical lectures.) To thread one's way through the narrow and intricate lanes which are left between the enormous piles of all imaginable fabrics gathered in the shops, and not to lose one's temper at the constant and unavoidable collisions and blocks with shoppers going in the opposite directions is a triumph of patience and amiability; to see the lovely and desirable dress-goods at high prices, and still to buy inexpensive things, if one has but little money, is a triumph of principle over vanity; to know and get what one wants when one stands anywhere in a shop and sees the product of the world's looms heaped up around her, proves singular clearsightedness, judgment, and firmness of purpose. Strong is the character demanded for wise shopping! exalted are the Christian virtues needed to make that peculiarly feminine labor anything but anguish, mortification, and a sad waste of money!

In these busy Spring days the advantage of male attendants in shops is evident; they take up much less room than women, and get about much more easily and rapidly. Theoretically, women should be employed in dry goods shops; practically, they are dreadfully in the way, and much less pleasant and obliging than they ought to be. But of all miserable beings a gentleman waiting in a shop, while his wife orders her outfit, is miserable. He looks utterly unhappy and ashamed; he would slink into a corner if there were one to slink into; as it is, he clings close to some counter, and is continually turn away from his support by a lady who wants something he is leaning against. Friends recognize him, pity him and pass on. The wife appears from time to time radiant with success in bonnet, polonaise or suit, and the poor husband, the unhappy scrip-bearer, is willing to pay any price for anything, if only he can get away. Fortunately men of this class are rare; one terrible experience is usually enough to permit the escort of a husband on a shopping expedition; the experiment is too perilous.—Worcester Spy.

"THE MYSTERY OF METROPOLISVILLE," by Edward Eggleston, author of "The Hoosier Schoolmaster," "The End of the World," &c. A story of the West, full of stirring incident and life-like descriptions of men and events peculiar to an era of wild speculation, when embryo cities with their corner lots were springing up like magic on our Western borders, and the march of civilization carried with it a strange intermingling of the worst with the best elements of society. It is a neatly bound and profusely illustrated volume of 320 pages, written in the author's best vein, and keeping up the interest throughout. Some of its characters are perhaps overdrawn, and the story is on the whole a sad one, but the book will undoubtedly add to its author's reputation and pay money in his pocket. Published by Orange Judd & Co., 245 Broadway, and sold by E. J. Lane, Central street, N. Y.

The June number of that time-honored monthly, The Phrenological Journal, maintains its character for excellence and progression. Its long table of contents discloses a freight age at once timely, interesting, and edifying—witness—The Baron of Schwartz-Senborn, and the Vienna Exhibition; Empress Elizabeth of Austria; Socialism in America, an account of the different communities, from the earliest; One Kind of Ghosts; Emily Faithfull and her Mission; Born to be Hanged, with life-like illustration; A Neighbor of Mine—a good story; Respiration, or How to Breathe; The late Justus Von Liebig; Giving While Living—good advice; The Science of Music; The Lady and the Crossing-Sweeper, an illustrated Poem; Books for all Minds, etc. The Journal will commence its fifty-seventh volume with the July number. Subscription price, $3.00 a year. S. R. Wells, New York.

Mrs. Edwards' new novel, "A Vagabond Heroine," is published by Messrs. Sheldon & Co., New York. This novel has attracted attention during its publication as a serial in the Galaxy, where it has won approval as worthy of the reputation of its author. Mrs. Edwards is one of the most pleasing writers of the day, her novels avoiding the dangers of sensationalism while being interesting and remarkably attractive in plot and are of really brilliant style. "A Vagabond Heroine," will find ready favor with the reading public.

—Paul de Cassagnac, the famous fighting editor of the Paris Pays, who has killed 18 men in duels and has another one to kill next month, has been offered a place on the "Weekly Montana," a sheet published in the wilds of Montana. Six editors of that paper have died with their boots on during the past year, and the proprietors confidently expect that a first-class salamander like Paul will be a little more durable.

The Modoc War.

Sixty-three Modocs, including twelve bucks, twenty squaws and their children, gave themselves up to Gen. Davis on Thursday. Among the bucks were Bogus Charley, Steamboat Frank, Curly Headed Doctor and others less known to fame; and on the evening of the same day Hooker Jim, the Lost River murderer, gave himself up. The savages were in a miserable plight, half starved, worn out and completely dispirited by Capt. Hasbrouck's victories and relentless pursuit. Bogus Charley, leader of the Cottonwood branch (which has surrendered) of the tribe, says Boston Charley, Shack Nasty Frank, Shack Nasty Jake, Shack Nasty Bill, Ellen's Man, Boston Nick and other big Injuns have been killed, and that his party left Capt. Jack's band a week before the surrender. The bucks under Bogus Charley were all armed with Springfield rifles, and nearly all wore portions of the regular U. S. army uniform. They had been hovering round Hasbrouck's command for some days, anxious to surrender, but afraid to do so, fearing instant death at the hands of the troops. A Modoc lady, Mrs. One Eyed Dixie, was the principal travelling agent between the Indians and the troops; the Modocs wanted Gen. Davis to come out alone and have a "peace talk," but he was too sensible to see it in that light; so they surrendered unconditionally. Gen. Davis has been assigned to duty as Major General of the Military Division of Columbia.

The War Department has advices that Fort Abraham Lincoln was attacked by 100 Sioux Indians, May 7th, the troops losing three horses but no men. One Indian was killed.

A business man in Covington, Ky., bought a postal card, wrote a few lines upon the back of it, and putting it in a stamped envelope mailed it to a friend in Lexington. He says the cards are a great convenience.

Vanderbilt's Southern University, after many a migratory effort, has finally squatted on Knoxville for a homestead, and P. Brownlow is expected to write a Sunday-school book to enclose in the coming corner stone, where it will do no harm.

In Berlin, recently, a sad accident happened to Mrs. Daniel Green by her falling into the fire and badly burning her face, head and hands. She is not considered dangerously injured, though her wounds are very deep.

The board of trial of the Massachusetts Medical Society has rendered a decision expelling certain members for "conduct unbecoming and unworthy an honorable physician," in practicing homeopathy! Some people still make asses of themselves, and these Massachusetts bolus manufacturers are evidently "some people."

Dr. Perkins, of Buffalo, N. Y., shot Col. R. E. Johnson, U. S. A., commanding at Fort Porter, Friday evening, for alleged improper intimacy with the doctor's wife. Johnson received two flesh wounds.

A Tornado passed over portions of Iowa and Illinois, Friday, blowing down houses, fences, trees and telegraph poles and killing many human beings and cattle. Near Kiota, Iowa, 300 head of cattle were killed; and Lancaster, 15 miles from Kiota, was laid in ruins, only one house being left standing. The track of the tornado, in Illinois, is half a mile wide. The loss of life is not stated, but is very large.

Gen. Canby's remains were buried in Crown Hill Cemetery, Indianapolis, on Friday. The funeral was attended by a great number of high officers of the army, State officers, Congressmen and others.

State News.

The barn of Enoch Jones in Andover was burned on Wednesday evening. An ox, horse, farming tools, &c., were destroyed; loss, $800.

Hon. Charles Jones of Milton died recently, aged 39 years. In 1863 and 1864 he was sent to the legislature, and was State councillor in 1868 and 1869.

The two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the settlement of New Hampshire was celebrated at Concord on Thursday. An oration was delivered by Hon. Charles H. Bell of Exeter, and a poem, written by Miss Edna Dean Proctor of Brooklyn, N. Y., was read by Hon. W. L. Foster.

Mr. Charles E. Blanchard, of Francestown, met with a severe accident while at work at Mr. Isaac Low's in Greenfield. He was shovelling manure, when a mass that was frozen, estimated to contain seven loads, fell upon him, breaking both bones of one leg and otherwise injuring him.

There is a man in Weare, who has drunk no water for seven years. He says water will cause leather to rot, and, consequently, must be injurious to the human stomach.

W. F. Smith, of East Lancaster, attempted to raise a door-latch with his jack-knife recently. The knife slipped, struck him on the forehead and eye, and his physician fears that he will become sightless.

THE ANIMALS OF AUSTRALIA.—Australia is altogether deficient in sensational wild beasts. The iguana is perhaps the most startling in appearance. He is a huge lizard, with a huge body and a very fat tail. I saw one shot which was five feet in length and which weighed, I should think, over 20 pounds. They are said to be as good as chickens; but I never ate one or came across any one who had done so. They live among trees, and are often to be seen upon the branches. The opossum—"up a gum tree"—where he is always to be found, seems to be the most persevering aboriginal inhabitant of the country. He does not recede before civilization, but addicts himself to young cabbages, and is a nuisance. As the blacks die out, there is no one to eat him, and he is prolific. He sleeps soundly, and is very easy to kill with a dog that will set him—for the hollow, half-dead, crumbling gum trees are full of him. But there is no fun in killing him, for he neither fights nor runs away.

The kangaroo is so well known, as are also the wallaroo and paddy-melon, which seem to be kangaroos in a state of dwindling nature, that but little need be said about them here. That they run only on two legs, and carry their young in pouches, every child has learned from his picture-book. They are still very numerous in many parts of the country. I have come upon herds, in which hundreds have been congregated together; but they are more frequently met by threes and fours.

In some districts they are increasing in number; because there are no longer black men to eat them. The dingo or wild dog is the squatter's direst enemy. He comes down by night from holes in the hills or out of dense scrubs, and destroys the lambs and drives the sheep. The squatter attempts to rid himself of the dingo by poison, and consequently strychnine is as common in a squatter's house as castor oil in a nursery. On many large runs carts are continually being taken round with baits to be set on the paths of the dingo. In smaller establishments the squatter or his head man goes about with strychnine in his pocket and lumps of meat tied up in a handkerchief. Hence it comes to pass that the use of a shepherd's dog is impossible, unless he be muzzled. But the dingo likes lamb better than bait, and the squatters sometimes are broken hearted. It is impossible to omit all mention of the emu in a book on Australia. They are now becoming very rare, even on pastoral ground many miles from the seacoast. I have been taken out emu hunting, but I never saw a wild emu. I was told that it takes a very good, fast and lasting horse to run an emu down, especially as the poor bird, in its last struggle, makes its fastest running. They do not attempt to aid themselves with their wings, but toddle along with their long legs, ever keeping a straight line.—Work on Australia.

MORE SOMNAMBULISM.—One night last week, a man employed at the Twin Mountain House dreamed that somebody was pursuing him to get some money deposited in a pocket of the outside shirt in which he slept. Not liking that method of financial negotiation he leaped from his bed, raised the window and plunged fifteen or twenty feet to the ground below, and proceeded to make long tracks for a house four miles distant. Fearing that the robbers might cut him off, or out-run him, he divested himself of the shirt containing the treasure by throwing it on one side in the door yard. At the end of the fourth mile he encountered a woodpile near the house he sought and was awakened. On coming to his senses his geographical position proved to be an insoluble problem, and he ventured to arouse the people of the house and ask for a lodging, which was granted.

—There is a great famine in Java. No rain has fallen since August; the rice crop has failed, and people in some parts of the island are perishing of hunger.

HOW TO GROW MELONS.—A correspondent of the Germantown Telegraph writes from Purple Cape, Nebraska:—The fall is the proper time to make a melon patch. Select any pieces of sandy land well exposed to the sun; if all pure sand so much the better. Plough dead furrows six feet apart, twenty-four inches deep, in straight lines from north to south. Fill these up with strong manure, old or new, and plough the earth back to bury the manure and form a ridge; level the top with the back of the harrow. At each end plant a stout stake to remain as an indicator of the centre of the ridge. You now have a perpetual melon patch for ten years at least. In the spring stretch a garden line from stake to stake, and then at every six feet plant six seeds in a twelve-inch circle, and four or five radish seeds in the centre. The bugs will not touch the melon plants as long as the radishes grow there. Let all the seeds grow, do not thin them out, and keep out the weeds till the vines begin to show runners; then mulch the whole patch with straw, hay, fresh-cut grass, or anything which will keep the surface moist and the fruit from the ground.

As soon as the frost kills the vines, gather all fruits above eight inches in diameter and stow it away in a sunny corner under some new hay. In this way I have melons ripening slowly and finely till the weather gets too cold to eat them. Next year plant your seed a foot or two north or south of the old hills, and so on yearly, to obtain the benefit of the whole ridge. The roots follow the ridge and the cultivator can be run through the spaces without disturbing the roots.

DEATHS.

In Brookline, Mass., May 22, at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. I. P. Hall, WILLIAM M. LAUGHTON, U. S. N., aged 63 years.

☞ Funeral from the Universalist Church in this city on Monday, May 26th, at 11 A. M. Relatives and friends are invited without further notice.

WELL'S GRAND DISTRIBUTION.—The committee, after drawing nearly one hundred and fifty thousand dollars have decided to postpone the drawing until July 1st, 1873. This will positively be the last postponement. W. B. Lowd, Agent.

For all throat diseases and especially Coughs, Colds, &c., there is no known remedy equal to Buchman's Palmocine, and a few doses will satisfy the most skeptical of its efficacy. For sale at the Union Store.

FOR ALL LOCALITIES AND CLIMES.—A true specific is adapted to all localities and climes, and for this reason, that it strikes at the causative principle of the diseases which it is administered to cure. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, for example, is a true specific, not only because it fortifies the body against the external influences which prompt disease, but because, when taken as a remedy instead of as a preventive, it neutralizes the infective principle in the blood and thereby destroys the primary source of the ailment. Hence as an antidote to epidemic disorders, and to all complaints which are produced or aggravated by miasma or the presence of anything deleterious in the air, the water or the soil, it is as nearly infallible as any medicinal preparation can be. In our own country, as a remedy for intermittent fevers, bilious affections, constipation, dyspepsia, nervous weakness, rheumatism and general debility, it is unrivalled, nor is it less celebrated in the tropics as a preventive of malarious fevers.

LIKE REGULARS ON DRESS PARADE the teeth should always be scrupulously clean and free from blemish. Keep them in this condition with the incomparable SOZODONT, and when they are veterans in the service they will still be as "good as new."

SEWING MACHINE SALES

BY comparison of Statistics from sworn returns of the sales of Sewing Machines for 1871 and 1872, it shows that the

"DOMESTIC"

SEWING MACHINE Co's sales have increased over 375 per cent., while no other Co.'s sales have increased over 36 per cent., proving the great popularity of the "DOMESTIC."

Domestic Sewing Machine Co.,	gain	375	per cent
Wheeler & Wilson	"	36	"
Singer	"	23	"
Grover & Baker	"	5	"
Weed	"	8	"
Wilcox & Gibbs	"	12	"
Wilson	"	8	"

If the increase in sales be any criterion of merit, the "DOMESTIC" bears the palm.

The "DOMESTIC" works so easy, it is working itself into every family.

The "DOMESTIC" runs so light, it is distancing all competitors. It only asks a few days trial.

The "DOMESTIC" is recommend by the Medical Faculty.

Christian Shore Brick Yard.

On Tuesday we visited the recently established brickyard of Messrs. J. Horace Jenness and John A. Lamprey, on the edge of the North Millpond, at Christian Shore,—a spot we had not stood on since the happy days when we played the truant and went gunning for sand birds around there, or swam across from Sheldon's or Hale's point, to our own great exhaustion and the envious admiration of our companions. The view has greatly changed since then; "rock pasture" is nowhere, "Hale's field" is cut up by streets and covered with houses, and that classic and odiferous nook, "dead-horse cove," is filled up, and surmounted by a huge brick stable for the iron steeds of the Eastern Railroad.

We learned from Mr. Jenness that operations were commenced about the 1st of April, since which time a dozen or more men have been constantly employed. A well has been dug near the edge of the pond, and furnishes an abundant supply of pure fresh water; clay enough to make three million bricks has been got out and stacked, and a drying-floor large enough for drying forty thousand bricks at once cleared away and levelled; three patent brick-moulding machines, said to each have a capacity of ten thousand a day, are in position, and one hand machine, for which six thousand is accounted a good day's work; a large quantity of wood has been gathered for baking the bricks, a gondola-ferry across the millpond established, and a landing place built; and a few thousands of bricks have been moulded, dried and stacked ready for the kiln.

About 250,000 bricks will be burned at a time, and the gondola-ferry and the Eastern and Concord railroads put the brickyard within easy distance of the markets. The enterprising manufacturers seem to have selected a most favorable location for carrying on an extensive business, and with the large and constantly increasing demand for bricks it should be a profitable venture. The supply of clay is practically inexhaustible, and is supposed to reach clear through to China.

Navy Yard Matters.

Some extensive improvements and repairs have recently been or are now being carried out at the Navy Yard, under the general supervision of Civil Engineer B. F. Chandler, of which the following are the principal:

A chain-shed has recently been erected, principally (as the name implies) for the storage of ship's chains. It is a splendidly built structure, 100 feet by 45 on the ground, with 12 feet posts; material used, stone; and roof slated.

The old bridge connecting the island with Kittery is undergoing thorough repair, a large number of new piles being driven, new stringers put in, the planking renewed, etc.; and when the work is completed the old bridge will be trustworthy for many years to come.

A new bridge was built last summer, between the Navy Yard islands, the old bridge not being considered trustworthy. The new structure consists of single span of 100 feet, the trusses being made of very heavy timber and fastened with huge bolts; and the abutments at each end are of large blocks of granite. It is a very handsome bridge and looks as though it might last a century.

Messrs. Tiffany & Co., of this city, are progressing rapidly in the work of putting in their olefiant gas, for which $20,000 was appropriated at the last session of the last Congress—one good deed to its credit, at any rate. The foundations for the gas works are all laid and the laying of brick for the superstructure has commenced. There are to be two gasometers, situated at the northerly part of the yard, one of 5000 cubic feet capacity and the other of 2500 feet. The houses are all piped, and it is expected the works will be finished and the gas ready for lighting the yard by the middle of July.

On the floating dock extensive repairs have been made. This dock was built in 1852, and has done a vast deal of service since; during the rebellion, in particular, it was in almost constant use. Only comparatively trifling and temporary repairs have ever been made upon it until recently; but Congress having appropriated $80,000 for the purpose of putting it in good condition, work upon it was commenced last Autumn and has continued through the Winter, though the bad weather, and the large quantities of ice which several times accumulated in the dock, occasioned frequent and sometimes prolonged cessations of work. The dock is now ready to pick up any ship which the Navy Department may send along for that purpose, and will probably run twenty years longer without another such extensive overhaul. An immense quantity of white oak, hard pine and spruce timber has been used; two keelsons, each thirty inches square and 350 feet long, have been put in; the machinery has all been overhauled and repaired, and two splendid boilers, built for the pumping engines by Messrs. Cook, Rymes & Co., of Charlestown, Mass., placed in position; the upper works have been entirely renewed, the ballast taken out and the accumulated dirt of twenty years removed, and the bottom cleaned; the dock has been braced and strengthened in every possible manner, and is probably stronger and in better condition to-day than it was the day it was launched. The upper deck, which was laid afresh some four years ago and appeared perfectly sound, was found to be very rotten on the under side and entirely worthless, when taken up; the sleepers also were badly decayed. Notwithstanding the repairs needed at several points were much more extensive than were anticipated, the total expenditure will not exceed the amount appropriated by Congress.

Keep Off the Sidewalks.

We are informed that while one of the fire extinguishers was being drawn to the fire, Thursday evening, a lady on the sidewalk, near the Creek, was unable to get out of its way, and was thrown down in the mud with considerable violence, through the hub of a wheel catching in her dress. She fortunately escaped any serious injury, and the firemen kept on their way without stopping, probably unaware that they had capsized any one. In case of necessity, as when streets are impassible from mud or blocked with snow, no reasonable person would complain of the fire apparatus taking the sidewalks; but we consider the street to be the proper place for the engine on ordinary occasions. If the companies are not strong enough to drag their machines in the streets when the wheeling is a little heavy, put on more men.

Kittery Theatre.

On Wednesday evening, the 21st, a large audience was very pleasantly entertained with the drama entitled "Among the Breakers," performed in Armory Hall by the Amateur Dramatic Club of Kittery. The acting was very creditable to the members of the club, the different parts being sustained in a better manner than is done by many "stockcompanies" of professionals; the darkies and Emerald Islanders were especially well represented, and provoked much merriment. Some good quartette singing was given; and Prof. McIntire of York, a gentleman of remarkable musical ability and taste, brought out from the organ about all the music it is capable of. But the gem of the whole entertainment was the song, "Drifting into harbor," by Misses Carrie and Sadie Pettigrew, whose singing was indeed the "soul of music"—fresh and melodious as the song of the birds. The performance was repeated on the following evening, and some forty small boys,—too small to have the requisite scrip to secure admission,—were invited in free.

The entertainment was for the benefit of the Universalist Society, which seems to be prospering under the pastorate of Rev. Mrs. Roberts, who is a lady of fine intelligence and much thought, and uses the simplest yet most beautiful language to express her ideas.

Laconics.

The steamer Emerald's time table has been changed, and she now makes trips as follows; leaves the Navy Yard at 8, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, and 11:30, A. M., and 1:30, 2:30, 3:30, and 5:10, P. M.; leaves this city at 8:15, 9, 10, and 11 o'clock, A. M., 12 o'clock, M., and 2, 3, 4:30 and 6 o'clock, P.M. On Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays an extra trip is made in the evening, leaving the yard at 7:30 and returning from this city at 10 o'clock. The Sunday trips will be as follows: from Navy Yard at 7:40, 9:35, 10 and 11:45, A. M.; from this city at 7:50, 9:50, and 11:30, A. M., and at 12 o'clock, noon.

It should not be forgotten that Lingard, the original and talented character artist, with his capital company, appears to-night at the Temple. Lingard's personations are really wonderful, and all who enjoy a hearty laugh, and an evening of mirth, should not fail to witness the entertainment.

The Sons of Portsmouth resident in Charlestown, Mass., held a meeting, Thursday evening, which was largely attended. Charlestown will be largely represented in the ranks of the Sons, on the Fourth.

Mr. M. Wentworth Ayers, clerk in the Post Office, has been suffering for several weeks with a severe attack of jaundice, but we are glad to say is recovering and will soon be on duty again. The rapidly increasing duties of the office demand active as well as faithful clerks, and the absence of one of the number throws a large amount of business on the others. Mr. Ayers is one of the most efficient clerks who ever held a position at the Post Office, and his return to his old post will be hailed with pleasure by those whose business calls them frequently to the office.

A man in this city has perfected an invention which is destined to add his name to the list of the great benefactors of the human race. He calls it "the business man's bore-abater," and it consists of a button-torpedo with patent nitro-glycerine back-action attachment, which can be worn on the coat like an ordinary button, which it resembles in appearance. When the bore seizes the abater, it instantly explodes, shivering his hand into a million pieces and blowing him around the corner into the next street. The inventor has already received orders for all he can manufacture for two years to come.

Rev. A. C. Hardy, pastor of the M. E. Church, has been invited to deliver the address on Decoration Day, by the G. A. R. He was chaplain of the 18th N. H. regiment during the war.

A freight engine on the Eastern Railroad was tumbled down an embankment twenty feet by a misplaced switch, at Newburyport Friday. No cars or persons were injured.

Query—when a Mayor, sitting as chairman of a Board of Aldermen, announces to said Board of Aldermen that his official position alone prevents him from breaking the laws, with what show of justice can it be demanded of men in humbler stations and with no restraining official positions that they shall observe the laws?

On Thursday last, as two employees of Messrs. Eldredge, named Morris Kelley and Patrick Blute were engaged in a friendly scuffle at the brewery, Blute threw Kelley and falling on him heavily, broke Kelley's leg in two places.

Saturday forenoon as Mr. Sowersby alighted from his baker's wagon to wait upon a customer on Market street; his horse took fright and ran away upsetting the wagon and spilling the pastry in every direction.

Carpenter William M. Laighton, U. S. N., of this city, who entered the service in 1836 and was recently placed on the retired list, died very suddenly in Brookline, Mass., on Friday. Mr. Laighton's sudden death is a startling shock to many friends in this vicinity, as his erect form and vigorous health gave promise of many years of usefulness. His age was 63 years.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE,

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.

The Chronicle.

"THE MYSTERY OF METROPOLISVILLE," by Edward Eggleston, author of "The Hoosier Schoolmaster," "The End of the World," &c. A story of the West, full of stirring incident and life-like descriptions of men and events peculiar to an era of wild speculation, when embryo cities with their corner lots were springing up like magic on our Western borders, and the march of civilization carried with it a strange intermingling of the worst with the best elements of society. It is a neatly bound and profusely illustrated volume of 320 pages, written in the author's best vein, and keeping up the interest throughout. Some of its characters are perhaps overdrawn, and the story is on the whole a sad one, but the book will undoubtedly add to its author's reputation and put money in his pocket. Published by Orange Judd & Co., 245 Broadway, and sold by E. J. Lane, Central street, N. Y.

The June number of that time-honored monthly, The Phrenological Journal, maintains its character for excellence and progression. Its long table of contents discloses a freight-age at once timely, interesting, and edifying—witness—The Baron of Schwartz-Senborn, and the Vienna Exhibition; Empress Elizabeth of Austria; Socialism in America, an account of the different communities, from the earliest; One Kind of Ghosts; Emily Faithfull and her Mission; Born to be Hanged, with life-like illustration; A Neighbor of Mine—a good story; Respiration, or How to Breathe; The late Justus Von Liebig; Giving While Living—good advice; The Science of Music; The Lady and the Crossing-Sweeper, an illustrated Poem; Books for all Minds, etc. The Journal will commence its fifty-seventh volume with the July number. Subscription price, $3.00 a year. S. R. Wells, New York.

Mrs. Edwards' new novel, "A Vagabond Heroine," is published by Messrs. Sheldon & Co., New York. This novel has attracted attention during its publication as a serial in the Galaxy, where it has won approval as worthy of the reputation of its author. Mrs. Edwards is one of the most pleasing writers of the day, her novels avoiding the dangers of sensationalism while being interesting and remarkably attractive in plot and are of really brilliant style. "A Vagabond Heroine," will find ready favor with the reading public.

In Oliver Optic's Magazine for June the three serial tales—"The Yacht Club," "The Turning of the Tide," and "Lottie Eames"—are concluded, and their places will be taken in the July number by "Money maker, or the victory of the Basilisk," by the editor; "A Stout Heart," by Elijah Kellogg; and "Seven Daughters," (for the girls), by Miss Amanda M. Douglas. The other contents of the June number are quite up to the average, the original dialogue, "Never Say Die," being especially funny. The beginning of a new volume of this popular juvenile magazine furnishes a good opportunity for persons wishing to become subscribers.

The title attracts one to the story, and the story does not belie the title. Every chapter has an interest of its own, and the whole fiction keeps the attention from the beginning to the end. Mr. McCarthy is a brilliant writer. His volume on "Modern Leaders" in its descriptions of veritable persons and characters was like a collection of portraits, and gained for him a reputation which has certainly not been diminished by his works of imagination. "A Fair Saxon," like "Lady Judith," and unlike many modern novels, is written in correct English; is skilfully made up; sparkling in its style, and natural and interesting in its story.

A Raynham farmer, having business at the insane asylum at Taunton one day last week, left his horse hitched in front of the building while he stepped within. During his absence one of the inmates took possession of the team, and evidently thinking he had hold of "Dexter," drove off at a furious pace through the business part of the city, knocking over a couple of women, and ending in a complete smashup.

Portsmouth, N. H.

TUESDAY, MAY 27, 1873.

Mrs. Partington.

That excellent but over sanguine old lady, Mrs. Partington, who once achieved fame by her frantic endeavors to sweep back the Atlantic Ocean with a broom, has again come to the front, though this time she calls herself the Massachusetts Medical Society, and instead of attacking the Atlantic with a broom, opposes homeopathy with a "Resolved, We are the doctors."

Mrs Partington has existed in all ages, and ever as the same conservative old dame, firmly convinced that she only possessed true knowledge. The pagan Mrs. Partington used her broom vigorously against the early Christians; the papal Mrs. Partington tried hard to sweep away the Reformation; the Episcopal Mrs. Partington raised a terrible dust about the ears of the Puritans; The Puritan Mrs. Partington remorselessly brushed the Quakers; and the evangelical Mrs. Partington struggled hard to sweep Unitarianism and Universalism out of doors; and now the allopathic Mrs. Partington is earnestly engaged in the business of sweeping out homeopathy. From the fact that Mrs. Partington's endeavors have always resulted in failure, whenever she has attempted to coerce the opinions of others, it is safe to suppose this last essay of hers will not be entirely successful.

Homeopathy may or may not be founded on a sound theory; but certain it is that it has thousands of advocates, and their number is constantly and rapidly increasing. This result could never have been attained unless a reasonable measure of success had attended the practice of physicians of this school,—whether owing to the fact that their theory is sound and that their minute doses of medicine cure the patient, or that they merely don't kill him, we cannot say. But which way it may be, the progress of homeopathy in the public regards has been such as to alarm the old-school physicians, and all possible means have been employed by the latter to crush the heretical belief that a sick man is as likely to be benefitted by a pellet as by a pill or bolus. Homeopathy and quackery have been declared synonymous terms, "regular" physicians have been prohibited from consulting with homeopaths, with severe penalties for non-compliance, ponderous—not to say somniferous—scientific treatises have again and again shown the fallacy of the theory that "like (and a mighty little of it) cures like," and sarcasm and contemptuous ridicule have been heaped upon the heads of all who refused to administer or to swallow squills by the quart and pills as big as grape-shot.

Yet homeopathy still lives, and many of its professors not only live but make large incomes by their practice. Something must be done, and all other means having failed, as a last resort a "Board of Trial" of the Massachusetts Medical Society has gravely decided that certain of its members, college graduates, men of unblemished reputation and physicians of large and lucrative practice, are "guilty of conduct unbecoming and unworthy an honorable physician by practicing homeopathy!" The board of trial recommends the expulsion of the "unworthy" physicians and the question will come before the next meeting of the Association, when the recommendation will undoubtedly be agreed to; but the offending homeopaths will probably decline to go quietly, and will apply for a mandamus from the rolls; so the end is not yet.

"Resolved, We are the saints." So a gathering of humble Christians once voted, or at least are said to have voted; but if they were taken at their own valuation, by the Supreme Being or by their fellow men, no record of the fact has been preserved.

"Resolved, We are the doctors." So has voted the Massachusetts Medical Association; whether the public will take them at their own valuation remains to be seen.

FRED LORING AVENGED.—During the survey of 1872, Lieut. Wheeler and party crossed the Colorado below the grand canon, in the vicinity of Prescott, Arizona, and Wickenburg. Near the latter place it was that perished the gifted and unfortunate Frederick W. Loring, of Boston. It is a satisfaction to know that the Indian tribe, Apaches, to whom belonged the perpetrators of the Wickenburg stage massacre, are still suffering retribution for that atrocious crime. The discovery of the murderers was extremely dramatic. Loring had formed a friendship for one of the Mohave Indians, a man named Maimen, cool, reticent, and with strong attachments; one of the best types of Indian character. This Maimen after Loring's death went and lived among the Apaches—with whom his own tribe was on friendly terms—for several months, for the sole purpose of finding out who were the young man's assassins. When he had succeeded, Gen. Crook, who knew of his plans, called a pretended conference, the real object of which was the capture of these men. The conference ended badly. The plan was to give a piece of tobacco to each of the assassins, so that they might be recognized by the soldiers stationed in the back part of the house; but these keen-witted Apaches noticed that they were being singled out from their companions, and, suspecting a snare, rose with horrid yells, and fell upon Gen. Crook's party. The soldiers rushed in, and a general melee ensued, in which a number of men on both sides were killed and wounded; among the Apaches almost all the murderers fell. Hostilities were of course renewed after this. Gen. Crook assembled the friendly Indians over whom he had control—the Pah-Utes, Mohaves, Hualapais, and Chimehuevis, at Carp Beale Springs—and they had a fight with the Apaches in the mountains northeast of Prescott. The Apaches were defeated, and, being driven out of this reservation, were obliged to take refuge upon the high, cold plateaus of the mountain, the desolate Mesas, where it is almost impossible to sustain life. They have since sued for peace and permission to return to their reservation. Gen. Crook holds that these savages will not abandon their habits of lawless rapine and murder until they have been thoroughly beaten and subjugated, and that the Apaches have not yet been sufficiently punished to secure their future good conduct.

With his keen wit, courage high spirits, and fund of anecdote, Mr. Loring was just the person to be popular on a wild expedition through a savage country; and his associates and friends remember him and speak of him with the warmest affection and admiration. One of his most intimate friends has furnished a reporter the last pages of his journal—pages so full of character so overflowing with life and wit, that it is hard to believe that the hand which penned them was so soon to be cold forever. Among other things, he makes great sport of a certain Englishman, who joined the expedition with the idea that he was going to accomplish miracles, but who, unable to endure the hardships to which they were exposed, soon beat a retreat. Loring represents him as commanding a new expedition, just sent out by special order of the War Department in search of the Garden of Eden. Here is a quotation from Loring's commissionary bill and report of the Committee of Arrangements:

"The mess will be furnished with pate de foie gras, canvas-back ducks, salmon, venison, hot-house fruits, vegetables, and all the common necessaries of life. To avoid the fatigue of riding on horseback, barouches will be provided. It is confidently expected that the scientific and practical results of this expedition will be very different from any which the Government has yet sent forth. Cigars, tobacco, and the latest novels will be furnished at each halting-place. Further particulars will be given in a few days."

I will merely add that Lieut. Wheeler expresses the highest opinion of Loring, and has paid him a deserved tribute in his report:

"Here were three men," he writes, "who had mastered all the toils and hardships of a severe winter campaign, who started homeward pleased with the thought of dangers escaped and duties well performed, who, after passing what was supposed to be unsafe ground fell victims to an Indian ambuscade. One of these, a young man just entering upon his career, with years of promise before him, one drop of whose blood the whole Apache race could not expiate, parted with his life; and forgetting all else, in the records of humanity, this life, as well as that of others, should be charged to the Indians."

Readables.

It is said that Ex-Senator Trumbull's face has grown six shades more solemn since the death of Mr. Chase, and has caused him to reflect that, but for his folly and treachery, last year, in going into the "Liberal Republican" humbug, he might now have some chance to become Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court— a position he strongly covets.

The first article in Scribner's for June is Governor Langford's account of still another excursion into the Yellowstone region and his ascent of Mount Hayden, which he makes out to rival the Matterhorn in inaccessibility. We should beg to doubt this from his description, although the danger was undoubtedly much increased from the lack of guides and the necessary appliances for mountain climbing. The writer should remember that the Matterhorn defied for years the best climbers of the Alps, professional and ever, his sketch is interesting, like every other of this wonderful region. Other articles illustrated are on the Postal Car service, Cornell University and Bret Harte, and the number well keeps up the popular character of the magazine.

Levi Souls was hanged at Marion Court House, S. C., on Friday, for the murder of Noah Sutton in February last, while drunk. Both men were white.

"Dr." E. M. Brown, of New York, has been convicted of assault with intent to rob and murder a man named Murray, a gas-bill collector, in his office some time ago.

A colored woman named Lucinda Frisbee Cuff shot and instantly killed Thomas Price, also colored, at West Philadelphia, Saturday. There was no provocation for the shooting. The murderess was arrested.

Hostile preparations by the Indians continue, the Shoshones and Goshots in Nevada just now affording the chief cause of apprehension by a council. They have been stealing lead, and it was discovered lately that nearly all the powder in the neighborhood had been bought by them.

A Boston teamster exhibited a lot of money while paying his fare in a horse-car, and two roughs (brothers) undertook to rob him after he left the car. He gave the pair a glorious mauling and then handed them over to the police.

A policeman in Cairo, Ill., was stabbed in the throat by a negro he was attempting to arrest. The negro ran away, but was chased and shot dead by the officer, who then walked a short distance, sat down and died.

Col. McKenzie, who recently led his troops across the Mexican border and lambasted the Kickapoos, is the youngest officer with the full rank of Colonel in the army, being only thirty-two. His raid will not tend to injure his military reputation any. These same redskins told a Peace Commissioner, not long ago, that they were about to raid Texas, and would talk peace with him when they returned. Col. McKenzie's raid seriously interfered with their plans.

Thiers Resigns.

After two years' service as President of France, M. Thiers was defeated on a test vote, Saturday, 363 to 348, and sent in his resignation as President. General Changarnier and the Duke de Broglie moved that the Assembly immediately appoint a successor to M. Thiers. This motion caused a terrific uproar. The left moved that the resignation of President Thiers should not be accepted. This was rejected by a vote of 368 against 339. The resignation of President Thiers was then formally accepted.

The members of the left endeavored to secure an adjournment of the election of a successor to M. Thiers, but the right insisted upon choosing a president of the republic immediately. The vote was then taken, and it resulted in the election of Marshal MacMahon, who received 390 votes. The deputies of the left abstained from voting. A committee was then appointed to wait on Marshal McMahon, and inform him that he had been elected president of the republic. Upon the return of the committee to the Assembly M. Buffet resumed the chair, and announced that Marshal MacMahon had accepted the presidency of the republic, though not without pain. M. Buffet also stated that the ministers would temporarily remain.

A SAD TRAGEDY.—In Brooklyn, Sunday evening, during an altercation between a young man named George Roderick and James Corcoran, in which the latter was very abusive and struck the former, who drew a pistol, Mrs. Roderick rushed between them, and in the struggle to prevent her son from firing the pistol the weapon went off, the ball passing through the mother's eye into her brain and killing her instantly. Corcoran, who began the quarrel, was intoxicated.

Mr. Barnum desires us to warn our citizens of pickpockets, who are following his show. The street parade will be made at 8 o'clock.

The side-show accompanying Barnum's is said by those who have seen it to be quite an institution. Among its living curiosities are a giant, eight feet high, the original Aztec children, living skeletons, Albinoes, the fat woman and other freaks of nature calculated to interest the scientific world.

Tickets can be procured by those who wish to avoid the great crowd and rush on the grounds, for sixty cents each, at George Hill & Co., No. 4 Market street.

THE SONS OF PORTSMOUTH.—In anticipation of the return of the sons of Portsmouth to their early home on the Fourth of July next, Mr. Daniel A. Drown of that city has prepared a new volume of poems, to be produced in the highest style of art and dedicated to his early associates, as a memento of the occasion, as well as a reminder of his claims to their sympathy and regard. Mr. Drown needs no introduction to most of our readers, but for the information of many we may say that he is entirely secluded from the world by physical infirmity, shut in a room impervious to solar light by an afflictive disorder of the eyes, and has written his poems under the most painful circumstances; but, though produced in darkness, all their tendencies are towards the light. He sings of nature as he remembers it more than a quarter of a century ago, and his cheerfulness is unbroken by the terrible suffering he has undergone.

This appeal to the healthy and joyous must excite their attention, and every Son and every Daughter of Portsmouth should see to it that the unfortunate poet is remembered. Those possessing ample means may do more than merely subscribe to his book, (and should any one inclose a bill for an amount more than the sum asked, he may be assured that it will not be sent back,) as Mr. Drown has suffered pecuniarily as well as physically by his long illness, and will undoubtedly be gratified to be thus regarded.

The book will be produced under the care of his early companions and schoolmates, B. P. Shillaber and William H. Kennard, each of whom has for many years been the poet's true friend and adviser. It will be elegantly illustrated with engravings of the deepest interest to all who take pride in old "Strawberry Bank," and will be in all respects a book of which the possessor may be proud. Subscriptions sent to Mr. Kennard, at 331 Washington street, A. Williams & Co., corner School and Washington street, Mr. Shillaber, at Chelsea, or the author, at Rye, N. H., will be duly placed and honored. The book will appear early in June.—Boston Transcript.

Brakeman Charles A. Moody jumped from the Amesbury freight train at East Salisbury, Saturday, fell under a car, had two legs cut off and was killed. He was 24 years old and unmarried.

James W. Wallack, the actor, is dead.

The Chauncy Hall (Boston) School battalion visited Keene on Friday, and had a dress parade on Central square. A reception and ball was given in their honor in the evening. On Saturday they gave an exhibition drill in public, in the forenoon, and left for Boston in the afternoon.

A little boy at Ashtabula, Ohio, was very desirous last week to be run over by the cars and not hurt; so when the express train was due he crawled under a culvert and let the train go right over him. When it had gone he poked his head up to look after the cars and a bandear that was following the train scalped him as easily as a civilized soldier scalps a Modoc. His extermination is probable.

John Maguire, of Plainville, Conn., while drunk beat and stabbed a sickly old man named Hugh Prior, probably fatally. He is a murderous villain, having stabbed a man in a drinking place ten years ago, and served a sentence of six months imprisonment for a deadly assault on his own wife, with an axe, four years ago.

STAGE STRUCK WOMEN.—The N. Y. correspondent of the Chicago Tribune writes:—"A queer story is circulating in the green-rooms that a married woman, whose husband is wealthy, visited the metropolis at the close of the past winter, determined to go upon the stage. She had been a resident of your city; was quite pretty and well educated, and had conceived the idea that she had great genius for the dramatic profession. Her husband made fruitless efforts to dissuade her from her purpose; but, the more he reasoned with her, the more she was resolved—asserting, among much other nonsense, that a woman so gifted as she had no right to withhold her gifts from the public. Her spouse, seeing there was no other way to cure her of her folly, consented to accompany her to New York, in order that she might try the experiment. She applied to all the theatres, one after the other, for an opportunity to appear as Juliet, Lady Macbeth, Rosalind, or any other prominent Shakesperian character. None of the managers would grant her request, albeit several of them expressed willingness to witness, in company with a few critics, a private entertainment. She felt confident she would delight her select audience; and yet, on each occasion, she made a most signal failure. At first, she insisted that a deep prejudice existed against her; but, after she had attempted several parts, and been assured in the kindest manner that she had mistaken her vocation, she began to believe it might be so. She stayed here some two months, and, only a few days ago, left the city, completely cured of her delusion—her husband having been made a very much happier man by her dramatic discomfiture. The woman must have some sense, at least. It is not often, when one of her sex labors under a histrionic hallucination that it can be dispelled by any amount of adverse experience.

You remember Mrs. McMahon, a woman of wealth, who quitted her Fifth Avenue home to dazzle the world of playgoers. You must recall how she went from city to city, rendering herself ridiculous in all her undertakings; how her would be tragedy was a screaming farce; how she abused the newspapers, declaring they were bribed to put her down; and how finally, after spending about $100,000 of her husband's money, she was obliged to give up her fancied mission, because no manager could be found who would allow her to appear any longer at any price. Mrs. McMahon is still living here, I believe, and still believes that the world was deprived of a great dramatic artist on account of the bitter hostility to and collusion against her of the entire American press.

SEWING MACHINE SALES

BY comparison of Statistics from sworn returns of the sales of Sewing Machines for 1871 and 1872, it shows that the

"DOMESTIC"

SEWING MACHINE Co.'s sales have increased over 375 per cent., while no other Co.'s sales have increased over 20 per cent., proving the great popularity of the "DOMESTIC."

Domestic Sewing Machine Co.,	gain	375	per cent
Wheeler & Wilson	"	36	"
Singer	"	23	"
Grover & Baker	"	6	"
Weed	"	3	"
Wilcox & Gibbs	"	12	"
Wilson	"	8	"

If the increase in sales be any criterion of merit, the "DOMESTIC" bears the palm.

The "DOMESTIC" works so easy, it is working itself into every family.

The "DOMESTIC" runs so light, it is distancing, all competitors. It only asks a few days trial.

The "DOMESTIC" is recommend by the Medical Faculty.

IRON in the BLOOD.

DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, DROPSY, HUMORS

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Makes the Weak Strong.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested, and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, imparting strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been charged by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women. Invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

The Chronicle.

A DANBURY MAN'S ADVENTURES.—A Danbury man started from Greenwich, Friday, to see an iron fence. What he wanted to see an iron fence for, we don't know, and it really makes no difference. He went. He wanted to go off on the 9:50 train, so he hurried home to get ready. His wife and a vicious outside woman were cleaning house, and it was some little time before he could get his society suit ready. In the meantime he opened fire on the largest half of a custard pie, holding it in his hand, and dancing around and yelling for his things. When she brought his overcoat, he set the pie in a chair, to put on the coat, but in his nervousness stepped on the end of a long handled whitewash brush which was balanced across a pail, and the other end flew up and discharged about a pint of the awful mixture over the sofa, wall paper, and his panting and indignant wife. She made a remark and he contradicted it. Then he sat down in the chair where the pie was, and got up again with a howl that would have melted the stoutest heart. She wanted him to wait while she scraped off the surplus, but he was too mad to converse in words of more than one syllable, and started for the depot, and boarded the train, and in the seclusion of the baggage car removed the offensive lunch.

He got to Greenwich all right, and looked at the fence. We hope he admired it. Then he started for home, but missed the train, and, as the next train was an express and didn't stop at Greenwich, he was obliged to walk to drawbridge at Cos Cob or stay in Greenwich all night. So he walked up the rain, but didn't mind it much, as he had an umbrella and the pie was pretty well dried in. When he got to Cos Cob he stood up on a fence to look at the scenery, and swear, when a sharp gust of wind took off his hat and carried it across a bog lot. Then he stepped down on the other side, too amazed to express himself, and another gust of wind came along and turned the umbrella inside out. A brief conversation here ensued between himself and the umbrella, and he again started for the hat. When he got up to it he kicked it around several times, and then jammed it down on his head, and started once more through the bogs as the train drew up at the bridge. It was a terrible struggle, as the bogs were uncertain, but he strained, and coughed, and spit, and howled, and swore, and it did seem as if he would catch it after all. What he thought as he stood on that fence and watched that train sail across the bridge, no human being can tell.

An hour later he appeared in Stamford, wet through to the skin, splashed with mud, and with an expression on his face that would have scared a hydrant. Backing himself against the depot he stood there until near midnight, and then went up on the owl train to Norwalk, falling asleep in the meantime, and narrowly escaping being carried by the depot. Here he took the freight for Danbury, arriving at home just before daylight. His wife was abed but not sleeping. She lay there torn by forebodings and harassed by suspense. Perhaps he was dead, and lying on the cold ground, in the rain. Then she thought of his lifeless body, and groaned; and thought of the pie and groaned again. She knew his knock the moment it sounded, and rushing down stairs in the costume appropriate to that hour, she threw herself into his hair and hysterically shouted, "Oh, you old rascal, come in here."—News.

DEPTH OF COVERING SEED.—As a general rule, the smaller the seed the lighter should be the covering. We are very apt to cover too deeply. Nature here is safe to follow. She covers lightly. The seed falls from the ripened stalk upon the surface of the ground, to be covered only with leaves, or to be washed into the soil by the rains. Onions, parsnips, squashes, Lima beans, such plants especially, as push up the shells of the seed itself, find it difficult to force their way up through much depth of earth, after it is packed down by rains. A quarter, or half an inch at most, is quite sufficient for these. Care should be taken that no lumps of earth be left over them. We like long rows of beets, carrots, parsnips, etc., and don't believe in wasting half the land in useless paths and walks with short rows running crosswise. Long rows are more easily worked and kept clean than short ones, and the labor for the same number of plants in long rows is less than in short ones. We should study economy both on the farm and in the garden. On the field the too frequent turnings consume much time in ploughing, and to some extent this is so in the garden.

—A very handsome young fellow from Baltimore assaulted a citizen on the street at Staunton, Va., a few days ago, and was sentenced to the chain gang in default of payment of his fine. While the gang was working near a girls' seminary the chain gang caught sight of his handsome face, which so appealed to the sympathies of the tender-hearted creatures that they "chipped in" and paid his fine. He manifested his gratitude by getting beastly drunk.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 28, 1873.

France.

The greatest excitement existing throughout France, is subsiding, and no outbreak is expected. M. Thiers accepted the Presidency Feb. 17, 1871, and most signal service has he done his countrymen, ruling wisely, securing free elections, the evacuation of French territory, the restoration of commercial facilities, the settlement of Germany's indemnity claims and the regulation of financial interests. France certainly owes to Ex-President Thiers its respect and gratitude, retiring as he does with honor and the respect of the world.

Under MacMahon, the republic will doubtless continue prosperous, although the General was an avowed Bonapartist. He can safely follow in the path so well laid out by Thiers, but can hardly venture successfully in a new and untried direction. His services on the battle field have earned him the support of every true Frenchman and his strong hold upon the public sympathies may safely carry him through many crises.

Marie-Edme-Patrice-Maurice, Comte de MacMahon, Duc de Magenta, now the President of the French republic, is a descendant of one of the noblest families of the old Celtic princes of Ireland, which suffered severely in the wars of Cromwell, and lost its position in the cause of the last of the Stuart kings. He was born at the Chateau de Sully, June 13, 1808. His first fighting experiences were in Algeria in 1830, while acting as orderly to General Achard. In this capacity he accompanied the first Medeah expedition and greatly distinguished himself in an engagement on the Mouzaia by carrying an important despatch through a whole army of Arabs to Blidah, escaping his enemies by leaping down a frightful abyss. For this exploit he was decorated with the cross of the Legion of Honor. In 1832, MacMahon was present at the siege of Antwerp, at the close of which he was made a captain. Returning to Algeria in 1836, he was wounded at the second siege of Constantine in the following year, while acting as aide-de-camp to General Damremont. Rewarded here with the rank of officer of the Legion of Honor, we find him in 1840 aide-de-camp to General Changarnier in Algeria, where, shortly after, he obtained the command of a regiment of chasseurs-a-pied, a body then organizing by the Duc d'Orleans. With these he gained fresh honors, commanding several expeditions against the Kabyles and assisting to subdue the renowned Arab chief, Abd-el-Kader. In 1842 MacMahon was made lieutenant-col. of the foreign legion, in 1845 Col. of the 41st regiment of the line, and in 1848 was promoted to the rank of a general of brigade. When in 1855, on account of sickness, Marshal Canrobert was obliged to return from the Crimes, General MacMahon was selected by the Emperor to succeed to the command of a division, and when the chiefs of the allied armies resolved upon the final assault of Sebastopol they assigned to him the carrying of the works of Malakoff. In reward of his brilliant success on this occasion he was made a member of the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor, and was nominated an honorary knight of the Grand Cross of the Order of the Bath. Elevated to the dignity of a Senator in 1856, he again returned to Algeria and took an active part in the campaign of 1857, and in 1858 was made commander-in-chief of the whole Algerian forces. Summoned in the following year to the Italian war, he gained on two successive days the celebrated victories of Turbigo and Magenta. For this latter success he received a marshal's baton and the title of Duc de Magenta, both being bestowed on him on the field of battle. In 1851 he was sent as ambassador extraordinary to Prussia, on the coronation of the present King. In 1864 he was made governor-general of Algeria, where he remained until he was called to assume the part of commander-in chief of the 1st corps d'armee. His subsequent history, closing with the surrender at Sedan, is familiar to all.

A MISGUIDED BOOK AGENT.—A book agent entered the open door of a snug Pittsfield cottage one day last week, and nodding to a trim, bright-looking little woman who sat sewing by the window, commenced volubly to descant on the merits of a great work which he was for the first time giving mankind an opportunity to purchase. It was a universal biography, cook-book, dictionary, family physician, short hand instructor, and contained, besides, a detailed history of every important event that has transpired in the world from the apple incident and Adam's fall to Credit Mobilier and the fall of Congress. The work contained five thousand chapters, all with running titles. The agent, after talking on the general excellencies of the volume about five minutes commenced on the headings of those chapters, and as the woman did not say a word to interrupt him, he felt that he was making a conquest and he rattled away so that she shouldn't have a chance to say no.

It took him nearly half an hour, and as he breathlessly went on, the sweat started on his forehead and he made convulsive grasps at his collar, and when he finished he had hardly strength enough left to put on a bewitching smile and hand her his ready pen wherewith to subscribe her name in the order book. She took the pen, but instead of putting her autograph on his list, she lifted a scrap of paper from her workbox and wrote in plain letters, "Ime def and dum." He said not a word, but the unutterable things that he looked, as he turned to the door, would fill a library.—Pittsfield Eagle.

LAMA BEANS.—For the past ten years we have raised them in great abundance—in fact, have cooked none other for dry. The first year or so we found difficulty in ripening them, as we picked for the table as fast as they were ready. There are only two points if observed, which will insure success. The first is, to pinch off the top of each vine when they have reached the top of the stake, say six feet; and the second is carefully to save the earliest pods for seed. Many writers say that they must be planted eye down, etc. We never practice it; we put the ground in nice order, when it is warm enough, and plant, as any other beans, four to a hill, and they generally all come. By saving the earliest for seed, we have them nice for the table three weeks earlier than at first.—New York Cor. Country Gentleman.

—A Taunton man who had read in the Gazette, the notice of enormous eggs, says that he had a hen that could outlay the rest of the feathered creation. He planted his garden last Thursday, and shut that hen into the woodshed and locked the door. She scratched out under the sill, and went to practising the "Boston Dip" in his cucumber beds. He clapped his hands and cried "shoo-o-o." She didn't "shoo" worth a cent, and he made for her, fell over the hoe handle, broke it, drove his hat against a tree, smashed the hat, sprained his thumb, swore eleven times solo, and once in the hearing of his wife (lecture and tears), and finally soothed the hen with a brick. The outlay caused by that rampagious fowl, when she was laid out, including damages to hoe, hat and tree, arnica and sticking plaster, was $3.67. Bring on your hens.

A youth of Danbury went off riding with questionable company, Sunday. When he came home at night, his aged father took him by the small of the neck, and to use a worldly expression, "lifted" him. The young man came around to the back of the house where his mother was, and complained bitterly of the treatment. He was inclined to feel hard towards his father, but his mother smoothed him down. She said: "You mustn't mind it, John; your father is getting old and childish."—Danbury News.

—What a wonderful thing love is to a woman! How it helps her to know that some one is always fond of her, and rejoices when she rejoices, and sorrows when she grieves; to be sure that her faults are loved, and that her face is fairer to one, at least, than faces that are more beautiful—that one great heart holds her sacred to its innermost recesses, above all other women! She can do anything, suffer anything, thus upheld. She grows prettier under the sweet influences, brighter, kinder, stronger, and life seems but a foretaste of heaven, and all her dreams are golden.

—A stingy man who pretended to be very fond of his horse, but kept him nearly starved, said to a friend, "You don't know how much we all think of that horse. I shall have him stuffed so as to preserve him when he dies." "You'd better stuff him now, so as to preserve him living," retorted the friend.

—A farmer, not accustomed to literary composition or letter writing, having lost a new hat at a meeting, and inquired into its possible mistaking, addressed the following note to its supposed possessor: "Mr. A. presents his compliments to Mr. B.; I have got a hat which is not his; if he has got a hat which is not yours, no doubt they are the missing one."

—The man who never owed more than five cents, and that only once, has just died in Virginia at the age of seventy-nine years. It was in his early manhood that he unwillingly contracted the debt of five cents, it being the balance on a bill of goods purchased, and he was wont to boast all his life afterward that he could not sleep because of it, and got up very early the next morning, went to his creditor, and paid him.

CONCORD RAILROAD CORPORATION. The 32d annual report of this company, for the year ending March 31, shows receipts of $1,040,115.16; expenses of $[illegible],226.97; leaving a balance of $351,-888.19, a balance of $758.29 has been carried to the contingent fund. Over $125,000 have been expended for new locomotives, freight cars and railroad iron, besides other large and extraordinary expenses. Two new passenger cars have been bought and put on the road; 60 platform cars built and 25 coal cars bought. The rolling stock is still deficient in quantity and 100 more freight cars are needed. During the year 692,766 tons of freight have been carried an aggregate distance equivalent to 20,222,965 tons carried one mile; 618,842 passengers have been carried distances equal to 13,333,000 one mile, and trains have run a total of 802,152 miles.

A TRAVELLING SIDEWALK.—A very unique rapid transit scheme has passed the State senate of New York and has gone to a third reading in the assembly. It is known as "Spier's Travelling Sidewalk." The plan is to build an endless movable platform on an elevated tramway, the motive power being from large stationary steam engines underground. The "sidewalk" is to be perpetually moving up one side of a street or avenue and down the other at the rate of nineteen miles an hour. Passengers are to be taken on or off the platform by means of transfer cars, without stopping the movement of the sidewalk. The bill provides for the construction of a short section in New York city, and leaves any future extension to the approval of the common council.

SIGHTS AND SOUNDS.—The site of the great sight in New York at present is under the Sound. The excavations under Hurl Gate are nearly complete and the final blast, which is to knock the bottom out of this long-endured obstruction, will soon be fired. A shaft, some eighty or one hundred feet wide, descends to about an equal depth at the side of the East River, and tunnels radiate from it to different parts of the work, which may be inspected with the aid of a lantern, a rubber suit, thick boots and an umbrella.

SUMMER, although the mother of myriads of beautiful flowers, is apt to steal the roses from the cheeks of those who are exposed to its fiery breath. All this season if there are any germs of disease in the system, the heat is pretty sure to develop them. The bilious, the dyspeptic, the nervous, the debilitated, suffer more at this period of the year than at any other. They, therefore, require an invigorating and regulating medicine, and this desideratum has been placed within the reach of all in the form of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. To recount the uses of this invaluable preventive and remedy, seems like repeating a familiar fact that has been notorious everywhere for many years. Who does not know that dyspepsia, bilious disorders, constipation, diarrheal affections, rheumatism, nervous complaints, kidney disturbances, and constitutional weakness, in both sexes, are relieved and radically cured by this powerful yet harmless vegetable preparation?

LIKE REGULARS ON DRESS PARADE the teeth should always be scrupulously clean and free from blemish. Keep them in this condition with the incomparable SOZODONT, and when they are veterans in the service they will still be as "good as new."

FRENCH BOOTS for gentlemen, ladies, and children, in all novel and desirable styles, are always to be obtained of T. E. Moseley & Co., 293 Washington street, Boston, Mass.

BE TRUE TO YOUR TEETH and they will be true to you. Never will you need false teeth, if you use the SOZODONT morning and evening. It imparts indestructibility to the enamel, keeps it white and spotless, and wonderfully improves the breath.

LINNÆUS, the great naturalist, in consequence of his fondness for chocolate conferred on the order Cacao the title Theobroma, or "food for gods." It is certainly food for men, as well as a most healthful beverage, and medical men the world over recommend its use. The highest awards for excellence of preparation have been won by Walter Baker & Co., Boston, both in Europe and America. Their goods are sold by all grocers.

Barnum's Big Show

Came to town Tuesday, and so did everybody else and everybody's cousin and sister. The roads to this city were filled with vehicles of every description and it is less difficult to describe those not in use than those which were. Our whole population turned out en masse as if at the return home of some conquering hero. Mr. D. S. Thomas, Barnum's press agent, who has an eye for beauty, paid the fair dwellers of old Strawberry Bank a high compliment for their taste in dress and natural loveliness. And by the way, Portsmouth members of the press are especially indebted to Mr. Thomas for courtesies extended them on visiting the menagerie and exhibition, explaining the novelties and furnishing the best opportunities for seeing the performances.

The day was all that could be wished, cool and pleasant, but the difficulties of railroad transportation seem to have impeded Barnum's advance, the trains arriving at 5.30 A. M., several hours late. The grounds were also in bad condition, wet and heavy. The rings were muddy and the horses were unable to go through the performances steadily, endangering the foot hold of their riders. A morning exhibition is a new thing for Portsmouth, but some fifteen hundred people were seated when, shortly after eleven o'clock, the programme was commenced, under the charge of equestrian manager Whittaker. Mr. Barnum has the rare faculty of selecting the most trusty lieutenants in all his great enterprises and most fortunate is he in securing the services of Messrs. Coup, Thomas, Hurd, Crum, Whittaker and Berry.

"Well," says the interested reader, "is the show worth seeing?" And most emphatically can we answer in the affirmative. If Barnum's show is not worth seeing, we hardly know what is! First, there is the menagerie, which one never tires of seeing. Every country under the sun pays tribute to Barnum's enterprise. Bears and birds, snakes and monkeys, lions and zebras, elephants and sea-lions, camels and tigers, elk and zebec, attract the notice of the visitor until he almost forgets that in the adjoining tent a double performance awaits his presence. Anyone who can go away from such a show unsatisfied must be seriously affected with dyspepsia.

Inside the big tent, after due inspection of the "happy family," the wax figures, the talking machine, the savage and peaceful animals, the chattering monkeys, the ostrich and a thousand curiosities, a grand entree of horses and riders into the two rings, and a procession of camels, horses, elephants and ponies, richly caparisoned, commences the entertainment, which for two hours quickly changes from riding to posturing, from cannon ball throwing to a triple somersault, from one merry clown on foot to another on stilts. There's too much to see at Barnum's show, and he who goes wants to return to the menagerie and needs two pairs of eyes to see the performances in the rings.

Mr. Berry boasts of the stud of horses under his charge, with pride, and well may he do so. They were purchased with due regard to the necessity of finding the best, and a sleeker, better appointed stud were never seen in Portsmouth.

We don't know how P. T. Barnum can make this great venture pay, except in fame, although his audiences largely exceed in number those ever before gathered under canvass in New England. With a daily expenditure of $4500 a deficit might be feared by any other showman, but Barnum fears no such disaster and sends his immense exhibition about the country intact to delight hundreds of thousands of people. Long live Barnum—and may Thomas be his prophet!

Wouldn't Work.

One of the city's double-barrelled soda-fountain companies drew their machine through the mud to the fire at the Hayes farm, Thursday night, arriving in time to assist in the preservation of another building which was exposed to a high degree of heat. At first the fountain went ahead all right, but after awhile it gave out, and though the men worked like heroes to make the concern squirt again, the invaluable purchase of the "reform" Aldermen wouldn't discount—nary squirt. The company did all they could, and if each man had been provided with a syringe and a bucket of water, they might have done some good. We are not certain but what the Aldermen's experiment did work again after we left, but it didn't before then, unless a dismal boo-o-o-ing is reckoned as work. The pipeman stood near the flames with eager expectancy depicted on his features; then his expression changed to one of anxiety; and finally all trace of hope fled his countenance and in its place settled a look of resigned despair,—while his comrades turned screws and capsized things about the soda-fountain, but it wouldn't emit anything but the most dismal groans. The last thing we heard as we left the scene of ruin was a prolonged boo-o-o-o from the mammoth squirt gun. We have since been informed (we know not how correctly) that the trouble was that the chemicals didn't mix properly. If that was the case, the company should guard against such a mishap in the future by detailing one man to stop inside the machine and stir up the chemicals with a spoon.

More Enterprise.

Mr. Eben F. Brackett, living at No. 36 Union street, had a hen in his coop last Saturday afternoon, but she has now gone away. She was sitting in a box, and had been sitting for a week, with thirteen eggs beneath her, and Mr. Brackett was hugging to his heart the fond delusion that he was to be presented with a fine flock of chickens; but on Saturday night a sneak thief or thieves entered the coop and walked off with the hen, the box in which the hen had her nest, and the thirteen eggs on which she was incubating. The sneaks got their plunder as far as the corner of Broad street and Lincoln avenue, when the bottom of the box fell out and the hen was scattered about the street; but the thieves were not to be baulked in that manner, so they stole an old basket from Mr. James Goodrich, put a piece of canvass in the bottom, gathered up the hen and twelve of the eggs and went their way in peace. Some persons, supposed to be the same operators, were prowling around the premises of Mr. Robert C. Sides on Sunday night, but got nothing. Residents in the suburbs will do well to load their shot-guns with salt—if they should slip in a few buckshot it will do no harm—and keep a good lookout for these petty thieves.

"The Fairy Sisters,"

Cassie and Victoria, will exhibit at the Temple, Friday and Saturday evenings of this week. They are the smallest people of their age in the world, being born in Nova Scotia. The Boston Times calls them "Crumbs of Humanity." Cassie, ten years old, weighs only twelve pounds, and Victoria only three years old, is but six pounds in weight. Their parents are larger than the average, the father being nearly six feet high and the mother larger than ladies average.

Laconics.

A farmer's horse, probably excited by the warm weather, ran away with the wagon to which he was harnessed, Monday morning, ran it against a milk cart near the Creek, the collision detaching the body of the wagon from the forward wheels and standing it on its hinder end and then kept merrily on for the country with the forward wheels.
